Augustus Bowman, proprietor of a hotel at the corner of South Main avenue and Eynon street, died suddenly yesterday at the Hudson street hospital in New York city, where he was taken on Monday, suffering from a collapse due to rheumatism. A telegram was received last evening by Mrs. Bowman and Funeral Director Price was notified to look after the remains upon their arrival in the city. Bowman went to the Metropolis last Saturday night in company with Timothy Jones, David Hughes, Evan Davis, Morgan Davis and David Griffiths and was apparently well when he left home, although he had been suffering from rheumatism for a long time. The telegram announcing his death was signed by David Hughes and immediately upon its receipt Undertaker Price made arrangements to prepare the body for burial. Deceased is survived by his wife and several children. The body will arrive today and the funeral announcement will be made later.

Two Successful Outings.

Two of the largest excursions of the season left the city yesterday over the Delaware and Hudson railroad. One went to Harvey's Lake and the other to Lake Lodore. The majority of the patrons were West Scranton people, and upwards of 2,500 persons were in attendance.

The united congregations of the Washburn Street Presbyterian, the Hampton street and Simpson Methodist Episcopal churches went to Harvey's Lake, leaving at 7.20 a. m., and returning at 8.45 p. m. The day was enjoyably spent and a refreshing shower passed over the lake and grounds with cooling effect. About 1,200 were on the train of thirteen cars.

The excursionists at Lake Lodore were the members of Camp 333, Patriotic Order Sons of America, and Camp

430 Drum corps, and their friends. It was a jolly crowd, and all spent a very pleasant day at this new resort. Among the attractions furnished was a base ball game between Scranton and Carbonade players, a cake walk, running races, boat races, etc. They returned to the city at 9 o'clock, and reported a heavy shower during the day at the lake.

We respectfully suggest that our street commissioner investigate this particular part of Sanderson avenue.

CAPTURED A MUD TURTLE.

W. S. Foote Made a Bigger Haul Than He Expected.

W. S. Foote, of Guernsey's Music store, had a unique experience yesterday, while fishing in a pond belonging to his father, at Glenwood. Mr. Foote was out with his fishing calmly and dispassionately, when suddenly there was a tremendous tug at his line. He tried to pull it in, and almost strained his arm in doing so. For awhile he was unable to pull in his captive, and the piscatory prisoner at the other end of the line was making desperate efforts to get away, tugging the boat along and raising a disturbance in the water which looked as though a submarine explosion were at work.

"Heavens, what have I here?" panted Mr. Foote, as big heads of perspiration trickled down his countenance, and with a plunk, mingled with the water. "Is it a whale I have landed or only a small shark?"

At last he managed to haul his prize into the boat. It was a large and urbane specimen of the genus mud turtle, which has since been weighed, and tips the scale at thirty-five pounds.

GATHERED IN SOUTH SCRANTON

FUNERAL OF MRS. MAUD TROTHREN FROM HER HOME.

Services Were Conducted by the Rev. S. F. Mathews, Who Is Pastor of the Scranton Street Baptist Church. Jacob Boes Seriously Charged by Charles Geiger, but the Charge Was Not Substantiated—Celebration in Honor of the Birthday of George Beamish—Personal Notes.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Maud Trothren took place yesterday afternoon from her home on Cedar avenue and was largely attended, a proof of the esteem and high regard in which Mrs. Trothren was held. Before the casket was closed a large throng of people gathered at the home to look for the last time upon her who in life she held so dearly and to express their condolence to the family.

The services were conducted at the house by the Rev. S. F. Mathews, of the Scranton Street Baptist church, who delivered a simple yet touching eulogy of Mrs. Trothren, speaking of her deep Christian spirit and the worth of leading a life for the Master.

A trio from the Scranton Street Baptist church sang feelingly "Nearer My God to Thee." After the service the casket was closed and the cortege moved to Dunmore cemetery, where interment was made. The pall-bearers were: Henry Armbrust, Willard Megargel, Howell Jones, Will Knight, John Schroedel and John Reif.

Boes Was Discharged.

Charles Geiger, of Cedar avenue, had a warrant sworn out yesterday before Alderman Lentes charging Jacob Boes with assault and battery.

It seems the trouble grew out of an argument the parties had Tuesday night in Kacem's hotel, which culminated in a wrestling match. The parties were separated for the time and Mr. Geiger went into a rear room, where he was found a few minutes later lying on the floor with several ugly wounds on his head, which appeared to have been made with steel knuckles.

His watch was also broken and dented as if subjected to rough usage. At a hearing last night no proof was offered that the defendant had committed the assault and the case was dismissed.

Birthday Celebration.

Tuesday was the anniversary of the birth of George Beamish, of Pittston avenue, and in honor of the event his friends swept down on him like an avalanche, wishing him continued prosperity and many happy birthdays. He was also the recipient of many valuable presents.

Mayor Moir Takes Exception to Remarks of Councilmen.

Mayor Moir is still in rather high dudgeon over the wholesale criticism that the auditing committee indulged in Monday of the way the annual appropriation for insurance is invested.

The one particular thing in which the gentlemen of the committee were at fault, he says, is in the matter of the insurance on the fire apparatus. At present not a cents' worth of insurance is carried on the apparatus proper, the mayor says.

Nothing that is known to the medical profession today is the equal of Peruna in the cure or prevention of all derangements due to hot weather. Peruna gives new vigor to the tired brain, strength and quiet to the weakened nerves, and as nearly supplies the need of a vacation of the overworked man or woman as it is possible for any remedy to do. Peruna is a reliable specific for nervous prostration, nerve exhaustion, sleeplessness and chronic malaria.

Captain Percy W. Moss, Paragould, Ark., says: "I think Peruna is undoubtedly the finest and surest cathartic cure ever prepared, and it has taken but two bottles to convince me of this fact."

O. W. Grier, Watsonson, Pa., says: "Peruna has done what four doctors could not do. My bowels are now all right, and I recommend Peruna to everybody who has bowel trouble. It is our family medicine. I think I would have been in my grave today had it not been for you."
