EN ROUTE FOR SAN FRANCISCO. Members of the Fifth Regiment Are Bound for China

Three special trains carrying mem bers of the Fifth United States regulars from New York to Buffalo, passed through the city last evening on the Lackawanna railroad. One of the sections contained the baggage and equipment of the soldiers and the other two were loaded with the soldiers. The regiment has just returned from Cuba and have been ordered to China. The soldiers will sail from San Francisco on August 1

While the regiment was at the station, Second Lieutenant Yates renewed the acquaintance of many old friends here, and Private Everett, whose relatives live in South Scranton, bade a very touching farewell to his sister, who was among the spectators on the platform. Everett was a member of Captain Kambeck's company in the old Thirteenth regiment, and well-known in this city.

NEW DURYEA CARS.

The First Ones Were Put in Service Yesterday. The first of the six new cars which the Scranton Railway company has purchased for use on the Duryea line was put in service yesterday. Two others have arrived in this city, and the other three are on their way here.

The new cars are the same size as the large Washburn-Drinker and Providence cars, and are similarly constructed, with the seats arranged like those in a railway coach. The seats are wider than those in the other cars, thus allowing two persons to sit together with more comfort.

All six of the cars will be equipped with the new compressed air brake.

BATTLE WITH A WILD CAT. E. L. Craig, Formerly of Peckville,

Had a Narrow Escape. E. L. Craig, formerly of Peckville but now of Treverton, this state, where he holds an important position as superintendent of a powder-making plant, had a hair-raising encounter with a wild cat, while out hunting recently.

Mr. Craig is a very successful hunter, and while on one of his hunting expeditions encountered the wild cat. Having nothing but bird shot in the gun, he did not deem it prudent to tackle the cat. The valuable bird dog, which accompanied Mr. Craig, attacked the cat, and it was then that Mr. Craig fired. The wild cat, although badly wounded, put up a great fight, and to avoid injury Mr. Craig mounted a tree. When safely in the branches, he quietly reloaded his gun and promptly dispatched the wild cat, which weighed forty-one pounds.

Arthur Henshaw, a conductor for the Scranton Railway company, was the victim of a most peculiar accident, while returning from work last night, shortly after 10 o'clock. He resides on Mifflin avenue, and was going along Spruce street, between that avenue and Franklin, when he felt something strike his deby hat and then his head, almost knocking him senseless.

He took off his hat, when a bullet dropped out and rolled on the ground, It had struck the hat and went right through, cutting quite a gash on his head. He hastened to Dr. Everhart's ffice, where the wound was dressed. He heard no report of either a revolver or a gun, and is at a loss to

WILOSKY WAS DISCHARGED.

Charged with Embezzlement, but

Charge Was Not Proven. John Wilosky, agent of the Singer ewing Machine company, was yesterday arrested on a warrant secured by Mrs. Lizzie Elisens, of South Scranton, charging him with embezzlement.

It appears that Mrs. Elisens pald Wilosky $15 on a sewing machine and later, upon going to Agent Davis, of the company, found that the money had not been paid over. Wilosky had paid the money, it seems, to another agent, but Mrs. Elisens didn't know this and had him arrested.

Alderman Kasson, after hearing the evidence on both sides and upon learning that Wilosky had paid the money over, decided that there had been no embezzlement, and discharged him.

KRAMER IS UNDER ARREST.

ANNUAL OUTING OF THE NEWSBOYS

TWO THOUSAND ENTERTAINED AT NAY AUG PARK.

There Was a Parade in the Morning and When the Boys Reached the Park Lunch Was Served to Them. Afterwards There Were Races and Other Forms of Sports, Balloon Ascensions, Rides on the Merrygo-rounds, etc.-Those Who Won the Prizes.

There is one day in the year at least in which the residents of this busy city give thought to the newsboys, and that day will eventually become one of the most-talked-of out of the whole 365, if yesterday's outing at Nay Aug park is any criterion of what the fu-ture observances of this anniversary will be. With each succeeding year interest is added to the event, and not only do the boys and girls who sell papers participate in the celebration, but thousands of others look upon the newsboys' picnic as the greatest annual attraction now held at the park.

Fully two thousand news boys and girls were feasted, entertained and lionized at the annual outing yesterday by as many grown persons and for hours the fun and food were disensed as rapidly as willing hands and feet would allow. There wasn't a moment from the time the newsies reached the park until they left that was wasted, and if you were not there the weene can not be properly described to

Beginning at 7.30 o'clock an army paper carriers gradually assembled in he vicinity of Washington avenue and Spruce street, and before an hour had slapsed the delegations from West Scranton and other points arrived and swelled the forces, until it seemed as though every urchin in the city had enlisted in the army, and they were about ready to make an attack on ome unknown enemy, but at the sound of the drum, all fell in line and marched through the principal streets, carrying flags, banners and other decices, and shouting their praises of this or that paper or its representativen.

SCRAMBLE FOR FOOT BALL. Prior to the parade, however, there was a general skirmish for a foot ball, which was kicked from the top of the Mears' building by John Horan, of the Sunday News, and the scramble was certainly amusing, the prize of $5, of fered by Frank O'Hara, the Spruc street cigar dealer, being won by Frank Hawley, one of The Tribune's most efficient carriers. Bauer's band led the way to the park and all along the line of march the curbstones were lined with people anxious to get a glimpse of the boys and girls. Despite the long walk to the park, the pleasures in store for them were uppermost in their minds, and the walk seemed to be enjoyed as much as any part of the programme.

A few minutes after the arrival of the crowd, the races were commenced on the roadway overlooking the falls, and for an hour or more the boys account for the affair. One theory is ran until tired and hungry, when adthat someone fired at him with an air- journment was made for lunch. At one of the stands each boy and girl was provided with a bag of lunch and a plate of ice cream. Lemonade was and all were provid ed with tickets entitling them to a ride on the merry-go-round.

The greased pig races were the first event after lunch was served, and the sport and amusement furnished was great. The first pig released gave the boys a run for their money and it was only after a hard chase through the underbrush and down the embankments that they succeeded in pocket ing the animal.

A lad named Edward McHugh succeeded in getting a firm grip on one leg of the pig, and almost instantane ously Albert Davis, James McConnon and Frank Jones each had a leg. The judges will probably have to divide the pig. The second pig also afforded much amusement, and David Lewis, Robert Gerrity and John Jones each claim to have caught him first. There was also another scramble for the foot ball, each boy receiving 25 cents for being more skillful than the others in securing the ball from kicks by John Horan, Five dollars was distributed among the boys in this manner by Mr. O'Hara.

EXCITING RACES.

The races were then resumed, and proved to be the most exciting and amusing of all the events of the day. A dozen or more boys were tied up in bags and hopped and jumped along for a hundred yards to the delight of all Then there was a three-legged race in which many couples started, but very few finished. The majority of them fell all over themselves in their anxiety to win out. This event was followed by a most exciting bicycle race, in which there was a spill and other incidental features.

A donkey race created no end of fun, one of the animals refusing to go faster than a walk. The crowning feature was the pony race, best two out of three heats, in which the riders were Myron F. Rittenhouse and Leander Seamans. Each took a heat, and when the start was made in the final, Seamans attempted to ride without a saddle, but his pony became unmanageable. Rittenhouse finished an easy winner, but graciously consented to another heat, and finished about a length ahead of his competitor.

The boys fairly raved over the bicycle and pony races and the older spectators also manifested unusual interest in the races. The final feature was the balloon ascension, three large paper balloons being sent up very cleverly by the gentlemen in charge of the programme. Mayor Moir, E. E. Robathan and B. B. Megargee acted as judges of the contests, and A. P. Bedford, Dr. G. E. Hill, Hugh Keenan, T. E. Price, P. A. Barrett, John Crane, Thomas Fleming, J. J. #### FORGED NAME OF RICHARD MORRIS

Frank Mawn When Placed Under Arrest Said He Was Told to Do So by P. F. Ryan.

Frank Mawn, otherwise known as Sally" Mawn, a resident of South cranton, was held in $200 ball yesterday afternoon by Alderman Howe on a charge of forging the name of Richard Morris, constable of the First ward of Taylor, to a bill of costs in the county commissioners' office.

Yesterday Mawn presented himself n the office and handed Clerk Von Bergen a bill for $2.25 drawn in favor of Constable Richard Morris for costs in the case of the commonwealth against I. Rossar, No. 156, February erough and Von Bergen asked Mawn to sign it and the affidavit, and Mawn mptly attached the name of Richrd Morris to the papers.

Charles Mertz, of the clerk of the curts' office happened to be in the emmissioners' office at the time and eard Van Bergen refer to the man with the bill for costs as Richard Mor-

'That man is not Richard Morris,' said Mertz. "Who is it?" queried Von Bergen

"Why that's 'Sally' Mawn from the outh Side," replied Mertz. All this time Mawn was standing uletly at the counter. You had better get some one to identify you before we pay you any money on this order," finally said Von Bergen. "All right," calmly replied Mawn. Til be back in a minute," he said as e moved slowly toward the door. County Detective Leyshon was notified and a warrant was sworn out for Mawn's arrest and in the afternoon he was arraigned before Alderman Howe and held for his appearance at court. "Who gave you this bill to take to the commissioners' office?" asked the alderman.

"P. F. Ryan," replied Mawn. "You admit signing the name of Morris to it do you?"

"Who told you to do that?" "P. F. Ryan,"

The county commissioners propose move against Ryan in the matter.

EIGHT PRISONERS ESCAPED FROM JAIL

PRISON AT MONTROSE.

Removed a Large Stone from the Side Wall of the Jail and Through This Opening the Prisoners, All of Whom Are Charged with Burglary, Squeezed Their Way to the Outer World-Sheriff Maxey Notified the Surrounding Towns and tion. Formed a Posse.

Sheriff William J. Maxey, of Montose, was unpleasantly surprised when he arose yesterday morning, by the discovery that during the night eight of the fourteen inmates of the Susquehanna county jail had made their escape, the other four remaining only because of a disinclination to go. Those who escaped are: Thomas Coffey, Charles Parker, Jackson Evans alias R. W. Stephens, Frank Harris John Myers, James Dawson, Terry

McGovern and John Mack. All were held on charges of breaking and entering, and burglary, and their cases will come before the next grand jury, which sits in this place on Monday next. As soon as the escape was discov-ered Sheriff Maxey wired the police authorities of this city, Binghamton, Susquehanna and all nearby points, and offered a reward of $25 a head for the capture of the men. A number of deputies were sworn in and they are now scouring the county in an effort to find trace of the fugitives but up to this writing no tidings hav been received.

An investigation at the jail showed plainly the manner of the escape. The men occupied cells on the west side of the second floor, two prisoners to each cell. They first gained access to the corridor, and then going to the ell formerly occupied by James J. Eagan, one of the men executed last January for the murder of Jackson Pepper, they took from the wall a arge stone which they had previously dug around and loosened, and carefully let it down to the floor. LEFT AN OPENING.

This left an opening about tweninches wide and ten inches high, through which the men later squeezed themselves out into the open air. One of the men is by trade a whipmaker, and he had fashioned a very strong and service-able rope out of the bed clothing, by tearing it in long strips and braiding hem together in the same manne that whip lashes are woven. Three long ropes of this description were in readiness. Two of them were fastened to a bar in the window of a cell nearest the jail yard; the other rope was fastened in a like manner to a bar of the window to the cell in which the opening had been made, and the rope then carried through the opening and hung to the ground. After getting through the hole is the wall, it was an easy matter to slide down the rope to the yard below Once down, the men walked to the other end of the yard where the other ropes dangled close to the yard wall Taking the longer rope in a coil over his shoulder, and climbing up the other rope, hand over hand, it is sup-posed, that one of the men reached a point level with the wall and then throwing the coiled rope over, follow ed by swinging himself to the top and then down the rope to liberty. Such a feat would not be an easy one, but one of the prisoners is much of an athlete and it is believed that he was the first man to gain his freedom, and that once on the outside he held the rope taut and thus made much easier the descent of the others. The greatest mystery about the whole affair is as to how the men managed to get out of their cells-that is, if they were locked in, as they are supposed to be at night.

TURNKEY'S STORY The turnkey is positive in the assertion that the men were locked in as usual, and that each door was tried yet this morning the dcors were open but the bolts were shot, as they are locked, making it appear that the doors were not entirely shut when the key was turned and so did not fasten. How the men managed to work this scheme without being detected by the turnkey is a puzzle. Many explanations are given, but none seem
