Wagon Load of Drinkables Stolen from the Cellar of a Lackawanna Avenue Saloon

Joseph Van Dyke, of Capouse avenue, and James Hopkins, of South Scranton, were arrested yesterday by City Detective John Moir and Patrolman Lona Day, on the charge of stealing three barrels of rum and whiskey from the cellar of O'Connor & Walsh's saloon, on Lackawanna avenue, last Tuesday.

They were arraigned before Alderman Milar, and in default of bail committed to the county jail. Hopkins it was proved at the hearing, received the stolen goods, and Van Dyke alone was guilty of the larceny.

Van Dyke pleaded gullty and was held in $1,000 bail. The bail for Hopkins was fixed at $500.

The larceny occurred about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. Van Dyke boldly entered the store from the rear, and removing the kegs of liquor placed them in a wagon and drove away. The case was reported to the police, as soon as the larceny was discovered. and Chief Robling and Detective Moir worked on it all week. The missing goods were traced to Hopkin's home and yesterday Detective Moir and Patrolman Day swooped down upon the residence, which is in the rear of Pitts. avenue, and searching the house found the missing kegs.

Hopkins and Van Dyke were then arrested and taken to the central sta-Neither Hopkins nor Van Dyke are well known in the city.

SOME HIGH-BORN PUSSIES.

Scranton Man Has a Number of Valuable Ones.

Of all the people in the city, E. N. Barker, of 316 Jefferson avenue, probably takes the palm, when it comes to culture of cats.

Mr. Parker is a well-known stock fancier, and both he and his wife are ardent lovers of the cat family. Any one entering their residence is greeted by a plaintive purring by the numer ous cats about the place. Mr. and Mrs. Barker possess some singularly handsome animals. Most of the cats are what are known among the fanciers as Persians, which denotes a family between which and the Angoras there is but little difference.

Haidee, a handsome brownish cat s one of the favorites. She is one of the highest-born animals in the land. being a daughter of the famous King Humbert, who, a few years ago, was one of the highest-priced and handsomest felines in England.

Another remarkably beautiful cat is "Puss," a silver Persian. The animal's coat is of a fine, silvery color, the hairs being long and sliky. Lady Beresford owns the mother of this cat, which has a pedigree a yard long, which is carefully preserved by her The animal yesterday littered five kittens. She is of a very rare breed and is worth about $300, and the kittens bring $25 to $30 apiece.

Mrs. Barker once had an offer of $1,000 for King Humbert. This, she says, is the highest price ever offered her for any of her pets. Haidee, also, is of a peculiar family.

In the winter time the animal has a large ruff of curly hair around its neck which gives it a peculiar appearance. At present Mr. and Mrs. Barker are short of cats. They have no regular kennel for them, and consequently have comparatively few of their pets about the house. There have been times, Mrs. Barker says, when she has had one hundred at a time in her home. At Newburgh on the Hudson, where Mr. and Mrs. Barker formerly lived. they had regular kennels for their cate and intend establishing them also at Albany, where they will soon move. If Mr. Barker is in this city in Deember, he will exhibit the cats at the Poultry show, arrangements for the holding of which are now being made. City and School Taxes, 1900. The duplicates for city and school taxes for year 1900 are in my hands for collection in accordance with act of assembly. A penalty of 3 per cent, will be added Sopt. 1st and an addiper cent. each and every

OFFICIALS HERE TO HOLD CONFERENCE

VIADUCT PROPOSITION TO BE DRAFTED TO-DAY.

President Truesdale and Chief Englneer McFarlin, of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Company, and President Clark, of the Scranton Railway Company, Will Meet at Hotel Jermyn, this morning to Agree Upon an Offer to Be Made the City in the Viaduct Matter.

Before today ends, a proposition for the construction of the West Lackawanna avenue viaduct by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Rallroad company and the Scranton Railway company will in all probability be ready for presentation to the city officials.

A conference between the representatives of the two corporations is to take place at Hotel Jermyn this morning, and as soon as they come to an understanding, a conference with the city's representatives is to be had.

President W. H. Truesdale and Chief Engineer W. K. McFarlin, of the Lackawanna company, arrived from New York last night, on the 8.45 train, will have added significance and the and registered at the Jermyn. President C. M. Clark, of the Railway company, came up from Philadelphia during the day, and is also stopping at the rostrum of the auditorium in the the Jermyn. They and General Manager Frank Silliman, jr., will get together this morning, and before they disperse the fate of the viaduct, it is expected, will have been determined one way or the other.

To a Tribune reporter, last night, Mr. McFarlin said that the two companies had had considerable correspondence on the subject and he believed a proposition acceptable to the city would be drafted.

What the proposition will be can only be conjectured, of course, but if the hopes of the board of trade boomers are to be realized, it will not be much short of an offer on the part of the two companies to build the viaduct at their own cost, providing the one has exclusive right to the crossing and the other a double track right of way overhead.

When Chief Engineer McFarlin was here two weeks ago in conference with the city officials and board of trade ommittee he was given to understand that an offer of the above nature was about the only thing that would insure the erection of the viaduct. He went away promising to lay the matter before President Truesdale and that an answer would be forthcoming before the first of September. The circumstances would indicate that the answer will be forthcoming on time.

A DOUBLE ACTION CASE. Prosecutor Suravitz Was Made to

Stand as Defendant. F. E. Sykes, a foreman in the employ of Contractor Ruddy, and Joe Sullivan, of Maple street, were last night arraigned before Alderman Millar charged with assault and battery, by Nathan Suravitz, a South Washington avenue pedler.

He claims that yesterd 1y, as he was driving along Elm street, Sullivan, who s one of the water boys employed by Foreman Sikes, threw a stone at him and struck him, Suravitz then pursued the boy and says that Sykes spized him by the neck and threw him roughly to the ground.

Sykes and young Sullivan had the office crowded with witnesses, who testified that Suravitz threatened the boy's life and that Sykes did not assault him but merely interfered in Sullivan's behalf. Alderman Millar discharged both de-

Hundreds Enjoy a Big Feed, Cooked and Served in a Novel Way at the Poyntelle Picnic.

One of the most original, and at the same time enjoyable events of the season was the annual excursion, clam bake and shore dinner at Lake Poyntelle yesterday, under the auspices of the G. W. West division, No. 468. Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. From every point on the Ontario and Western railroad there came men, women and children to attend this novel event; and in addition there were people in attendance from various points along the Erie and Lackawanna rail-

Lake Povntelle is in itself a very attractive place, with its splendid sheet of water and inviting picnic grounds but these attractions were secondary to the clam bake and shore dinner To thoroughly appreciate the treat one must go prepared to eat everything on the bill of fare, and enter into the enjoyment of the occasion with as much satisfaction as though the meal was being served in the Waldorf-Astoria.

The shore dinner and clam bake is not only served in an original manner, but the way it is cooked is really novel and interesting. On the shore of the lake there is a large space reserved for the tables and caterers, and an old-fashioned oven is built of stone. The fire is built of logs and the stones are heated through and through. The clams are spread out on top the stones, and then covered over with ears of corn in the husks. On top of the corn the sweet potatoes are spread, and then comes the chicken and blue fish, encased in linen sacks. On top of this lay out there is spread grass weed, the whole being covered over with an immense canvass. The fire steams the clams, the steam cooks the corn, sweet potatoes, chicken and blue fish, and when the dinner is ready to serve the waiters pass along the tables with pans full of clams, chicken, corn, sweet potatoes and fish, and you help yourself.

And to add interest to the novel affair, the entire dinner is served under the supervision of one Ward Edwards, New Yorker, whose experience along that line is too well-known to require any special mention at this time. Of the still has more than half of his term to serve course Edwards had assistance, and as president judge of the Superior court, and it any special mention at this time. Altogether the affair was the most successful ever held under the aus-pices of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and this annual event is now looked upon as one of the most enjoyable treats afforded excursionists n Northeastern Pennsylvania. About three hundred people attended from Scranton, and Carbondale furnished a large crowd. In addition to the people carried on the trains, many drove to the lake from the surrounding towns.

VACANT PLACE ON SUPREME BENCH

SPECULATION AS TO WHO WILL FILL IT.

President Judge Archbald Returns from His Vacation Trip to Find His Friends Awaiting the Word to Place His Name Before the Governor-Strong Talk of the Appointment Going to One of the Western or Northwestern Counties-An Impression from Harrisburg.

President Judge R. W. Archbald returned yesterday from his two weeks' vacation trip, to find that his friends had already begun to talk up his candidacy for the vacancy on the supreme bench. Whether or not Judge Archbald will encourage an effort at this time to secure the place for him s not known. A Tribune reporter called to see him last evening but he was resting after his journey and had left word not to be disturbed. Today will probably see something definite done towards presenting his name for the governor's consideration, providing he will consent.

The fact that the northwestern and extreme western countles of state are not represented on supreme bench and that political exigencies may demand that their laims be honored, may discourage an effort in Judge Archbald's behalf. It is understood, however, that the gov ernor is disposed, personally, to ap point Lackawanna's president judge and should this disposition be strong enough to withstand the importunities of the politicians who favor other candidates on geographical considerations Judge Archbald will be the man. The following from yesterday's Phildelphia Press is interesting anent the WEST IS MAKING CLAIM. Harrisburg, Aug. 22.—Governor Stone will head iends of all those who are aspirants for ap pointment to the supreme court bench, and to that end will take no action in filling the vacancy caused by Judge Green's death until he returns from the Grand Army encampment the first week in September. A number of letters from lawyers and petitions from har associations have been recived at the executive department asking th pointment of this or that aspirant, the name whom are not made public, but there is no neersus of opinion as to the chances of any rticular aspirants. All of these requests will given careful consideration by the governor efore the appointment is made.

It is understood that the friends of Judge Samel Pennypacker, of Philadelphia, have strongly forsed him for the place. There seems to be impression that the governor will appoint idge W. D. Porter, of Pittsburg, at present or he superior court bench, and thus make a va-ancy to be filled by the appointment of W. P. orter, of Allegheny, a former law partner of vernor Stone. The west is claiming and will send quite a delegation here in Judge Porter's interest,

The following editorial from the Wilkes-Bare Record tends to show that the claims of the northwestern and western counties are looked upon as omething to be seriously considered; AS TO GEOGRAPHY.

Some of the local newspapers have been augsting the name of Judge Charles E. Rice to epointment to the vacancy on the Supreme ourt bench caused by the death of Chief Justice ireen. The Record is in a position to say with ositiveness that Judge Rice is not and does not spect to be an applicant for the appointment could scarcely be regarded as a promotion for himsto vacate his present positon for a place at the foot of the list of Supreme court justices. The appointment would held until January, 190 and next year he would be compelled to go through all the annoyance of a campaign for omination, with all the western and north recognition, these sections, comprising almo-half the commonwealth, being now unrepresents n the Supreme court bench. The present six justices are distributed as follows: Philadelphia two, Susquehanna one, Lan custer one, Blair one and Fayette one. It will be observed that all that vast section from Fayette county on the southern border, north to se northeast, is unrepresented on the bench of our highest court. The people of that important half of the state will demand representation next year. There is no better man in the state that Judge Rice, but he is acting wisely in declining to be a candidate at this time.
