CARBONDALE GIRL MURDERED.

Sadness possessed the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Frisbie, of Salem avenue, last evening, when their attention was called to a dispatch in the York Sun, which mentioned among the victims of a massacre in Southern China the names of Dr. and Mrs. Vanderburg, Mrs. Vanderburg, who was Miss Letta Beeman, is an adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frisble She was for several years a popular teacher in the public schools of this city and a prominent worker in the Presbyterian church. About three years ago she went to China and took up missionary work with her husband. They were stationed about ninety miles inland on the Island of Hainan in the China sea. The last letter received in this city, written by the doctor, was dated June 7, 1900, and was in part as follows: "The thieves haven't killed us all off yet. Week ago Monday we had an awful scare and Eleanor (Mrs. Vanderburg) was as cool as a cucumber. I was so glad to find that she could go through a siege like that so well. The soldiers came over at 1.30 a. m., just after midnight, and aroused us all up and said: "The thieves are coming!" "The thieves are coming!" We all grabbed what we could of clothing for the children and went over to the old house by previous arrangement, as the old house is considerable of a fort. Then I got all the servants and coolles I could get together, about six, and carried boards upstairs and placed them around the veranda to form a defense, from behind which we could shoot. Then I got some medicine, etc., and went back with my sword, gun and pistol and waited.

"But the thieves the soldiers had seen had other objects in view. They cows and pigs, and even their for some time in here, and the thieves em to be nearly as strong as the soldiers in numbers. We have all written to Holhon to ask the English consul to send in more soldiers. They some time, have answered that more are coming in soon, so we hope to hear that they

But these times are awfully hard on the natives who won't join these Boxers or Triads. As soon as they are asked they have to meet and pay the thieves for protection. If they don't, their homes are plundered. The officials get after them and such poor fellows who Their programme was one of conhad joined for protection are easily caught by the officers, and so it makes it either a frying pan or a fire for the people when these plunderers get started.

"Two years ago I thought they were most all beheaded, but it seems to be as usual that the worst of them escaped. May God help the Christians. Their lot is the hardest. They have brought their valuables, except their lake, which promises to be a mamoth cows, up here and now ask us for affair. It is said over 800 tickets have guns, which we cannot give them, and been disposed of and nothing is needed makes them lose faith in us as friends, I fear, for they don't understand the treaties."

A cynic or a sage once remarked that mar-iage is a lottery. In the province of Smolensk, Russia, this aphorism has been reduced to quarterly fact, for each three months there is eld the most remarkable lottery ever devised. Husbands and wives are chosen by the chance

rawing of a littery tocket. The tickets cost one ruble each. There is only one prize to be drawn, and it consists of the entire sum yielded by the sale of the tickets, nounting to 5,000 rubles, together with the ady as described as of noble blood.

The tickets are sold only to males, and the ticky winner of the prize will have to marry the damsel if he takes the 5,000 rubles. If, however, he be already married, he is at liberty o turn over the money and the lady to any riend whom he may wish to put in for such a good thing. If the winner should be willing to marry but not found to be to the damsel's taste, then hey are to be excused from matrimony and ermitted to divide the rubles.
