ANOTHER BURGLARY HAS BEEN REPORTED

ROBERT STENNER'S HOUSE ON EYNON STREET ENTERED.

Guest of the Family Suffers the Loss of a Coat and a Pair of Shoes—Dr. Heerman's Locomobile Becomes Unmanageable and Finally Runs Away—Chapter of Accidents Yesterday—Deaths and Funerals—Other Events of General Interest to Residents Across the River.

Another robbery was reported to the police yesterday, and thus far no trace of the thieves has been obtained. This time the house of Robert Stenner, at 1314 Eynon street, was entered and a coat, pair of shoes and a watch chain were reported missing. The family retired at midnight and when one of the household awoke at 5 o'clock evidences of a burglary were apparent in several of the rooms. The contents were scattered about the place and several of the windows and doors were left open.

The only things reported missing were a coat of small plaid pattern, one pair of cloth-top russet shoes, No. 4, and a long silver watch chain. The coat and shoes belonged to a young man named Thomas Phillips, who was visiting the Stenner home.

Dr. Heerman's Locomobile

The following comment appeared in The Times on Saturday:

"Dr. Eugene H. Heerman, one of Scranton's leading physicians, who adopts all the latest appliances and apparatus of medical science and surgery in his practice, after he is thoroughly satisfied of the adaptability and usefulness, as when the lead in locomotion, and while the doctor is in the city in his carriage, Dr. Heerman will spend next week with an up-to-date automobile, specially constructed for a physician and complete in every particular. The new car was made to order on Wednesday, and when he starts he has the time he is studying up the intricacies of the machinery and the intricacies of the new car."

Now Dr. Heerman's auto happens to be a locomobile and it only arrived on Saturday. The physician owns a large piece of land at the corner of Scranton and Tenth streets, and before venturing out on the street, concluded to experiment with his new machine in the yard. There is plenty of room there and plenty of trees, around which the doctor was running the carriage Saturday afternoon.

There is also a deep ravine running through the rear of the lot, and the doctor managed to escape the trees and ravine all right several times, but finally the speed of the machine was beyond his control, and when near the embankment he reversed the motor, intending to back up, but it chugged, the doctor jumped, and the carriage landed upturned in the ravine, badly damaged.

It is hardly probable that the doctor will be speeding up Main avenue for some time to come. The machine is a wreck, but is not beyond repair, and will be sent back to the factory for an overhauling.

Gasoline Was Exploded

An alarm was turned in from box 37, corner of Everett avenue and Jackson street, at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, which aroused the whole neighborhood in the vicinity of the box. Before many of the residents learned about the fire the out taps were sent in.

From what could be learned of the incident, George Shannon, of 107 South Filmore avenue, was cleaning a vest with gasoline, when an explosion occurred. The flames were extinguished in a few minutes and the damage was trifling.

Lightning Struck a Pole

During the storm yesterday afternoon, when such a sharp thunder clap was heard, lightning struck an electric light pole in front of Charles Kimmick's place on Sweetland street, and damaged it considerably.

A Fishy Fish Story

"Jake" Stalhaber, a well known character of South Scranton, whose numerous episodes from being held up by thugs to falling off the Cedar avenue bridge, have won for him fame, is again the hero of a story—a fish story.

On Monday morning, according to his own story, he went fishing at Mountain lake and caught a pickerel twenty inches long, weighing two pounds.

On Tuesday morning he started for the same place, still according to his own story, and caught a pickerel twenty-four inches long, weighing two pounds and a half.

On Wednesday morning, bright and early, he was again at his favorite fishing spot, and came home with a pickerel twenty-six inches long and weighing three pounds, still according to his own story.

The third catch was too much for him. By the ratio at which the length and weight of the fish kept increasing from day to day, "Jake" figured that by Saturday it was odds whether he'd land the fish or the fish get him, and he wasn't going to run the risk, so the fourth day he stayed at home.

GATHERED IN SOUTH SCRANTON

PETER F. HOLTON WAS DANGEROUSLY INJURED.

Will Known Painter Fell on Saturday from St. Mary's School, Striking an Iron Fence, One of the Pickets of Which Penetrated His Abdomen—William Featherman Injured—Funeral of William Heinrich Held Yesterday—"Jake" Stalhaber's Fish Story.

While engaged in repainting St. Mary's Parochial school, on River street, on Saturday, Peter F. Holt, of 214 Franklin avenue, was thrown to the ground by reason of an improperly tied knot slipping. He fell on the iron fence surrounding the building and was badly cut about the abdomen and lower limbs.

The accident happened about 1 o'clock. The workmen were hanging a swinging scaffold and Mr. Holt, supposing every thing secure, stepped on one end. The knot slipped and he was thrown with terrific force upon the pickets of the fence below, a fall of twenty-two feet. He hung there suspended, the sharp iron penetrating his abdomen and producing painful and dangerous wounds. Dr. Kolb was hastily summoned and the unfortunate man was taken home in Undertaker Miller's carriage.

Twenty-four stitches were required to sew the wounds together.

Mr. Holt is well known in this city as an ardent and enthusiastic labor man.

LEVELS OF BIG LAKES CANNOT BE LOWERED

Prof. Moore Says That the Chicago Drainage Canal Has No Effect Upon Lake Michigan.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Willis Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, is of the opinion that the opening of the Chicago drainage canal has had no effect upon the level of the lakes. That view was expressed by him after he had completed a circuit of the great lakes with the congressional committee on rivers and harbors. He has been in Chicago two days, and with Professor Cox, of the Auditorium tower, much of the time.

Congressman Burton, chairman of the house committee on rivers and harbors, made great rejoicing when he landed in Chicago that the level of the lakes had fallen from three inches to a foot and a half. He did not necessarily attribute this shrinkage to the effect of the Chicago drainage canal. Chief Moore said:

"I am not prepared to state officially what the effect of the Chicago drainage canal upon the lakes has been. Nevertheless it is my belief that the canal has had no effect upon the level of the lakes above Niagara. If there is an effect it will be found in a diminishment of the amount of water going over Niagara Falls. No harbor will have to be deepened on account of the canal. An apparent alteration of level will be due to other causes. I am convinced, that the drain of the canal, I will go further and say that even if the Niagara river were dammed, so that the four lakes had no outflow, I do not believe their level would be really affected.

"The lakes, I believe, are self-regulating. The body of water which the lakes contain could not be supplied by the great water sheds draining into them. What great river or system of supply drains into the lakes? Think how contracted their area of watershed is! No, the lakes are fed through the geological strata. Water from very far-off regions comes to the lakes. Water that falls on opposite slopes, percolating through the surface of the earth is carried back by the strata and enters the lakes. When the pressure is removed more water bubbles up from these strata, and when the pressure is increased the inflow is proportionately checked. Consequently I believe that water supply of the lakes is automatic, and that their level is not determined either by the increased or diminished outflow from their surface."
