HARRIS DEFEATS HASLAM.

Secures Republican Nomination to Succeed Zimelman.

The Republican primaries in the Eighth ward, between 4 and 7 o'clock yesterday, to nominate a candidate for the vacancy in common council caused by the resignation of Fire Department Chief F. W. Zimelman, resulted in the selection of Jacob Harris, clothing dealer of South Washington avenue, by a majority of thirty-nine.

In the First district, in which the voting is done at A. R. Raub's undertaking establishment and which includes the South Washington avenue "flats," Harris received 121 votes to 9 for Haslam.

In the Second district, in which the booth is at the Rudolph, Harris received 24 and Haslam 97.

The election is to take place Tuesday, August 14. The Democrats have not yet announced the time for their caucus. Among the aspirants on the Democratic side are P. F. Durkin, T. J. Roche, Thomas Gilgallon and John J. Flanagan. M. P. Flynn, proprietor of the Lackawanna Valley house, has declined to run.

R. W. WALKER, JR., PROMOTED.

Foreman of Bridge Builders on Two Divisions of the Lackawanna.

R. W. Walker Jr., of Division street, has been made foreman of bridges and building on the Syracuse and Utica divisions of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, with headquarters at Binghamton.

Mr. Walker is a comparatively young man, but has talents in the particular line in which he is engaged that would do credit to a much older head.

His father occupied a somewhat similar position on the main line until a year ago, when it was done away with by the new general superintendent of bridges and building, W. B. Hixson. The new appointee was a foreman under his father and after his father's retirement became assistant to Superintendent Hixson.

The appointment displaces C. L. Woodward, of Syracuse, who was in charge of the bridge builders on the Syracuse division for upwards of twenty years.

WORK OF GLASS CUTTING.

New Factory Will Be Under Full Steam in a Few Days.

Owing to a delay in making steam connections, the new cut glass factory of T. D. Clark & Co., on North Washington avenue, near the Suburban Electric Light works, the plant was not gotten in operation yesterday morning, as expected.

General Manager Osborne said yesterday that in all likelihood the machinery will be set in motion today or tomorrow. It is practically all in place and everything in readiness to begin grinding.

The work of making glass will not be done at this factory. Glass-cutting constitutes the whole of the operation to be performed here. The glass from what is called "blank" is marked by the designer with the embellishments it is to carry. It is then given to one of the cutters, who does the rough cutting on a steel wheel, with a sharp-edged periphery on which a thin stream of wet sand, ground from the hardest granite, is made to run from a hopper suspended above the operator's table, the sand being caught in a square tub to be used over and over again.

Next the glass is further ground on a stone wheel to smooth it, and finally it is polished on a wheel of soft wood or felt, until its prisms sparkle with the brilliancy of a diamond.

For the present about forty hands will be employed in the new factory. This number will be increased right along. It is expected, until within a year at the most, a hundred hands will be given employment.

ASSESSMENTS FOR YEAR.

It Is Less on Real Estate Than It Was Last Year, but the Occupation Tax Is Higher.

The work of preparing the tax duplicates for the year 1900 has been completed with the exception of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth wards. A slight mistake made in this necessitated the going over of the entire book, and the figures given for this ward in the table below, while not exactly official, are nevertheless correct within a very few dollars.

The real and personal property valuation this year is $686,363, which is less than it was last year, while the occupation valuation is increased by $32,810. The city will receive $26,159.57 more taxes than it did last year, but this year's tax levy, which is 13 7-10 mills, is higher than last year's, which was 12 8-10 mills. The valuation and the city taxes by wards is as follows:

Ward	Real and Personal	Occupation	City and State Taxes	School and Special Taxes

REGIMENT LEAVES TONIGHT.

Big Crowd Will Be on Hand to See the Boys Off.

Colonel L. A. Watres received a telegram yesterday morning, announcing the arrival of the brigade camp detail at Mt. Gretna at 7:30 o'clock, after an uneventful trip. The men expected to have canvas portioned out to them immediately upon their arrival and to begin at once the work of putting the camp in shape for the soldiers when they arrive Saturday morning.

Colonel E. H. Ripple, assistant adjutant general, left yesterday for Harrisburg to join his chief, Adjutant General Stewart, and proceed to the camp. Colonel C. C. Pratt, of New Milford, and Colonel George M. Hallstead, of the governor's staff, will accompany Governor Stone when he makes his visit to Gretna next week.

Everything is in readiness for the departure of the Thirtieth regiment tonight. The baggage has all been shipped, equipment distributed and travel arrangements perfected. The regiment will assemble at the armory at 8:30 o'clock and proceed without delay to the Delaware and Hudson station, where a special train will be made soon after 9 o'clock. It is expected an immense crowd will be at the station to give the boys a send off.

NARUSZYS IS IN THE COUNTY JAIL

COMMITTED TO AWAIT ACTION OF GRAND JURY.

Andrew Gordon Testified at the Hearing in Alderman Fidler's Office Last Evening That He Saw Naruszys Hit John Miskus on the Head with an Axe—Joseph Lozofski Saw the Body of Miskus, and Naruszys Standing Nearby with an Axe—Statement of Accused.

Simon Naruszys was committed to the county jail last evening, by Alderman Fidler, to await the action of the grand jury. He was charged with the murder of John Miskus on the night of March 17, 1896. The crime is said to have been committed in the house occupied by Miskus, on Lloyd street, this city. Andrew Gordon testified that he saw Naruszys hit Miskus on the head with an axe. He was outside of the house at the time, and through an open door saw the crime committed.

The murdered man and his alleged murderer were born in Poland, and when the hearing began and Attorney W. R. Lewis appeared for Naruszys, County Detective Leishon was present, but only as a spectator, Miller being the prosecutor in the case.

LOZOFSKI'S TESTIMONY.

Joseph Lozofski was the first witness sworn. He testified that on the night of March 17, 1896, he was going along Lloyd street and saw Naruszys, who was going to Miskus' house. It was about 10 o'clock at night. Naruszys asked him to go to a barn some distance away, where he (Naruszys) kept bottled beer, which at that time he dealt in, and bring some of it to Miskus' house. He did so and when he arrived there he saw Miskus lying on the floor apparently dead and Naruszys nearby with a small axe in his hand.

The others in the room were: Mrs. Miskus, Charles Miller, her brother, and John Grieka. The witness had an impression there was another man in the room, but he could not recollect who it was. When he saw Miskus lying on the floor he became frightened and started to run, but he was held back by Naruszys. He followed him to the door and told him if he ever uttered a whisper about what he had just seen he would kill him.

Lozofski says he went out and stood at Summit avenue and Lloyd street, some distance away, and after a time saw them carry out Miskus' body and place it in a wagon and take it away. He said nothing about what he saw in the house, because he was in mortal terror of the man, and he is still in fear of them he said, and believes they will do something to him for telling what he knows.

AN EYE WITNESS.

Andrew Gordon was the next witness sworn. He resided on Lloyd street in March, 1896, some distance further up the street than the Miskus house. On the night of the 17th he was on his way home about 10 o'clock, and in passing heard sounds of quarrelling and stopped a moment to listen. The door was open and he looked in and saw Mrs. Miskus, Naruszys, Charles Miller and John Grieka. Miskus was sitting on a chair and Naruszys was sitting on the floor with an axe in his hand and striking him on the head. As soon as he saw the blow struck he fled and does not know what happened afterwards.

He explained that he did not give the alarm then and that his legs were sealed afterwards because of his fear of Naruszys. The next day he saw the body of Miskus alongside the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western track near the Tripp crossing. There were several wounds on the head. At the request he acted as interpreter, but did not say anything to the coroner or county detective about what he had seen.

After Gordon's testimony Attorney Dawson asked for the commitment of Naruszys to the county jail to await the action of the grand jury. The alderman made out the necessary papers and Naruszys was handcuffed by Constable Seth Smith and taken to the county jail.

NARUSZYS'S STATEMENT.

Naruszys is a powerfully built man of 22, is unmarried and has been in this country thirteen years. During the greater part of that time he has acted as an agent for the sale of beer and has been employed at different times by J. C. Roche, Casey & Kelly, G. Blosar and John Luiken.

To a Tribune man he stated after the hearing that the charge was a conspiracy against him concocted by Andrew Miller and Andrew Gordon, with whom he has had a good deal of trouble of various kinds. He declared that he could prove by the people with whom he dealt that he was not in the house on the night of March 17 at 9 o'clock. He declared most emphatically that he was not in Miskus' house on the night of the alleged killing.

With reference to Gordon's testimony he said it was only necessary to show that on March 17, 1896, Gordon was living on Grove street, Park Place, instead of Lloyd street, to show how impossible it was for him to be passing the Miskus house on his way home.

OPPORTUNITY TO JOIN THE MARINES

First Time Such a Recruiting Office Has Ever Been Located Here. Qualifications Necessary.

Gunnery Sergeant John A. Logan, who is in temporary charge of the new recruiting station for the marine corps of the United States navy, at the corner of Lackawanna and Wyoming avenues, expects to meet with much success in his mission here. The men are known that the office is established. He says that recent events, or rather the present events—have caused increased interest in his mission here, and he said yesterday that the Chinese revolution would soon be in danger of running aground. The men are known that the office is established. He says that recent events, or rather the present events—have caused increased interest in his mission here, and he said yesterday that the Chinese revolution would soon be in danger of running aground. The men are known that the office is established.

This is the first time a recruiting station connected with the navy has been established in this city and is due to the fact that a large number of applicants for enlistment in the marine corps were received at the main office in Philadelphia. As it would entail loss of time and money on the prospective recruits to travel to Philadelphia, and perhaps be rejected, Colonel Russell concluded to open a branch here. The men are known that the office is established.

"Applicants for enlistment must be citizens of the United States or those who have legally declared their intention to become citizens, 21 and not over 35 years of age, five feet four inches minimum, and not over six feet one inch in height, perfectly sound, and of good development, unmarried, of good character and not addicted to the use of liquor and able to read and write English. The pay of marines is from $13.00 to $13.00 per month, according to rank and length of service; clothing, rations, quarters and medical attendance are furnished in addition, by the government. Twenty per cent saved is given on the above rates of pay to those serving in Cuba, Porto Rico, Guam, Alaska, Honolulu or the Philippines.

"Marines who have become infirm after twenty years' service or who have been discharged for wounds received or sickness brought on in the service are entitled to the benefits of the United States naval home at Philadelphia, or a pension amounting to one-half the pay of rank at the time of discharge. After thirty years' service with three-fourths of full pay and allowances at date of retirement.

"The term of service is for five years, three of which are supposed to be served on sea going ships of war or in Cuba, Porto Rico, Manila, Guam or China, giving opportunity to visit all parts of the world, and the other two years are served in barracks at the different naval stations in the United States. The law provides for the promotion of worthy non-commissioned officers to second lieutenant, and the opportunity to visit all parts of the world, and the other two years are served in barracks at the different naval stations in the United States. MAYOR STANDS UP FOR COMMON COUNCIL

DOES NOT BELIEVE IN SINGLE-BARREL LEGISLATION.

Vetoes Select Council Resolution Calling Upon Chief of Police to Furnish a Monthly Report, Claiming That One Council Cannot Order Such a Thing Done—Mr. Chittenden Ridiculed This Statement and Said Some Pretty Tart Things as Did Also Mr. Oliver.

Mayor Moir has decided that the select council should be informed that a body known as the common council exists and that it has certain powers similar to those of select council.

With this end in view he sent in a communication last night to the select council vetoing a resolution passed by that branch some time ago, directing the chief of police to submit in a monthly report of all absences on the part of the members of the police force. The communication was as follows:

To the Honorable, the Select Council:
Gentlemen: I am in receipt of a resolution passed by your honorable body, directing the chief of police to submit in a monthly report of all absences on the part of the members of the police force, and I am at a loss to know by what authority you demand or attempt to instruct the chief of police as to his duties. Under the law the mayor is vested with the control and supervision of the police force and is held responsible for its conduct. The statute sets forth that the policemen shall obey the orders of the mayor and make report to him, which report shall be laid before council when required.

ACT SAYS COUNCILS.

You will note that the act says council, not select council only, but the joint bodies, not councils of the city. As I view the matter, whenever the council deem it necessary to pass resolutions touching the conduct of the police, and suggest that certain acts and things shall be done by them, the same must, in order to have any validity, be passed by both councils. The powers of common council in this respect is equal with your own and therefore a resolution passed by your branch, such as the one presented to me, cannot have any force or standing unless concurred in by the common council. Any resolution, however, passed by your branch and addressed to the mayor desiring information relating to the police or any other department will be cheerfully responded to and receive such attention as the same may warrant. The resolution under consideration is not being addressed to the mayor but to the chief of police requiring that officer to make answer direct to your body is not in accordance with the statute and cannot receive my approval.

I lay this matter plainly before your honorable body, in no captious spirit of fault finding, but in order that the legislative and executive branches of our government should each understand and confine themselves within their proper sphere, thus engendering and promoting that harmonious feeling that should characterize intelligent municipal government.

Speaking of the matter to a Tribune man yesterday, the mayor said that he had been forced to take this step on account of the apparent desire of the select council to ignore the common council.

"The same thing happened in Harrisburg a short time ago," said "and the select body, until called down by the mayor was virtually running the city's affairs itself."

MR. CHITTENDEN'S COMMENTS.

When Clerk Lovell had finished reading the communication last night Mr. Chittenden arose in his seat and said:

"I desire to state that that is in my opinion the most singular document that has ever been read in this council during the twelve years that I have been a member. The spectacle of a mayor of this city telling the select council that it has nothing to say about how city departments should be run is certainly unique.

"Should the mayor take it for granted that neither one council or both has the right to interfere with the head of any department he should be told that councils have the right either independently or acting together to investigate the manner in which any department is being run. They can even investigate the mayor's own doings if there is any suspicion of wrong-doing. If we want this information we'd better send a committee after it."

Mr. Oliver, who introduced the resolution, then said: "I think that his honor has had a very sudden change of heart in this matter. It was at the desire of the mayor that this resolution was originally introduced, and now he opposes it.

"If I think that it should be passed, it is openly claimed that many of the members of the police force are negligent of their duty and that if they are a little bit indisposed they stay away from duty. We are not asking the chief of police to do anything unreasonable. We are merely asking him to do his duty."
