

DONATION DAY AT THE HOME

THOSE WHO REMEMBERED THAT INSTITUTION.

It Was the Seventeenth Annual Donation Day of the Home for the Friendless, and as is the Usual Custom the Annual Dinner of the Managers Was Held—A New Departure Was the Delightful Entertainment Which Was Given Last Night—Donation List.

The seventeenth annual donation day of the Home for the Friendless was one which will long be remembered. The way in which it was celebrated is unique in the records of the Home. The usual reception of gifts was held all day long, and the remembrances were many and valuable. The evening was, however, the feature of the occasion, for it was the first time when an attempt had been made to have an entertainment when friends outside, as well as the family, could be in the audience.

Mrs. E. T. Chamberlin, chairman of the finance committee, had the matter in charge and the results were a great success. The verandas were attractively decorated with festoons of Japanese lanterns, while within the spacious rooms were made beautiful by gorgeous autumnal decorations, the rich hues of oak branches, mingled with the tropical effect of palms and still further brightened by cut flowers, presented by kind friends.

IN THE EVENING.

Fully 300 persons were present during the evening. Mrs. W. D. Kennedy and many managers assisted in receiving. Miss Ross, of Troy, N. Y., gave a fine programme of readings. She is extremely versatile and has a most attractive personality. Her readings were largely of a humorous character and greatly delighted the assembly.

Miss Cordelia Freeman sang several solos in the finished artistic fashion so characteristic of this gracious young lady. Her accompaniments were rendered by Miss Blackman.

Daniel Jones was of great assistance in contributing chairs and in personal attendance. The Scranton Railway company is also to be thanked for courtesies.

About $64 was realized from the entertainment. The beginning of the affair started out in gloom, as the electric lights went out just as people were arriving. The candles used in the lanterns were utilized and a soft dimness reigned over all the guests peering inquiringly about in vain effort to recognize each other and the officials of the institution. Later, however, the electricity came on and gave opportunity for an inspection of the building.

The little children, allowed to stay up for once in their lives to the representative hour of 9:30, were seen in the various stages of sleepy preparations for bed, while the eighteen babies, asleep in their cribs, made a pretty picture. The old ladies probably enjoyed the affair more than any one else, and their happy faces made a pleasant memory.

ANNUAL DINNER.

As usual, donation day was made the occasion of the annual dinner of the managers. It was a less merry event than this day than heretofore, for all present were saddened by the pervading thought of the death of Mrs. J. A. Seranton, who was a life member and ever a devoted friend of the Home. Many of the managers hastened away to attend the funeral and later when flowers were sent from the house of mourning to add brightness to this day of the year at the Home, there were many to remember with tear-dimmed eyes the friend thus departed.

The following gifts were received, and it may be stated that further donations will be gladly welcomed today:

JOHN SHERMAN LAID AT REST

President McKinley Among the Attendants at the Services Held at Mansfield, Ohio.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Mansfield, O., Oct. 25.—John Sherman, statesman, was laid in his final resting place here this afternoon. Simple were the ceremonies, marked only by the presence of the long friends, including President McKinley, and by the profusion of flowers. Between the hours of 11 a. m. and 2 p. m., while the casket lay before the white-decked altar of the Grace Episcopal church, where Sherman worshipped as a youth, and up the narrow aisles of which, through long years, he trod as vestryman, thousands of persons passed before the catafalque, paying their last tribute to their fellow townsman. Every business house was draped in mourning, churches were all open, the streets were thronged with thousands when at 10:20 o'clock the special train arrived from Washington bearing the body of former Secretary of State Sherman. Forty-two members of Sherman's brigade, survivors of that famous body, armed and accoutred for service in the "Civil War" by John Sherman, stood with bared heads beside the funeral car.

Mayor Brown assisted President McKinley to alight. Secretary of War Root, Secretary Cortelyou, Judge Day, formerly secretary of state, and others accompanied the president. All uncovered and fell back as the casket was removed to a hearse. Then President McKinley, Secretary Root, Secretary Cortelyou and Congressman Kerr, of this city, entered a carriage which, followed by the hearse, led the way for the procession to the Grace church. Between lines of the men of Sherman's brigade and veterans of the Spanish war without even the muffled beats of the drum, the cortege passed slowly up Diamond, Fifth, Main and Third streets to the church. Rev. A. B. Putnam conducted the last rites. The services which began at 2 o'clock were short and simple.

There was no formal sermon, only the simple ritualistic service of the Episcopal church. "Lead, Kindly Light" was sung by the surbeled choir. Eight policemen bore the casket to the hearse, followed by the honorary pallbearers, General Nelson A. Miles, P. T. Sherman, Alfred W. Hoyt, William McComb, Charles W. Sherman, Colonel Gate Hoyt, John Sherman Hoyt and Frank B. Wiborg. To the Mansfield cemetery, a mile distant, the procession moved, led by the carriage containing President McKinley and party. It passed beneath a massive arch of black across Main street, near the soldiers' and sailors' monument and between lines of people extending the entire distance. At the cemetery the last words were pronounced, the casket bearing on a silver plate these words:
John Sherman, May 10, 1822,
Oct. 22, 1900.

was sealed and placed in the Sherman mausoleum.
Among the mourners who followed the dead statesman to his last resting place were three men who served as delegates to the convention at Shelby, O., which nominated Sherman for his first term in congress.

MR. CLEVELAND SURPRISED.
Does Not See Why He Should Be Continually Asked to Define His Position.
By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Princeton, N. J., Oct. 25.—In conversation with a representative of the Associated Press today, ex-President Cleveland said:
"I am surprised that my opinions and intentions as related to the pending canvass should at this stage so suddenly be deemed important. I am daily and nightly sought out by newspaper representatives and plied with all sorts of questions, some of which seem quite senseless. If in good nature I say a few harmless words, they are so padded before publication as to be unrecognizable; or are made the pretext for utterly unauthorized presumptions."
"It seems to me that my situation ought to be sufficiently understood and appreciated by thoughtful friends to justify in their minds my determination to remain silent during this exceptional and distressing campaign."

CONFERENCE AT MANSFIELD.
By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Mansfield, O., Oct. 25.—During their short stay in this city, to attend the funeral of ex-Senator John Sherman, President McKinley and Senator Hanna held a long conference at the home of Congressman Kerr preceding the hour set for the ceremonies at the church. The president left shortly after the funeral by special train for Canton, and Senator Hanna, accompanied by Major Lodge, returned to Chicago.

NO QUORUM ONCE AGAIN

COMMONERS AFRARD OF THE MAYOR'S VETO.

When Roll Was Called There Were Only Ten on Hand, Though Three Others Had Shown Up Before. Didn't Have Necessary Fourteen Votes to Pass Resolution Settling Claims of ex-Patrolmen Over Mayor's Head—No Meeting for General Business in Four Weeks.

Enough members of the common council were present in the municipal building at one time last night to constitute a quorum, but no meeting was held, because when Clerk Lynott called the roll two had departed and a third was out in the hall.

The trouble was about Mayor Moir's veto of the resolution directing a settlement of the claims of ex-patrolmen. Dyer and Saul against the city. The resolution has been passed over his veto in select council and has now been in the hands of common council for three weeks.

A consultation was held and it was at first decided to meet and skip the fourth order of business, under which head the veto would come up. Messrs. Nagell and Phillips had already departed and just as Clerk Lynott opened his book to call the roll, Mr. Godshall, the eleventh member, arose and took his departure out into the hall.

MONUMENT TO BE UNVEILED.

Governor Stone and Staff Expected to Be Present.

Arrangements are being made by the Grand Army posts for the ceremonies in connection with the unveiling of the soldiers' and sailors' monument on court house square, which will probably occur on Thursday, Nov. 8.

STRIKING RIOTERS ARE REMANDED TO JAIL.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Pottsville, Oct. 25.—The Omaha striking rioters, Thomas Harver, George Tomshik, Mike Callahan and Jacob Reinmeyer, after a habeas corpus hearing were remanded to jail by Judge Margo to answer the charge of the murder of Ralph Mills, of Beaver Meadows, and directed that Stephen Grogoski, Frank A. Rich, John Hoffer, Bertie Horilla, Charles Bostich, Jacob Foger and Stephen Terrook be admitted to bail in $1,000 each for being involved in the murder and the same amount each for assault and battery with intent to kill George Kellner.

PUDDLERS' WAGES REDUCED.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Altoona, Oct. 25.—The puddlers at Altoona iron works were paid today that their wages would be reduced from $125 to $85 per ton after November 1. The wages of the muck roll hands will be also reduced after that date. Reduction in price of puddling and decline in price of bar iron are given as reasons for the cut.
