The "King Poco" Camera. There is one of the special rewards decided upon by The Tribune at the time of the inauguration of its Educational Contest which has not heretofore received much attention. This is the "King Poco" camera. There are many cameras, of all sizes and makes, and capable of taking all degrees and qualities of negatives, but The Tribune decided, in order to bring this special reward up to the standard of the others, to select the best, and one that had all the very latest scientific

Best of Its Kind.

The "King Poco" is positively the king of all hand cameras. No other camera on the market has the facilities or the class of workmanship embedded in it. It tills the demand for up-to-date ideas in photography, and combines every adjustment that can be applied to a camera; is small and compact, considering its capacity. and has many advantages, strength and rigidity not being sacrificed. What Telescopic Photography Is. Ever since the advent of the hand ameras made the amateur photographer a possibility, this same amateur has bewalled the great quantity of picture which he has obtained on his plate. It was exasperating to make a snapshot of, say, a horse trotting, and find that the horse which was within twenty yards of him is less than an inch in height in the photograph.

This question, which troubles the amateur, has also troubled the more advanced worker, and he has long been trying to obtain the power to select and enlarge a choice bit of some distant view to the exclusion of other and surrounding matter. In a tentative and experimental way, this has been done for years, but very little practical work was done on these lines until the telesphoto lense, as we know it today, was invented. Perhaps no one application of tele-photography is more widely appreclated than its use in connection with mountain scenery. Now, wherever the photographer visits the mountains, he can, from whatever point of view is most favorable, render the distant peak as sees it. In the past his picture has been a mere map of half the coun-

Distant Details Made Plain.

In the days when men wrought to fashion each minute part with care, there was hidden in obscure niches friezes much exquisite work in architecture, which is quite inaccessiole to the ordinary camera, or even to the ordinary vision. The tele-photo ens will unerringly render the detail of pinnacle or window or gargoyle better than had an artist ascended to

An interesting possibility in telephotography is its use in war. Infeed, it would seem that the nations are alive to this fact, for the usual tourist who incurs the displeasure of European dynasties by photopraphing near fortifications was this year arrested in Italy, more than eight miles from the fortress against which he was supposed to have designs. Those who, a few years ago, prochesied that the hand cameras garded as visionaries. But the use of the hand camera is today more common than the greatest optimist looked

In accordance with this sical massiveness of ber treasures idea, the camera known as the "Telehave been all unrecorded in the past, Photo Cycle Poco B." or "King Poco," The puny camera with its wide range was placed on our list, where it stands was incapable of selecting one great object and depicting it in solitary strength. But with the tele-photo lens we may look for more worthy ecords, and the contestant in The Tribune's Educational Contest who selects this reward will have a most valuable and remarkable instrument, and one from which may be derived much pleasure and profit.

OIL FEVER IN WAYNE.

Excitement Runs High in the Vicinity of Tanner's Falls. special to the Scranton Tribune.

Honesdale, Aug. 3.-The oil fever has broken out again in the vicinity of Tanner's Falls, in this county. About twenty years ago the excitement was so high that a company was formed and a drill put at work near Tanner's Palls. At a depth of about seventeen bundred feet oil was found. Mr. Coe F. Young, who was foremost among the prospectors, caused the drill to proceed to a greater depth in hopes finding coal, also. About this time the drill became fastened and was broken in the hole, causing the abandonment of the project.

Various rumors were affoat. One was that a representative of the Standard Oil company had visited the place: that his appearance had a bad effect on the drill. For the past four months parties have been prospecting along the Dyberry river, between Honesdan and Tanner's Falls. As a result the Pennsylvania Oil company has entered into an agreement with John Pleffer & Sons for the oll and gas under seven thousand acres of land controlled by these gentlemen at a rental of $25,000 and to per cent, on the ell secured. The lease is to extend over period of twenty years, or as long as oil and gas are found. Operations Earl McLoud, Harry Van Zandt and | are to commence within one year. THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review

Wall Street Review.

New York, Aug. 3.—Sugar, Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Baltimore and Ohio and Union Pacific fell somewhat Into the background today. An effort was made by the traders to bring forward some of the other railroad stocks to take the place of these recent favorites. These did not avail to fill up the gap left by the quietude of the mercurial specialities, but the day's dealings had an appearance of rather better distribution as a result of these new elements of activity and the general tone of the market was firm and sipproached to positive strength at times. The conter of the strength was the Granger group which was favoriably affected by the show of increased carnings for the fourth week in July by St. Paul system. There was a tree-wed effort also to advance. Union Pacific which met some success. At the high level, the Grangers, Pacifics and Southwesterns were generally a point or more to the good. The movement was directed in part against the short interest and when it had tovered the market lapsed into semi-stagnation and dropped lower. The bond market today was only slightly active and without feature. Total sales, par valve, Sukkisso. United States refunding 24, when issued, and the is declined ½ and the day, old and new is coupon is on the last call.
