REV. FATHER GARVEY FOR TEMPERANCE

Pastor of St. John's Church Advises His Parishioners to Attend Non-Beer Selling Picnics.

Special to the Scrapton Tribune. Pittston, Aug. 18 .- Very Reverend Eugene Garvey, of St. John's Ro-man Catholic church of this city, has taken a decided stand in the Interest of temperance. In his sermon last Sunday he made some very forceful remarks against intemperance, condemning the sale of intoxicants at picnics and excursions. At the three masses this morning the reverend father reiterated his last Sunday's remarks, and referred especially to an excursion to be run to Lake Ariel next Thursday by the Henry Grattan society. Father Garvey said he was surprised to learn that the society intended to have beer on sale, notwith standing his objections to such action by societies of St. John's parish. He advised his parishioners to attend only non-beer seiling excursions and suggested that the Henry Gratian soci-ety should advertise in the press whether or not intoxicants would be placed

He said he expected to be in Hawley on Wednesday, and would pay a visit to the Lake Ariel picnic grounds on Thursday. The action of the Men's union of Scranton in clearing the town of speakeasies and Sunday beer sellers was commended and the hope expressed that their influence would extend to Pittston.

Father Garvey's remarks today were clear and to the point and were favorably commented upon by a majority of the congregation, although the members of the Henry Grattan society are inclined to feel rather dissat-

OLD MURDER MYSTERY SOLVED. Letter Written by Gen. B. F. Butler Explains a Crime.

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 19.—The Mirror last night published what is believed to be a solution of what has been known as the "Parker Jonas L. Parker, tax collector of Manchester, was murdered in 1845, after being entired from his house, and $7,000 was taken from him. His threat had been cut with a razor. According to Nathaniel P. Ames, of Medford, Mass. a resident of this city at the time of the murder, who has seen a letter written by General B. F. Butler, one of Parker's murderer was Duniel Pierson, executed in 1849 for the mur der of a family in Wilmington, Mass. Mr. Ames states that Pierson, who was defended by Gen-eral Butler, confessed that he also killed the danchester man, at the instigation of a person who desired Parker put out of the way in re-renge for some wrong. The identity of this person was never revealed.

Three Wentworth brothers, hotel proprietors of co. Me., were arrested for the Parker murder Franklin Pierce, afterward president of the United States, was one of those who defended he prisoners, and they were acquitted.

LITERARY NOTES.

A new Rubaiyat is announced by William Doxey, with illustrations which are distinctly Oriental both in conception and in execution. These illustrations are the work of Miss Figrence Lundhorg, a California girl, who has been study-ing for several years at the Whistler academy in Paris, and at other equally celebrated studios in France and Italy. For the past three years she has devoted her attention almost exclusively to the Rubaiyat with the desire to make her illustrations a student's elucidation of the text. rather than a mere series of pleasing decora-tions accompanying it. Saturday's returns in The Tribune's Educational Contest were the largest that have yet been recorded, with one exception. The past three days have all been good ones. The competitors are all working enthusiastically, especially those near the top of the list, the leaders all striving to maintain their advantage and those in close proximity seeking hard to close up the gaps separating them from others occupying more exalted positions. The only change in position noted Saturday was David C. Spencer, of Bloomsburg, who advanced from fifth to fourth position, thereby displacing Eugene Boland, who has held that place for several days. David C. Birtley took a fresh grip on third place by a good day's work, and Charles Rodriguez continued his systematic record. As the time draws closer toward the finish of the contest, some of the contestants further down in the list may be depended upon to make it lively for those now above them, and it will be interesting to watch the changes that take place rom day to day.

There still remain six weeks before he contest closes, and the time for entering was never better, as public interest has been aroused and more thoroughly stimulated than it was during the first weeks of the contest, and many persons have only recently ecome familiar with the details and merits of this competition.
