THE SPECIAL REWARDS.

Contestants in Tribune's Contest Have Not Yet Made a Choice.

Only one of the special rewards in The Tribune's Educational Contest has been selected by the winner. This is the four-year scholarship in Wyoming seminary, which was naturally chosen by Charles Rodriguez. It has not been settled whether he will begin his studies at once or wait until next year, but this will probably be decided tomorrow, when he will visit the school and consult its officials.

Up to 6 o'clock last evening Arthur Kemper, of Factoryville, who is entitled to second choice, had not called at the office of The Tribune to express his preference of the remaining special rewards, but will probably do so some time today, and it is expected that The Tribune will be able to announce tomorrow just what each contestant has selected.

Early yesterday morning the following note was received from Miss Mary Yeager, of Moscow, who is fourth in the list:

The Scranton Tribune, Scranton, Pa.: Through the medium of your valuable columns, I wish to thank the management of the Scranton Tribune for the special reward allotted me, and also my friends who gave me their liberal support in the contest just closed.

Very respectfully,
Mary Yeager.

THE FAIR AT DALLAS.

Fifteenth Annual Event Will Open on Wednesday.

The fifteenth annual meeting of the Dallas Fair association begins today and will continue tomorrow, Thursday and Friday. It will be held at Dallas, in Lusher county, eight miles above Wilkes-Barre, from which city the fair grounds are accessible by either trolley or by the Lehigh Valley railroad.

The indications for a big and successful fair in this little town were never better. Upwards of $2,000 has been offered in premiums in the various departments, in addition to $850 in prizes for trotting, pacing and automobile races.

Among the special attractions booked are balloon ascensions on each of the last three days by Prof. Charles Babrich. Band concerts will be given every day by the Citizens band, of Plymouth.
Arrangements have been made with the Wilkes-Barre and Wyoming Valley Traction company for twenty-minute trips from Wilkes-Barre to Dallas during the fair, and the Lehigh Valley railroad will run special trains between the two places and have announced special rates.

The Dallas fair association is a member of the National Trotting association, the rules of which will govern all the races held on the fair grounds. The officers of the fair association are especially attractive card of races, all of which have filled well.
The following programme for the three days' meet, there being no races held today:

Oct. 3—2:22 class, trot and pace, purse, $150; 2:45 class, trot and pace, purse, $100.
Oct. 4—2:23 class, trot and pace, purse, $150; trot race, half mile, purse, $100. The road race, 1/4 mile, purse, $50. Trot and pace, purse, strictly for road purposes, and must be owned and driven by the owner. Trotters or pacers, sulky or cart, half-mile heats, best three

Oct. 5—3:00 class, trot and pace, purse, $100; 2:17 class, trot and pace, purse, $200; automobile race, purse, $50.

each day. The conditions are the same as most races are governed by.
The managers reserve the right to call off any race that cannot be started before 4 p. m. on the last day of the fair.

The Dallas fair has an enviable reputation. It is regarded as one of the best annual events held in Northeastern Pennsylvania and always has enjoyed large attendance and an interesting and diversified exhibit of agricultural, horticultural and fancy articles. Its officers are Charles F. Wilson, president; Charles H. Hall vice-president; Will Norton, secretary; John J. Ryman, treasurer, and J.
McDonough, superintendent.

The Tribune will detail a representative from the home office to attend the Dallas fair, who will send each day of its continuance a full report of the various features. The races, especially, will be described at length, and a correct summary of the work of each horse will be given.

ATTEMPT AT EXTORTION.

Officer McDonough of Bellevue Is so Charged by A. Apostolico.

Martin McDonough, a special officer of Bellevue, was yesterday arraigned before Alderman Kason, charged with trying to extort money from A. Apostolico, a Dunmore contractor, who alleges that while riding to his home last Friday night, from Bellevue, McDonough arrested him and threatened to take him before an alderman, unless he would give him a certain sum of money.

Apostolico refused to do this, and was then arraigned before Alderman Millet, on the charge of violating the city ordinance by riding on the sidewalk. The case was discharged.

McDonough claims that he was walking along the street and Apostolico ran into him and knocked him down, after which he arrested him.
Alderman Kason continued the case until next Monday night.

OPERATORS ON STRIKE

will permit him to increase his cost of mining as these same carrying companies demand he shall do to help them settle the strike, or else he is going out of business.

Do the carrying companies care a great deal whether or not he goes out of business? The individual operator figures it out that they don't. In fact, it is claimed by some of the individual operators that they have been practically told by the carrying companies, "Get out of business and we'll run your mines for you if we can get them at a sacrifice." The individual operator is now threatened with being forced to make this sacrifice or the other equally as great, namely, to increase his cost of mining to a point that will leave no margin for profits, and in some cases, not only no margin for profits but a positive loss. How could the carrying companies do this? The individual operator, in a word, is between the devil and the deep sea.

Another difficulty confronting the miners is the settlement plan is the hesitancy of the Delaware and Hudson and Pennsylvania companies to subscribe to it. Superintendent Rose, of the Delaware and Hudson, said he had received instructions not to join in the plan and the Pennsylvania Coal company's representatives declare they had received no instructions, one way or the other, and could not commit themselves. What this means, it is difficult to figure out. The only explanation vouchsafed is that the Delaware and Hudson feels it can afford to let its mines lay idle, and that the Pennsylvania is non-committal.
Because of its hesitancy that it will be long allied with the individual operators in the new road to tidewater, all of which constrains the Pennsylvania to move cautiously in a matter likely to engender active hostilities between coal carriers and individual operators.

Those That Will Act.

The companies that have announced that they will post notices this morning, announcing the ten per cent. and arbitration proffer, are the Lehigh Valley, Philadelphia and Reading, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre, and Hillside Coal and Iron company, and Temple Iron company. The notice reads as follows:

"This company makes the following announcement to its mine employes: It will adjust its rates of wages so as to pay to its mine employes on and after October first, a net increase of ten per cent. on the wages heretofore received; and will take up with its mine employes any grievances which they may have."

This notice does not mean, as is liable to be interpreted at first blush, that the miners are to be given a ten per cent. increase in wages and a chance for increasing the same by the arbitration of the other grievances. The notice will be in effect that the price of powder regulates the wage scale; the price of powder is to be decreased to $1.50 a keg; this decrease in the cost of powder is to be figured in as part of the increase in the cost of the rate of wages; the difference between the increase that the decreased cost of powder will cause and the increase of ten per cent. that is promised is to be made up by allowing a better rate of pay for the same work as other mine workers are to receive a ten per cent. increase, flat, on the present schedule. In this region the proposed decrease in the cost of powder means an eight per cent. increase in wages. The other two per cent. will be allowed for the same reason.

Speaking of yesterday's meeting, an independent operator of this locality said:

"The men in New York fix the cost of coal and then fix the rate of carrying. Thus the individual operator is at their mercy. It means absolute ruin for some of us unless both ends of the contract are considered and we are given a better rate for our coal."

"It is an unheard of thing in this valley for the powers in New York to interfere. Heretofore the mining superintendents of the great companies have been delegated full powers of control in all matters pertaining to anthracite producing interests. The present situation places these superintendents in a most unhappy position. Their control is minimized and they can not deal as they see fit with the strike problem. Neither do they give tonight in operators have been consulted in the slightest degree by the New York parties who rule the anthracite world."

Went to New York.

A committee of independent operators went to New York last night to confer with the presidents of the coal-carrying roads, with a view of securing a better allowance for their coal. If they do not get what they want, the individual operators say, they will be forced to choose between closing up their mines and abrogating their present agreement with the carriers, which alternative would mean that the independent would unite and give all their product to some one carrier that would be willing to pay them a fair price. At present they are allowed 60 per cent. of the tidewater prices. They insist they must have 65 per cent. to make ever for the increased cost of mining that would come with the acceptance by the miners of the offer framed by the carriers, and to be posted by them this morning.

If any of the individual operators are hoping that the miners will refuse to accept the offer, they are liable to see their hopes crushed.

President T. D. Nichols, of District No. 1 of the United Mine Workers, said he hardly thought the offer would be satisfactory, as the strikers are bent on having a general conference. District Organizer Nicholas Burke said:
"Under no circumstances will we accept the Associated Press dispatches do not speak very encouragingly of the offer being accepted in other parts of the region."

SUGGESTION OF AN OPERATOR

Editor of The Tribune:

Sir: I would like to place before the anthracite coal operators, through the columns of your paper, a suggestion that they should consider the complicated contract system under which they have always operated their mines, and the day's pay system under which nearly all other mining outside of coal is done. Man could not do a system with more opportunities for misunderstanding and grievances than the system now in vogue in the anthracite region.

The war on price per car, powder, yardage, dockage and many other things will continue as long as the present system is followed, and will cause the operator, the workman and the general public to suffer. The cost of production of coal is increasing rapidly, and the value of the coal is decreasing. The miner is getting a smaller share of the coal he produces, and the price per day is not increasing. The miner is getting a smaller share of the coal he produces, and the price per day is not increasing. The miner is getting a smaller share of the coal he produces, and the price per day is not increasing. The miner is getting a smaller share of the coal he produces, and the price per day is not increasing. The miner is getting a smaller share of the coal he produces, and the price per day is not increasing.

MANY BUILDINGS ARE BEING ERECTED

QUITE A BUILDING BOOM DESPITE THE STRIKE.

Work on the New Armory Being Pushed Rapidly—Contractor Pushed Excavating for the New
M. C. A. Building—Additions Being Made to the Plants of the Scranton Bolt and Nut Company, Klots Throwing Company and Lewis, Reiling and Schoen.

The local contractors seem to be suffering just about as little from the strike as any body in the city. New buildings of all sizes, kinds and shapes are going up in every part of the city, just as if a great industrial war was not being waged right in the heart of Scranton.

The largest building in course of construction at the present time is the new armory, on Adams avenue, which is being built by Conrad Schroeder.
The foundation walls are nearly completed and in some places the main walls are well under way. A force of seventy-five men is kept constantly at work and there is hardly any doubt but that the armory will be ready in contract time for $90.

It is planned to rush the masonry work before the heavy frosts, so that the winter can be used in completing the interior.

Contractor E. S. Williams, who has secured the contract for the new Young Men's Christian association building, at corner of Washington avenue and Mulberry street, has a large force of men engaged in making the necessary excavations. Mr.
Williams announces that he will not begin the actual work of construction until the fall, but will wait until early spring, from which time the work will be pushed, in an effort to have the building ready for occupancy by January 1, 1902.

ADDITION TO BOLT WORKS.

The Scranton Bolt and Nut company, although it has been in existence only a little over a year, has already outgrown its present plant to such an extent that a large addition is now being built by Contractor Schroeder.

This is an extension to the forging department and is to be sixty-one feet long and sixty-four feet wide. It will be one story high and will be constructed of brick. The forging building is already 120 feet long, so that when completed the building will have a length of 181 feet. The work of constructing this extension was begun two weeks ago and it is expected that it will be finished in two weeks more.

Several other industries have outgrown their present quarters, among them being the Klots Throwing company, which is adding a brick addition 167x150 feet in size, and two stories high, to its silk mill on Monsey avenue. This addition will cost $18,000, and will double the capacity of the factory.

Reiling, David and Schoen are also greatly enlarging their silk factory, on James street. The addition is to be 56x48 feet in size and three stories high. Woelker & Beilman are the contractors. The cost will be $10,000.
This building is to be finished and ready for use within a month.

Another large building, now being erected, is a big apartment house on Hickory street and Forest court. This is being built by Contractor Peter Stipp for Jacob Feld. The structure is 120x57 feet in size, two stories high, and will cost $12,000. It will accomodate twelve families.

QUIET AT SHENANDOAH.

Major Miller's Views of Situation at That Place.

Major W. S. Miller, inspector of the Third brigade of militia during the war, and a former marshal and second in authority at Shenandoah, is back in the city and reports that all is calm and serene down Schuylkill way, and that the reports of the trouble at Shenandoah were greatly exaggerated.
Major Miller yesterday remarked to a Tribune reporter:

"The houses of the Shenandoah miners are pictured as wretched, dirty hovels, and the miners themselves as pale, emaciated men, of skeleton physique, clutching at their empty dinner pails. Now, as a matter of fact, the houses are comfortable. There are such homes as I saw them, but they belong only to men who live there by choice. In these instances the condition is degrading. I saw one house where thirty-two men lived in five rooms. But these people are living that way because they want to, not because they have to."

"The greater part of the population of Shenandoah is foreign; in fact, about 80 per cent., but they are the most orderly people I have ever met.
Peaceful and quiet, they never complained of the least trouble or molested any of the soldiers. Any man wearing a uniform was perfectly safe in their midst and free from any insult. It was not even necessary for arms to be carried, to command respect."

"The miners, as a rule, are intelligent, well-behaving men. While I was there they had a big funeral procession for the man who was shot during the riot, and I eagerly scrutinized the 1,570 men who were in line, and was surprised, indeed, to see what a well-dressed, comfortable looking collection of men they were."

"Another matter which has been misrepresented is the discipline among the soldiers. Many wild tales have been told of the drunken, riotous soldiers. Well, the truth of it is that there was one instance of a member of the guard being drunk. When we got off the train at Shenandoah, one of the soldiers was intoxicated, and he was immediately put under arrest and summarily punished. He was court-martialled, dishonorably discharged, and sent home in disgrace. When we left Shenandoah everything was perfectly quiet, and I think no more trouble need be anticipated in that quarter."

MORE SPEAKERS KEEPERS.

Sextette of Cases Disposed of Yesterday Morning.

Several of the speakery proprietors arrested Sunday, on warrants issued by Mayor Moir, were yesterday morning given hearings, and Michael Hogan, of 521 Putnam street; P. J. Glynn, of 221 Jackson street, and Mrs. Ann Man-kan were each fined $50. Mrs. W. D.
Lally, of 405 Putnam street, was fined $10, and John McNulty, of 31 Twenty-second street, and John R. Neary, of Marcy street, were discharged.

Glynn was arrested previously on the same charge and fined by Alderman Howe. He was unable to pay the fine and was committed to the county jail.
Hogan denied selling without a license.
In the Lally case the defendant utterly denied the charge, in spite of the fact that two witnesses swore that they drank beer last Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. McHale, a neighbor of Mrs. Lally, beer that was brought from the latter's premises.

There were extenuating circumstances about the case, and Mayor Moir only fined the woman $10.

LETTER TO R. L. DAY & CO.

Controller Will Try to Compel Debt Statement Up to Oct. 1.

Controller Howell yesterday sent a letter to R. L. Day & Company, of Boston, to whom was awarded the contract for the sale of the $275,000 issue of sewer bonds, informing them that he would endeavor, as per their request, to compile a statement of the city's indebtedness up to October 1.

He informed them, however, that should he find it impossible to com-
