JERMYN AND MAYFIELD

Arbitrators Decide Against Jermyn Borough-Personal News.

The arbitrators appointed by court to hear the suit of John and Fanny Gallagher, of West Mayfield, versus the Borough of Jermyn, on Friday rendered a verdict of $400 damages in favor of the plaintiffs. It is probable the case will be appealed. The action was to recover $10,000 for injuries received by Mrs. Gallagher, who, while on her way home from church one Sun- 1013, United Mine Workers of America, day, several months ago, fell on the sldewalk, which it is claimed was defective, severely injuring her leg.

STAGE KISS.

yesterday.

It Had to Be Given Even at the Risk of Bloodshed.

From the Chicago Record. It was a home talent show and we pected to happen. The unexpected always happens with a home talent show, and an inner mountain village is not proof against this long accepted stage fact. We strangers from the unmountains for our healths' sake, felt assured, therefore, of an experience before the night should be over. It was "The Mikado" which was to be presented, tattered and torn by its transit from first-class theaters in the east to the town hall of Teton City. We had heard Nanki-Poo as he had sung about being a thing of shreds and patches, and we had heard Ko-Ko's announcement of his theories and ideas, and were getting along fairly well in our listening when the kissing song was reached. Then Red Pete Barker, who was singing Nanki-Poo, advanced to the footlights.

"Ladies and gentlemen," the tenor singer began, "this is a mighty poor place in the show to interrupt the protain things are about to happen, I think it is only fair that you be put on. I have heard that Holy Moses Perkins, who is known and generally halled and greeted as the eventual husband of Miss Betty Hoyler, who Is taking the part of Yum Yum, has announced to all concerned that if I followed out the directions of the book of this play and insist on kissing the lady, there will be five different kinds of trouble. I hereby announce that I am going to begin kissing the young light pictures were taken of the group lady in about three minutes and shall keep right on kissing her through the whole blamed song, and I further announce that I shall do that kissing in full view of the audience. Moreover, It may be of interest to you to know that I have secreted in these long and flowing robes two first-rate six-shooters right ready for business. I am also Perkins is sitting in seat No. 167, which is in plain view from the stage. As sented is a cross between a delicious love song and a homicide and as I shall caress the young woman with one eye on her beauteous charms and the other on seat No. 167, I hope you will overlook any little shortcomings in the affair. I bate to mention such urday. His remains will be taken to over, Mr. Perkins remaining statue- graduate. esquely mute. But when the applause continued on its demand for an en-shall use first is a self-cocker and core, Mr. Barker appeared once more at the stage front: "Thank you," he said, "for this vindication, but if you want some more of it I am compelled to say you can't have it. I respect Mr. Perkins' claims on the premises. Thank you one and all, and especially Mr. Perkins, who Episcopai church last evening at 7.20 has this night sacrificed his feelings o'clock and preached a very instruct- for the advancement of art. The show will now proceed.

We then leaned back and listened espectfully while Pooh-Bah told about his troubles and his expectations. PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

"In the Palace of the King," the romance of old Madrid, which F. Marion Crawford wrote vening.

Allen, will be divided into scenes instead of the The ice cream, social held Saturday customary acts. There will be six scenes, and be intermissions will range in duration from no to ten minutes, according to the time revired to change the scenic settings. This division of a drama was common on the old English stage, but the reason for it in this instance is that the procession of events in Mr. Crawford's story is almost synchronous with the Retion of Mr. Stoddard's play, the whole transpiring be-tween eight and elever o'clock of one evening Rehearsals of the play are now in progress, and Miss Allen-a very conservative and never overoutdent judge of a new drama-is sate to be en tirely satisfied with its prospects. Certainly the cast and mounting of the play are calculated to bring out its best points when it is produced at North Adams, Mass., on September 17, opening the new theater there. The date of the dedication of Hammerstein' new Theater Republic by James A. Herne in his latest success, "Sag Haroor," has been definitely cheduled for September 26. Mr. Hammerster has been delayed somewhat by the builders, and although the theater might be spened a week coner, he prefers to have his latest, and as he considers it, his finest play-house, finished every detail before admitting the public. his previous seven theaters was opened before the paint was entirely dry, and the result was several ruined gowns.
