Montrose, Aug. 31 .- During the noon hour today an alarm of fire was sounded, to which our three fire companies and several hundred citizens responded. An incipient blaze had been discovered on the root of the old Moran blacksmith shop, on Chestnut street, occupied by Edward Fessenden, blacksmith, and S. A. Dawley, wagonmaker. The good work of the firemen, ably assisted by a citizens' bucket brigade, extinguished the fire before any serious damage was done. The dry weather had made the root of the building like tinder, and it is believed that some burning paper from a bonfire nearby had floated through the air and alighted on the roof, setting the shingles afire. The wonder is that the building did not burn to the ground, with "Camp's barracks," together which it adjoins.
