THEATRICAL

ATTRACTIONS THIS WEEK.

Academy of Musc. ALL WEEK.-The Aubrey Stock Company.

"Prisoner of Zenda."

The always popular "Prisoner of Zenda" esented at the Lyceum last night before a ge and thoroughly delighted audience. The part of Frince Rudolph, the heir apparant to the throne of Ruritania, is the prologue, and the dual role of Rudolph the Fifth, king of biritania, and Rudolph Bassendyll, a y rightshman, was taken by Vaughn Glaser he loyal lover in the prologue, who sought to e the woman he loved from the consequence her own weakness, by self-denunciation, h sale on immediate and lasting impression, as sest efficient actor. Again, as the carcless, different, good-natured, purposeless young Eng-lish gentleman, he sustained the character with tare chilly, and when, with the change of forone, he came to impersonate the king of furitania he was admirable.

Charlotte Tittell made a sweet and winsome rincess Flavia, who won and held the regard of the audience from the moment she stepped pon the stage. Charles E. Brandt was another ulter of the cast whose work as Colonel Sapt. stood out prominently.

The other members of the company were very competent. The play is beautifully staged in very respect.

"We 'uns of Tennessee." One of the very best performances given by a epertoire company at the Academy was the pro-lection of "We 'Uns of Tennessee," by the actorey Stock company, last night. This is the company's star piece and to those that have diffused their excellent work during the week o mere need he said by way of commendation. This afternoon the bill will be "Red, White nd Blue," and tenight the company will close ts engagement with a repetition of "Lost in h

'Vanity Fair" to Be Presented Here. In Charles Cooplian's dramatization of Thack-yay's masterpiece, "Vanity Fair," which is to presented here for the first on Momlay ever ing, Oct. 8, at the Lycrum theater, with Mr. Coghlan's Islented daughter, Gertrude Coghlan, as "Becky Sharp," reflects five periods of the luckless Beck's life, Opening with her outburst of temper in the boarding school of Miss Pinkrion's at Cheswick, Thuckeray's remarkable eroine is shown later as the governess at Crawy's, the bride at Brassels, the wife in London and the renounced at Pumpernickle, Germany. Wherever the play has been produced the critics say the play made is intensely interest-ing. Admirebly interpreted by an excellent suporting company and staged in a manner that Hennessy, the properctors of the company, careful as to every detail.
