HIGH SCHOOL BEAT KEYSTONE

FACTORYVILLE TEAM DOWNED BY LOCALS.

The Game Was a Pretty One, and Full of Brilliant Plays—Weissenhuh's 55 Yard Run and Tropp's Dash for a Touchdown Were the Features—Columbia Scored on Yale and the Carlisle Indians Gave Harvard a Terrible Scare—Penn's Great Victory Over Chicago.

In one of the prettiest and cleanest games of the season the Scranton High school eleven Saturday afternoon met and downed the team representing Keystone academy. The Factoryville boys were outclassed by the local players who tore their line to pieces, and who on the defense stoutly resisted the attacks of the Academy backs.

Keystone used a close, swinging formation throughout the game and the only time that it proved at all effective was towards the end of the second half when several short gains through the line aided by a long run by Beers, put the ball dangerously near the High school goal.

Then the Scranton boys took a brace and held their opponents for four downs. There were many pretty individual plays, the High school, however, excellent. The work of Left Tackle Weissenhuh and Captain Gene Tropp was magnificent. Tropp giving a splendid exhibition of end running, while Weissenhuh backed the line in a way which was as hairy as any seen in the school rosters present, and which also tasted like a beverage known as wormwood to the few loyal enthusiasts who came down from Factoryville with their eleven.

Time after time the High school's big manager's signal was given and he projected himself against the line in a manner which caused the Academy line men to go down like small boys.

The two prettiest plays of the day were made by Tropp and Weissenhuh in the first half. It was High school's ball on Keystone's 40-yard line, and Tropp gave his own signal. Back came the ball and the captain of the Gold and Blue seized it and dashed quickly around right end. Excellent interference formed and he did not raise until he touched the oval to the ground squarely behind the Keystone posts.

After Tropp kicked his goal Factoryville then kicked off and Van Gorder caught the ball and ran about five yards with it. He then dexterously passed it to Weissenhuh, who charged up the field like a mad bull, brushing a man out of the way here, and jumping a tackler there, and not stopping till viciously tackled after a 55-yard run. Van Gorder, the new High school tackle, put up a splendid game, and the same may be said of Phillips, Vaughan and Etwood. Haag and Strong, the two Keystone ends, played a strong game and their hard, fast tackling prevented High school's score from assuming larger proportions.

One peculiar feature of the game was the fact that not a punt was made all afternoon. It would have benefited both teams to have played the kicking game.

SECOND TOUCHDOWN. High school scored its second touchdown about five minutes after the second half opened. Long runs by Phillips and Tropp and a succession of plunges by Weissenhuh, bringing the ball to the Keystone posts and Weissenhuh taking it over. The line up:

Games on College Gridirons. A grand victory was scored by Pennsylvania over Chicago Saturday afternoon. The Quaker players overwhelping the westerners by the score of 41-0. Penn won out by straight, clean tactics and by tearing the Chicagoans' heavy line to pieces, scored six touchdowns. Captain Harlan kicked all six goals and in addition kicked a goal from the field on placement from the twenty-yard line. Sheldon, the Chicago quarterback, did great work and by splendid tackling saved his side a couple of touchdowns.

At Harvard there was gloom Saturday night. A haze of melancholy hung over Cambridge and gave a look of pensive sorrow to the lofty-browed devotees of John Harvard. And eleven big-shouldered, straight-haired, savvy-looking aborigines from Carlisle were the cause of it all. Led by their coach, "Pop" Warner, they met the Harvard boys and though downed 17-5, still played hard with their opponents throughout the first half and the entire game with about 15 minutes from the end, when a long run by Korman for a touchdown gave poor Leo so exceedingly that he dropped his head and his topknot waved sadly in the breeze as Harvard scored another touchdown and clinched the game. "The Cambridge men felt very much grieved, however, at being scored on, and the inability throughout the game of the Carlson line to stand the Indians' fierce plunging causes much apprehension for the coming game with Pennsylvania.

Columbia, after being beautifully walloped by Harvard and Penn, gave Yale a neat little surprise by holding the Blue down to twelve points and scoring five. Yale scored both touch-

INDUSTRIAL JOTTINGS.

Telegraphers of Lackawanna Meet to Consider Remedies for Certain Grievances They Have. A meeting was held in Raub's hall, on Wyoming avenue, Saturday night, at which between thirty and forty telegraph operators of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company were present, and discussed various grievances entertained against the company.

The majority of the operators present were from out of the city and represented the telegraphers of the entire Lackawanna system. As a result of the meeting, committees were appointed to lay their grievances before the division superintendents. These complaints are divided into the following three classes: Shorter hours, seniority rights, and more pay.

Seniority rights was the main issue at the meeting and a large number of instances were cited to show where young operators were promoted over the heads of experienced employees, whose hair had silvered while they were in the company's employ. The other complaints are subordinate to this, and the grievance committees were appointed to straightway wait upon the division superintendents and not receiving satisfaction there, for the general grievance committee to wait upon General Superintendent Clark.

Superintendent Clark, when seen yesterday by a Tribune man, expressed himself as being utterly ignorant or as being entertained by the operators against the company. Nor was he aware of the fact that a general meeting had been held, until he was shown an article which appeared in a Sunday paper referring to the matter. He read it over carefully, and then said:

"Well, this is the first I've heard of any dissatisfaction among the men, and yet I have received no official notification, and to the best of my knowledge none of the division superintendents have as yet been waited upon by any committees. Now, as to these grievances, these desired seniority rights have already been offered the operators, and it rests with themselves alone whether or not they shall be in effect. The men on this road are not accustomed to any regular line of promotion, when I first became general superintendent I sent out a circular to all the agents and operators, with a printed list of questions, such as: 'How long have you been in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company's service?' 'Do you desire any change from your present position?' etc. The object of this was to arrange a line of promotion, with the older employees, of course, given first chance.

"Now, the majority of answers received were negative. The men, I found, who were assigned to a station some years ago had settled down, perhaps married, and were perfectly content. When offered another station, at a higher salary, which would necessitate their moving away, they almost invariably declined it, and expressed themselves as of the opinion that they were better off as they were. The company now has this list of agents and operators, and is at any time willing to arrange a line of promotion.

"As regards the pay question, I see the statement made in the paper that the average pay is $35 a month. Now, that's a mistake. The minimum pay is $35 a month, and the average between $45 and $65. Thirty-five dollars is only paid to young, inexperienced operators who are beginning work, and that, as a rule, at some little, unimportant station. The majority of the men are well paid, and have no grievance on that point.

"As to the hours. Why, they are the same as those of any clerk. From 7 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening is what they usually are, and these certainly are nothing out of the ordinary."

Mill to Resume. Next Wednesday night the South steel mill of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company will again resume operations. After an idleness of two months, several large orders have been received, and it is thought sufficient work is on hand to keep the mill running for some time.
