MUNICIPAL SENSATION. Councilman Donnelly Desires an Investigation of the Motives of the City Clerk of Pittston.

Pittston, Aug. 16.—At a meeting of the council this evening, Mr. Donnelly, member from the Ninth ward, created a sensation by introducing a resolution as follows: Resolved, That the chairman of the joint session appoint a committee of three members of council to investigate the motive of the city clerk, John T. Flannery, in failing to pay over to the Fabric Fire Hose company...

W. H. REYNOLDS KILLED. Shocking Death of a Well Known Young Man of Tunkhannock.

Tunkhannock, Aug. 16.—This community was shocked this morning by the death of W. H. Reynolds, son of ex-Prothonotary N. W. Reynolds, who was killed by falling from a train on the Valley road somewhere near Wyalusing last evening. Winnie, as he was called, had been at Wyalusing for some time working with others from town on the painting of the Grangers' picnic day, he had obtained leave to come home and had started when the accident occurred. The night train on the Valley do not stop at Wyalusing and in order to get out of Reynolds intended to board a freight train passing through there at about 8 o'clock. Reynolds caught the train all right, but the other boys did not try it, and when the train started the crowd of the crowd called to them and at that time was standing between the cars. The balance of the crowd then started to walk to Laceyville, where they could get a passenger train, and after going about three-quarters of a mile they found Reynolds' body along the track. It is supposed that he started to climb to the top of the car and slipped in some way and fell between the cars. The body was badly mangled, the head being entirely severed from the body. The people here were immediately notified and W. N. Reynolds and John Reynolds went on the night line to make arrangements to bring the body home. They came back with the remains this morning and Reynolds was popular among the people of the town. He had spent two years at the Mansfield State Normal school and played on the base ball and football teams. He was well known throughout the county and the nearby towns in other counties through his base ball playing, he having played some games with the Montrose team this year. He was well liked by every one who knew him and his sudden death was a shock not only to his family, but to the town people as well. His brother, Marshall, who has been in Mansfield all summer, was telegraphed for and arrived home this afternoon. Besides his brother, there is one sister, Ella, who teaches school in the Montrose school.

THE MARKETS. Wall Street Review.

New York, Aug. 16.—Early strength in the stock market today inspired by the favorable London attitude and the recovery of the Chinese situation was dispelled later on by liquidations by the room traders and discussion of the monetary future. No increase in outside rates was caused by colored assertions in some quarters that a stiffer rate would generally result from the depletion of the funds.

An Ungrammatical Burglar.

IT SEEMED almost too soon for Jack to have returned when Mrs. Donance heard him ring. The little woman was about to open the door, when a happy thought led her to ask: "Is that you, Jack?" "Yes, it's me,"

"If you stir a step I will shoot!" cried Dot. She had promptly brought her battery to bear on him, and even stepped forward a pace or two, as if with intention to screen Cuthbert, keeping her blazing eyes steadily on the man's face.

as a grossly unwelcome intruder, was bringing his small fists down on the man's head and eyes. The fellow angrily jerked his head out of reach, putting up his arm and pushing the infant assailant to one side.

"What you doin'?" demanded Cuthbert, drowsily. "Keepin' away cats—and things. Lie still and go to sleep, baby, like a little man. Mamma is tired."
