TUNKHANNOCK.

secial to the Scranton Tribune

Tunkhannock, Aug. 2.-Wyoming ounty people will remember that a one-legged tramp of German origin ocupled a cell at the jail for some time during the winter of 1898-99. He was brought here by H. C. Amey and James Young, of Lemon township, his arrest having been made upon the ground that he answered to the decription of a man who was wanted terian church and the Susquehanna by Canadian authorities for the murder of the chief of police at Montreal. A reward had been offered for the murderer's apprehension, and though considerable correspondence was held with the authorities at Montreal, it failed to satisfy them that he was the man wanted, and so after a time he was set loose and permitted to go his own way. It is now asserted that he was picked up in Ohio three or four months later and carried to Mortreal, where he proved to be the chap wanted and was subsequently hung for his crime. Thus the reward offered for his capture passed to Ohio and not to citizens of Wyoming county.-New

The management find some trouble in get-ting sufficient numbers of hands to do the work and have been compelled to work over time in several instances. Paymaster Z. Welles Reynolds, of the United States navy, who has been spending the summer at this place while recovering from a severe attack of typhold fever, contracted at the time of the wreck of the Charleston off the island of Luzon, has received orders from the navy department to report for duty and will be assigned for a few months to the Norfolk navy yard at Norfolk, Va. He expects to ret on one of the new ships now building as soon as they go into commisdon. In the meantime his clerk, R. J. Little, remains at home, there being no clerkship attached to the position at the navy yard. A regular meeting of the borough council was held last evening, and the routine business of the month transacted. The extension of Third street was reported as completed as far as the stone work is concerned and Contractor Hiram Cortright drew the balance due on his contract. The bills of Street Commissioner Carpenter for clearing up the streets after the recent wind storm were presented and paid. They amounted to a considerable sum.

RED TAPE AT WEST POINT.

Future Army Officers Are Very Early Enmeshed in It.

W. E. Curtis, in the Charago Kenned They have a queer, old-fashioned 'regular-army way" at West Point of keeping the finances of the cadets, which seems to have been invented with a view of increasing the labor of the treasurer and involving the boys in red tape. Each cadet receives a salary of $540 a year, and that amount is put to his credit in installments of $45 a month. He is popularly supsonal expenses from this allowance, the saddle, and is a crack rifle shot. his accounts are kept. Bedford Street Methodist church at From that time on everything he does and everything he has that costs me much pleasure to recommend money becomes a matter of bookkeeping. He is charged $2.67 per month for policing the academy grounds; lowance for the support of the hospital; the gas that he uses in his room has to be paid for just as if he were a householder in the city, and he is even charged 25 cents for the notarial fee when he takes an oath of allegiance to support the constitution of the United States. He is charged for cleaning and scrubbing his quarters just as if they were rented month in an ordinary office building, and if any of the furniture or the fixtures or the building suffer damage he is required to pay for it.

There is, of course, a reason for all this. People do not invent trouble without some motive, and no doubt the commendable purpose of the official who invented this system of charges was to teach care and economy to the cadets. Whatever is left from the salary of a cadet after charging him with all these items remains to his credit, and is paid to him whenever he goes on a furlough or when he graduates, which is of course an inducement for him to be as careful as possible in his expenditures. Furthermore, the knowledge everything that is broken or injured is charged against him makes him careful of government property. For example, a cadet is required to pay for all the stationery and soap that is issued to him. His dipper and his broom cost 20 cents each, and, although these are small items, it is probable that many cadets take better care of their dippers and Christian association will conduct an open air their brooms and are more economical opening in the Chamberlain district next Sunin the use of their stationery than they would be if such supplies were a free gift of the government.

Last year it cost each cadet 53 cents per day for his board and they are fed very well for that money. Some of the cadets are so careless and extravagant in spending their allowance that when the time comes for them to take a furlough they have to appeal to their friends for money to pay their railroad fare and buy them citizens' clothing to wear during their

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Aug. 2.—The small amount of busi ness done on the stock exchange today was almost wholly concentrated in four stocks. In none of the four did the net change exceed s. Baltimere and Ohio showed the nearest aprange of over two points, but it closed with a net loss of %. This carried the stock to 74% which was the low price of the day. The riends of the Union Pacific then attempted to make use of the discrepancy in the price of that stock and by a few large individual transactions gave Union Pacific a place in the active list. But this movement quickly subsided. There was some strength in sugar and in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, the first being affected by denials that the trade war had been resumed and second by inspired assurance that the annual report would show larger earnings than have been hoped for. Continental Tobacco preferred was raided down 4%. The general undertone of the market was firm with some yielding in the latter part of the day. Total sales, 170,700. Possibly True. From the Cleveland Plain Dealer. There was a children's party in Wilson aveoue one evening not long ago, and the little ones played simple games and enjoyed them-selves with the usual zest. In one of these games each one fold, among other things, weat he or she wished for most of all.

The question went down the line, eliciting many laughable answers, until it reached a tot of perhaps 8 or 9. "And what do you wish for most of all, Robbie?" he was asked. "I wish to die happy," he answered, with old owlish solemnity.

Economy.

Billpot-You must be doing mighty well, ald man, to be able to charter a yacht. Capton-Not at all; I'm doing it to save money, "I'm going to keep my wife at sea for a
