PROBABLY JOSEPH LAVELLE.

Wilmington Mystery May Yet Be Cleared Up from This City.

There is a strong likelihood that the young man who was killed five weeks ago at Wilmington, Del., and whose remains have not been identified, was Joseph Lavelle, of this city, a son of City Clerk Martin Lavelle.

Certain articles were found on the dead man's body, which showed that he was from this city, and the Wilmington authorities at the time telegraphed a full description of the body o the local police department. Joseph Lavelle left the city a few days before the accident occurred, telling his friends that he was going to Wilmington, where he expected to find employment. He promised several local friends to write to them, immediately on his arrival, but six weeks have now elapsed and none of his family or acquaintances in the city have received line from him.

Willard Megargel, of 619 Adams ave ie, received a letter Monday from his brother-in-law, Edward Westphal, of Paterson, N. J., who formerly lived in Westphal previously received a letter from a local friend, in which the latter asked him whether he had heard anything of Joseph Lavelle. In the letter he wrote, in reply, Mr. Westphal in turn makes a query, about as follows: "Haven't you heard about Joe Lavelle being killed by the cars. I heard that his body was terribly

This was all he mentioned about the subject, and Mr. Meagrgel has written another letter, asking for full particuars. He expects to receive an answer shortly. While no written message was re ceived in the city, still Joseph Lavelle was known to be in Delaware, if not in Wilmington, at least very near there. He was seen on various occasions by Scrantonians, who mentioned him on their return to the city.

TWO MORE ARE ARRESTED. Woman Fined $25 for Keeping a Speakeasy.

Two more persons, who, it is aleged, conduct unlicensed grog shops were yesterday scooped in by Mayor Moir's net. One of them, Mrs. Ellen King, was given a hearing; the other, Patrick Kelly, was held in the cen- | Soper, tral police station and will be arraigned before Mayor Moir this morning.

Mrs. King is from South Scranton. She was given her hearing about 7.39 o'clock last night, before Alderman has a special object for its being. An Millair. She admitted her guilt, but complained piteously of being led into the illegal practice by others. There were many mitigating circumstances about the case, and her promising earnestly to never again be guilty of the offense, was dismissed with a $25 fine and the costs.

Kelly was arrested about 9 o'clock last night by Patrolman Palmer. His place is on West Market street. eral ineffectual attempts had been made to arrest him. On all these occasions he managed to be out visiting. # PEASE VERDICT IS ALLOWED TO STAND

JUDGE SWARTZ REFUSES HIM NEW TRIAL.

The Convicted Slot Machine Man, However, Is Given an Opportunity to Escape Being Penalized Further Than Paying the Costs-Another Delay in the Famous Suit of Betterly Against the City of Scranton. Tax Collectors' Bonds Filed-Jenkins-Corey Suit-Other Notes.

Judge Aaron S. Swartz, of Norristown, who conducted the trial at which H. C. Pease was convicted of aiding and abetting the setting up of slot machines, transmitted an opinion to Clerk Daniels yesterday, in which he refuses the petition for a new trial, but suspends sentence on the defendant paying costs and promising not to do it again.

Pease was tried at the April term of quarter sessions on seven different charges of alding and abetting the operation of gambling devices. He would have escaped scott free, wing to the weakness of the prosecution, had not an unwitting witness William Curtis, unwittingly supplied a bare thread on which to hang the commonwealth's case. Curtis admitted that he bought three machines from Pease, and that from their intimate acquaintanceship Pease must have known his purpose in purchasing them The defense did not try to impeach Curtis' testimony, but relied upon its ability to show that the evidence was not conclusive enough to warrant a conviction. Court, however, held that it was for the jury to judge whether or not Pease knew that Curtis would use the machines for gambling pur oses, and a conviction was the result.

The defense at once moved for a stay of judgment and a new trial. The stay and a rule for a new trial were granted and arguments were heard in May, Judge Swartz coming here specially to hear them.

The defense contended that the only evidence was that Pease sold three machines to Curtis and that these machines were set up by the latter in the Trust, Fish and Dewey hotels. There was nothing to show that these machines were ever used for gambling, it was claimed, and the commonwealth, it is further alleged, failed to show three stories and basement, covering that these hotels are in Lackawanna county.

In reviewing the case Judge Swartz says, among other things:

Pease sold the muchines to Curtis, whom we knew was maintaining them for gambling pur

The slot machine has no legitimate place in the commonwealth, and the defendant knew Curtis bought the gambling device to be used just as he used those already in his ownership. The ury found these facts and we see no good reason or disturbing the findings.

Under the statute the misdemeanor is complete where any person shall cause to oe set up in any room an instrument at which money may or nisdemeanor are principals. The defendant aided Curtis. He knew that the latter intended to commit a particular offense—setting up a gam-bling device in a room at which money shall be played for. He also knew that Curtis needed a slot machine to carry out his purpose. The deand is to be connected by dumb wait-ers with all the floors, for banquet nishing the means to execute it.

As slot machines, under the evidence, have no legitimate use in the commonwealth, he who sells and furnishes them to another, knowing at the time that the purchaser will set up the de-vice in violation of a penal statute of the state, one of the features of the beautiful for the crime to which he knowingly contribute cannot justly complain when he is held to answer the means of execution He then calls attention to the fact that Curtis was a very unwilling witness for the commonwealth, and says: If the witness had realized the importance his evidence as to the three machines purchas rom the defendant it is at least doubtful whether his memory would have recalled the places where e established them. The defendant is ordered to appear at such a time as the court may direct, so that the case may be disposed of according to the above sugrestions, should be submit thereto, otherwise t sentenced according to law.

Local Odd Fellows Want to Bring to Scranton the 1901 Session of the Sovereign Grand Lodge Which Is Attended by Delegates from All Over North America and Which Is the Occasion Each Year of a Parade of Immense Proportions. Meeting Is Called.

Strong efforts will be made at the ming session of the Sovereign Grand lodge of Odd Fellows, which meets in Richmond, Va., during the week of optember 17, to have the lodge meein this city in 1901. If these efforts are successful, it may be said at the outset that the event will be the biggest of its kind in the history of Scranton.

Ed. C. Deans, who is the delegate from the state encampment of Patriarches Militant to the Soveereign Grand lodge, conferred yesterday with number of the leading Odd Fellows of the city and it was finally decided send out a circular to each lodge in the city, requesting that a delegate be elected from each to attend a meeting to be held in Mr. Dean's office on September 7, for the purpose of considering ways and means for the cam-

Mr. Deans stated vesterday to Tribune man that there was every eason to believe that if a little enthusiasm were displayed, Scranton will be selected as the place of meeting in 1901. Last year, he said, those behind the movement to secure the prize for Richmond had very little difficulty, there being only one other city, Washington, in the field.

ONE OF THE ARGUMENTS. He said that Pennsylvania has oneighth of the total membership of the organization in the country and that a Sovereign Grand ledge session has not been held within her borders since 1876, when one was held in Philadelnew declaration. Mr. Vosburg was phila. This fact, alone, he says, will very much amused to think that they undoubtedly have the effect of winning next year's session for Scran-

The Sovereign Grand lodge may be said to consist of the cream of Odd Fellowship, inasmuch as it contains only one, two, three or four representatives from each state and territory in this country, and each province in Canada. There are also nearly every year representatives present from Mexico and the Central American republics The total number of delegates is generally about 300, all of whom are the representative members of an organization that has in its ranks some of the brainlest and best men of the ountry. The delegates, however, always constitute the very smallest part of the rowd which assembles at a Sovereign lodge session. There is always a big parade of the Patriarchs Militant, or uniformed branch of the organization, and when the session is held in an castern city, the number of these who are in the line is never less then 10,000, and sometimes reaches as high as 15,

It may readily be seen that such a procession would surpass anything ever witnessed in this city, both from the point of size and from a spectacular viewpoint, as the uniform of the Patriarchs Militant is especially elaborate and attractive. resembling somewhat that of the Knights Tem-

The expense entalled in entertaining such an enormous throng is estimated by Mr. Deans as being somewhere be tween $20,000 and $35,000, but he feels confident that such a sum could be easily raised. There is now no hall or auditorium in the city capable of accomodating the delegates, inasmuch as each must be provided with a large desk, and as there must be ample room to accompdate the thousand or more members of the organization, high in the ranks, who generally attend the sessions, and who are admitted to the meetings.
