Wilkes-Barre, he said a convention was possible and that, if held, it would probably be held in Scranton. There would be a thousand delegates, he said, and only a large city would be able to conveniently entertain them and furnish accommodations.

INSURGENTS STAND FIRM
There is a strong feeling against accepting any offer that does not include recognition of the United Mine Workers, and if this sentiment should prevail, the settlement of the strike is as far in the future as ever. The Pottsville Miners' Journal, which has been maintaining a strict neutrality in dealing with the strike, contained the following yesterday morning in a double-headed editorial:

INSURGENTS STAND FIRM
Nothing in its news department gives any indication of any change in its prophecy on Anent this it might be germane to add that President Mitchell declared yesterday in positive terms that he had not had any communication whatever with the operators, or any one representing them, regarding the settlement of the strike.

HOW THE PRICE OF POWDER WAS FIXED
A number of good stories interesting, locally, are being sent out from here by the special correspondents doing strike work. The following by McClure:

COFFEE
This is our specialty. Coffee always fresh.
Golden Rio, per lb..... 14c
xxx Java, per lb..... 20c
Coursen's Java, per lb... 25c
Special Java and Mocha, per lb..... 25c
5 lbs..... $1.10
xxx Java, per lb..... 28c
4 lbs..... $1.00
Triple Blend, per lb..... 32c
Coursen's Best, per lb... 35c
3 lbs..... 90c

E. G. Coursen
429 Lacka. Ave.
Loughlin, of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, is one of the best of them:
One of the three operators who fixed the price of powder at $2.75 a keg is John Jernyn, the richest man in Scranton, and probably in the Lackawanna valley. Mr. Jernyn is the only survivor of the operators who represented the operators after the War of the Rebellion and agreed to supply the powder at $1 a keg. Before that time it cost the companies $2.75 a keg in large quantities and the miners were willing to pay the 25 cents profit for handling risk and storage.

SPEAKEASY CRUSADE STILL CONTINUES
THREE MORE CONVICTS SECURED YESTERDAY.
Mrs. Rose Kane Arrested and Fined by Alderman Howe, Despite Her Threats of Vengeance—William Jones and His Wife Convicted. Patrick Welsh Fined $25, Despite Ex-Alderman Morgan's Ingenious Plea in His Behalf—Disguises Adapted by Mayor's Detectives.
And still the crusade against the speakeasy keepers continues with undiminished vigor. Three were convicted yesterday before Mayor Moir and Alderman Howe. Cases were brought against two others, but failed on account of the lack of sufficient evidence.

SHE PROTESTED.
Mrs. Kane's protestations of poverty and dire distress were so strong that the alderman decided to be lenient and fined her only $10 and the costs, no $15. William Jones and wife of Wayne were also arrested and arraigned before Alderman Howe on the same charge. The evidence was very strong against them, but as Mr. Jones is at death's door with consumption, he let the couple off on payment of the costs.

The strike movement will pass into history as the most notable labor crisis of the country. It is the almost entire absence of bitter feeling on either side of the controversy. Both the operators and the miners have exhibited a reserve which has commended the constants to the civilized world and which has made possible the negotiations to be opened and carried on without prejudice or hindrance.
