

THE MODERN HARDWARE STORE

Paxton Roasters

If you wish to have the Thanksgiving Turkey done to a brown, you'd better buy a first class roasting pan. Paxton Roasters are the best—made of heavy sheet iron with high covers and are ventilated. Prices 60c, 75c and 90c.

Foot & Shear Co.
119 N. Washington Ave.

L. R. D. &amp; M.

A SHOE SAIL.

People who want a proper shoe necessary to correct dress will be delighted with our new Fall and Winter shoes now on exhibition. A store full of new styles and every shoe a prize. For small footers this is the store.

LEWIS, RUDDY,
DAVIES & MURPHY
330 Lackawanna Avenue.

Lackawanna
"THE"
Laundry.
265 Penn Avenue. A. B. WARMAN.

THE WEATHER YESTERDAY.

Local data for November 22, 1900:
Highest temperature ..... 55 degrees
Lowest temperature ..... 36 degrees
Humidity ..... 76 per cent.
S. W. wind ..... 47 per cent.

PERSONAL

Professor J. M. Chance is attending the Christian Endeavor convention at Philadelphia.
Miss Susan Talbot, of Chichester, Pa., has gone to the city to visit her friends.
A. C. Kays and E. L. Crum, of this city, were registered at the Albert, in New York, this week.

Miss Lelia Dalton, of Binghamton, formerly from Carlisle, is the guest of Mrs. Ernest Dolph, of Madison avenue.
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wocher, Jr., of Peoria, Ill., spent Wednesday with Mrs. Wocher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Moore.
Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association George G. May has returned from a trip to Franklin and Warren, Pa.

The wedding of Miss Caroline Ross to Daniel Jacobs will take place next Thursday evening at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride, 211 Pine street.
Miss Gertrude Hawthorn, of Brooklyn, a daughter of the Rev. Hawthorn, formerly pastor of the Park Place Methodist Episcopal church, is visiting at the home of Dr. C. G. Lackawanna on Vine street.

A DELIGHTFUL EVENING.

Enjoyed by Those Who Heard F. Hopkinson Smith's Readings.
F. Hopkinson Smith, who has won fame in many different fields of human activity, gave one of his delightful readings last night in the Scranton Bicycle club house on Washington avenue, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' society of the First Presbyterian church. That Mr. Smith is a welcomed visitor to Scranton is made evident by the audience which crowded the club house.

Perhaps it is the same feeling which led Americans to vote for Roosevelt that excites enthusiasm for F. Hopkinson Smith. He is a man who has "done things." There are those who have written books, there are artists who have painted pictures, there are engineers who have built breakwaters and lighthouses, there are other individuals who are musical critics and know law, but there is no other man who can do all these things better than most of his contemporaries can do any one of them, and so people burn incense at his shrine. Best of all he can read his own works, which so many authors make a dismal failure in attempting and can picture in that deep, smoothly modulated voice of his, and by attitude and passion the men and the women who are always real in his books because he lives a real life and sees real persons.

Rev. Dr. James McLeod introduced the speaker of the evening in a happy, graceful way, and he took his place on the platform, whose background of palms made a pretty effect. He apologized for the slight roughness of his tones in a way which brought down the house with appreciation, for he said that half of his voice was lost when he participated in the sound money parade about two weeks ago, and the other half while shouting his gratification on the succeeding Tuesday night.

From the time he entered the room Mr. Smith received an ovation, and then his wonderful personal magnetism began to be felt in that exquisitely conceived sketch of "Colonel Carter of Cartersville."
"What a frank, outspoken, tender-hearted fellow he is! Happy as a boy; hospitable to the verge of beggary."

Enthusiasm as he is visionary. A Virginian of good birth, fair education and limited knowledge of the world and of men; proud of his ancestry; proud of his state, and proud of himself, and deep down in the secrets of his innermost soul believing that poor white trash includes every body outside of Fairfax county."

The author gave the famous scene at the dinner when the irate groceryman appeared, following it with that imitatively told tale of "Chad and the Goose." As an infinite contrast to the related the dramatic story of "Captain Joe" in the incident of the Hokenen ferryboat, paying his great tribute of praise to the original of the character, Captain Thomas A. Scott, of New London, Conn., the diver who "never disappointed" him.

Not the least success of the evening was the abrupt, powerful sketch drawn with such a true hand in "One of Bob's Tramps," a story from his most recent book, "The Other Fellow." In that the German accent was no less fascinating in its imitation than the German repression of emotion was evident in the undercurrent of the conception.

In conclusion he gave the humorous study of New England character in "The program" was the best of the three provided by Mr. Smith in his visits to this city. It was thoroughly and unmistakably enjoyed by every listener and there was a sigh of regret at its end.

Mr. Smith was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Benjamin Dimmick at dinner last night. The other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Scranton, Miss Chalfont, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Dimmick.

THAT SECOND-CLASS CITY ORDINANCE

Roche to Introduce One Next Thursday Night, Providing for Election of New Officials.

Select Councilman John E. Roche is preparing an ordinance fixing the duties of the director of public safety, of the director of public works, and of the director of public charities.

The ordinance will further provide for the creation of bureaus under those three departments; will create the positions of heads of these bureaus, and will outline their duties. It will also fix the salaries of all the officials.

Mr. Roche stated yesterday to a Tribune man that he was hopeful of having this ordinance prepared and ready for presentation at next Thursday night's meeting of select council. He said it would contain a provision for the election of the new officials by the present council, and that it would fix a date for such election.

There are some who contend, despite the Supreme court decision printed in these columns, that the old council cannot elect these heads of department. Mr. Roche, however, says that the present council can and will elect them.

"It's the only sane way," said he yesterday. "The city expected that the city can jump in a minute into the second class without first electing the officials who will direct her government in that class."

The economists are already beginning to figure out how the salary of at least one new official can be saved. The second class city law provides for a director of public works and under him a head of the bureau of surveying, corresponding to the present city engineer's department.

The plan has been suggested that council should elect the present city engineer as director of public works with the present assistant engineer as the head of the bureau of surveying. The present engineer, as director, could still supervise the work of the latter department. Thus the salary of the director could be saved.

A NEW ENGLAND DINNER.

Was Served by Members of Catholic Young Women's Club.

The Catholic Young Women's club served a New England dinner at their rooms, 121 Washington avenue, last evening, which was largely attended. It was estimated that dinner was served to over 500 persons. During the period dinner was being served the orchestra composed of the pupils of St. Cecilia's academy played.

The young women who assisted in serving the supper were the Misses Annie T. Butler, Teresa Carey, Josephine Murray, Margaret Moran, Elizabeth Hannan, Emma Burkhouse, Mary Carroll, Mary Goughan, Nellie Byron, Margaret Flynn, Mary Gilligan, Nora Deviers, Mame Hargerty, Mame Murphy, Laura Mahon, Anna Cotto, Mary Watt, Margaret Burke, Sallie Barrett, Anna Barrett, Nellie Nolan, Eleanor Campbell, Mary Hoolihan, Alice Grozan, Mollie Grimes, Kate Smith, Anna Donnelly, Katie Donnelly, Mary Morley, Mary Gallagher, Genevieve McDermott, Nora Sullivan, Mary Sullivan, Margaret Sullivan, Katie Roche, Sarah McHale, Margaret Reese, Rose Reese, Anna Coyne, Mary McNulty, Mame Jordan, Neoma Ryan, Sara Doyle, Annie Hackett, Sarah O'Connor, Katie Cunningham, Kathryn Howley, Bridget O'Malley, Mary Farrell, Catherine Mulderig, Anna Kearney, Lizzie O'Boyle, Mary Brady, Katie Roche, Celia McHenry, Margaret Flynn, Mary Goughan, Catherine O'Hara, Mame Cavanaugh, Jennie Kenny, Sarah McLean, Mame Grogan, Margaret Campbell, B. P. Dougherty, Mame Murphy, Margaret Kearney.

The Latest Photographic Surprise is called Stenographic. The name is derived from its peculiarly pleasing density of color, which equals that of the steel engraving.
As it is a most difficult subject to adequately describe, lovers of novelty are advised that Mr. Schriever, of the Gold Medal Studio, will, with pleasure, exhibit it without the least insistence on patronage.

Yet Another.
Principals Buck and Whitmore have just sent Herman Schmaltz to act as timekeeper and assistant bookkeeper in the office of the N. Y., S. & W. R. R. at Stroudsburg. This is an excellent position. A few months ago the college sent George Karschner to act as stenographer in the same office.

Excursion to New York City.
Ticket agents of the Lackawanna railroad will sell excursion tickets to New York city, good going on any regular train Dec. 6, return limit to and including Dec. 11, at rate of $5.35.

A Seventy-five Dollar Position.
Principals Buck and Whitmore, of the Scranton Business college, have on file a request for a young man book-keeper, salary seventy-five dollars per month. No one to send.

ROSE FROM BED TO SUICIDE

ADAM FASSHOLD CUTS HIS THROAT WITH A RAZOR.

Had Brought Divorce Proceedings Against His Wife, but Withdrew Them Only the Day Before—Supposition That They Had Another Falling Out After Retiring Together, and the Husband Resolved to Put an End to His Troubles by Ending His Life.

While suffering from temporary aberration of the mind, brought on by family troubles, Adam Fasshold, the well-known hotelkeeper of Greenwood, ended his life yesterday morning by cutting his throat with a razor.

A sensational story of his domestic difficulties, printed in a recent edition of a Sunday paper, is mainly responsible for Fasshold's unfortunate act. He had lived a celibate for fifty-two years, and on Dec. 1, 1888, married Miss Margaret Kilvill, the 25-year-old daughter of his next door neighbor. They did not live together harmoniously and this coupled with the loss of his hotel property by a fire about a year ago, weighed heavily on the husband's mind.

Ten days ago, he waited on his attorney, J. Elliott Ross, and, saying he could no longer put up with his wife's treatment, instructed him to bring proceedings in divorce. Mr. Ross tried to dissuade him, but Fasshold was obdurate and the attorney reluctantly obeyed his directions.
When Mrs. Fasshold read in the daily papers of the action of her husband, she upbraided him roundly. They had not been on speaking terms, but once the ice was broken they talked over the whole affair and the result was that after a time Fasshold repented of his action and said he would have the case quashed.

ASKED HER FORGIVENESS.

Monday he asked his wife's forgiveness, saying he was about to go to town to order his lawyer to withdraw the divorce proceedings. She said she could overlook everything except the rebellion that was made on her character in the Sunday newspaper story. He avowed that neither he nor his attorney had any hand in furnishing that or any other part of the story, and this seemed to satisfy the wife, for upon his return home, after having had the divorce case withdrawn, she greeted him pleasantly and seemed very well disposed towards him.

They retired together at 8:30 o'clock, it being the first time in weeks for them to occupy the same apartment. About 10 o'clock, according to Mrs. Fasshold's statement, she was awakened by the crying of the baby, and finding her husband also awake, she asked him to bring a drink of water, which he did. They talked for a few minutes and then she fell asleep again. Later, she was aroused by hearing her husband walking around the room. He paced up and down for a while and then sat on the side of the bed.

Soon afterwards she went asleep again and did not awake until 1:30, when she heard calls for her husband from downstairs by Samuel Vanderberg, an aged man whom Mr. Fasshold employed the day before to assist him in the management of the hotel, and who was occupying a sleeping apartment on the first floor, near the bar-room.

THOUGHT IT WAS BURGLARS.

Vanderberg had occasion to get up during the night and hearing a noise coming from the direction of the bar-room, peered in. He saw through the space at the bottom of the door leading to a little room behind the bar that there was a man and who was leaning for a moment heard a noise. He at once suspected burglars and called upstairs for Mr. Fasshold.

Mrs. Fasshold, upon being awakened by the calls for her husband, and finding him gone, answered back that she was not there. Vanderberg told her hurriedly of the noise and light in the room behind the bar and Mrs. Fasshold hastened down stairs. The door was found to be locked and had to be burst open.

When they went in, they found Fasshold lying on the floor, with blood flowing from gashes in his throat, and a razor within a few feet of him.

Mrs. Fasshold frantically asked him what he had done, but no reply came. He attempted to rise and also seemingly made an effort to talk, but his strength had gone, and he fell back in a pool of his blood, motionless.

W. Crandall, justice of the peace; Mike Hatto, borough policeman; and a number of neighbors were summoned and one of the latter hastened for a physician. Fasshold, however, was dead before the messengers got fairly started.

He had first evidently cut a longitudinal gash from the ear down to the shoulder and then another paralleling it and about an inch further back. Across these two and all the way around to the other ear he drew the razor blade, pressing upon it sufficiently heavy to gash the trachea and sever one of the carotid arteries.

CORONER'S JURY.
Coroner Roberts held an inquest yesterday afternoon and the jury, consisting of John J. Coyne, T. D. Marshall, Frank Toole, Patrick Burke, G.

Corn

We offer today our new pack Maine Corn under our private label, which we guarantee better than fresh corn on the cob. 15c per can.

Coursen's Sweet Blossom Maine Corn, $1.50 per dozen.

Souvenir Corn—Fancy York State Corn, 10c; $1.00 doz.

E. G. Coursen
499 LACKAWANNA AVE.

B. W. Doud and George W. Tucker, rendered the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that Adam Fasshold came to his death at his home in Greenwood, county of Lackawanna, on Nov. 22, 1900, by his own hand by cutting his throat with a razor. We further believe that said Adam Fasshold was suffering from mental aberration at the time of taking his life."

The story of Mrs. Fasshold and Vanderberg were as outlined above. The supposition is that after Fasshold and his wife had retired they renewed their quarrel, which caused Mrs. Fasshold so much worry and the result was another falling out.

Fasshold was born in Bavaria fifty-four years ago and lived in this country since 1855. He lived in Greenwood ever since, excepting for ten years which he spent in Montana. He was proprietor of the Fasshold hotel for thirteen years, and was recently elected one of the members of Moose borough council. He was fairly well-to-do and a man of more than ordinary intelligence. He was a mild tempered man of good habits, but occasionally drank rather heavily. His wife says he had been indulging very freely for a month past.

OBJECTION TO NEW BOND ORDINANCE

Messrs. Keller and Paine Do Not Favor Wiping Out of Judgments Under Present Plan.

Common Councilman H. E. Paine and Luther Keller held out vigorously at last night's regular meeting against the passage of the ordinance providing for the submission to the vote of a proposition to wipe out of the $100,000 worth of bonds for the purpose of paying off the judgments and other adjudicated claims now outstanding against the city, but the ordinance was passed with only their votes against it.

When the measure was called up, Mr. Keller claimed that the ordinance was not specific, inasmuch as it did not specify what judgments should be paid, but merely provided for an appropriation of $100,000. It was very loose, he thought.

Mr. Paine thought if these judgments were wiped out of the way, it would leave the field clear for just as many more. He thought they should be allowed to stand as a sort of bar.

Another interesting discussion arose when an ordinance providing for a sewer in the Eighteenth ward came up on third reading. Mr. Paine objected to its passage because there is no money in the city treasury to pay the city's share, or account of the failure of L. & C. Co. to take the big bond issue. The ordinance passed.

The other ordinances passed on third reading were as follows: Settling the claim of T. P. Stevens; providing for sidewalks on Railroad avenue; directing the city engineer to have a company sprinkle streets; providing for a sewer on Emmett street.

The following resolutions were introduced and adopted:
By Mr. Griffiths—Accepting grade of North Rebecca avenue, between Sweetland and Peterson streets.

By Mr. Godshall—Providing for a settlement of the claim of Julia Sheridan for $25.

Mr. Godshall introduced an ordinance providing for circular curbs at certain corners on Washington street.

A petition was presented from certain property owners of Williams' addition, in the First ward, asking that they be furnished with street lights and fire hydrants. It was referred to committee.

WILL INVESTIGATE THE SANBORN FIRE

Owner of the Building Charges That It Was Set on Fire—What the Chief Says.

On Wednesday, Nov. 14, a fire in a double dwelling house at 1322 Penn avenue did a damage amounting to $1,500. It is now charged that the blaze was of incendiary origin.

The dwelling is owned by Mrs. Fannie Sanborn and occupied on one side by herself, and on the other by the families of Asa Stecker and Thomas McKelvey. The fire started in the kitchen of the Stecker home, and before it was got under control the entire back part of the dwelling was destroyed.

Mayor Mohr received a letter yesterday from A. L. Luns, state agent of quarters at Williamsport. In it he says that Mrs. Sanborn charges Mrs. Stecker with firing the building.

He points out that his company is not endeavoring to escape paying any insurance, but he suggests that the mayor order an investigation. The latter accordingly turned the letter over to Chief Zitzmann who will look into the matter.

The chief stated to a Tribune man yesterday that from what he had seen and heard regarding the fire he was firmly convinced that it could have been extinguished at the outset with a pail of water. "It was said," said he, "that they couldn't find a pail."

MALOTT IS ON DUTY.

Appointed a Substitute Patrolman by Mayor Mohr.

John Malott, of North Lincoln avenue, whose name was submitted to council several months ago as an additional patrolman, was assigned to a beat in the central city this week by Mayor Mohr, as a substitute for one of the patrolmen suspended by him some time ago.

Malott has for many years been employed by John Benore & Son.

Scholarships.
The combined scholarship (a contract entitling the holder to both complete courses), now offered by the Scranton Business College for $100, is so liberal a contract that very few are purchasing it. This offer will soon be withdrawn.

Members of Scranton lodge, No. 123, B. P. O. Elks, are requested to meet at the lodge rooms on Friday afternoon at 1:15, to attend the funeral of our late brother, T. C. Snover.

W. S. Gould, Secretary.
F. C. Smith, Exalted Ruler.
Spend Your Evenings Profitably.
Young men and women who are employed during the day should qualify themselves to earn larger salaries by spending their evenings at a Scranton Business College night school.

NOT OPPOSING THE VIADUCT

PURPOSE OF KELLER BILL IN EQUITY FILED YESTERDAY.

There is a question as to the legality of increasing the City's Debt in the Manner Proposed, and the Complainant Wants This Question Passed Upon by the Court to Secure Protection to Himself and the Other Abutting Property Holders—Other Court Matters.

The bill in equity to restrain the city from further proceedings under the viaduct ordinance, which was printed at length in yesterday's Tribune, was filed yesterday by the complainant, Luther Keller, through L. E. attorneys, I. H. Burns and H. M. Streeter. The matter will probably come up in argument court.

According to Mr. Keller's explanation, the bill is not intended, primarily, to prevent the construction of the viaduct. He declares that he and the other property holders who stand with him in this matter, believe that the viaduct must be built some time and that the present scheme to build is probably the best that can be figured out. What prompts him in this action is a desire to fortify himself and the other abutting property holders against the possibility of being left without any standing in court when they come to seek damages mentioned. He declares that when a contractor accepts a job from the city it is the duty of the contractor to see to it that provision has been made for meeting the expense of the work. If he accepts and carries out a contract for which no appropriation has been made, he cannot collect a cent for his work.

Mr. Keller's attorneys inform him that he is in exactly the same position in the viaduct matter as the contractor in the instance above mentioned. If Mr. Keller permits the city to go ahead and seize his property and it afterwards develops that means of meeting the damages resulting from the seizure are not in conformity with the law, he will be compelled to suffer the seizure without recompense.

The fact that no preliminary injunction is asked for, and that the city, in consequence, is not stopped from proceeding with the work on the viaduct, if it sees fit, is pointed out as an evidence that Mr. Keller is not prompted by any direct opposition to the improvement itself. To a Tribune reporter, he said yesterday, after the bill in equity had been filed:

"If the courts will say that we property holders will be indemnified for the damages, and suitable arrangements made about the sidewalks, which are not covered by the viaduct, I will withdraw that bill. All I want to do is to test the validity of increasing the city debt beyond the over cent limit, as is attempted to be done in this case. If it is valid, as the city officials think, it will do no harm to have the court confirm their opinion. If it is not valid, the viaduct should not be built until a valid provision is made. It is not alone to my interest to test this matter as an affected property holder, but it is for the best interests of the city at large."

Willard, Warren and Knapp, attorneys for the Scranton Railway company and Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company, met with City Solicitor Vosburg yesterday morning to discuss the question. It was decided to file a joint answer to Mr. Keller's petition on behalf of the two companies and the city, all of whom are co-defendants in this case.

In Common Pleas Court.

Only two cases were before court yesterday, the two that were on the day before. In each, the taking of testimony was concluded just before adjourning time and the arguments to the jury will be begun at the opening of court this morning.

When the evidence in the $10,000 damage case of A. Bociansky against the Scranton Railway company was all in, Major Warren, attorney for the defense, made a motion to have the case taken from the jury on the grounds that no negligence on the part of the company was shown, and that the measure of damages offered by the plaintiff was not applicable, as the child who was killed was only 3 years of age, and what its earning capacity would be was too problematic to allow a jury to pass upon it. Judge Kelly did not think the points well taken and decided to let the case go to the jury.

In the case of the Exeter Machine company against the Pine Hill Coal company, which is on before Judge Archibald, the greater part of the day was taken up with arguments on the admissibility of testimony bearing on the question of implied guarantee.

The plaintiff claims it was not responsible for anything more than the material and construction of the screen in question, and if it did not

[Continued on Page 8.]

Neckwear that's stylish—Neckwear that's effective—Neckwear that's dainty in design and finish, and in every way desirable, can always be found here.

New Butterfly Ties, in three shades of red and the figured black.

Imperial and Narrow four-in-hands—up-to-date colors—plaids, stripes and figures.

50c.

"ON THE SQUARE"

803 Washington Ave.

It's All Over

And it's no news to our regular customers that we are selling the

BEST GOODS IN TOWN

We Want Everybody to Know It.

CASEY BROS

216 Lackawanna Avenue, Scranton, Pa.
PHONE 2162.

Costs Little.
Young men should realize that it costs less to spend their evenings at the Scranton Business College night school than it does to spend them on the street.

Children's Suits.....

Which we are offering at a figure that will make your countenance beam with satisfaction.

Unquestionably The Best

Dark Grey Oxfords, hard wear cloth suit with stayed pockets, piped facing, patent riveted buttons on pants, full canvas linen sewed, perfect fit, double seat, elastic waist band, unequalled value. Up-to-date styles. Sizes 9 to 16.

$2.49.

Clarke Bros

The Oriental

White China

We are now unpacking a large invoice of French "Elite" and German white novelties—the china decorator's delight. Stock not yet in order—but these in haste may have their wants gratified. German white china at about one-half the price of the French articles.
We attend to the firing, too.

SPECIAL.
A nine-inch vase, of German White China, is offered during the balance of this week at

35c

This was sold exclusively by Gruener & Co. 205 Wyoming Avenue.

Pierce's Market, Penn Avenue

Receiving daily. Fancy Domestic Grapes, Concord, Wines, Nectarines, Delaware, and other varieties. Also Malaga and Tokay Grapes, Peas, Pound Sweet Apples and Quinces, Cauliflower, Lima Beans, Spinach, Boston Head Lettuce, Celery Etc.
Strictly New Laid Eggs, Fancy Creamery Butter.

W. H. Pierce,
19 Lackawanna Ave. 110, 112, 114 Penn Ave.

Friday Business Bringers

"On Sale at Any Hour."

Reed Rockers A Splendid chance to buy handsome Ladies' Rocker, continuous roll, arm and back, seat is 14x18 inches, back is high enough for comfortable head rest. One to a customer..... $1.98

Roman Stools Upholstered Velvet seat, in handsome mahogany finish. Very popular at a popular price..... 98c

Jardiniere Stands. Decorated lamp—dome or round shape; a nobby lamp at a small price.

THE ECONOMY
49c. 221-223-225-227 Wyoming Ave. 69c.

216 Lackawanna Avenue, Scranton, Pa.
PHONE 2162.

We Can Cure
That uncomfortable, chilly feeling you have if you will come here and take advantage of the splendid offerings we are making in underwear.

CONRAD'S

305 Lackawanna Avenue

The House Beautiful

Ever realize how important the CARPETS

are in the furnishing of your home? This stock is absolutely new, each pattern selected not only for its beauty of design and coloring, but for its wearing qualities as well. It will meet you to investigate DRAPERIES,

RUGS,

WINDOW SHADES

P. McCrea & Co
427 Lackawanna Ave.

Emblems of Industry

The Popular Housefurnishing Store
That dainty industry of nimble feminine fingers are at high class work baskets of which there is such an endless variety. As an example of low basket prices we offer a handsome straw work basket lined for $1.00. It would make some one extremely happy. Mail orders promptly filled.

Foot & Fuller Co.
MEARS BUILDING,
140-42 Washington Ave.

TRIBUNE WANT ADS.

BRING QUICK RETURNS