THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE-TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1900.

CARBONDALE DEPAR

The Scranton Tribune has opened a Branch Office in Carbondale and prints a daily edition devoted to the interests of the city, supplying Carbondale with a daily morning paper, containing all the news of the Pioncer City. Communications of a news nature, personals and all items for publication may be left at the new offices in the Burke Building, or sent by mail or 'phone. E. L. Hatfield, manager of the Carbondale edition, will be pleased to receive callers seeking information or desirous of imparting it. Telephone numbers: New, 286; old, 0423.

EXTENSION OF THE STRIKE.

The Day Hands Join the Boys of the Night Shift in Sympathy.

At noon yesterday nearly all the girls and boys employed at the silk mill of the Klots Throwing company, at Simpson, left their work out of sympathy for the boys on the night shift, who tended in a body. At the church, a Join Copeland, legal fees struck on Friday night, and also be-cause they have a few grievances of Father J. J. Griffin was celebrant, their own to settle and feel that this is Very Rev. T. F. Coffey was deacon an opportune moment. Shortly after and Rev. George Dixon was sub-deathe noon hour a large number of the strikers were visible all over the main streets of this city, either going home or standing in knots discussing their grievances. Manager Marcus Frieder of the silk mill, who is in charge here, declares that today the mill will be shut down and what work the Klots company has will be shipped to their other two mills, one at Scranton and the other at Fredevicksburg, Va. Enough of the help refrained from striking to enable Mr. Frieder to get out what work there is on hand by tonight and then the local plant will be closed down indefinitely, so Mr. Frieder says.

It has been claimed by the management that they were running their mill at a loss because of a depression in the trade. A very prominent citizen of Carbondale, who is in a position to know and has studied the conditions of labor throughout this section very thoroughly, said to a Tribune man yesterday:

"It is all very well for Manager Frieder to say that the silk mill has been running at a loss, but it hardly seems probable if that were the case that the company would be putting up another and larger mill beside the present one. If they are so charitably inclined as to run their business at a loss in order to help their employes, why don't they give them wages enough to sustain life? I am interested in a girl of fifteen years old, whose parents' death led kind friends to take her in. and last summer they thought it would he a good thing for this girl to learn self-support. So they sent her to the silk mill to work. By working twelve and fourteen hours a day she got for her wages for one month $1.21. Then she was taken out and sent to school again. I know from personal experience that it is practically impossible for a giri up there to earn more than $15 to $18 a month, and even the foreladies, except the oldest in service, do hot get more than $20. No girl could board and sustain herself on such wages unless she lived at home with of Carbondale and the other connecher parents. Somehow or other, this company has the best faculty for commence at once. The mammoth MEETING OF COMMON COUNCIL holder, just completed, will contain 35,-000 cubic feet, giving the plant a capacity of 50,000 feet. This will insure a continuous flow, even should there be a shutdown at the works for a day. General Manager Strickland announces that a new system is to be adopted in connection with the metres by which the old difficulties occurring from the collection of water in the pipes will be entirely obviated.

JAMES BARRETT'S FUNERAL.

Day of Universal Closing of Stores. Father Griffin's Sermon.

The funeral of the late James Barrett was held this morning from the nome of his sister, Mrs. Joremiah "Hearn, on South Main street. As a oken of respect to Mr, Barrett's memery all the stores in the central city were closed during the hour of the paid: funeral, and the Merchan'ts' associa-

Everybody is sacred and holy in the eyes of God and the Catholic church ever has that thought in view. Our children are brought up in this faith: raught that the purposes of the sac raments are to sanctify the body. But Electric Light company, August, Sep the Catholic church goes further and, blesses the body. All the circum-stances surrounding the sacraments have their significance to the Catholic's mind. They bring to him most forcibly the thought that they all should strive after the things spiritual; for what profits a man if he gains the world and at last loses his own soul.
