Special to the Scranton Tribune. Pittson, Aug. 26.-The ceremonies incident to the laying of the corner stone of the St. Mark's Roman Catholic church at Inkerman, a Pittston suburb, were held this afternoon, before an assemblage of fully 1,000 people, Very Rev. Eugene A. Garvey, of St. John's church, Pittston, was celebrant, acting in the stead of Bishop Hoban. The following priests were present: Pather Burrows, Father Greve and Father O'Bryne, of Pittston; Father J. F. Judge, Sugar Notch; Father Timothy Donohue, Plymouth; Father M. F. Crane, Avoca; Father M. B. Donian, Dunmore: Father J. J. Curran, Wilkes-Barre: Father J. J. Loughran, Scranton; Father F. F. Klernan, Parsons; Father Michael Dunn, of Wilkes-Barre; Father William Giston, Old Forge. The sermon was preached by Rev. Father Loughran, of Scranton, who took as his text Cor. III: 2. His re-marks dwell on the theme, "Christ the Foundation of the Church." Father Loughran is a forceful talker with a good command of language, and gave a very able address. The choir of St. John's church, this city, rendered several selections The new church is being erected at the lower end of Inkerman. It will be a wooden structure and will be a charge of the Pittston church. During the ceremonies, about $500 was collected for the liquidation of the expense of the building.

Odd Conditions of Life in the Isolated Community of Hastings.

rom the Daily Kennebec Journal, The village of Hastings is the most peculiar community in the state, i not in the whole United States. For while it is a good sized village and has electric lights, a faultless water system and telephone and telegraph stations the residents seldom, if ever have any money and many of the children who have not been outside of the place would not know what a

The place is located on the western border of the state between Maine and New Hampshire and from the location it will be seen that the only business that of lumbering. The neither pay taxes nor vote and even though many of the people have spent their lives in the place, they would not know how to mark a ballot, From this it is not to be inferred that the people are not intelligent, for they have the daily papers and are well posted on current events.

The town is practically isolated from the outside world. There is no such thing as carriage road leading into the place and the only means by which a person can get in and out is over the railroad, which is yearly being pushed farther and farther into the wood.

The reason for the town being so peculiar is this: One hundred years ago Richard Batchelder was granted the land from the state of Massachusetts. About forty years ago 20,000 acres of the land was bought by G. A. Hastings, of Bethel, and D. R. Hastings, of Fryeburg. They sold a right of way through the territory to the Wild River Lumber company. This right of way was gained that the company operate 40.000 acres of land across the New Hamp-

In speaking further of the town he said that there is no constable, as none is necessary. The whole authority of the place is vested in one man, who is the agent of the company and looks after the mill and other property.

Saturday was the banner day in The Pribune's Educational contest, both as regards the number of points brought in and the number of contestants making returns. The leaders in the contest wound up a good week's work by making a particularly good showing, and, as nearly all those at the top of the list made extra efforts, the result was that there was no change made in position. Harry Reese succeeded in tying Miss Grace Simrell, of Carbondale, for eighth place in the list. These contestants are but two points behind Miss Fannie Williams, of Peckville, and only two above Sidney W. Hayes who has his foot planted on the tenth rung of the ladder.

David V. Birtley continued his good work and made his position as second in the race more secure by increasing his lead over both his followers, as well as wiping out six of the points that now separate him from the first of the leaders. All of the contestants are now working in grim earnest and the closing weeks find each more determined than when they started. This week would be a first-class opportunity for beginners to start, as public interest is fully aroused. Every one in this part of the state has become acquainted with the merits of the contest and with the fact that ambitious young men and women are trying to advance their future prospects through it. Every young man or woman has friends who will be more than interested in their efforts to help themselves on in the world and who will aid them in doing so. There are still five weeks left and there is yet time to make a first class canvass. This is a grand opportunity for the ambitious. Read the details of the contest on the fourth page of this morning's Tribune and try to realize what it may mean to you.

York, Aug. 25 .- Weakness was pretty genand that the people working in the sawmill might have places in which to live, small, cheap houses were erected from the stock gotten out in the sawmill.

A sewerage system was next built and then came electric lights, the power being furnished by the stream. The place is in a valley, with mountains on all sides, and from an excellent spring at the side of one of these elevations a supply of the purest water is gained. Instead of having the water brought to tubs and from these the
