The D., L. and W. Company Objects to Them Around Station.

Alderman Millar is feeling considrably clated this week over a rulng made Saturday by Judge McClure n which he sustained the local magisrate's judgment in the case of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western ompany against Samuel Lewis, one n Alex. Paterson's draymen.

Several weeks ago Lewis was arested at the instance of Detective Seidman, of the Lackawanna, who accused him of trespassing on the company's promises by continually loiering about the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western station. The company is much anonyed by the cabmen and draymen, whose vehicles are always found standing near the station, and cabmen have been arrested of trespass. Alderman Millar fined Lewis $10 and costs, whereat through his attorney, he appeared the case, and Saturday afternoon it came up be-

Both Alderman Millar and the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western detective officials are pleased over this victory, and it is said that aggressive action will be taken against the cabmen and draymen who continue to give trouble.

GRIER WILL BE TRIED AGAIN

That Is the Statement Made by E. B. Sturges, the Prosecutor in the Gases Against Him.

JURY COULD NOT AGREE

After Being Out Since 3 O'clock Monday Afternoon the Jurors Yesterday Afternoon Reported to Judge Edwards That They Believed an Agreement Was Impossible and Were Discharged from Further Consideration of the Case-Mr. Sturges Belives That Two of the Jurors Were Seen in the Interest of the Defendant Before the Case Was Called for Trial.

The jury before whom Common Councilman James J. Grier was tried for taking and soliciting bribes for his official vote was unable to agree and yesterday afternoon at 4:30 Judge H. M. Edwards discharging the jurors from further consideration of the cas and without the customary thanks of the court. The jury stood seven for conviction and five for acquittal. It retired at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. After court opened in the morning the jurors filed into court and reported that it was impossible for them to reach an agreement and they asked to be discharged. Judge Edwards in replying to them said:

I have a communication from you, gentlemet of the jury, saying that you cannot agree in this case. I am very sorry that you are not able to agree. It took us seven or eight days to try the case, and it has been at consideron various occusions on the charge of trespass. Alderman Millar fined Lewis $10 and costs, whereat through bave to agree upon this case, if you fail to agree, and you seem to be twelve pretty intel-We think you ought to be able to dispose of this case and bring in a verdict. I do not feel warranted, on account of the turn taken in the rial of the ease, and the importance of it, in discharging you this morning. I will ask you again to retire and to use your best efforts to agree upon a verifiet. I decline to discharge you at present.

CALLED BEFORE THE COURT. The jurors were plainly disappointed, and Judge Edwards informed the attorneys that if an agreement was not reached by adjourning hour in the afternoon he would discharge them. At 4.30 he sent for the jurors and said:

on were this morning? Foreman Bachman We are not, your honor, think it is impossible for us to arrive at erdict. The court-Do you think there is a chance for you to agree if I keep you together for the balance of the week. Jury-I do not.

The court It is a great disappointment to the court, maybe to the parties, but certainly to the community, that you have not been able to agree upon a verdiet in this case. Of course recognize your right to your own judgments and I do not want to keep you together unles there is a prospect of an agreement one way or the other. If there is any member of the jury who thinks by keeping this jury together longer that they might agree I would like to

Juror-I don't think there is a possibility or us to agree the way we stand. The court-Well, I am very sorry that such a calamity has happened, that we will have to go all over this work again, but I take you word that it would not answer any useful pur keep you together any longer. I therefore discharge you from further consideration of

When the jurors first retired, they stood six to six. After a few ballots one of the jurors changed his mind and from that time on the jury stood seven for conviction and five for acquittal. The jurors were: Joseph Bachman, farmer, Gouldsboro; Earl Carpenter, huckster, North Abington: Thomas Holmes, clerk, Simpson: E. C. Hanson, laborer, LaPlume: James Harris, miner, Scranton; L. H. Holgate, student, LaPlume: Albert Johnson, plumber, Waverly; F. S. Kellogg, painter, Scranton; Chauncey Nonek, farmer, Madison; Jacob Stanton, farmer, West Abington; C. C. Williams, farmer, West Abington.

JURORS WERE SEEN. E. B. Sturges, the prosecutor of Mr. Grier and the leader in the present reform movement, was seen by a

Tribune man last night and asked to make a statement regarding the failure of the jury to agree. "I don't know that I have much to say," said he, "except that I know it again shows the need of a better class of jurymen and of more honest jury commissioners. I have information which leads me to believe that at least two of the jurymen were seen before hand. "In fact, when the trial was only one day old, we realized that we had very little chance of securing a conviction. One could see by the indif-ference of some of the jurors; by their inattention to the evidence, that they had been seen beforehand and were already decided which way they were o vote.

Mr. Sturges was asked whether the Brier case would be taken up at the next term of court or whether the cases against some of the other ten

"It's a little too early to tell that." said he. "The jury was discharged only this afternoon and we have had no meeting of the league yet, to discuss the matter. I think myself that the second case against Mr. Grier will be taken up next: "This is the case in which he is charged with accepting

"We would have tried this one first, but when we saw the panel of jurors we decided that it was better to take up the $40 case. Had we succeeded in securing a conviction in this case, with its mass of perjury and character witnesses, it would have had the effect of securing convictions in all the other cases, I believe. The cases against Grier are by far the most complicated. The others are simple.

ALL WILL BE TRIED. "You can say that we are not going to drop any of these cases. They are all to be tried and we are going to endeavor to the best of our ability to secure a conviction in every one of them." One of the afternoon papers yesterday announced that it was an open secret that Mr. Sturges would be a candidate for mayor at the next election. Referring to this statement, he said: "I have never said that I was a candidate for mayor and I don't in-tend to. The only office I want and the only office I will ever accept is the office of jury commissioner, because I believe that in that office I can best serve the interests of the people."

NO TRACE OF THEM YET.

Police Satisfied Two Men Were Engaged in Brady Theft.

The identity of the Brady diamond thieves still remains a mystery and in vain have the local police department striven to gain some clue as to the whereabouts of the mysterious burglars. The plural number can now be used, unadvisedly as Chief Robling is certain that the theft was the work of more than one man.

This was the police theory from the start and Tuesday night it received strong confirmation by the statement made to Chief Robling by the coachman of Thomas H. Watkins, who lives on Monroe avenue, not far from the home of Mr. Simpson. The coachman was walking on Monroe avenue Monday evening when his attention was attracted by a dark form at the front window on the second floor of the Simpson residence. At the corner of Olive street and Monroe avenue stood another man, who was looking up at the window. The spectator's curiosity was not aroused by the sight, as he thought the man at the window was one of the household servants and that the man below was some friend. He was unable to judge from the position of the man at the window whether he was entering the house or making his exit. This occurred at exactly 6:20 o'clock.

As the theft was disclosed about 6:30 o'clock it is reasonable to sunpose that the burglar was then leaving the house. This method of stationing a confederate below the window to watch if anyone is approaching, is the usual modus operandi of this class of law breakers who are known as the "porch thieves" and are regarded by the police as one of the most dangerous, clever and clusive class of criminals in the country.

Y. W. C. A. STATE CONVENTION. Delegates from This City Who Will Attend Reading Meeting.

The annual gatherings of the Young Women's Christian Associations of the state are always interesting meetings. They are not such large conventions that the personality of members is lost, but the acquaintances formed are a pleasant feature. Considerable time is given to informal discussion of practical topics, where many leading workers take part and this exchange of ideas is most stimulating. This week the convention occurs at Reading, opening Thursday with an address of welcome by Mr. C. H. Ruhl. Dr. Erdman, of Germantown, is the speaker Thursday evening, Mrs. Margaret Sangster, one of the most pleasing and helpful speakers for young women, speaks Friday evening; and Robert Speer one of the brightest and most carnest young men, gives the address Saturday evening. Miss Mary S. Dunn, one of the National secretaries of the Y. W. C. A. speaks Sunday evening. Miss Irvine, of Pittsburg, a returned missionary from India, gives a missionary address Saturday afternoon. Daily Bible studie sare part of the convention. The Reading association gives the delegates a ride to Mt. Penn Friday afternoon, and serves a tea at their new Y. W. C. A. building, Scranton delegates are Mrs. George Merrill, Mrs. J. R. Peck, Mrs. John Scheuer, Misses Ethelyn Wilcox, Esther Rowlands and Helena Clark, Mrs. W. T. Hackett, Mrs. F. S. Godfrey and others. Mrs. H. J. Carr and Mrs. L. M. Gates, of the state committee, will attend. Other friends will be welcome and may have privilege of reduced rates by calling at Y. W. C. A. rooms for railroad card orders. Most of Scranton delegates use C R. of N. J., going by way of Allentown, leaving at 8.35 a. m., or 1.20 p. A few prefer the D. & H. to Wilkes-Barre and Lehigh Valley to Reading.

SEVEN BOYS ARRESTED.

Accused of Tampering with Cars at Mifflin Avenue Switch.

Seven boys were arrested before Alderman Miller yesterday afternoon or the charge of tampering with cars of the D. L. & W. railroad company, at the Mufflin avenue switch. They were arrested at the instance of Detective ike Seidman, who alleges that the lads on various occasions ran the cars down grade, and off the tracks. Robert Calvin and Rover Swisner of Penn avenue, and Lewis Smith, Frank Condon, Thomas Loveland, and Thomas Sampson, the last named colred, were the boys arrested. oldest of them is fourteen years of age and the youngest but nine. the hearing Robert Swishe turned state's evidence and testified to having Saturday seen young Samp son pushing one of the cars off the track, and loosening the brakes. The alderman fined each of the young pris oners $5, whereat there was much vailing and lamentation and copious shedding of tears among the youth ful offenders.

The Lackawanna company has been much annoyed by the boys tampering with the cars at the switch, as there s danger of their being thrown over the embankment, when sent rapidly down the grade. The boys, too, are likely to be injured.

PARADE OF THE

ANNUAL INSPECTION TOOK PLACE YESTERDAY.

Excellent Showing Made by the Fire and Police Departments as They Marched in Review Past Mayor Moir and Other City Officials. The Mayor's Compliment-Marvellous Exhibition Given by the William Connell Life Saving Corps on the Raub Building.

What was perhaps the last parade f Scranton's volunteer fire departmen took place yesterday afternoon and was witnessed by large throngs of peo ple. Whether or not it will be the last parade depends very much upon what common council does with Select Councilman C. E. Chittenden's ordinance providing for a re-organization of the fire department and incidentally for the disbanding of the present volunteer force.

In addition to the parade of the fire men there was the annual inspection and parade of the city's small but efficient police force and a marvelous exhibition by the Life Saving corps of the William Connell Hose company. Taking everything into consideration it was one of the most successful firemen's days in the history of this city. The members of the various companies formed on Washington avenue between Lackawanna avenue and Vine street before the starting of the parade and after being lined up were inspected by Mayor Moir who drove down the line in a carriage with City Controlled Esdras Howell, City Treasurer E. J. Robinson and City Solicitor A. A. Vosburg. The mayor rode in this carriage near the head of the line and it was followed by several others containing many of the other city officials and councilmen.

MARCHERS REVIEWED.

When the parade had nearly reached the municipal building these carriages were detached and the mayor and others were hurriedly driven on ahead that they might take a stand in front of the city hall and review the parade A start was made at 2:30 o'clock when the procession turned into Lackawanna avenue from Washington. The line of march extended out Lackawanna as far as Eighth street, countermarch to Adams avenue, to Pine street, to Washington avenue, past city hall to Lackawanna, where the parade disbanded.

The parade was headed, as all good parades should be headed, by mounted officers Burke and Bloch, resplendent in their yellow trimmed uniforms and campaign hats. Behind them came Bauer's band leading the city's police force. Chief Frank Robling, Jr., walked at the head of his men and behind him came Lieutenant John Davis, followed by thirty-five of the forty-six policemen.

They were in full dress uniform long coats, belts, parade clubs and white gloves-and they marched with an erectness of bearing and a precision that would have done credit to a company of regular army soldiers. Behind the four lines of policemen followed the patrol wagon driven by Sergeant Ridgeway.

CHIEF ON FOOT. Chief Zizleman headed the fire department on foot, walking just in front of the following five assistant chiefs: James E. Birtley, Harry Greenwood, Charles Simrell, D. J. Slowe and M. F. Gerrity. The chief came in for a good share of applause, all along the line of march, but he was too modest to believe that the cheering was meant for him and walked along without a look to the right or to the left. The first company in line the Franklin Engine company, of West Scranton, headed by the Citizens' band. The men wore long blue coats with white helmets and marched ust ahead of their newly-altered hose cart and steamer. On the smoke stack of the latter was perched a fullsized rooster, apparently crowing with delight at the splendid appearance made by the company. The Nay Aug Engine company ame next, accompanied by its own frum corps in their natty uniforms of white and yeliow and headed by lke Brown, the colored ex-permanent man, who is considered one of the best fire fighters in the city and who carried proudly the company's banner. The members of the company work their parade uniforms of blue, with helmets, and marched in a sinwhite gle, even line, which stretched from curb to curb.

LIBERTYS IN LINE.

Following the Nay Augs came th Libertys, of North Scranton, with heir remodelled hose wagon and be find them were the Crystals in their fawn-colored uniforms, marching with their steamer and hose carriage The first of the South Scranton companies to appear was the Nepunes, who were headed by the Ringgold band, and who wore blue frock oats, with blue hats to match. They had their steamer in line and also the "Shoofly" hose carriage used many years ago in the Delaware. Lackawanna and Western shops. The good natured face of Councilman Fred Phillips, with its perennial smile, was to be seen in the front rank of this ompany. The Neptunes were followed by the Relief and General Phinney comnanies, both of which had very few nen in line, the appearance presented by those who did march being highly creditable, however. These two companies were followed by the Niagaras, who have lately moved into their new hose house and whose apparatus has ately been put in splendid condition. St. Peter's Drum corps, from Belle view, was next in line, and it made one of the hits of the parade. It is composed of boys ranging in age from 10 to 16 years, all attired in white trousers, with flowing scarlet blouses, and all possessed of the ability to play the drum and fife. They headed the Eagle Engine company. who wore their parade uniforms

The men wore light brown suits and caps and presented a very neat appearance. The Excelsiors were next, with their
