SAYS RESOLUTION WAS COWARDLY

Controller Howell Replies to Mr. Chittenden-Asks Him to Come Out Like a Man.

City Controller Esdras Howell is exceedingly angry at what he considers the insinuations contained in the resolution introduced in select council on Thursday night by Councilman C. E. Chittenden, calling upon the city solicitor to furnish councils with an opinion as to whether or not the controller could be impeached and removed from office for making transfers from one appropriation to another and for charging up claims to appropriations made for different purposes. He gave the following statement out for publication:

"I had thought best to ignore Mr. Chittenden and his velled attacks as heretofore, for he has persistently reflected on the administration of affairs in my office. If, as he contends, there has been wilful charging of claims against the city to accounts not set aside or appropriated for such purposes, why does he not come out like a man and show me where, and not by insinuation hold me up to sus-open to the inspection of the public derstand me not 'wilfully,' as implied by the resolution offered by Mr. Chittenden, evidently in malice. "I regard his attack as cowardly. I have nothing to conceal in my office. My accounts, as I have said before, are open to all for inspection. I say to Mr. Chittenden, as I would say to anyone else: If you know of any wrong or any apparanet wrong in the administration of my affairs, out with it like a man." Mr. Chittenden was seen by a Tribune man yesterday afternoon, but would say nothing whatever regarding the matter. He intimated, however that he would have a statement of his side of the case to make in a few

Address Given by Rev. Dr. Pierce About His Foreign Travels.

Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, D. D., last night delivered a most interesting illustrated lecture, "Under Ten Flags, or Rambles Abroad," before a very large audience in the auditorium of the Penn Avenue Baptist church.

The address was a most instructing as well as entertaining one, Dr. Pierce telling of a number of his interesting experiences while abroad this summer, attending the Christian Endeavor rally in London, and in the course of his travels throughout Europe.

The majority of the views which illustrated the lecture were made from photographs taken by Dr. Pierce. Several interesting sights aboard ship were shown, as well as pictures of ecitbrated buildings and places in the old country.

Two hundred views, in all, were shown, illustrating the ocean voyage, world's convention, England, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, the Rhine, the Alps, Italy, Venice, Milan, Rome, Naples, Pompeil, the Passion

BIG MEETING IN NORTH END

REPUBLICANS OUT IN LARGE NUMBERS.

A Parade Participated in by All the Leading Republican Organizations the Auditorium Where Addresses Were Made by T. J. Reynolds, John | who did it. M. Harris, Lincoln L. Eyre and A. J. Colborn, Jr .- Over One Thousand Five Hundred Present.

North Scranton was the scene lac light of one of the most enthusiastic and successful Republican demenstrations ever witnessed in this city. There was a vast outpouring of people; a splendidly conducted parade, and a mass meeting in the Auditorium attended by over 1,500 persons, and addressed by several speakers, including Lincoln L. Eyre, of Philadelphia, chairman of the state executive committee, who made a telling speech, in the absence of General T. J. Stewart, who was unavoidably prevented from being present.

The parade was a little late in starting, but when the front line of Roosevelt's Rough Riders appeared on horseback, North Main avenue, from Bull's Head to Weston place, was thronged with spectators. At Providence square there was gathered a crowd of over 2,000. Rough Riders were in the lead and pression on his hearers with his im-passioned delivery of clear-headed and logical arguments. He referred to the big coal strike almost at the beginning of his remarks. Said he, in part:

"The people in Philadelphia have been watching the movements of the strikers these past few weeks with the deepest sympathy. These past few days a most earnest effort has been made to end the struggle and bring the companies to grant the demands embodied in the resolutions recently Followed by a Rousing Meeting in And who's been behind this movement? None others than the Republican leaders in Philadelphia. They're the men

PARTY OF PROTEST.

The Democratic party ever since the civil war has been the party of protest, of objection and of criticism. But it's easy for one man to stand by when another is doing the work. The Democit has dropped the cry of free silver because the people would have no more of them and now it talks of trusts and imperialism.

"So far as trusts are concerned there are many varieties. There are the cotton bale trust and the ice trust and a few others that the Democratic party don't like to hear about. All the trusts have stockholders who are Democrats and stockholders who are Republicans. "To my mind the question of trusts isn't a question of politics. It's a question of temperament and character; a question that must be decided by the individual. But Mr. Bryan has other issues, militarism and imperialism. Just think of the wonderful standing army we have in this country of 70,-000,000 inhabitants; 25,000 which can The mounted increased to 100,000 if necessary. "Just think of that menace to our

HE IS A MATCHLESS LEADER.

A. J. Colborn, Jr., Clerk of the United States Circuit Court, and recognized as one of the cleverest members of the Lackawanna bar, gave the following brief statement of his reasons for favoring the re-election of President McKinley yesterday to a Tribune man:

"I am for the re-election of President William McKinley, because he has shown that he is a perfect master of the economic problems which confront us. He has guided us out of the slough of financial disaster, when our credit was impaired and commerce was stagnant, up to the high and safe ground of national prosperity and financial

"Through all the delicate and trying events of the Spanish war, he stood firm, courageous and conservative, and under his matchless leadership we emerged triumphant, our national honor untarnished, our credit unassailed, and the equal devotion of every section of our country to the welfare of the republic cemented as it never had been +

"For the past thirty-five years there has not stood at the head of the government a truer patriot, a wiser or more courageous leader, or a better and nobler example of the highest type of American manhood, than President William McKinley. The industrial history of the United States for the past four years is the tribute to the wisdom of his judgment and his ability as a statesman.

"The same vigorous manhood and clear and patriotic vision animates him now as heretofore, and this gives confidence and trust to the people for the future of our republic, and they will once again say that his hand shall guide us, and his genius direct the affairs of this + nation for another four years."

Behind the band was the Union Lea-"I want it understood that the af-fairs of my office are conducted hon-estly and faithfully. The books are and marching with precision and we're going to be an empire if we fairs of my office are conducted hon-estly and faithfully. The books are and marching with precision and we're going to be an empire if we we're going to be an empire if we leave the Republican party in power. IN THE CARRIAGES.

Closely following was a carriage, containing among other notables, the celebrated John Davis, of Bellevue, resplendent in a silk hat and bearing in the dim light a resemblance to President McKinley. The Bellevue Republican club came next and was followed by the T. J. Reynolds Fifteenth Ward Republican club, headed by four standard bearers attired in Zouave uniforms. Then came the

Reynolds Glee club and the following Republican candidates: George M. Watson. J. H. Fellows, J. A. Scranton, W. R. Lewis, John Copeland, T. P. Daniels, Emil Bonn, W. K. Beck, T. J. Reynolds, John J. Scheuer, Jr., and Edward James, Jr. The first speaker of the evening was T. J. Reynolds, candidate for representative in the First district, who made a brief address. He reviewed the great prosperity of the McKinley administration, telling of the wonderful development of American industries in the last four years. "No silver tongued orator can change these facts," said

"No political theorist can change this.' Speaking of McKiniey he said: "President McKinley has proved himself to be worthy of the past and he is prophetic of the future. He has the audacity of genius and I consider him to be the greatest combination of heart and conscience to be found in this Evans.

country today." MR. HARRIS' TALK.

Mr. Reynolds was loudly cheered and was followed by John M. Harris, who made a most excellent address, riddling many of the Bryanistic arguments with facts and figures which cannot be contradicted. He quoted Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who in 1898 said that he thanked God for the McKinley administration, because of the tremendous industrial revolution that came as the result of it. Regarding the necessity of supporting the county ticket, he said:

"You must remember that you cannot trifle with the Republican ticket. If you want to make your vote effective you must vote the straight ticket You can't compromise. If you vote for McKinley you must vote for a congressman who is in smypathy with his administration and who will hold up his arm. The men whose names appear on the Republican local ticket are competent, clean and honest and need no following them came the Lawrence free institutions. Why, it isn't much larger than the combined police forces of a few of our large cities. He says grandest empire on the face of the globe and every citizen is an emperor, "Mr. Bryan, there is only one paramount issue with you and that is your desire of getting into the White House. Mr. Bryan says we are doing wrong in holding the Phlippine Islands. He says we've got to vote for him for the sake of an alien race thousands of adversity instead of prosperity at

"After our glorious war with Spain and after the Paris convention, when the treaty ceding the Philippine islands to us was before the United States senate, Mr. Bryan urged the Democratic senators to assist in its ratification that he might later make an issue of imperialism. He now comes out and opposes President McKinley for carrying out a treaty which he himself forced the Democratic senators to ratify.

"Under that treaty we sent our soldiers to the Philippines, where they have acquitted themselves honorably in protecting the flag of this country. Chairman A. A. I say no; the American people will never do that." Mr. Eyre succeeded in stirring up the crowd to great enthusiasm, but it remained for A. J. Colborn, Jr., to arouse the audience to its highest pitch. Among the many eloquent things he said were the following: "Not one patriotic citizen should vote for a man who tells you that human lives in the Philippine Islands would be safer under the proclamation of the tricky Aguinaldo than under the waving folds of Old Glory.

The members of the committee which received the speakers and candidates were: T. J. Gwynne, Charles Richards, D. J. Thomas, Francis Jones, T. J. Davis and John Richards. During the evening the T. J. Reynolds Glee club rendered several spirited selections, under the efficient leadership of John

QUINN CASE WAS RECALLED **₹

VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY TAKEN IN COURT.

Defendants Were Indicted for Murder and Also for Aggravated Assault and Battery-It Was in the Latter Case That the Verdict Was Taken-The Flannagans, Father and Son, Tried on a Charge of Keeping a Speakeasy - Action Taken in Other Cases.

The Quinn murder, which occurred in Carbondale during the summer o 1899, was recalled by a case called for trial yesterday. Thomas Gallagher was last winter convicted of the killing of Thomas Quinn, sr., and was sentenced to two and one-half years in the penitentiary. His brothers, Joseph and Thomas Gallagher, his mother, Annie Gallagher, and his grandmother, Bridget Dempsey, were also indicted for the killing, but were exonerated. They were also indicted for aggravated assault and battery at the instance of James P. Quinn, and it was this case which was called yesterday. A verdict of not guilty was taken, no evidence being offered. Fred Racht, one of the young mer who some time ago began a crusade against unlicensed liquor sellers at Carbondale and succeeded in getting himself indicted at the instance of Thomas H. Norton and Alexander Mc-Donald for blackmail, was returned not guilty in both cases and the county was directed to pay the costs. The jury having in charge the case against Stephen and Thomas Flannigan, father and son, was out when court adjourned. This was another of the cases instituted by the Men's union, who charged that the defendants conducted a speakeasy at 171' Luzerne street. Agents Wilson Huffling and Keene testified to having purchased beer and ale at the defendants' place on July 27 and 31 last They also described the place as fitted with all the appliances for carrying on the saloon business.

CHARGE DENIED. The defendants denied the charge absolutely, saying that they had no connection with the business carried on there, other than that the father owned the building. It appeared that in 1895 a license was granted to Stephen Flannigan, who stated that since that time he had rented the place to various tenants, the last one, who occupied it at the time in question, being Charles R. Harris.

The defendants also sought to show that on the dates when the place was visited by the witnesses for the commonwealth they were not present, the father having been in Olyphant attending to a sewer contract which he had in charge, and the son having been out driving during all of the afternoon and evening of the days in question. Attorneys F. M. Lynch and R. L. Levy were counsel for the defendants and Colonel Hitchcock and Frank E. Beers represented the prosecution. charged with the crime of malicious mischief by Bridget Kane, who was formerly the defendant's wife, who was divorced from him some four years ago. It seems that since the tinually harassed the prosecutrix and threatened to do her bodily injury. The defendant pleaded guilty. court sentenced him to pay $1 fine and

NICOLAS ON TRIAL.

Samuel Nicholas was put on trial for carrying concealed weapons. It miles away, even though we may have apepars that on April 28 the defendant was found with a deadly weapon upon his person. The employes of the Mt. Pleasant colliery were out on strike, and on the day in question a number of the strikers gathered in the locality of the mine. It is alleged that Nicholas drew a revolver and threatened the life of William Gouse. Nicholas testified that he had been warned that violence would be done him if he persisted in going to work, and that he feared for his safety and therefore carried the revolver. Nicholas was on the stand when court adjourned for the noon recess. The jury was out at adjourning hour. In the case of G. L. Falk, charged with selling liquor on Sunday, a nol pros. was entered upon payment of the costs. A verdict of not guilty was taken, county to pay the costs, in the case of Robert Moyles, charged with malicious mischief by Lavina Moyles, prosecutrix.

Michael Finn was returned not guilty of felonious attempt on John T. Boice. A verdict of not guilty was taken in the case against John J. Hughes, charged with embezzlement by C. A. Hargraves. A similar verdict was taken in the case of Josephine Bennett, charged with perjury. The county will pay the costs.

Joseph Milescheski was returned not guilty of a charge preferred by Brenna Mesneshki, and C. J. Quinn was returned not guilty of the charge of larceny by bailee preferred by August Schimpff. A verdict of not guilty was taken and the county was directed to pay the costs in the case of Steven Millio, charged with selling liquor without a license.

FIVE MORE RECRUITS. They Have Been Sent to the League

Island Navy Yard. Five more recruits for the marine corps left the city Tuesday for League Island, Philadelphia, from the local station. They were Kern Jackson and Charles Asa De Reiner, of Beaumont, Wyoming county: John Joseph Bolton and Homer Kent Howard, of this city, and Albert Moeser, of Buffalo, N. Y. The latter's father is an old soldier and was eager to have his boy wear the marines' uniform. This is the nearest recruiting station to Buffalo, and therefore he last week brought his son to this city, and after undergoing the examination Moeser, jr., was admitted to the service.

These recruits will receive instruction in their future duties at League Island. and after about three months' drill will be sent to Honolulu, the Philippines and Guam, to there do garrison duty. Work on shipboard is not entrusted to the "rookies," but is always looked after by the older hands.
