CHURCH WEDDING AT NORTH SCRANTON

MISS ETHEL DAWES AND A. H. BRYDEN UNITED. Ceremony Was Performed in the Providence Presbyterian Church by Rev. George E. Guild, D. D., the Pastor—Church Was Decorated in a Beautiful Manner—After the Ceremony a Reception Was Held at the Home of the Bride's Parents on Throop Street.

The Providence Presbyterian church was thronged last night with the relatives and friends of Alexander H. Bryden, of Ithaca, N. Y., and Miss Ethel Dawes, of Throop street, who were united in marriage by Rev. George E. Guild, at 8:30 o'clock. The church itself presented a beautiful appearance. Masses of palms and potted plants were everywhere in abundance, and the interior was fairly hidden under a bank of palms and verdant foliage.

THE PROCESSION.

The four ushers, George Langford and Herbert Shipp, of Pittston, and Captain Burson W. Bevan and W. J. Reynolds, of this city, first marched up the aisle, and then came the bridesmaid, Miss Lucretia Snyder, of Dunmore. She was escorted by a young man in pink silk and carried a large bouquet of white carnations. The maid of honor, Miss Agnes Bryden, a sister of the groom, followed Miss Snyder. She wore a costume of white organdy and carried pink roses. Close behind her came the bride, who looked charming. Indeed, in her bridal dress, she was garbed in white satin and wore a long, filmy veil. Her costume was made of train, finished with duchesse lace and children trimmings, and the general effect was enhanced by the diamond ornaments she wore so tastefully from her person. A large bouquet of bridal roses was carried.

FIERCE FIRE ON THE EAST MOUNTAIN

It Caused a Great Deal of Damage in the Timber Land Owned by the Gas and Water Company. A fierce fire raged all of yesterday on the East mountain, and great, heavy clouds of smoke that drifted toward the city told of the destruction that was being wrought.

The fire started about two miles from Lake Scranton, near Simonson's hotel, in the timber land of the Gas and Water company, and spread rapidly. All over the mountain side the timber is dry as tinder and the flames fed on it with great delight. As quickly as possible the Gas and Water company organized a fire-fighting brigade of thirty men, who fought the flames with great vigor all day and all of last night. By this morning they expected to have it extinguished, or, at least, well under control.

MRS. FESSENDEN COMING.

Will Address W. C. T. U. Convention at Moscow. The Women's Christian Temperance union held its first meeting since July, Tuesday afternoon in the Guernsey building, a large number of ladies being in attendance. An acknowledgment was received from the Men's union of a liberal donation made last spring by the association towards the union's treasury. A letter was also received from Mrs. Susan Fessenden, of Massachusetts, ex-state president, in which she stated her willingness to appear in the city and address the Women's Christian Temperance union on temperance work. It was decided to bring Mrs. Fessenden here to address the county convention, which is to be held at Moscow, Sept. 23.

NO RETURN FROM THE GRAND JURY

LIKELY HOWEVER THAT THERE WILL BE REPORT TODAY. Evidence Heard in Two of the Gambling Cases and Nine Liquor Cases. Judge Edwards Conducts a Hearing of the Claims of the Rival Principals of the Carbonade High School—Amicable Adjustment of Trouble Between Archbald School Board and Water Company.

No return from the grand jury was made yesterday, but it is likely one will be forthcoming today. The most important cases heard yesterday were those against the men taken in the raid on the alleged gambling establishments conducted at the Manhattan club in the Windsor building and the Turf Exchange on Spruce street. Evidence was also heard in liquor cases against Anthony Dunleavy, of 1728 Cedar avenue; James Gallagher, of 1376 South Washington avenue; James J. Gettings, of 1831 Lafayette street; Patrick Glynn, of 2211 Jackson street; Mrs. Hannah Letz, of 405 Pittston street; Henry Rush, of 113 South Seventh street; J. F. Roche, of 1323 Pittston avenue; Martin Rabiga, of Prospect avenue, and J. C. Taylor, of 102 North Ninth street.

To economically time the grand jury heard the evidence in all nine liquor cases in a bunch, this being made possible by reason of the fact that the witnesses, agents of the Men's union, were the same in each case. No further hearings in the councilman bribery cases were had. A number of witnesses were on hand, but the rush of other business prevented their being called. The evidence, it is said, is not complete in the two bribery cases that have been heard, and if a return is made today, it is quite likely the presentment in those two cases will not be included.

Carbonade School Bother.

A hearing was had yesterday before Judge Edwards on the motion for a rule for a preliminary injunction to restrain H. J. Hockenberry, P. F. Hughes and W. R. Moore, school directors, and the Carbonade school board, from preventing Prof. W. D. Bryden from acting as principal of the High school.

The testimony of the plaintiff's side was in line with the arguments of the affidavit accompanying the motion for the injunction, and printed heretofore in The Tribune. Prof. Bryden was elected principal, October 2, 1899, for one year at a salary of $1,200. On May 21, 1900, the school board, by resolution, extended the contract period another year. When the new board came into power it rescinded the extension resolution and engaged Prof. C. M. Leshar, an assistant at the High school, to serve as acting principal at a salary of $87.50 per month.

When the school opened, September 4, the two claimants to the principalship were on hand and a clash ensued. Directors Hockenberry, Hughes and Moore were present and interfered in behalf of Prof. Leshar. Prof. Bryden refused to obey their behest to quit the building, and was only removed with the aid of a constable and a warrant sworn out by Director Hockenberry, charging him with disorderly conduct. Prof. Leshar assumed the principalship and is now in charge of the school.

Prof. Leshar claims he is the rightfully elected principal. Prof. Leshar, or rather the directors' opposition to Prof. Bryden, alleged that the resolution extending Prof. Bryden's term was invalid, inasmuch as a contract could not be extended by a simple resolution. A new election was necessary, it is claimed.

Prof. Bryden also claims that the appointment of Prof. Leshar as acting principal was a ruse to hold the principalship vacant till such time as the board could be gotten in line to elect Director Hockenberry to the place. Mr. Hockenberry was formerly principal. It is claimed that he seeks to return to the position, and that he will resign and have the board elect in his place a man who will vote for him to be principal.

The other side argues that the action of the preceding board in continuing the contract term of Prof. Bryden was done for the purpose of unfairly forestalling the right of the new board to elect a principal.

The plaintiff's side is represented by C. C. Newcomb, L. H. Burns and Hon. John E. Reynolds. The respondents' attorneys are H. C. Butler, ex-Judge E. N. Willard and Joseph O'Brien. Judge Edwards' decision will be awaited with interest.

Debt Against the Stock.

Judge Edwards, sitting in equity, yesterday heard evidence in the suit of George H. Wilcox against the Sanderson Oil and Specialty company. W. A. Wilcox represented the plaintiff and C. H. Welles the defendant.

Dec. 27, 1898, W. K. Reichart and Charles R. Sanderson formed the Sanderson Oil company. On March 15, 1900, the company was incorporated as the Sanderson Oil and Specialty company. Jan. 25, 1899, Mr. Winans bought from Mr. Reichart a certificate for twenty of the $25 shares of the new company. The officers of the new company refused to transfer the shares to Mr. Winans on the books of the corporation and he brought suit to compel them to do so.

The defense is that Mr. Reichart is indebted to the company in the sum of $44.53, and that the indebtedness is a charge against the stock he disposed of to Mr. Winans.

Was Amicably Adjusted.

By agreement between the attorneys, the rule for an injunction to prevent the Archbald Water company from keeping the water shut off from the Archbald central school building was practically dismissed, yesterday.

The water is to be turned on between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. on school days, and the school board is given until October 1 to repair the plumbing which causes the waste that the water company complains of.

Judge Edwards made an order to the effect that if the board fails to do this the injunction rule is to be dismissed.

What a Relief. After most two months of scrubbing and cleaning the painters and paper-hangers have finished. The store looks its old self again—yes, it looks better; like a young lady with a new suit, it is bound to look better, and the new goods just opened gives a finishing touch which is pleasing to the eye and the prices put on them will give your purse that pompous look of, "I've got a good lot of fine wares, and it has not cost me much."
