BURIAL OF GEORGE FARBER.

Hundreds Followed the Remains to the Grave. From his late residence at Irving avenue and Ash street, the funeral of the Hon. George Farber took place Saturday afternoon. It was the largest funeral seen for years in that part of the city.

The services were conducted at the house by the Rev. Felix Steinmann, pastor of the German Presbyterian church of Petersburg, after which the remains were conveyed to Dunmore cemetery, where interment was made. In the funeral procession were a large number of members of the fire department, Knights of Pythias, Union lodge of Masons, and members of both of the ocal posts of the Grand Army of the

At the grave services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Steinmann and by the Masons and Colonel Monies post, Grand Army of the Republic. Besides the nembers of these organizations, scores of the relatives and friends of Mr. Farber were in the funeral procession. Many beautiful floral offerings testified to the regard in which the deceased was held.

The pall-bearers were George Shultz, sr., George Burkel, Mark Bishop, Henry Farber, Charles Blauives and Henry Webber. The four flower-bearers were chosen from the members of Colonel Montes post, Grand Army of the Republic, and Union lodge, Free and Accepted Order of Masons.

Testimony was taken Saturday, be fore Alderman Fuller, in the bribery cases brought against Select Councilman T. C. Melvin, Common Councilman James J. Grier, and Carl W. Mc-Kinney by E. B. Sturges and Colonel H. M. Boies, of the Municipal league. Some of the Information elicited was of a rather sensational character. With apparent unwillingness, General Manager Frank Silliman, jr., of the Scranton Railway company, and Attorney P. W. found its way into Mr. Grier's pockets. With regard to Mr. Melvin, Mr. Silliman testified that the Eighth ward councilman advised him one day that the Nay Aug loop would likely be defeated if money was not used. No money was used, and obstructions were placed in the way of the "loop."

Mr. Gallagher testified that he had given money at various times to counclimen "to encourage amity," while he was engaged as an agent of the trolley company. REV. DR. M'LEOD ON POWER OF LOVE MRS. PINKHAM FOR HEALTH.

SERMON IN THE FIRST PRESBY-TERIAN CHURCH.

Love Is Kindly and Won't Take Unfair Advantage of Anybody, Not Even an Enemy-That Christian Love Is Kind, Society and the Church Have Ample Evidences. Prayed Fervently That the Evils of a Strike Might Be Averted, That Homes Should Not Be Disturbed.

Without any concerted action there was a "chain of prayers" yesterday in the churches for Divine intervention in the impending strike. All pastors touched upon it in morning and evening prayer, and the earnest thoughts of the congregations were solemnly turned toward the hope that such a dire condition may be averted from this prosperous valley.

Rev. Dr. McLeod spoke last evening in the First Presbyterian church on "Love," a continuation of the theme of the morning on "The Good Samari-

The text was from II Cor. xiii: 13, 'And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; and the greatest of these s charity. The speaker declared that charity is the most queenly of all the graces.

Indeed, it is royal As the cedars of Lebanon were above all other trees of the forest, as the tower rises above the cathedral Sensational Testimony at Hearings which it adorns, as Saul was a head and shoulders above his fellows, and as Joseph's sheaf stood up when the sheaves of his brethren made obeisance to his, so Christian love rises above all other Christian graces. Love > himself is love. Paul calls attention to two things: The comprehensiveness of this grace, and next, its pre-eminence and contrasts it with all the other graces. All these other forces, he says, are profitless unless joined to Christian avenue and Ash street, in the Seventh makes man most like God, for God

WHAT LOVE CAN DO. Love can do more good, can suffer

more for God, and can bring its possessor nearer to Jesus Christ than any one or all the other gifts and graces Love can enable the employer to put himself in the place of the employed and do as he would have done unto him under such circumstances. Love is above faith or hope or eloquence or intellectual greatness. It is above the power to work miracles, although anyone who casts out devils, in whatever church or party he may be, is a pretty good sort of fellow. Jesus said he is on our side and rebuked his disciples for remonstrating against such miracle working, and advised Christian love and forebearance.

Many prayers of churches are all blurred with the blood of intolerance and if not pity, it excites one to in- pils. dignation. Had there been love on the throne the Duke of Alva had never entered the lowlands, the massacre of St. Bartholomew would never have taken place. Had love reigned the horrid deeds in China would never been perpetrated, for love injures not another whom it loves

Justice is not an unnatural element of Christian love. Parents chastise their children because they love them. Love will never do anything wrong in order to do something right. This is care how you get him there. You can't love one whom you would in-There is abundance of room to exercise it in now-a-days. The Christian. cannot live in the atmosphere of love

IT IS KINDLY

Love is kindly. It won't take unfair advantage of anybody, not even an enemy. That Christian love is kind, society and the church have ample evidences. What are asytums, hospitals, there any trait in the character of our Lord Jesus other than love? It is not a spasmodic virtue, not changeable, but steady; hence it is a crowning grace. Charity never faileth. After a time we shall have no use for faith and hope, for we do not hope for what we possess. Yet there may be something to hope for in heaven, 'now abideth these three, faith, hope, charity'-another sphere, a future glory-but it will be a heavenly and not an earthly hope. Whatever may be our attitude toward faith and hope and knowledge, the grace which will make us most like our Lord yonder is here, is Christian love.

At the close of his sermon, Dr. Mc-Leod prayed fervently that the evils of a strike might be averted, that homes should not be disturbed by the cries of suffering, and besought blessngs on the working people and on the operators that the day might be hastened when the golden rule may be applied and adapted to conditions so that no antagonism should exist between capital and labor.

FORMAL INSPECTION OF NO. 9 BUILDING

Controller Roche Congratulated on Having One of the Best and Cheapest School Buildings.

"That's one of the best and cheapest school building in the city," was the omment of the directors who on Saturday attended the formal inspection of new No. 9 building, at Wyoming

It is a handsome, eight-room building and has heretofore been described at length in The Tribune. The rooms are large, airy and well lighted, the hallways ample and the mode of egress sufficient to permit of the building being vacated by the pupils in a few econds should any emergency arise which would make it necessary to get all of the pupils out rapidly, The building has all the modern imrovements, such as electric lights, peaking tubes connecting each room ith the principal's desk, and it has what is of the first importance, a s supposed to be close to perfection. It is practically the same that is used in No. 38 and No. 2, the other two new buildings that will today, for the first time, open their doors for pu-

During years gone by the school disrict has had much difficulty with the heating and ventilating of schools, none of the systems seeming to satisfactorily meet every emergency. As a result, John J. Harris, the engineer of the district, was directed to prepare the heating and ventilating plans for the new buildings. He visited many of the leading cities of the country, considered the systems of the companies, and evolved a system

At No. 9 the heating is all done by indirect radiation, but there are provisions for direct radiation in case f emergency. The system was planned for weather twenty degrees below zero, so there is no likelihood that chool will have to be dismissed on secount of cold in the building. The heat is supplied by a 75-horse-power Mills cast iron sectional boiler and there is an arrangement by which the water from the exhausted steam is returned to the boller and used over again. A seven and one-half horsepower low pressure engine is used to run the ventilating fan, which can be made to furnish fifty feet of pure cubic air per minute per pupil. Thirty feet will be supplied, that being the amount called for by the school regu-An automatic arrangement provides that there will be a uniform heat of seventy degrees in the school ooms at all times during school hours. After the controllers and other visitors had been shown through the building and the various points connected with it explained by Architect James H. Feeney, the party adjourned to Padden's hotel, where a banquet was given by D. J. Roche, the controller of the ward, who was warmly congratulated on his successful efforts to give his ward a modern school to take the place of the structure which formerly occupied the site of the present handsome building. The total cost of the building was

MANY IMPORTANT CASES ARE TO BE HEARD.

Five Homicide Cases Including the Celebrated Newell Case from Throop-Thirteen Bribery Cases Against Councilmen and About Three Hundred Liquor Cases-Everhart Case Is to Be Presented, the Transcript Already Being in the Hands of District Attorney.

Today court will open after the summer vacation, with a session of the grand jury, a week of equity, quarterly returns of constables, hearing of applications for naturalization, and the handing down of a mass of opinions and orders on matters that the three judges have had under consideration during the past several months. Judge Edwards will charge the grand fury and preside over equity court. The fact that there are between 200 and 300 applicants for citizenship will likely result in two naturalization courts being held, with Judge Archbald and Judge Kelly, respectively, presiding.

Never in the history of the county has a grand jury been called upon to deal with so many important cases as is the jury that will be sent out by Judge Edwards, this morning.

The homicide cases alone would make the session an unusually important one. There are five of these Simon Naruszys is the defendant in the most serious of them. charged with the murder of John Miskus at the latter's home on Lloyd street, March 17, 1896. It is claimed by eye witnesses that Naruszys struck Miskus on the head with an axe while the latter was sitting in a chair. The blow fractured the skull and death ensued that night. The next morning Miskus' body was found in a culvert under the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western tracks near Tripp's crossing.

DUNMORE KILLING. Frank Longo, whose brother Tony, killed Policeman James Golden, of Dunmore, is charged with being an acessory to the crime, it being claimed that he handed to his brother the revolver with which the officer was slain. The slayer is at large and the chances are the accessory will be the only one to be punished for the crime. Miss Mary Ogorozak is charged with the killing of her new born babe. It was found in a yard near McNichols court, in West Scranton. The finder not recognizing it to be a human body took it up on a shovel and threw it neating and ventilating system that over the fence. When some women found it a short time later life was There is a question as to whether or not the child was dead before it was thrown over the fence.

> Constable Michael Walsh, of Forest City, is accused of taking the life of John McDermott, a youth of that village who was somewhat of a terror when in his liquor. McDermott, it is claimed, resisted arrest and was ap roaching the constable with a razor when the shot was fired.

The coroner certifies that it was born

Mrs. Clara S. Boyd, Mrs. Louis Hehart and Rev. C. F. The two women de-to the needs of the schools of Scran-Catholic church of Zion, of which John Alexander Dowle is the head, and the deceased was brought into that cult through the solicitations of Mrs. Boyd, it is claimed. Because of their adberence to sue senet of that church respecting prayer cure, no physician was called. The most general interest will atach to the action of the jury in the bribery and liquor cases. There are thirteen bribery cases with eleven defendants, all councilmen. Two cases are to be presented against James J. Grier: two against T. J. Coyne and one apiece against H. T. Fellows, Charles E. Godshall, W. V. Griffiths, T. F. Morris, M. V. Morris, D. H. Reese, Simon Thomas, T. M. Watkins and C. E. Wenzel. Charges of bribery are also pending against Councilman T. C. Melvin and Carl W. McKinney, and a third case against J. J. Grier. Not less than 300 liquor cases are expected to be presented. The Men's union has about 150; County Detective Levshon, thirty or forty; Detective Will F. Cliftord, twenty-five; constables and private prosecutions, twenty-five more. Twenty-two prosecutions have been started in Carbondale by two alleged reformers named Bunnell and Hecht, but it is rather speculative as to how many of their cases will be sent in to the grand ir-

The Men's union is also prosecuting a dozen gamblers, captured in the raids on the Turf on Spruce street, the Manhattan club, on Penn avenue and the Treon & Flynn place on Wyoming avenue.

LALLY SHOOTING.

The shooting of Dennis Latty by Thomas Moffitt, Sunday, July 23, in North Scranton, is also to be told in ourt. It was thought an amicable settlement would be reached, but the efforts in this direction have failed. Another felonious wounding case that has attracted much interest and which will go before the grand jury is that in which Mrs. Sylvester Bolonga, of Willow street, Dunmore, is prosecutrix and Mrs. Mary Pacce, of Apple street, defendant. Mrs. Pacce, it is alleged, assaulted Mrs. Bolonga, May 15, while the latter was on her way to the store and stabbed her three times with a butcher knife.
