Mrs. Pinkham's Advice Saved Mrs. Hayes From an Operation.

LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 64,853

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Words cannot express my thanks to you for your kind advice to me in regard to my health. I had been running down in health for about seven years. I had doctored with good doctors and taken a great many patent medicines. My trouble began when my first child was born. I had a very hard time and after its birth would have severe flooding spells.

"After my second child I had very good health until last winter when I again became pregnant and suffered very much and miscarried. I came very near dying, and the doctor said I must have an operation, which frightened me very much, and concluded to write to you for your advice, and take your medicine. Was troubled with the whites, great pain in back and hips, sometimes when lying down or sitting was unable to get up. Would have such pain in groins could hardly walk.

"I can say I have never seen anything so wonderful as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sassafras Wash. Your remedies have done wonders for me. Hoping that many of my suffering sisters may be led to take your medicine from reading this letter. I remain, sincerely yours, Mrs. MARY HAYES, HARDSHIRE, KY."

Letters like the foregoing should convince everyone that Mrs. Pinkham's advice is certain help.

Dean against the City of Scranton; trespass. Alexander Bros. & Co. against Michael Bassek; appeal. Taylor Paint and Oil company against Frank J. O'Boyle; appeal.

Thursday, Oct. 4, 1900. The new No. 9 school building, at Ash street and Wyoming avenue, is almost finished, and will, when it is opened on September 2, be one of the handsomest and best equipped educational institutions in the city, and fit to take front rank with any of the public schools already erected or in course of construction.

The building has been erected by Washburn & Winton, and will cost something like $25,776. The main contract was for $17,774, while the heating and ventilating contract went to H. J. & Connell for $4,917. The contract for ceilings was let to James P. Maloney for $1,500, and the contract for electric wiring to J. M. Spain for $378.35. To these figures must be added Architect Foeny's commission of 5 per cent, or $1,277.

The building is of brick and stone construction, two stories high, and its dimensions are about 75x75 feet. It is set back from the sidewalk about ten feet and the front elevation, though rather plain, is not severely so.

There are eight rooms in the building, four on each floor, and each room is exactly the same size, about 25x20 feet. There is an especial plenitude of light, each room fronting on two sides and being supplied with six windows. Indeed it would be hard to find such light and airy schoolrooms any place.

Each room has its separate hall fitted with hooks, and at one end a fire-proof safe for umbrellas. There are large assembly halls on both floors, from which open off the doors of all the rooms. The ceilings of all the halls and all the rooms are of steel and are painted in shades of delicate pink and green, producing a soft and mellowing effect.

In the basement are spacious and excellently equipped lavatories and the steam heating apparatus, for the building is heated by steam and with steam. It is also wired for electric lighting, and there are eight incandescent lights in each room. All the work is now finished, with the exception of the inside varnishing and the putting in of the seats, which can easily be finished before school opens.

School Controller Dennis Roche, of the Seventh ward, chairman of the building committee, was most active in securing a new school for the ward, and has given the erection of the building a great deal of his personal time and attention since work was started.

The principal of the school is Miss Katie O'Malley, and she will be assisted this year by the following corps of teachers: Miss Mary Farrell, Miss Margaret Mitchell, Miss Sarah Walsh, Miss Gertrude McGee, Miss Elizabeth Barrett and Miss Eugenie Burnett. Another teacher is yet to be appointed before the beginning of the school year.

THE BRAVE JONES SISTERS. They Rescued a Boy from Drowning at Harvey's Lake.

The Misses Janet and Helen Jones of 1741 Pittston avenue, sisters and both teachers in the public schools of this city are just now the heroines of Harvey's lake, where they are spending their vacations. It's all because they saved the life of Harvey Weller, a 12-year-old lad, who was seized with cramp while in bathing.

The young women were walking along the shore when they noticed young Weller struggling in the water a number of feet out. They looked around for assistance, but as no one was near, they decided to go to the rescue themselves, and both being good swimmers they plunged into the lake and brought the boy to land just in the nick of time.

SONS OF ITALY HONOR DEAD KING

MEMORIAL SERVICES CONDUCTED LAST NIGHT.

Protestant Italians Gathered in the Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church under the Leadership of Rev. Leonardo D'Anna and Listened to Addresses by Consul Tiscar, Dr. D. B. Hand, J. W. Guernsey, Frank Carlucci, Dr. G. Villone and Several Others.

The Protestant Italians, or, as they style themselves, the Evangelical Protestants of this city, held special memorial services last night in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church in commemoration of the death of the late King Humbert I. of Italy.

The services were directly in charge of Rev. Leonardo D'Anna, who has charge of the mission work among the Italians, and were attended by upwards of seventy-five members of the Italian colony and a sprinkling of Americans. A splendid portrait of the dead king was hung directly behind the platform, and on either side of it were arranged the red, white and green banner of Italy and the Stars and Stripes. The services were opened with prayer in Italian by Rev. Antonio Milanese, of Pittston. An Italian hymn was next sung, after which Rev. D'Anna read an appropriate Scripture lesson, and spoke briefly upon the sorrow which was felt by all true Italians at the assassination of their beloved ruler.

He was followed by Rev. Mr. Milanese and Fourturo Tiscar, the Italian consul, both speakers of exceptional power, who delivered eloquent addresses in their native tongue. The consul succeeded in enthusing his hearers to a considerable degree, and was interrupted several times by loud applause.

THE OTHER SPEAKERS. When he had finished, Dr. D. B. Hand spoke briefly upon King Humbert and upon the excellent citizens the Italians coming to this country make as a rule. "There are no people," said he, "who have warmer hearts or kinder intentions than have the Italians." Dr. Hand was followed by J. W. Guernsey, who spoke, in part, as follows:

"I am here tonight because I deemed it my duty as an American citizen to be here, and I have no doubt but that the other Americans here feel the same way. We can especially sympathize with you, because we have had experience with the same trouble. "We have to go back but a few years when our beloved Garfield was snatched away from us by the hand of the assassin, and it was only a few years before that when the cry went ringing from hilltop to hilltop and from valley to valley that Abraham Lincoln, the savior of his country, had been stricken down by an assassin.

"King Humbert justly earned his title of Father of Italians in Italy, for he gave his substance, energy, time, thought and nearly all the years of his life to the cementing together of a shattered nation, and to think that he, in the full fruition of his task, should be snatched by the anarchists' bullet is terrible.

"Anarchy is not the product of honest toil. It is nourished and nurtured in dens of infamy and finds its nucleus in the drunken brute. May some time soon come when the voice of the anarchist and of his sympathizers shall never be heard either in this country or in Italy.

"God grant that some day they may be cast out into the outer darkness. I trust, hope and believe that my friends here from Italy and all honest people will lift up their hands and hearts to God and pray that never more will the life of any person be taken by an anarchist's hand."

FATE THEY DESERVE. Rev. Richard Horns followed Mr. Guernsey, and after expounding upon the virtues of the dead king, said that, though he was a native of the north, he sometimes wished that all the anarchists in the world could be loaded on a ship and the vessel sunk in mid-ocean with all on board.

When Rev. Mr. Horns had finished speaking, Rev. D'Anna, speaking English with a delightful accent, thanked all the Americans present for their attendance, and then introduced Frank Carlucci, Dr. G. Villone and Andrew Sabatini, respectively, all of whom made very brief addresses in Italian.

During the evening music was rendered by Flore Brothers' orchestra, which rendered several appropriate selections.

LIQUOR MEN ENTERED BAIL. Dealers Accused of Selling Without Licenses.

Bail was entered yesterday by five of the liquor dealers accused of selling without license, by the Inter-State Detective Bureau. Thomas Clark, of Winton, entered bail before Justice of the Peace J. F. Loftus, in the sum of $500. Leofre Loftus, who is himself accused of selling without a license, entered bail before Justice of the Peace James Bell.

George Spitz and E. W. Friedman, of Glyphant, who were accused of selling liquor in a retail manner, on a wholesale license, entered bail before Justice of the Peace M. W. Cummings, and Louis Weisberger, of Jessup, gave bail before Squire Loftus.

THROWN FROM HIS BICYCLE. Will S. Holbert Seriously Injured Near Bull's Head.

Quite a serious bicycle accident happened on North Main avenue, near Bull's Head, yesterday about noon. At the time mentioned William L. Holbert, of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, was making a turn on his wheel into Philo street, when Groceryman Palmer came down the new pave.

Mr. Palmer struck Mr. Holbert's wheel in the center, throwing this gentleman violently to the pave, with such force as to render him helpless; his limbs being lacerated and hands and arms badly bruised.

Mr. Palmer was uninjured. Mr. Holbert is under the physician's care.

NO ARRESTS YESTERDAY. Mrs. Ruane Wouldn't Pay Fine and Was Sent to Jail.

There were no further arrests made yesterday in Mayor Mohr's war on the proprietors of unlicensed liquor shops. Several warrants have been issued, however, and it is likely that a number of speakeasy keepers will feel the sharp edge of the axe today.

Mrs. Ruane rebelled against paying the fine, and was accordingly escorted to the county jail, where she will remain until it is paid.

THE TWENTY-THREE YEARS OLD. Thirtieth Regiment's Anniversary Yesterday.

The Thirtieth regiment was organized just twenty-three years ago yesterday and many of the older members remembering this fact, exchanged reminiscences.

The regiment, or Scranton City Guard, as it was at first termed, was organized on August 14, 1877, shortly after the riots. It then consisted of one battalion of four companies, and H. M. Boies was elected major. Fourteen months later the Thirtieth regiment proper was organized with eight companies and Major Boies was chosen colonel. He was afterwards succeeded in that position by F. L. Hitchcock, Ezra H. Ripple, H. A. Curson and the present colonel, L. A. Watres.
