The storm entered the state from Northern Mississippi and swept across in a northeasterly direction. Great damage is reported from the countles bordering on Mississippi, and further on, Columbia, in Maury county, is the heaviest sufferer. Lavergue, Molensville and Gallatin also felt the wind's force, the storm finally losing its force against the Cumberland moun-

The path of the storm is about fifty yards wide and was through the northwestern suburbs of the town. In its nath everything is completely wrecked. Not even the iron and stone fence of the arsenal grounds are steading.

The houses of Captain Aydelot, the Farrels and other large residences were

Many Are Homeless.

With the exception of these four houses, the storm's path was through a section of the town populated chiefly by negroes and the poorer classes, an the houses were mere hovels. It is estimated that 150 of them were totally destroyed and a large number damaged. The suffering of the people, rendered homeless and bereft of all their goods, is pitiable. The number of houses destroyed in the Motensville neighborhood is sixteen. There were two fatalities, Miss Nannie Hampton, aged twenty-five, and Mrs. Naney Bramlett, aged sixty-five. Twelve others were injured. All of the sixteen houses were totally destroyed. Mr. Hampton had $500 in money and this was blown away, and only a part recovered.

The baby of Jim Christman, colored, was found 300 yards from the house, uninjured. One of the family dogs was dying by his side.

At Lavergne, sixteen miles south of here, on the Nashville, Chatanooga and St. Louis, the velocity of the wind was marvelous, and from best reports lasted only about twenty seconds. In this short time about thirty-five dwellings were turned into kindling wood, The loss of life is small, compared with the miraculous escapes made. The wind made a swathe about 200 yards wide through the middle of the town. The Lavergne high school and the depot, the two largest buildings, laid flat on the ground. The loss of these two buildings is placed at $7,000. Two large section houses, also, each valued at $900, were destroyed. George Robertson and his 6-monthschild. Mr. Robertson's house, which was a very strong log structure, was in the middle of the path of the storm, and was laid flat on the ground. At the time Mr. Robertson and his child had retired and his wife was sitting near the bed, and before the latter could even warn her husband death

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Philadelphia, Nov. 21 .- The foureenth annual convention of the Pennylvania Christian Endeavor union, which was formally opened here last night, got down to real work today. From sunrise to almost the midnight hour the delegates, who come from almost every county in the commonwealth, were kept on the go in the interest of their society. Additional delgates arrived today and the number of them now here has reached thousands. The Christian workers thus far have been favored with fair weather. The day's work began with five sunise prayer meetings, in as many difchurches. They were led by John N. Hetrick, Lancaster; Miss Lalla B. White, Butler; Rev. M. P. Hacker, bersburg, and Miss Ida B. Cook, Pittsburg. At the Baptist temple, which is the convention headquarters, "Quiet Hour" services were conducted from 8.30 a. n. to 9.15 a. m. by the Rev. Dr. Floyd W. Tompkins, of this city. The sub-
