PRETTY MARRIAGE IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

Miss Anna Bluege and Joseph Briskey Were United by Rev. Father Christ-Farewell Reception Tendered to Miss Eva Snyder-Party Given in Honor of Miss Gerrity of Chicago-Improvements to Be Made at the Pittston Avenue Cemetery. Notes of a Personal Nature.

One of the prettiest and most fashionable weddings of the season took place yesterday morning at 9 o'clock with a nuptial mass in St. Mary's church. on River street, when Miss Anna Bluege, of Locust street, and Joseph Briskey were united in marriage by Rev. Father Christ.

The couple advanced to the chancel railing to the strain of Lohengrin, played by Professor Ackerman, where they were met by Father Christ. The bride, who is tall and exceedingly graceful, was attired in a cream lansdowne, with a white silk vell. The groom was dressed in the conventional black. Miss Kate Guard attended the bride, and William Bluege, a brother of the bride, was groomsman. After the ceremony, the guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents, on Locust street, where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served. James Brown, of Chestnut street, Last evening a reception was tendered whose occupation was a miner, met instant death about 11 o'clock yesterthe couple, when they received the congratulations of their host of friends, day morning, while engaged in mining They also were the recipients of many coal in the mines of the Pennsylvania Coal company. THAT is the advice commonly given to the dyspeptic. As it often happens that he can only exercise after business hours, he takes up with indoor sports, which profit him

As a rule, in the advanced stages of dyspepsia or stomach "trouble," there is neither desire to exercise nor pleasure in active sports. At the best exercise will help, but cannot heal. The first need of the dyspeptic is to be cured. With a sound stomach there will come a new interest in life, and then exercise will help to retain the recovered health.

But how is the dyspeptic to be cured? The prevalence of dyspepsia among the American people has brought a hundred medicines into the market, each promising a cure. How is a man to determine between the real medicine and the sham-the one medicine that will cure and the other medicines which only abate the painful symptoms for a time?

Use horse sense. Buy medicine as you'd buy a horse. You don't buy a horse on promise, but on performance. You don't want prophecy of what he will do, but history of what he has done.

For thirty years and over the people who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of dyspepsia and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition have been cured, and stayed cured. It isn't one man's word, or one woman's. It's the word of thousands-tens of thousands, hundreds of thousands-a whole army of men and women : "We were cured of dyspepsia, 'weak' stomach, or other diseases of the digestive and nutrive system by 'Golden Medical Discovery.'

A man may take a chance shot at the target and hit the bull's-eye. That does not prove him a marksman. But when a man never misses the target in thousands of shots, and hits the bull's-eye almost every time, that's proof of marksmanship which cannot be denied.

It's the same with "Golden Medical Discovery," It always helps. It almost always cures. It hits the target of disease every time. It hardly ever misses the bull's-eye of a perfect and permanent cure.

It does not matter how chronic the disease ; it does not matter how many medicines have failed to cure ; it does not matter what local physicians have said about the incurability of the disease : because "Golden Medical Discovery" has cured in thousands of cases where the diseases were chronic ; where all other medicines had failed and physicians had said a cure was impossible.

Begin the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" and you begin your cure. That statement is absolutely warranted by the record of ninety-eight per cent. of perfect and permanent cures which stand to the credit of the "Discovery" in a period of test which covers over thirty years and includes hundreds of thousands of cures.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures diseases of heart, lungs, liver and other organs which seem remote from the stomach. because many of these diseases have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and its associated organs. When the stomach is diseased the nutrition of the body is generally reduced and the blood corrupted by fermented and putrified food.

The result is that the dependent organs grow weak from lack of nutrition and are poisoned by impure blood. When the "Discovery" cures the stomach and its associate organs of digestion and nutrition it cleanses the blood and strengthens the "weak" heart, "weak" lungs, etc., in the only way in which the body or its organs can be strengthened : by food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.
