PERSONAL

The Misses McGuire, of Monroe Avenue, are at Lake Winola.

Miss Scanlon, of Haledale, was a guest of Scranton friends Tuesday.

Attorney James J. O'Malley is in Philadelphia on legal business.

Robert Schmitz and George Price, of Paterson, are coming to Lake Henry for two weeks.

Mrs. P. J. O'Hara, of Wyoming Avenue, is entertaining her sisters, Miss Mary Carney, of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Reese Davis, of Honesdale Street, Tuesday left for Erie City, Mont., where she will make her home.

Superintendent of Malta Louis G. Schantz and sons, John and George, are on a fishing expedition to South Canada.

Rev. O. K. Healey, pastor of All Souls' Church, is spending his August vacation at his old home in Afton, N. Y.

John T. Bart, of East Stroudsburg, who was registered at the Hotel Jermyn, and who spent his vacation in this vicinity, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. Edward Benson, of 523 Pine Street, and her son, Harold, and daughter, Miss Lillian, have left for Long Branch and will spend the summer there.

City Controller Howell and Controller's Clerk Charles A. Hartley and wife will leave for Long Pond the latter part of the week and spend a few weeks there.

School Controller John Gibbons, of the Twelfth ward yesterday returned to Atlantic City to resume his vacation with his family. He came home for the purpose of attending the William Connell Home county's festivities Tuesday night, when their renovated quarters were opened.

WHERE EXPLOSION OCCURRED.

Gas in All Probability Reached the First Floor.

One thing that has come to be accepted as positive by Building Inspector Jackson and others who have inquired closely into Saturday night's explosion is that the explosion occurred in the bank apartments and not in the cellar, as was at first supposed.

There was some gas in the cellar and that very likely exploded with the rest, but the main body of the escaped fluid, it is pointed out, naturally found its way upwards, and, reaching the first floor, which had plastered walls and ceiling, tightly closed doors and windows, and no cracks, crevices or other interstices such as abound in a roughly finished cellar, was there imprisoned, filling the apartments gradually from the ceiling down until it finally came in contact with a light.

The fact that Miss Healey, who was in the corridor of the bank, and John Conley, who was at the head of the cellar steps, were burned and more severely bruised and battered than Watchman Weckers, who claims to have been in the cellar, and the further fact that the cellar walls are intact, while the greatest wreckage is apparent immediately to the right and left of the main apartments of the bank, just forward of the vault, tend strongly to corroborate this theory.

The proof of this theory is expected to be forthcoming shortly, as the walls still standing in the demolished buildings and the side wall of the Lorenz building are to be torn down today, and, this being done, the work of removing the debris from the bank cellar will be begun.

One story as to how the gas escaped is to the effect that when the gas pipe in the cellar was melted by lightning a few weeks ago the janitor covered the hole with putty instead of having a plumber solder it. This is one of the things that will be looked into when the debris is cleared away.

OLD SOL IS STILL WORKING VERY HARD

Average Temperature Yesterday Was 81 Degrees and the High Mark Was 95 in the Shade.

Day after day the terrible heat continues and if the thermometer keeps on making the upward strides that it has been doing all week, by Saturday Scrantonians will be taking to the woods. Yesterday was the warmest day of the week, and ergo, the second warmest day of the summer season, the average heat being 81 degrees.

At no time did the mercury become as obtrusive and unruly as on Tuesday, when at one period it reached 97 degrees in the shade, but a pretty close race was run yesterday and there was a time when the weary, perspiring individuals who stopped to deflectedly gaze at the big thermometers in front of Lackawanna Avenue stores were confronted with the pleasing statement that it was 95 degrees in the shade. Out in the full glare of the sun, where generous Mr. Sol could freely distribute his influence, the temperature was something like 119 degrees and throughout the day the heat was felt in a marked degree by all those whose duties kept them out where the sun god could get in his festive work.

The lowest temperature of the day was 68 degrees, early in the morning, while 95 degrees was the high mark. This gives an average of just 81 degrees, which is a grading that causes one to wonder how the sun god is going to get in the air and sing psalms of rejoicing.

Yesterday afternoon the elements tried to be a trifle good natured and there was a light downpour of rain. It didn't phase our friends Sol a bit, however, as he merely put on double power, and by the time the gentle little rain drops reached the ground they were heated enough to scorch the grass.

There was more rain during the afternoon and evening, but it did not ease the heat to any extent. The day was one of the most unpleasant of the season, there being that close, heavy feeling in the air all day which causes "dead-to-the-world" feelings to gain the ascendancy in people's breasts.

MARRIED AT PITSTON.

Patrick Crane, of Dunmore, and Miss McHale, of Pittston, Wedded.

At 5 o'clock last evening, Patrick Crane, of Dunmore, and Miss Mary McHale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McHale, of Carroll Street, Pittston, were married in St. John's Catholic church. The ceremony was performed by Very Rev. Eugene Garvey, in the presence of a large assemblage of friends. The bride wore white tulle, trimmed with lace and ribbon, and her maid, a cousin, Miss Mary McHale, of this city, wore white organdy. The groomsmen were Michael McDonnell, of Dunmore.

The ceremony over, a reception was tendered the newly wedded couple at the home of the bride's parents. A large number of invited guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Crane will go to housekeeping in Dunmore. The following were among the out-of-town guests:

Dunmore—Mrs. Henry Boyca and granddaughter, Ruth Hull, Miss Mary Wagonhurst, John Marley and wife, William, Arathia, Andrew, Mary and Michael Crane, Peter and Annie McAndrew, James and Kate Finnelly, Martin, Patrick and Anna McHale, Misses Celia O'Hara, Celia Murray and Anna McGuire.

Jermyn—Mrs. Hendricks, Philadelphia—Matthew Farrell.

AMONG THE POLICE.

Ada Watson and Thomas Thomas, arrested early yesterday morning on the charge of street walking by Patrolman Kelly, were taken before Mayor Moir in police court yesterday morning and fined $5 apiece. Neither had a five and both were committed to the county jail for fifteen days.

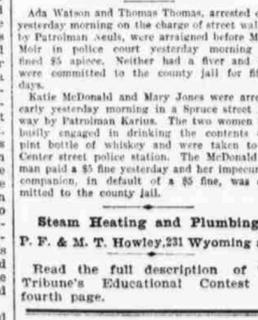

Katie McDonald and Mary Jones were arrested early yesterday morning in a Spruce street hallway by Patrolman Karis. The two women were found engaged in drinking the contents of a pint bottle of whiskey and were taken to the Central street police station. The McDonald woman paid a $5 fine yesterday and her impetuous companion, in default of a $5 fine, was committed to the county jail.

MR. SCRAGG SCENTS A TERRIBLE PLOT

MERRY-GO-ROUND PROSECUTION IS A CONSPIRACY.

Lawyer for the Man with the Go Declares at the Hearing Before Mayor Moir That He Could Prove by the Mayor That the Prosecution Is a Conspiracy to Protect the Peter Stipp Merry-Go-Round in Nay Aug Park from Outside Competition.

"If it wasn't for my respect for the court, I'd pay the mayor on the spot to prove that this whole thing is a conspiracy to protect Peter Stipp against competition."

This bold intimation came from Attorney John F. Scragg in the mayor's court yesterday morning, during the hearing in the latest case against Mr. Robinson's merry-go-round man who persists in his Sabbath disturbance, despite the almost unanimous protest of the neighborhood and his repeated arrests for maintaining a nuisance.

Mayor Moir passed it off with a laugh, and when Attorney W. J. Hand made some comment upon the fact that some courts would not be so lenient with an attorney who would so recklessly cast about such a broad insinuation, the mayor contented himself with saying, good-naturedly, "Oh, I'm used to hearing such things as that."

In an interview with a Tribune reporter after the hearing, however, the mayor spoke his mind rather freely about Mr. Scragg's conduct. He characterized the insinuation as being altogether uncalled for and in very bad taste.

DAVID J. DAVIS IS THE CHAIRMAN

Republican Candidates Select Officers of County Committee—E. D. Fellows, Secretary, and F. L. Wormser, Treasurer.

The Republican county candidates met yesterday afternoon in the office of whatever it is that the county executive building and elected Assistant City Solicitor David J. Davis, chairman of the county committee, to succeed City Solicitor Vosburg, who has not the time to devote to the work.

Major Eugene D. Fellows was elected secretary and F. L. Wormser, treasurer. Under their guidance a clean, active, systematic campaign may be expected. The executive and county committee has not yet been made up.

Mr. Davis, the new chairman, resigned his position as city solicitor a number of years ago and has been an active worker in the party. His advice has been sought in all of the campaigns of recent years, and appreciated for its wisdom. He is a battalion adjutant of the Thirtieth regiment, and is now with that body at Mt. Gretna.

CONDITION OF MARKET GOOD.

In Spite of Heat Scranton Food Is in Excellent State.

Considering the remarkable heat wave which is daily making Scrantonians miserable, the local food supply is in magnificent condition. Food Inspector Widmayer, yesterday indulged in a dissertation upon the subject and declared that with the exception of fish, which cannot stand the warm weather, the entire market at present is in a splendid state.

The condition of the milk, in particular, is excellent for this time of the year. For a while the city was threatened with wretched milk, as the result of the shrewd dealings of some of our country cousins, living in the nearby vicinity, Food Inspector Widmayer discovered that some milk dealers and private individuals were being supplied with a thin, watery liquid, labeled milk, which was a libel on the lactical fluid, and which was being sent into the city by seven or eight farmers. He learned their names and after sending word to have more milk into the city. Since then Scrantonians have been receiving a fine article of milk and cream. Mr. Widmayer yesterday remarked to a Tribune man: "Considering this heat, the market is really in a magnificent condition. Not a single case of food poisoning has been done away with. Meat is in splendid condition, none of the butchers carrying a very large stock at present, however. So far this week I have destroyed only a very small amount of food. The most trouble is caused by fish, of which it is necessary to do away with an enormous amount."

RESULTS OF EXAMINATION.

Four Law Students Succeeded in Passing Finally.

The results of the recent law student examinations were announced yesterday by the examining board, John M. Harris, J. W. Oakford and J. W. Carpenter.

Those who passed finally are: W. N. Leach, of Clarendon; students in John F. Scragg's office; Walter Lydell Hill, of Clark's Summit, registered with Dunn & Dunn; Fred E. Scott, of Montrose, tutored by J. W. Carpenter, and B. E. Watson, of Scranton, who studied with C. Reynolds Bedford.

The following passed successfully their examinations in course: R. W. Archibald, Jr., James F. Bell, Charles A. Bell, L. P. Bower, Fred M. Evans, Harry P. Hyman, Charles E. Horn, Frank R. Stocker, Worthington Scranton, W. J. Torrey, Charles E. Connel, C. H. Welles, Jr., Arthur E. Young.

Those who passed finally will apply for admission in September.

THE EFFORT FAILED.

Mr. Scragg tried to bring out from the prosecuting witnesses on cross-examination that the merry-go-round man was not the man who lives in the vicinity of the park entrance, testified for Mr. Robinson that they were not annoyed by the merry-go-round on Sunday or any other day, but Mr. Drew, on cross-examination, admitted the putting of the engine can be heard half a mile.

and all that goes with it constitute a great public benefaction, furnishing entertainment and satisfaction to a large number of citizens and that any little disturbance of the quiet that it might be responsible for was no worse than that caused by the passing and re-passing of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western locomotives. He did not succeed to any great extent in his effort.

The complainants, it is understood, have discovered a means of calling a halt to Mr. Robinson's scheme of continuing his nuisance by taking an appeal each time he is arrested, and it is hoped by them that before many days they will be in a position to apply this efficacious remedy.

FUGITIVES STILL AT LIBERTY.

No Trace of the Missing County Jail "Trustees."

No trace of James Fisher or Louis Zelinsky, the escaped prisoners, had been gleaned up to a late hour last night. Warden Simpson, who is conducting the search for them, has had recourse to all the usual methods of running down fugitive criminals, and as he has made a record at this sort of thing during his career as a detective and chief of police, Sheriff Pryor has strong hopes of his being successful in this instance.

The country round about has been thoroughly scoured by deputies on wheels and in carriages and all the principal police headquarters throughout the country have been mailed printed descriptions of the two men with an offer of a reward for their arrest.

SCRANTON'S FIRST LIFE SAVING CORPS

MADE UP OF MEMBERS OF CONNELL HOSE COMPANY.

Their Exhibition Tuesday Night at Their Hose House Showed that the Members Have Been Carefully Trained for Their Work—Company Defrayed Expense of Furnishing the Necessary Appliances and of Having the Captain of the Corps Instructed in the Work.

The Life Saving corps of the William Connell Hose company, which gave an exhibition of its skill at the opening of the remodeled quarters on Tuesday night, was much discussed around town yesterday and everywhere this innovation into the fire department was accorded nothing but applause.

The corps consists of Sterling Simrell, captain; John McGraw, lieutenant; David Burke, John Flank, William Kelly, Walter Quick, John Connell and Ernest Simrell. Captain Simrell is the permanent man of the company and he it was who suggested the idea of forming a life saving corps which should act with the company, and by the use of scaling ladders would prove a great aid.

The volunteers of the company considered the idea an excellent one and funds were raised and Mr. Simrell sent to the New York Life Saving college at Utica, N. Y., where he remained for two months, perfecting himself in acquiring of the knack of using the various apparatus.

On his return, ladders, belts and other equipment were purchased and the corps is now very well provided with all the necessary paraphernalia.

SCALING LADDERS.

Several scaling ladders have been bought, each of which weighs about forty-five pounds and is twelve feet long. Each member of the corps also wears a waist belt, which is provided with a large hook. When the ladders are brought into play these hooks are utilized in a marked degree.

A ladder will be drawn up to a window on the first floor, and then one of the firemen will enter the building and by means of the hook pull up another ladder, which is connected with the first. In cases where people are overcome by the heat and smoke in a burning building they can be hooked to the members of the corps and so held until the stout life line, a very necessary part of the equipment, can be brought up, and by means of this the unfortunate is removed to terra firma.

Another necessary adjunct to the outfit is a large, strongly-made net, fifteen feet square, which the members of the corps make themselves. This will be spread below the burning building and break the fall of anyone dropping from the ladders and also be used in rescuing articles removed from the building.

Chief Zizelman is very enthusiastic regarding the corps and in speaking yesterday about it, said:

"This company, of course, will be utilized principally in South Scranton, where it is of special value, in case of fire at the large mills and manufacturing in the vicinity. Of course, in emergencies they will be called to other parts of the city, when there is need if their services. The men are splendidly trained and go through their work with the precision of clockwork."

EXHIBITION TO BE GIVEN.

The general public will be given a chance to see them use their system of forming a chain of ladders in lightning time and go through their evolution in September, when the annual fire inspection takes place. We will probably have them at work on the Meers building, Board of Trade, or some other large public building.

"The city needs several of these life saving corps, and there ought to be more of them scattered through the various fire companies."

Mayor Moir, who witnessed the exhibition Tuesday night, was also highly pleased with the idea of a life saving corps and yesterday remarked about it:

"That exhibition showed dash, spirit and energy, and an excellent public spirit among those firemen, volunteer firemen too, for the most part. In a short while they will be very expert at it, and will prove of great value to the fire department. I believe that there ought to be several more corps of the same nature among the fire companies."

COMMON COUNCIL TONIGHT.

Resolution to Be Introduced Regarding Lackawanna Avenue Bridge.

Common council meets in regular session tonight. Several minor ordinances will come up for third reading and included in the business will be a resolution proposed by Councilman Wenzel. It will provide for the abolishing of the frequent runaways and accidents on the West Lackawanna Avenue bridge, owing to smoke arising from the trains passing on the tracks below of the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The resolution asks that holes in the bridge be patched and also that some cover be erected over the tracks, which will prevent the smoke arising.
