MISS ELIZABETH STEINBACK TERRIBLY BURNED.

While Starting a Fire at Noon Yesterday Her Clothing Became Ignited and She Was frightfully Burned from Head to Foot—Party of Young People Enjoyed a Straw Ride to Lake Winola—Young Boys Charged with Malignant Mischief by M. J. Connolly.

While engaged in building a fire preparatory to the noon day meal, yesterday, Miss Elizabeth Steinback, of 317 Brook street, was seriously if not fatally burned.

Miss Steinback was alone in the house at the time, and was starting a fire when, in some manner, her clothes caught fire and in a few minutes she was ablaze from head to foot. Her cries for help attracted the neighbors, and with the aid of her mother who entered the house just in time to save the girl's life, the fire was smothered.

Dr. Quinn was hastily summoned, and upon examination found she was most terribly burned from her neck to her neck and both arms as well. Upon the advice of the attending physician, the ambulance from the Moses Taylor hospital was summoned and Miss Steinback was taken there for treatment.

The Steinback family is having unusually hard luck for the past month. Just two weeks ago her father and her uncle were buried on the same day.

HUMBERT'S ASSASSIN AN ORDINARY CRANK

truth was broken for her a heartrending scene ensued. Bursting into tears she exclaimed: "It is the greatest crime of the century. Humbert was good and kind. No persons could have loved his people more. He was one who bore ill will to none."

When the queen's mother arrived there was another affecting scene. The assassin is strictly guarded in prison. He continues to preserve absolute indifference and took his meals today without any sign of being affected by his position. A second revolver was found on the public stand in the gymnastic grounds.

The room where the embalming is proceeding is already filled with flowers. The queen herself placed a wreath on the bier and knelt and prayed beside the body; and, in spite of the entreaties of the princes and princesses she refuses to quit the death chamber, which is in charge of Count Jurri, the late king's aide de camp.

Sorrow Through Italy.

Rome, July 30.—Telegrams from all the towns and villages of Italy show that all the country deeply mourns the death of the king. Everywhere flags are half masted and shops are closed. All garrison towns at noon saluted with one hundred guns, while at all the naval ports minute guns were fired.

The conservator of the quetinal has sealed up all the private apartments of King Humbert and all the doors of the palace except one.

The members of the diplomatic corps all went, this morning, to the foreign office to tender their condolences.

Profound calm prevails throughout the entire country. Such members of the chamber of deputies as are in Rome met this afternoon and adopted a resolution expressing unbounded sorrow.

Brussels, July 30.—A special despatch from Rome says: "Mr. Angelo Di Petro (prefect of the investigation of the gendarmes) took it upon himself to inform the pope of the assassination of King Humbert. He entered the chamber of Leo at an early hour. The latter was already awake."

The cardinal cautiously first stated that an attempt had been made upon the life of the king, whereupon the pope immediately asked if the wound was dangerous.

The prelate replied: "Very dangerous;" but his anxious air was noticed by the pope, who at once divined the truth. His emotion was such that he was unable to speak for some time. When his distress had passed he wished to leave his bed and to celebrate mass for the repose of the king's soul. Later he summoned Cardinal Rampoldi, papal secretary of state, whom he requested to send a dispatch of condolence to Princess Clotilde, sister of the queen. The audience fixed for today were suspended.

Paris, July 30.—President Loubet and M. Delcasse called at the Italian embassy this afternoon.

His Friend in Paterson.

New York, July 30.—Angelo Bressi, lived in Paterson for one year. He appeared to have had various names. The one he gave last night when taken into custody for the murder of the king of Italy was one. Another was Angelus Bressi, and still another, the one by which he will be known to those who knew him in Paterson, was Angelo Bressi. He was employed in Hamilton & Booth's silk mills.

His close friend there was Cariboni Sperandio, the man who a few weeks ago shot down his foreman and then killed himself, leaving behind a letter telling how he had been selected by lot to kill King Humbert, and having a choice owing to his living so far away from Italy, killed the foreman instead.

A few months ago a man said to be Count Molotoki, the head of the Italian anarchists, was in Paterson, and during his stay Sperandio and Bressi were his companions and they showed him about the city and introduced him to others in the city, and who were his mentors there. It would seem that his friend, having failed to receive a dispatch of condolence, and went across the ocean to carry out the decree that Humbert should die.

CONDITION CRITICAL.

Doctors Are Doubtful of Saving Leutner's Life.

The condition of Charles Leutner, the Petersburg drug clerk so badly burned by electricity, continues critical. A high fever keeps him delirious most of the time and the doctors are still dubious as to his ultimate recovery.

Dr. Ernest, who was called yesterday if the boy's arm would have to be amputated, said, significantly: "The question now is to save the boy's life. The saving of his arm is to be considered afterwards."

DEFENSE IN GOEBEL MURDER CASE

CASE OF POWERS OUTLINED IN TODAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

Charge That Prosecution Is Concealing the Identity of the Frankfort Assassin—Claim That Mountain Men Were Not Summoned to Intimidate Legislature—Wharton Golden's Testimony to Be Contradicted.

Georgetown, Ky., July 30.—In the trial of Caleb Powers, which was resumed today, the defense opened its side of the case with a motion for peremptory instructions for a verdict of acquittal. The motion was submitted without argument and was promptly over-ruled by the court.

Attorney Faulkner announced the case of the defense. He said the defense would show that the contests over the state offices were not tried on judicial lines, but on a partisan basis, and that politics was responsible for the present prosecution. He intimated that the prosecution knew the identity of Goebel's assassin, but has concealed it. It will be admitted, he said, that Caleb Powers and Charles Finley organized and brought to Frankfort the crowd of mountain men who arrived there on Jan. 25, but that this was only to petition the legislature and not to intimidate that body. He declared that the men who composed the mountain army were not bad characters, as charged by the other side, and that charges, made by Democrats had large bodies of men in Frankfort to back up the contestants.

He said Powers had in his pocket at the time of the killing the keys to his office, which the prosecution alleges had been given to Youtsey; that Powers never conferred with Youtsey, Berry Howard, Jim Howard, Green Golden or Dick Combs, and that Jim Howard was not on the capitol grounds until after the killing. It would be proved, he claimed, that Weaver, one of the main charges, settled the contest, was never in Frankfort until yesterday; that Finley, Anderson and Noakes testified for money and W. H. Culton in the hope of obtaining immunity from the prosecution, and that Wharton Golden's evidence will be successfully contradicted.

The Defendant on the Stand.

The defendant, Caleb Powers, took the witness stand. He declared that he never knew Jim Howard, Harland Whittaker or Richard Combs, three of the defendants, prior to the assassination. He had only known Youtsey since Jan. 1. In regard to the bringing of the mountaineers to Frankfort, witness said:

"There were three crowds of men brought to Frankfort, and I had something to do with the organization of each. The purpose was to show the interest of these people in the matters at issue at that time and not to intimidate either the state election board or the legislature. I instructed the men to do no acts of violence, and so far as I know, none were committed by them."

Powers continued: "The last crowd of men were brought for a double purpose. We expected to use them as witnesses before the contest board and also to show by their presence the interest they felt in the contest. We had also heard rumors that we were to be forcibly ejected from the offices. These rumors I based on newspaper reports and we intended to resist violence."

Mr. Bradley, of counsel for prosecution, objected to the statement and asked that it be excluded on the ground that newspaper reports could not be given as evidence. The court ruled that it was incompetent for the witness to detail newspaper reports or to tell of apprehensions which he based on common rumor.

Witness said he had received information that Mr. Hall, the contestant for secretary of state, would not wait until the contest board had met but would try to take forcible possession as soon as the contest board acted. "If that sort of thing had been attempted," he said, "we intended to hold the offices. I had a conference with Governor Taylor and he advised the bringing of a large body of men to show their interest in political affairs. He also advised that they be brought armed and promised to pay the expenses. I acted on this. The plans were kept a secret to prevent dropping us through a bridge or derailing our train. I told those in the conference that the utmost secrecy must be observed in getting them there before the news got out."

At the afternoon session the defendant resumed the stand. He read to the jury receipts for money paid by him for board for some of the mountain men brought by him to the state capital. He then told of the Harbourville conference, at which Finley, Powers and others discussed the arrangements with John A. Black, who strongly opposed the movement. This witness said he assured Black that he and Finley would use their best endeavors to keep the crowd from degenerating into a mob, but denied that he told Black he was going to organize a mob. He said that he had not seen the legislature in the presence of W. H. Culton, that the legislature would be given thirty minutes to act and if it did not do it in that time they would kill the Democratic legislators. In regard to sending the men home from Frankfort the evening of Jan. 25, about which witness Noakes testified last week and told of a breach between the witness and Governor Taylor, Powers said:

"I heard that they were going to send the men home and I opposed it, as the men had been up all the night before. I went to see Governor Taylor. He told me it had been decided to send them home, as his presence was having a bad effect. Some of the anti-Goebel Democrats in the legislature had strongly disapproved of bringing the men armed, and had threatened to desert Governor Taylor in the contest unless he sent the men home."

Did Not Give Keys to Youtsey.

The witness did not give Youtsey a key or keys to his office nor did he have a conversation with John Powers and Golden in reference to Goebel being killed by "Tallow Dick" Combs. He did meet Youtsey in the hall of the legislative building and Youtsey asked him to let him into the office. Witness did not know why Youtsey wanted to get in there, but witness did not let him in there. Witness had his keys in his pocket. Previous to his occupancy of the office, there were three keys to the door only one of which was turned over to him. W.

J. Davidson is said to have had one of these keys and a negro porter is said to have had the other during Finley's incumbency of the office, but witness never had but one key. He talked with Treasurer Day and W. J. Davidson Monday evening, January 25, about bringing another body of men to Frankfort, but did not decide until Tuesday morning—the morning of the assassination. It was agreed to do it.

Day, Golden and the witness went to Louisville for the purpose of securing transportation for the crowd that was to be gotten up. The witness explained the slip of paper found in his pocket when he was arrested and which read: "Powers is our friend. (Signed) W. S. Taylor." was given to him by Governor Taylor on the morning of the assassination to be taken to Pension Agent Leslie Combs, at Louisville, who had charge of the funds with which the expense of the contest were being paid.

Powers testimony was interrupted at this point by adjournment.

FALSE PRETENSES ALLEGED.

Joseph Potelunas Held in $500 Bail by Alderman Kasson.

Joseph Potelunas, who up to a short time ago conducted a hotel in Troop, was yesterday committed to the county jail by Alderman Kasson in default of $500 bail, charged with false pretenses by William Craig, agent for the Central Pennsylvania Brewing company.

Craig claims that Potelunas, while proprietor of the hotel at Troop, secured $300 worth of stock from the company and that last week he left for Plymouth, without paying for the goods, having told Craig before purchasing them that he would continue in business at Troop.
