

CARBONDALE DEPARTMENT.

The Scranton Tribune has opened a Branch Office in Carbondale and will print a daily edition devoted to the interests of the city, the aim being to supply Carbondale with a daily morning paper, containing all the news of the Pioneer City. Communications of a news nature, personal and all items for publication may be left at the new offices in the Burke Building, or may be sent by mail or phone. E. L. Hatfield, manager of the Carbondale edition, will be pleased to receive callers seeking information or desirous of imparting it.

THE DEATH OF THE NEWS.

Carbondale's Penny Evening Newspaper Expires After a Hard Fight.

The Evening News has discontinued publication. Its last edition was given to the public on Wednesday evening, and at that time nothing was said in its columns, nor was there any indication that it had reached the end of its career. Yesterday morning the green shades upon the front windows were not raised at the customary hour, and in a short time the rumor spread that a landlord's warrant had been served upon the office force. Whether this is correct or not could not be learned. Wednesday evening the following leading editorial was published in the News:

A NEWS VICTORY.
The Evening News is proud to say that it was one of the chief factors in winning for the people yesterday's municipal water victory. While the greatest praise is due the much-vaunted Roberts and Kilpatrick, we, too, have had our share of the glory. It is safe to say that without the assistance of the News the project would never have reached its present advanced stage. It is generally conceded that the Evening News is the most influential paper in the city. We have an opinion and we dare to print it.

The Evening News was launched here about two years ago by Claude Knight. The plant cost between eight and nine hundred dollars. Early in 1899 Mr. Knight sold a half interest in it for $2,500 to W. K. Fry, of York, Pa. H. E. Kelly, his nephew, came here to look after Mr. Fry's interests. Mr. Knight left this city soon after and has not yet returned. A few months ago Hartwell & Behre purchased an interest, and Mr. Behre assumed control of the enterprise. His new investment. A few weeks ago Mr. Behre left this city with his family, and rumors began to circulate as to the stability of the paper. The employees, however, came to the rescue and kept the paper going, and about two weeks ago it began to look as if their efforts might be successful. J. Normal Gelder and Matthew Murphy, in the short time they steered the destinies of the declining paper, made a success of it in an editorial way. Mr. Gelder is a newspaper man of experience, and Mr. Murphy also is diligent in his work, and between them and J. P. Loftus, mine superintendent for the Delaware and Hudson company, who has been a large contributor to the editorial columns, the News has been a brilliant paper for the past fortnight. But its equipment by inadequate facilities and limited financial backing, the strain was too great, and the News was compelled to shut down. It is said the employees kept the paper going, expecting Mr. Fry to come to Carbondale to make some definite arrangements for its continuance, but failing to do so they refused to work longer.

Mr. Gelder has already become affiliated with the editorial department of the Lender, and unquestionably his talents will be discussed soon by an increased volume of local news published in that paper. The Lender last evening had this comment on the demise of its contemporary:

"The starting of a lively Carbondale paper in The Scranton Tribune, thus giving this city a morning paper, was beginning to divide the attention of newspaper readers in such a manner that it was seen by the owner of the News that its further continuance would be only at a considerable financial loss."

OCTOBER'S VITAL STATISTICS.

The Death Rate, as Usual, Is Low. Contagious Diseases Few.

The report of Secretary George W. Evans, of the board of health, for the month of October, was given to the press yesterday afternoon. It showed that there were but eighteen deaths, a remarkably small number compared with the same period of a year ago. The following is the summary of the report:

Deaths by week—First week, 2; second, 4; third, 3; fourth, 9; fifth, 9; sixth, 2.

Causes of death—Typhoid fever, 1; diphtheria, 1; consumption, 1; pneumonia, 1; heart disease, 2; influenza, 1; malnutrition, 1; peritonitis, 1; pneumonia, 1; typhoid fever, 1.

There were six deaths brought to the city and two removed for interment. Interments in the city were 81. Rice cemetery, 37; Maplewood, 2; contagious diseases in existence—Measles, 4 cases; diphtheria, 1; scarlet fever, 2.

There were 43 illnesses reported to the sanitary officer, of which 37 were abated and 4 are being notified.

A Co-operative "Thimble Tea."

Mrs. Samuel B. Mills, Mrs. George E. Mills and Miss Elizabeth Moore united in giving a "thimble tea" yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Samuel B. Mills, 8 South Birckett street, from 3 to 6 o'clock. The function will be repeated this afternoon, at the same hours. For the benefit of the unfortunate, it may be well to explain that a thimble tea, which is a prevalent pastime in this city, is a modern and up-to-date designation for the old-fashioned sewing circle, with new ideas encroaching upon the form of the old circle, such as musical and literary features, being the drawing card.

In Oneonta.

Miss Olive Penney, of Birckett street; Miss Isabelle Stanton, of Spring street, and Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Chaffee, of the First Methodist church, are in Oneonta, N. Y., attending the Epworth league convention of the Wyoming conference, now being held there. Mr. Chaffee is secretary of this division of the Epworth league, and the three ladies are delegates.

Baptist Basket Banquet.

The semi-annual basket meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Baptist churches of the Abington association will be held with the Berean Baptist church next Wednesday, November 14. The sessions will open in the morning and continue in the afternoon.

noon. There will be an extensive and delightful programme rendered in the afternoon, and the public is cordially invited to attend. Delegates and members of all the Baptist churches in this association will be present and report. Enthusiasm and energy have marked the work of the society the past six months, and the various reports will unquestionably prove of great interest.

An Unruly City Guest.

The city of Carbondale had a new transient boarder in its bustling yesterday morning. Although the freedom of the city had not been presented to him formally, he proceeded to act upon the theory that this town is a wide-open affair and it was his duty to entertain. With this object in view, he caused a notable diminution in the supply of liquids exposed for sale in a number of the places devoted to the refreshment of the weary traveler, and then set out to whoop things up in an unbridled manner. Officers and men among those whom he encountered in his zig-zaggy route, and the policeman hailed him, brought him to and conveyed him to a place where he could rest in peace and solitude.

He did not seem impressed with the simplicity of the architecture in his new room, nor the way in which the daylight struggled through the one window, so he proceeded to change the aspect of the panes and had progressed so far as to demolish three when he was quickly yanked out and put into a dark cell.

At 10 o'clock Mayor Kilpatrick opined that he had had about five dollars' worth of fun. The boarder did not think so, but that was of no material account. Not having his check book with him he offered a watch as a substitute, and his honor accepted it as security for a $5. Then he waddled slowly away with his joy and exuberant verbosity subdued.

Boston Delicacies to Be Served.

The Young Men's union in this city is an extremely energetic body, and they are constantly getting up enterprising and various kinds, at which fun reigns supreme and a guest who once partakes of their enjoyable hospitality is always wanting to come a second time. On next Wednesday evening they are going to have a bean supper, at which they have invited the members of William H. Davis post, G. A. R., to help them discuss those dainty edibles. A special programme for this event is now being mapped out and the veterans will be treated to something long to be remembered. Special tables will be arranged for the honorary members of the union and for several prominent men who will be guests of honor on that occasion. The decorations are expected to be very elaborate.

The Indians' New Eleven.

The Indian foot ball team has recently been reorganized, and Wednesday evening they were called together by Captain Gus Hansen for a practice game. Several new players were on the lines, including Dan Hadgins, who has been playing with the strong St. Thomas team in Scranton this year, but who played with the Indians in '99, Matthew Murphy and James Mason. The new team will devote themselves to hard practice for awhile and will then issue sweeping challenges all through the county. Hansen will still continue to be captain, while Murphy will play quarterback, Mason right tackle and Hadgins fullback. The Indians now have an aggressive, spirited team and will hereafter give a good account of themselves.

Inquest in the McAndrews Death.

Cosmer J. J. Roberts and a jury held an inquest on Wednesday evening to inquire into the cause of the death of Thomas McAndrews, whose body was found near the Delaware and Hudson tracks on Sunday morning by some "chuckers." The coroner stated that the younger child had been strangled, the cause of a rumor of foul play, due to McAndrews' overcoat being found fifty feet from the tracks unrumpled, and he stated the circumstances as he found them. No witnesses were examined, and the jury, composed of J. Reese, G. Evans, E. J. Neary, E. J. McHale, T. V. Nealon and James Bell, rendered a verdict accordingly.

Monday's Big Event at Opeira House.

Brooke's Chicago Marine band will be at the opera house next Monday evening. This band is composed of forty musicians, including a number of soloists. This is the first time that a big band, of national reputation, has come to Carbondale, and music-lovers will feel indebted to Manager Byrne for his enterprise in making a contract with them.

Miss Harriet Dement Packard, prima donna soprano, will also be heard in conjunction with the band. She is blessed with a voice of faultless purity and range, and has a magnificent dramatic expression in her rendering of classical and lyrical music.

An Informal Serenade.

James T. Bassett and wife, formerly Miss Lillian Minor, who were recently married in Peckville, have returned to this city and are now living at 11 Thorne street. On Wednesday evening they were tendered a serenade by a crowd of young men and boys, who made a racket that aroused the entire neighborhood. The impromptu band made demands for cake and cigars, but went away with their desires unappreciated.

A Christmas Attraction.

The Ladies of the First Presbyterian church are planning to have a Christmas bazaar under the auspices of the Aid society.

A Slight Blaze Near Midnight.

An alarm of fire rang from box 42, corner Main street and Sixth avenue, at 11:30 on Wednesday night. The fire had been discovered on the roof of the foundry building of the Grey Iron Foundry company, on Seventh ave-

nu. It is surmised that the roof had become ignited by sparks from the furnace. The firemen made short work of the flames.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

Elmer Rolis, a little 3-year-old child and street boy, was burned to death here last evening.

The family reside in a double house and at about half past five o'clock Mrs. Rolis went next door to enquire after her neighbor, Mrs. Wm. Deakin, who is seriously ill. Besides the child mentioned another child 2 years of age and Mrs. Rolis' sister, a girl of 12 years of age was in the house when Mrs. Rolis went next door. She had only been there a few moments when she heard the heartrending cries of the younger child and hastening to investigate the cause she was horrified upon opening the door to discover the whole room ablaze. She at once seized the younger child whose clothes were on fire and carried it outside. By this time the fire had reached the child and she was rescued by Mrs. Rolis.

The sister had managed to get safely out but the little boy could not be found.

In the meantime an alarm was turned in from box 2, which is across the road and in a few moments the Crystal fire company were on hand and had two jets of water pouring upon the burning building. As soon as the fire had been sufficiently subdued to permit the search for the missing child was resumed and he was discovered at the foot of the stairs leading to the second story. The child was dead and had been horribly burned from head to foot. The remains were taken to undertaker Battenberg's where they now lie in state.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed the child who met death must have been lighting paper at the stove. Mrs. Deakin, who, as already mentioned, is critically ill, was carried to the home of Mr. Joseph T. Roberts, a neighbor.

All the furniture and clothing of the Rolis family was destroyed by fire, and water, which in itself is a severe loss to them but is incomparable to the greater loss they have sustained in the death of their oldest child, under such unfortunate circumstances. The younger child's injuries are also quite painful being severely burned about the face and arms. It was attended to by Dr. M. J. Shields, who did all that was possible to alleviate the little one's suffering.

The property belongs to the estate of the late Josephine Westcott and is not insured. The loss, however, is not considered very heavy.
