MALONE WANTS HIS THREE THOUSAND

Sewer Contractor Insists That His Certified Check Be Returned, but City Solicitor Says No.

The city is going to be involved in another difficulty before long. This time it is going to be about a certified check for $3,000, which accompanied a bid of R. Malone, of Lancaster, for the construction of the big sewer in the Fifth, Sixth, Fifteenth and Eighteenth wards.

Mr. Malone's bld was the lowest and he was awarded the contract about a month ago. At the last meeting of select council a letter from him was read, informing councils of the fact that he was unable to take the contract and requesting that the certified check for $3,000, which accompanied his bid, be returned. The members of select council referred the communication to the city solicitor, asking for an opinion. Yesterday Mayor Moir was surprised to receive another letter from Mr. Malone, who appeared to be very angry that his declared that he would compel the city to return it. He declared that he had not been officially notified of the award of the contract to himself.

City Solicitor Vosburg had an opinion and an accompanying resolution ready for presentation to common council last night, had that body met. In the opinion he announced that the city has an unquestioned right to retain the check, Mr. Malone having no right to withdraw his bid.

He suggested that it would be necessary for councils to pass a new ordinance providing for this sewer and repealing the old one. As the liens under the old ordinance are about to be filed at a cost of over $1,000, and as it would be useless expense to file them if a new ferman Howe for the arrest of John Perlin, his Ordinance is to be introduced, the resolution which he suggests passing is one savage dog which, on Oct. 16, bit his (Schlentz') directing him not to file these liens unless a contract is executed before the time limit for the filing of them ex-

LOT OF NEW COUNCILMEN

REPRESENTATION AS A SECOND CLASS CITY.

Mayor Moir Believes That Common Council Should Take Steps at Once to Arrange a Basis of Representation and Will So Advise-Under the Second Class City Law There Will Be Forty Members in the Common Council-Will Probably Be Elected in the Spring.

One of the biggest problems to be met In the transition of Scranton from a city of the third class to a city of the second class is the augmentation of the ommon council to a membership of

Mayor Moir believes that the necessary preliminary steps should be taken FUNERAL SERVICES at once, and will send in a communication at the next meeting of that branch, recommending that immediate action be taken. He believes that it is of the utmost importance that the basis of representation should be fixed in order that the proclamation for the spring election may include provisions for the election of the extra common councilmen. There are two acts of assembly which over the basis of representation in the common council in cities of the second class. The first act is the one passed in 1871. It provides that there shall be one common councilman to every 576 taxables in each ward, or if there are more than that number, one for every 576 and for any fractional part over three-fifths of that number.

The second act is one passed in 1891 and is generally conceded to take the place of the earlier act, though it does not repeal it. It provides that the assessors shall return once ever four years a complete list of the taxables of every ward; that the total of all the wards shall be added together and divided by forty, the quotient to be the ratio of representation.

FIGURES DO NOT EXIST. There does not exist now a compile tion of the total number of taxables in every ward. A very fair general idea can be gained from the total number of people assessed for occupation in 1990. This number is 24,175. This would fix the basis of representation at 605.

Figuring on this basis for every ward and allowing one councilman for 605 taxables, for every additional 605 taxables and for any fractional part over three-fifths remaining, the number of commoners would be as follows: First, 3; Second, 3; Third, 1; Fourth, 3; Fifth, check had not been returned and who 3; Sixth, 1; Seventh, 1; Eighth, 2; Ninth, 2: Tenth, 1: Eleventh, Twelfth, 1; Thirtcenth, 2; Fourteenth, 2: Fifteenth, 2: Sixteenth, 2: Seventeenth, 2: Eighteenth, 1: Nineteenth

3: Twentieth, 2: Twenty-first, 1: total, 40 members. The above allotment of councilmen may be said to be correct, inasmuch as wherever the remainder was within twenty or thirty of three-fifths of 605, an extra councilman was allowed on the estimate that the additional number of taxables not taxed for occupation would bring the number up to the requisite three-fifths.

Forty councilmen comes within two of being double the number at present in the common branch, and it may be a serious proposition to find seating room for this number in the common council chamber which is at presen pretty well filled up with twenty-one

COMMITTEE TO DO IT. The mayor's idea is to have a committee appointed by common council to establish this basis of representation. The act of assembly provides that such a committee shall consist of three common councilmen and two members of the select council.

They are to compile a list of all the axables in the city from the assessment books of the last year and then proceed to carefully figure out the exact number of councilmen to be elected from each ward.

The mayor says that under the second-class city law the common council really becomes the most important branch of the city government by virtue of its numbers.

OVER MRS. SCRANTON

Conducted by Rev. James McLeod, D. D., at the Residence, Madison Avenue and Vine Street.

The funeral of Mrs. Joseph A. Scranton was very largely attended vesterday afternoon. The family residence, at Madison avenue and Vine street, was crowded by friends, impelled thither by more than perfunctory respect, for every face bore the expression of grief from which not all the shadow of shocked sensibilities at the sudden visitation of sorrow, had vanished.

The casket was in the beautiful Empire drawing-room, every detail of which seemed so fitted with the personallty of the dead mistress, whose friends for the first time crossed her threshold with no joyous welcome from her lips. Surrounded by the flowers she had loved, she lay as if asleep, no wasting illness leaving its traces on the face which went smiling, and never frowning, through the world.

The brief services were conducted by Rev. Dr. James McLeod, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. He spoke as follows: The hopes that cluster around the cross and the open tomb of our adorable Redeemer are the only hopes that sustain and comfort Christians when they come to bury their dead out of their sight. It is a joyful gospel truth that those who fall asteep in Jesus will awake in glory. This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. Christians have this hope in their death. As surely as Jesus died and rose again, so surely shall all who fall asleep in Him rise to glory, honor, immortality and everlasting blessedness. This is the truth that robs death of its sting, and the grave of its victory,

At such a time as this it is only natural that tears should fall, and that the bereaved ones should feel and express their heartfelt grief. But in the midst of their deepest sorrow and of their fast-falling tears, it is the privilege of Christians to look through their tears far away beyond the sighing and the weeping to that holy, happy home where there are no tears, and where sickness, and pain, and sorrow and sighing are unknown, and where death itself is dead. If Mrs. Scranton could now speak I am sure she would say: "Don't culogize me." She would acquiesce in this statement, that, concerning the dead: One who needs an eulogy does not deserve it, and one who deserves an eulogy does not need it. But, nevertheless, I think she would permit me to say a few words about her as a wife, and as a mother, and as a Chrisis but truth to say that the heart of her husband did safely trust in her, and that she did him good and not evil all the days of her life. She stretched out her hand to the poor, and she reached forth her hands to the needs looked well to the ways of her household and she did not eat the bread of idleness. Her love and her solicitude for her children were full of motherly and Christian loving kindness. They have good reason to arise up and call her they have good reason to arise up and call her blessed. Her husband, also, has abundant reason to praise her. During the many years that he represented this city and county in the halls of congress she was his wife and faithful counsellor and helper.

For the long period of forty years she was member of the church of which it is my privi-lege to be the pastor. She remembered be 'reator in the days of her youth. She realized ier need of a Saviour, and, humbly confessing ier sius, she bloked to the Lord Jesus Christ for pardon and peace and eternal life. Then, when young, she planted her feet firmly on the Rock of Ages, and until the day of her death she regarded all other ground as sinking sand. The Women's Missionary societies, of which she was so valuable a member, and in the worl of which she, in recent years, took so active a part, will greatly miss her. When she tool charge of one of these meetings she familiarized berself with the topic and presented it with ad-nirable fact and clearness.

Her death was sudden, but, for the Christian sudden death is sudden glory. It is not tar from earth to heaven. It requires but little time to reach those celestial seats. This moment here so low; the next beyond the stars. Surrounded by loved ones, this Christian wife and mothal and friend tell peacefully in sleep.

"Without a sigh, A change of feature, or a shaded smile, She gave her hand to the stern messenger; And, as a glad child seeks a father's arms.

Went home Blessed be the God and Father of Our Lord lesus Christ, which, according to His abundan mercy, lath begotten us again unto a lively hope, by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible and defiled and that fadeth not away. At the conclusion of Dr. McLeod's remarks, John T. Watkins sang "Rock of Ages," and Rev. Dr. N. G. Parke, of West Pittston, made the closing prayer. The interment was private in the Dunmore cemetery. Funeral Director Price was in charge. The pallbearers were: W. H. Perkins, Matthews, James Archbald, G. L. Dickson, T. F. Penman, Frederic Fuller and A. E. Hunt.

Among the out-of-town friends present were: Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Rode. wald, of New York: John P. Malin, Philadelphia: Miss Meylert, Philadel phina: Mrs. Newton Bates, of New York: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Claston, Plainfield, N. J.; Miss Voris, of Lewisburg, and Lewis Seymour, Bingham-

REVOKING OF THE LICENSES

COURT HAS TAKEN UP CONSID-ERATION OF MATTER.

By Agreement Rules Were Discharged Yesterday in a Number of Cases Where Saloonkeepers Lived Up to Their Agreement Not to Sell on Sunday-Testimony Heard in the Case of O'Connor & Walsh. Other Matters That Came Up in Argument Court.

In argument court yesterday the consideration of the rules obtained by he Men's union against liquor dealers who it is alleged were guilty of selling on Sunday was taken up.

The fellowing rules to revoke lienses were discharged by agreement: James R. Hughes, Seventh ward; Patrick J. Mangan, Fourteenth ward; Isaac J. Evans, Fourth ward; Fred Durr, Eighth ward: Michael J. Fahey. Fourth ward: Thomas Cosgrove, Foureenth ward: Thomas J. Hayden, Sixcenth ward: Ellen Evans, Fourteenth ward; John J. Morris, Eighth ward; E. J. Horn, Eighth ward; James J. Kelly, Thirteenth ward: Richard P. Halligan, Second ward: Peter Zeigler, Eighth ward; Burke and Fadden Eighth ward; Frances Hutler, Eigth

The Men's union agreed to the dis harge of the rules in these cases for the following reasons: When the movement to prevent the selling of iquor on Sunday was began rules were entered upon the above to show cause why their licenses should not be revoked for violating the law by selling on Sunday. This was some time last May. The rules were set down for argument at the June term. but before they came up for consideration an agreement was entered into between the Men's union and the liquor dealers to the effect that if the matter of the revocation of the licenses was not pressed they would keep their places closed on Sunday and at all times on Sundays and election days would give the agents of the Men's union free access to their places to enable them to see whether or not the law was being observed.

THEY WENT OVER

On this agreement which was signed by about all the licensed dealers of the city the Men's union agreed to the continuance of the rules at the June term until the present term, it being understood if the liquor dealers showed their sincerity by keeping closed during this period of probation the rules would be discharged. The Men's union was induced to take this course by the fact that when the rules were entered these saloon keepers were merely following the general practice of selling on Sunday and were in a sense taken by surprise The object of the union was to have the law obeyed rather than to injure the law breakers.

Since then a number of other rules have been secured to revoke licenses. and the attorneys for the Men's union announced yesterday that in these cases there will be no compromise for the saloon men had abundant notice that the movement to prevent selling on Sunday was in progress and for the further reason that most of them had agreed to keep their places closed on Sunday. The first case argued yesterday was against O'Connor & Walsh, who run a hotel at 218 Lackawanna avenue. They were among the saloon men against whom rules were set down for argunent at the June term. Instead of ceaping their place closed, it is alleged they continued to sell on Sunday and for this reason the Men's union is pressing for a decision on this rule. When the hearing began vesterday afternoon. Colonel F. L. Hitchcock, Attorney J. H. Torrey and Attorney F. E. Beers appeared for the Men's union and Attorney Joseph O'Brien and Attorney George S. Horn for O'Connor & Walsh.

THE TESTIMONY. Robert Wilson, agent for the Men's mion, testified that on Sunday, May 13, with three other detectives for the union, he visited O'Connor & Walsh's saloon and they bought and paid for beer, whiskey, ale and porter. There were twenty-two other men drinking in the place at the time. On Sunday, June 24, they went to the place again but O'Connor was at the door and would not let them in. Witness go his foot across the door jam, however, which prevented it from being closed and he saw a number of men at the bar drinking. The testimony of Wilson was corroborated by James Reed, George West and Arthur Keene, other agents of the union. No evidence was offered on the part of O'Connor & Walsh, and the case was not argued on either side

The court took the papers. Rules to show cause why the licenses of the following should not be voked will be considered today: John Lisk, Eighth ward; Albert Buchta, Second ward: J. S. McCabe and Martin O'Connor, Eighth ward: E. B. Fish, Eighth ward; Peter Ross, Fourteenth word: George Wuench, Fourteenth ward; Patrick F. Gerrity, Eighth ward; Edward J. Jifkins, Pighth ward; Jennie E. Brink, Sixth ward, Dunmore: Flora Johnson, Six-teenth ward: Joseph Cerdzenis, Throop borough: George Waliko, Second ward, Dunmore.

OTHER MATTERS.

Attorney Cornelius Smith made another effort yesterday to have his case against the Scranton Gas and Water company certified to another court for trial, but failed, as on the day before. During his argument he made one of his customary attacks on the judges. One of the interesting cases argued was that of George Cooper against the City of Scranton, a rule to strike of: non-suit. The case was tried at the last term of common pleas.

A rule absolute was granted in the ease of the Commonwealth against James D. Palmoth, rule to remit costs. Argument was heard in the case of the Commonwealth against Joseph W. Herbert, rule to show cause why order of court shall not be reinstated.
