Valuable Scarf Pin, Stolen by One of the Workmen, Is Recovered.

Attorney P. F. Loughran yesterday recovered a diamond set opal scarf pin that was among the many valuables he and his family lost in the Merchants' and Mechanics' bank building explosion, August 4, last, The pin was stuck in a large pin cushion that rested in a dresser in his bed room. One of the men working on the ruins, Sam Smith, colored ound the cushion, but when questioned about the pin averred posttively that he had not seen it was sure it was not stuck in the cushion.

Alderman W. S. Müllar owns a pla exactly like the one that Mr. Loughran lost, and some weeks ago the two had compared them. Alderman Millar was surprised the other day to see Charley Battle, a young colored man, wearing a pin that was a counterpart of his own and asked him where he got it. Battle said he had aken it from Sam Smith as security er a $10 loan.

Mr. Loughran was in Alderman Miloffice the other day and spoke of the loss of his pin. The alderman emarked that he saw a colored man caring a pin like the ones they had, and that he said he got it from another colored man named Sam Smith. Yesterday Mr. Loughran had an in teriew with Smith and came away with the pln. Smlth wanted to explain just how it all happened, but Mr. Loughran was busy.

NOT PUTTING LIGHTS AROUND COLLIERIES

Superintendent Loomis Denies s Story That Has Been Going the Rounds-Collieries Are Now Working Full Time.

A Tribune man interviewed Superinendent Loomis yesterfay afternoon, with reference to the printed report that the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company is placing lights affording light in the event of a dark.

The only lights being put in place are at the Diamond washery, and these were ordered long before the strike was ever thought of, says Superintendent Loomis. Electric lights have been in general use at many of an idea has never been thought of by the officials as is rumored. will naturally be cut off.

Regarding the alleged meeting of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western directors announced for tomorrow, Superintendent Loomis says there is no in the rumor. It has been stated that the directors would ment to consider the demands of the Lackawanna union for an increase of 10 per ent. "The position of the company in this matter is already known," the superintendent sald, "and the granting of such a demand is entirely out of the question." When asked if the collieries would be shut down in the event of a strike, Mr. Loomis stated that they will be operated as long as there are men to work them and that there will be work for those who want to work. The trouble at the Hallstead mine at Duryea was due to a misunderstanding. and as soon as an explanation was made to the men they resumed work,

GALLAGHER TOLD ABOUT THE COMBINE

Councilmen Wanted to Be Put on Railway Company's Pay Roll

SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY

Gallagher Said He Was Invited to a Conference at the St. Charles Hotel Where Four Selectmen, Who Claimed to Represent Fourteen, Demanded That Each of Them Receive $25 Per Month to Look After the Scranton Railway Company's Interests in the Way of City Legis-Councilman McCann Handled the Telephone Deal-Specific Derdal Was Made by McCann.

There was another hearing before Alderman Frederick Fuller yesterday afternoon in the cases against Councilmen Thomas C. Melvin and James J. Grier, charged with soliciting bribes for their votes and giving bribes to other city officials, and Carl W. Mc-Kinney, charged with giving money to councilmen for their votes. Two witnesses were examined. were P. W. Gallagher, former claim agent of the Scranton Railway comabout its collieries for the purpose of pany, and Peter F. McCann, select councilman from the Fourteenth ward strike, when there is possibility of acts for the last twelve years. Gallagher of vandalism being committed after gave some damaging testimony against McCann and others. McCana entered a specific denial of everything Gallagher had said about him.

Gallagher was on the stand at Saturday's hearing and was excused until resterday because on Saturday he was loth to give the name of a councilthe collieries for a long time, and such | man for whose use he gave $25 to Councilman Grier.

When the hearing was resumed yesterday afternoon at 2.30, Gallagher was at once called to the stand, and his examination was resumed by Atand asked them if they would act as torney E. C.
