HINE-BELCHER REUNION.

Pleasant Family Gathering at Belmont Grove, Orson.

The eighth annual reunion of the Hine-Belcher families was held in the Belmont grove, at Orson, on Thursday, August 9. About one hundred and fifteen of the descendants of Merritt and Catherine Belcher-Hine were in attendance.

The day was an ideal one for an outdoor gathering, and all seemed intent in making this the most memorable of the family assemblages. After posing for a group photograph, the association's president, D. R. Hine, called the descendants to order beneath the umbrageous boughs of the giant maples that cast their shadows over the pleasant lake-side grounds.

After the president's call to order, prayer was offered by Daniel Tuthill. Then the secretary, F. Hine, read the minutes of the last meeting and made his annual report.

Since the last gathering the grim reaper death has taken five of the family members: Lorenza Hine, of Wisconsin, son of Merritt Hine; Lawrence and Holland, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hine, of Scranton; Ward Knapp, son of Thomas Knapp, of Starucca, and Ida Barnes, of Herrick.

There was but one birth, Mary Jane, daughter of Ward and Ella Hine-Watkins, of Forest City, Pa.

A musical programme of several bright and interesting numbers, interspersed throughout the meeting, were highly appreciated.

Little Minnie Hine, the bright and vivacious daughter of F. H. Hine, of Scranton, captivated the assemblage by her happy rendition of a rag-time selection, entitled "Mallory," and responded to an encore, entitled "The Girl I Left in Sunny Tennessee."

The address was ably made by Miss Nina Stanton, of Prompton.

Several of the musical selections were rendered by a choir composed of the following ladies and gentlemen: S. H. W. A. F., E. W. Hine, Harry Drake, Mrs. Eva Whipple, Sara Whipple, Mrs. E. W. Hine, Miss Beulah Hine, Mrs. Grace Lewis, Remarks appropriate to the occasion were made by Mesdames Amy Wall, Elizabeth Tuthill, Josephine Salisbury, Lilla Hine, Fanny Haines and H. K. Vaughn.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, D. R. Hine; vice-presidents, D. J. and John Hine and Mrs. Elizabeth Tuthill and Mrs. Elvira Tallman; secretary, H. K. Vaughn; treasurer, Mrs. Grace Lewis. The afternoon session was then closed.

Mr. S. H. Hine invited all present to his home, and many accepted his invitation. Mr. Hine threw open his handsome residence to his guests and provided orchestral music and refreshments. Songs, solos and recitations were rendered, and these, with the social intercourse, concluded one of the most pleasant occasions of the year to the descendants of the pioneers of this section of Wayne county.

sort of garment which it hath entered into the heart of man or woman to devise for disporting in the waves.

Nowhere on the face of the earth, or the waters thereof, is to be seen, are such weird garments seen as here.

They range from the gay and festive rowing jersey of the college boy to the extremely modest and modest blue flannel made with "pantalons" or bloomers tied soberly about the ankles and the blouse securely fastened high at the throat.

The outfit is completed by the inverted basket, which would transform a woman into a frightfully thin figure, exaggerates the ample figure of some large lady who has escaped from Ocean Grove.

No young and attractive woman is ever found in this disguise. Indeed, it is possible that only the life of a bath and rowing waste are ever discovered thus disguised.

It takes courage to wear even the most becoming bathing costume that was ever invented, for the average woman is usually tested by the clasp and constancy of her admirers when thus apparelled, but to don one of those blue flannel horrors is to confess herself out of joint with the world.

There was a man in the water today who, notwithstanding his swimming, his lights to emulate the broad lady in the blue flannel bloomers. He wore long, flapping green trousers, which were draped round his ankles and the ankles of victims in his vicinity in the creek, over the water, as he was carried as to his neck and arms and he really attracted considerable attention among the throng of bathers at the fashionable Fourth Avenue pavilion.

It is the Founder Bradley's idea and also the idea of various authorities of Ocean Grove that a bathing suit, to pass muster at these resorts, shall be as inconspicuous as possible.

Consequently a fastidious policeman emulating the high school, in the case of an exceedingly airy jersey, as regards a lack of sleeves, to come out of the water and provide himself with a more modest apparel. Still there are many who every day wearing similar garments.

Indeed, the regulations have been vastly modified during the years, Sunday regulations are made less stringent and the bathing on Sunday is notable. The Sunday night "sacred" concert was given in the character of a concert with the orchestra and, indeed, the programme can scarcely be distinguished from those provided for any afternoon or evening.

The New York Herald has been advertised extensively during the past few days. One of the newest placards gravely quotes that journal to the effect that it is the most important of the immensity of their attire at the Jersey Coast resorts.

This quotation is apparently intended as a hint to the bathers at Asbury and to encourage women in their scanty attire on the beach, but it is a gross misapprehension, I mean, who must have escaped the argu eye of the beach censor, for she wore a white costume which, really, on her top plump figure, appeared to be a most fitting and becoming one.

Probably because of too marked attentions to another feminine bather aforesaid censor neglected to his duty in the case of the white-rimmed damsel. The lady who was occupying his time and diverting his attention, was not wearing a bathing suit, but a dress, and no stockings. The representative of the law spotted her at once and began to remonstrate in shocked tones.

She was unable to get a hearing until he had delivered an oration embracing most of the topics of the day, and placards about the bath houses and boardwalk. As soon as she could make herself heard she fairly shouted at him: Do you suppose I'm going round without stockings from the morning's blooming idly? Why don't you regulate your old waves so they won't tear people's clothes off. I didn't want to lose those stockings. Goodness gracious, they were nice open-work ones and they were so comfortable.

"Improper to be seen without stockings. Don't you suppose I know it? Ooh—h—h!" and then she plumped herself down on the sand and went along with the other ladies, hastily uttering something about safety pins.

Asbury Park is under the local opinion regime. You can't buy intoxicants at a drug store without a prescription, and most of the hotels propose to be strictly temperance in principle, but it is well understood that at the Coleman a certain little room is set aside for the use of the "strong" places this side of Long Branch where the thirsty individual will not be turned away to perish.

But Founder Bradley does certainly keep an argu eye over his domain and it is one where the "strong" individual will not be turned away to perish. But Founder Bradley does certainly keep an argu eye over his domain and it is one where the "strong" individual will not be turned away to perish.

TRIBUNE'S EDUCATIONAL CONTEST

Harry Reese and Sidney W. Hayes are advanced.

HOW THE LEADERS STAND

Charles Rodriguez, 428 Webster avenue.

Oliver Callahan, 415 Vine street.

David V. Birtley, 103 West Market street.

David C. Spencer, Bloomsburg.

Harry Reese, 331 Evans court.

Eugene Boland, 235 Walnut street.

Arthur Kemmerer, Factoryville.

Sidney W. Hayes, 922 Olive street.

John P. Smith, 2532 Boulevard avenue.

Miss Grace Simrell, Carbondale.

Edward Murray, 516 Hamm court.

Richard Roberts, 1303 Hampton street.

There are two contestants in The Tribune's Educational Contest that have advanced their positions in the list of leaders since Saturday morning. Harry Reese, who was in seventh place, is now in fifth, where he leads Eugene Boland by three points.

Sidney W. Hayes, who was in eighth position, Mr. Hayes is climbing steadily upward and if he continues to make returns as he has the past week, will make a formidable rival for first honors before the close of the contest.

Within the next two weeks it is expected that a number of young persons, who are now enjoying vacations, will return to the city and take up the work of securing subscribers for The Tribune and scoring points for themselves. Those who are already at work should make good use of the present and increase their leads sufficiently to avoid the danger of being overtaken. The race is a close one and all have almost an equal chance of being among the very first at the close.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Aug. 11.—There was a rise today in the price of St. Paul and Omaha of 1/2 cent over that of yesterday on a single transaction. American Express gained 1/4, Republic Steel preferred as much and Pullman 1/4. Lead preferred lost 1/4 in addition to yesterday's 1/2 point decline, without any news to explain the movement beyond reports of poor business. The common stock fell 1/4 to the lowest price on record. Sugar advanced a point in the morning, but most of the gains were lost in the late deal.

These comprise the only movements worth individual mention in the day's stock market. The significance of the market continues purely speculative, the deterring effect of the speculation marking the wait in for a solution of the many points of uncertainty in the situation. The bank statement confirmed pretty closely to expectations, the report of gold for today amounting to $125,000,000, evidently not figuring in the statement. Total sales, $2,900 shares.

The bond market has shown sympathetic apathy with stocks all week. U. S. 8s is declined 3/4, and the new 5s is in the bid price.
