INSTITUTE IS NEARING END

TEACHERS WILL BE DISMISSED AT NCON.

Dr. George W. H .... of the Millersville State Normal School, Made His Debut Yesterday with Two Very Interesting Addresses-Dr. Sherman Davis Spoke During the Afternoon on the Crucial Periods in Young People's Lives-The Schubert Quartette Sang.

The county teachers' institute is now poidly nearing its close and this one of the best attended and most thoroughly interesting assemblies ever held by the Lackawanna county in-

Dr. George W. Hull, professor of mathematics at the Millersville State | benefit. Normal school made his initial appearance of the week before the teachers yesterday and in both his morning and afternoon address proved himself an entertainer of no mean ability.

Miss Lloyd's talk on "Some Causes of Degeneracy" was the opening feature of the afternoon session of the institute. She cited several instances of the baneful effects of the evil habits of childrens' parents on the child, but declared that careful training could eradicate any such influences.

"There is the old story" she said of the ways of warning our pupils against temptation. You remember the ancient tale of the scens in the Mediterranean sea, who would entice following programme will be carried unwary mariners to the rocks. The jout this morning, in closing the instiwily Ulysses, when he came to the dangerous shoals lashed his men to the masts, and stopped his ears with wax, to keep out the alluring strains, In like manner it is possible for all te guard against temptation, by makgourselves practically impervious to all attacks." Madame de Barrie Gill was the next entertainer. After giving a very humorous imitation of a small girl for the first time singing in public, she executed a rather novel performance. by readering that beautiful hyran, "Nearer My God to Thee," in a succession of graceful gestures, the deaf mutes' language.

DR. DAVIS' SPEECH.

Dr. Sherman Davis was the next to address the audience. He spoke of young life as divided into three periods; from birth until five years of age, from five till twelve and adolesence from twelve until twenty-four. During the second and early part of the third period the appetite of the boy and girl storing up in the body a tremendous amount of nutrition to be later utilized. The girl's appetite tends mostly to sweet things, while the boy's is of a sounder nature.

Most extraordinary is the pschycological change which takes place at this time in the adolescent girl. A tendency to hysteria is one of the peculiar manifestations of this period and a girl is also prone to feel she is abused, and begins to develop symptoms of melancholia.

She also develops new and high ideals. If she does not acquire them it is because, in some way she is contaminated. She has a necessity for love of some sort and craves sympathy. It is glorious thing for the girl at this time that she can cry and so find an outlet for her pent-up nervous

At this age they are most susceptible to good and evil influences, and all these facts must be taken into account by those in charge of the young people, and too much care cannot be exercised by the instructors.

At the close of the recess, Dr. George W. Hull, of Millersville State Normal. school gave a very interesting address on the subject of "The Successful Pupil." He said in part:

ARE PROUD OF THEM.

"There is nothing parents so much like to talk of as their successful boys or girls. The homes throughout the land are proud of the boys and girls. Whatever we are able to do to aid the homes in making a successful man out of the boy, and woman out of the girl, I think we ought to do. The only question at present asked of an American boy as he takes his place in the world is what he can do.

"If the teachers of this state succood in making one successful man a year out of the hosts that come under their care, they can be proud indeed, That education is false which does not teach a boy that the manliest thing | 8 p. m., south-E. McAllister, to do on returning from his higher school training is to stand side by side with his father, and which does not tell the girl that the most womanly thing to do is to assist the mother in her household duties.

"The only road to success in this country is by hard earnest endeavor. Life is moving forward with a wonlerful rapidity. We are annihilating time and distance by our great modern inventions and the whole civilization of to-day is moving with a won-lerful, awful activity. We must build loys to-day to meet these exigencies and take their places in life. He must be built with a strong body, sound rom the sole of his foot to the crown if his head. Is there a boy, or will here be a boy or girl in this country who can twenty-five years from now rise up, with impaired eyesight, or any defect of health and attribute it to his school teacher's neglect or care-lessness?"

CARE OF THE EYES.

He here mentioned his own poor eyesight as the result of over-strain in the school room, and from this practical illustration drew a good les-rom the councils that the controller is allowed to exercise the discretion vested in him under the law. Of course, this discretion is not un-limited. For example, he cannot direct a bill incurred by one department to be paid out of an appropriation made for another department, and he cannot transfer apprepriations upon his books without councilmanic authority. He does have a discretionary power, in the absence of a controlling resolution or ordinance of the councils, where there are more bills against a certain appropriation than there is money in this appropriation to pay, to say what bills shall be preferred. The controller cannot interfers with the discretion of other municipal departments; his au-thority as to such departments extends only to seeing that they do not exceed their appropria-tions, or apply them to purposes not within their proper scope. (Commonwealth vs. Philadelphia, 38 W. N. C., 428).

I have gone somewhat beyond the inquiry made; but it seems to me advisable to define the duties and powers of the city controller to some extent, as I find them laid down in the law, so that misapprehensions and unfortunate erstandings may not arise

CONTROLLER'S COMMUNICATION. The reading of the above opinion was immediately followed by the reading of the following communication from Controller Howell anent the recent refusal of City Clerk Lavelle to draw warrants for bills of City Solicitor Vosburg and the Barber Asphalt company charged to the judgments and incidentals appropriation, for the reason that there were numerous prior claims: To the Honorable Select and Common Council.

Gentlemen: I have to report that sundry bills, duly approved by your honorable bodies, sent in by me to be drawn, are held by the city clerk for the reason that there are other claims arte-dating these bills, which should be paid.

Your honerable bodies, by ordinance, tile of select council, No. 76, 1899, appropriated for the account of incidentals and judgments the sum of $12,179.14, to which sum by sundry transfers was added the sum of $1,178.47, in the month of April, 1990, and further in September, 1999, 83,277,29, a balance remaining in the account of

Your honorable bodies may know that there are sundry judgments against the city aggregating some $80,000, and the sum appropriated will go but a little way in payment of the same. A number of these judgments, owing to the faith of the holders in the credit of the city, are held and not presented for payment. In the payment of any claim 1 do not go to your honorable bodies, and ask whether this or that one may be paid. Under the act of May 23, 1809, certain dis retionary powers are vested in me, which may be modified by action of the councils. As far as pessible these accounts are paid on the same line exactly, as that followed by my predecessor, which may easily be verified by reference to the books in my office, To remove any doubt that I am correctly discharging payments for city obligations in a manner prescribed by law, I quote lines 289, 290, 291, of the fiscal appropriation for the year 1900; The city controller is hereby authorized to charge all outstanding approved claims agains the city, not otherwise provided for by appropriation for general incidentals and judgments

CANNOT UNDERSTAND. In the face of this clearly expressed authorization, I am imable to understand on what ground the city clerk arrogates to bimself the power vested in your honorable bodies by act of as

In the refusal of the city clerk to draw warrants duly approved by the councils for payment, I am at loss to reconcile his action with that of former years. If the city clerk, refuses to draw warrants I send him now, why did be in 1888 draw warrants No. 89,119, 89,129, 88,999, 91,207, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 10,050, 51 52, 53 56, for bills current within the year out of th account of judgments and incidentals. The sam conditions obtained in 1896, with Nos. 74,327, 75,637, and with the nine whole pages of wartants charged to incidenals and judgments, numbering consecutively from 76,695 to 77,018, all being for bills dated after, and paid out of t fiscal year appropriation,

Out of the small amount appropriated I have paid sundry judgments where the domand was importunate. In many cases I have paid claims where the debtors threatened to put their claiin judgment, and I ask if it is not better to d so, rather than saddle additional costs of the action on the city. Take, for example, the bill of the Barber Asphalt Paving company, see or-dinance, file of select council No. 30, 1300, the sayment of which is authorized by your honor-ble bodies out of the account of judgments and incidentals. This is one bill the city clerk re-fuses to draw. Is it better to pay it, or let claimant put it in judgment, cost of which the eity is to bear? Again I have sent to be drawn sundry pay-rolls, which may truly be claimed sundry pay-rolls, which may truly be claimed as deficiency bills. I am not in favor of creating any deficiency bills, but when such bills are created, and approved by your honorable bodies for payment, I conclude they are intended for payment, and especially so where they are bills for labor. If there should be an amount sufficient in judgments and incidentals, to pay these bills for labor, it is hard to have to refuse navment to have usen who cannot refuse navment to have in may be connected. fuse payment to laboring men, who cannot af-ford to wait for their wages until the next fiscal year appropriation.

A little money of late years has been and should be held in the account of judgments and incidentals, for the reason that the city's offi-cers are compelled to furnish the money out of their own pockets for the transaction of city business. Meanwhile I find the business of my office impeded by the action of the city clerk. It would seem that some action of the councils is imperative. Your honorable bodies has but to make the laws, while I have to execute them.

CHITTENDEN'S MOTION. Mr. Chittenden moved that this let ter be referred to a special committee appointed last August to investigate something in the controller's office which never investigated, but which was never discharged. "A most singular condition of affairs exists," said he, "which ought to be cleared up. Instead of paying judgments out of this appropriation the controller keeps on paying other claims and there always seems to be a little money left in the appropria-tion. As regards this particular matter I have a very clear idea that the city clerk is right and fair in the position he has taken and that the con-troller is entirely wrong." The motion to refer to this special committee was adopted. A communication bearing on the matter from City Solicitor Vosburg was read in common council. The lat ter explained that in bringing the proceedings to condemn the turnpike and to annul the boulevard charter he would be very much hampered if his bill was not paid. He said he could see no impropriety in passing a resolution directing the city clerk to draw a warrant for his bill. He explained that he did not wish to criticize Mr. Lavelle, believing him to be acting under honest convictions. He hinted that if councils desired him to withdraw the proceedings that he would do so, having no personal interest in the matter. A little later on Mr. Watkins introduced a resolutions directing the city clerk to draw a warrant for Mr. Vosburg's bill, and it went through without much opposition. It didn't fare so well in select, however.

When it came up, Mr. Vaughan moved that it be referred to the special committee. Messrs. Finn and Costello protested violently at this. "You can't do that," said Mr. Finn.

This is imperative." "Oh, yes, we can," said Mr. Clemons, looking up at him with his expansive smile. "It's merely a question

"The city clerk has got good reason;

for what he has done," said Mr Vaughan, "and this committee should hear them. Mr. Vosburg gets nearly $5,000 a year out of the city, and he has certainly got enough money to pay his expenses in this matter, even if he does have to wait a few months for his money.

The motion to refer to the special committee was adopted.
