HAIR-CUTTING CASE STILL A MYSTERY

STORY TOLD BY LALLY GIRL IS RATHER FLIMSY.

Indications Point to the Deed Having Been Committed by the Girl Herself-Boy Fell from Bridge Abutment-Meetings of P. O. S. of A., Ivorites, Republican Club and St. Paul's Tourist Club-Griffith Ellis Is Missing from Home-News Notes and Personals.

Indications strongly point to the story about Sarah Reese's hair-cutting spisode being rather thinsy, as far as the bold, bad man mentioned by her is concerned.

The girl was interviewed yesterday. and refterated parts of the story furuished the police Wednesday evening, ant there yet remains several conrecting links in the chain of circumstances to make the incident truly real and exciting.

According to the girl's own story, she was bound to a chair, shorn of her bair, released, and threatened if she an outcry, but she tells these ireldents in such a matter-of-fact ternner, that nearly all who have beend her story are inclined to doubt its truthfulness. There was nothing to indicate that the incident really carred, except a small bunch of hair, which was found on the floor, and the girl's own story.

Sarah is not the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reese, of 36 Corbett avenue tun is one of the Lally children, whom Mrs. Duggan separated from their mother about a year ago. She says a person entered the house wearing a coman's skirt, a man's coar and vest and a woman's hat with the crown torn out. Through the latter the girl alleges that she could see a head of grey hair, and when the person spoke it was the voice of a man. She also alleges that she was bound to a chair, and the man drew from the folds of his skirt a large knife, but remarked that the weapon was too sharp to cut hair with, and picked from the table a pair of shears and used it in the cutting. He then released her, placed the rope which bound her in a bag, and departed. soon as the alleged hair-cutter had departed, the girl says she left the house, locked the door, and proceeded to where her foster-mother was and informed her of what had hastened to inform the police, When questioned the girl admitted having heard of a similar occurrence and also admitted that it was possible for a person to cut their own hair. She would not admit that she performed such an act herself, but the ircumstances surrounding the case yould point to the belief that such is tave duties to perform.

Fell from Bridge Abutment.

Harvey, the young son of Mrz. Mary A. Butcher, of 143 South Sum-ner avenue, fell from the westerly abutment of the Lackawanna avenue bridge yesterday afternoon and sustained painful injuries.

In company with a number of other oys, young Butcher was trying to locate a bird's nest in the rafters of the bridge, and had climbed up on the abutment which stands between the Ontario and Western railroad tracks and the river. Just as he was about to bring the bird and its nest to earth, he lost his balance and fell fully fifteen feet to the ground, striking on a pile of stones, The result was a sprained ankle, an injured arm and a bruised face.

Several workmen, who saw the boy fall, carried him to the street, where he was found shortly afterwards, suffering from the injuries, and Thomas Thomas, the North Main avenue machine agent, conveyed him to his home in a carriage.

Fire in the Frame Dwelling of Mr. drawing in St. David's half last and Mrs. Michael Walsh, of Bloom Street.

> Smoke was discovered issuing from frame dwelling occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Michael Walsh, on Bloom street, yesterday afternoon about ? clock. An alarm was quickly turned in, and two of the borough companies esponded. The fire was found to be in the sleeping rooms, among some bedding and straw ticks, and created considerable smoke.

> A stream of water was turned on the burning goods and the fire extinguished, although the house was flooded with water. The damage was done entirely by water, and will be slight, Mr. and Mrs. Walsh had gone on an excursion trip for the day, leaving some little children at home, and it is the supposition that the fire was ereated by them while playing.

THE FAMINE IN INDIA.

Men, Women and Children Dying on Maximum Wages. orrespondence London Leader,

I reached Amraoti at midnight. Mr. Mucholkar, an Indian pleader and well-known congressman, was waiting to receive me. He drove me to the Dak Bungalow. These travelers' bungalows are found nearly all over India and supply the place of hotels in the smaller towns. The heat in the buildng was so great that I had to open loors and windows. But though the famine refugees were hovering round the town, desperate with want, I slept safely and well. There are large relief works near Amraoti. At one alone there were 5,148 men, women and children working. The work given them to do is stone breaking. Stones are wanted for road making, and the pubie works department has found it convenient to get the material done by cheap famine labor. Since the government's circular, issued at the beginning of January to the officials, enforcing the strictest economy in the giving of relief, wages have been lowered considerably. Work is paid for by the amount done. The maximum GRAIN-O, made of pure grains, that takes the place of coffee. wage. Many of the others received the lowest wage, 5 and 4 pice a day (a pice equals 1 farthing at the present rate of exchange). I was very persistent in questioning officials and ion-officials, both on the works and in the town, as to whether 5 and 4 pice per day were sufficient to provide food to keep in good health an adult person. Some maintained it was, and others as stoutly said it was not The controversy over the reduction of wages is keen. The wife of one official confessed that the food purchasable by 4 pice was less than was allowed to a person in jail, and that her husband was advocating that it should be slightly increased. That there should be any doubt on the mater was disquieting, for one is crediting the government with giving substantial relief wherever the relief vorks are set up, and the people work hard enough for the miserable pay they get. But I was glad to know that the lower wage is not yet fixed. It has been tried as an experiment only, and some of the officials are recommending its enhancement. I was assured that they would endeavor to get it so regulated, according to the price of grain, as to provide a subsistence wage to the worker. So far the workers look in good condition, and as well off as the laborers one meets with in the average village in India. The work they do is hard-hour after hour sitting on the ground breaking stones from three to five inches in length into small pieces, and this under an eastern sky. Truly, the real test of need is the work itself. Only starving people would leave their homes to come and work like that. It is well Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Moran, of the to bear in mind that even for those South Side, Scranton, but formerly of on relief works there is plenty of room for charity. The news spread over the camp, and hundreds of little children, some of them all naked and others fantastically clad in a pretense at clothes, came swarming round me, and with bright eves and smiling faces looked eagerly at the proceedings. The Indian overseers came readily forward to assist in distributing the food, but the throng increased every minute, and it was necessary to take the children to their own feeding place and make them sit down in orderly rows upon the ground, so that in the confusion none might be overlooked. Four men carrying large baskets of these sweet nuts went forward, followed by 600 or 700 children, all cheering like a grown-up crowd. I saw the "feast" begin, and only wished that many English children could have seen that sight, that they might realize how only a few shillings so spent could bring such pleasure to hundreds of these dusky little ones. Another bold robbery was perperated on Wednesday night, when the ome of Mrs. D. J. Clearwater, on Pear street, below Cedar avenue, was entered and robbed of $190 in cash. The thief gained entrance through the cellar door, which was that evening left unfastened.

Mrs. Clearwater left the house t attend church service about 7.30 and her son, Walter, left shortly after 8 o'clock to attend to some business, and both were gone but about an hour, Upon their return, Mrs. Clearwater found the front door unfastened, and Walter, who was about to retire, found his room looking as if a cyclone had struck it. Everything was overturned and scattered about the room. Upon examination it was found that $190 in cash was missing.

The thief did not take two gold watches that lay on the bureau, thus indicating that he is the same one who has been getting into central, city houses lately. The thief evidently was disturbed at his work, for in one room a drawer in a chiffonier was partly pulled out but nothing disturbed.

It was found that the thief entered the yard from the rear, passing through a neighbor's garden, and opened the cellar door, entering the kitchen through a trap-door in a loset. Their next-door neighbor saw the man enter the yard, but thought it was an acquaintance, and heard him walking about, as the carpets were up, preparatory to their vacating the premises, and the sound was carried very plainly.

The police were notified, but up till late hour had found no clue. The man, whoever he was, must have known his bearings, for scarcely ten minutes elapsed between the departure of Walter Clearwater and his entrance into the yard.

THE SALAMANDER.

Queer Little Animal That Is Seldom Seen Above Ground. from the Popular Science Monthly.

In many places in the extreme uthern states, especially in what are locally known as the "piney woods," one of the most rotable features the constantly recurring mounds of yellow sand which everywhere dot, and it must be confessed disfigure, the monotonous landscape. of earth are usually nearly circular in form, fairly symmetrical in contour, from six inches to two feet in diameter, and, save where they have been beaten down by rain or winds or the tramping of cattle, about half as high as they are broad. Often these sand heaps are pretty evenly distributed, sometimes so thickly as to cover at least one-fourth of the soil surface. If you ask a native the cause of this singular phenomenon, which you will perhaps at first be disposed to consider a kind of arenaceous erupon the face of nature, your informant will sententiously reply, "Salaman-
