MINER AND LABORER KILLED WHILE AT WORK

William Lammond and Joseph Markosky Met Instant Death by Fall of Rock in Pine Brook Shaft. William Lammond, of Phelps street, a miner at the Pine Brook shaft, and Joseph Markosky, of 238 New street, his laborer, were instantly killed yesterday morning by a fall of rock, while at work in the China vein at the mine. The tragedy occurred about 11 o'clock. The two men had been at work since 7 o'clock, and suddenly the roof gave way, and with a terrific crash, fully five tons of coal and rock came down upon the workers. When the miners in the other veins rushed to the spot, they found the chamber blocked with the mass of debris, and it was only after several hours' work that the bodies of Lammond and Markosky could be extricated. They were removed to Cusick's morgue, where Coroner J. J. Roberts examined them yesterday afternoon. He did not perform an autopsy, and there will be no inquest. Lammond was 23 years of age. He was unmarried and lived with his unmarried sister, of Phelps street. Markosky was 24 years of age and is survived by a wife and child in Poland. One of the driver boys brought an empty car into the chamber early in the morning. Just after Lammond and his laborer started to work. He went off and returned in about an hour and a half to take the car out. When he got into the chamber, he saw there had been a great fall of rock. Only a few lumps of coal were in the car, so that the fall must have occurred shortly after he left the chamber.

Mrs. Cannon was arrested only a few days ago by Special Officer George Dunlop on the charge of keeping a speakeasy. She eluded his vigilance, however, and managed to most beautifully "give him the slip."

WERE KEPT ON THE MOVE.

The Brennan Had a Lively First Day in Their New Home. Yesterday morning the family of Martin Brennan moved into Michael McDonough's story-and-a-half frame dwelling at 511 Meridian street. In the afternoon at 4:30 they moved out again in as big a hurry as they were capable of. An hour later they moved back again, more leisurely. Fire was responsible for the movements. The fire was defective, and when they lighted the stove the building took fire. The fire gained such a headway before it was discovered that they hurriedly tossed their belongings into the street and had them all removed when the Eagle company, in response to a still alarm, arrived. It required three tanks of fire to extinguish the blaze. The damage amounted to about $210. The fire being extinguished, the Brennans moved in again.

The services at the home were especially simple and were conducted by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Robinson, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. He spoke briefly, stating that the life of the dead man spoke for itself. Music was furnished by the quartette from the Second church, comprising the Messrs. Black and Garragan and the Messrs. DEVELOPMENT OF THE PIANO FORTE

Discussed in a Lecture Delivered by J. A. Pennington Before Musical Section of Woman's Club.

J. Alfred Pennington, director of the Scranton Conservatory of Music, delivered an exceedingly interesting lecture last night before the music section of the Green Ridge Women's club, taking as his theme, "The Development of the Piano Forte." He traced the development of this instrument from the early ages of history and pointed out that as early as the first century there were organs with keys on them. The instrument from which the piano was evolved was the monochord, which was known to the early Greeks. The monochord had but one string, and from it was evolved the clavichord, which was an instrument with many strings. The action was caused by a brass inlaid, which pressed against the strings and caused them to vibrate. "The action of the clavichord," said Mr. Pennington, "was so slight and the tone so unkind that composers of clavichord music were obliged to put in many little extra flourishes. A quiet effect could be produced on it which cannot be on the modern piano, and this loss is greatly to be deplored." A contemporary of the clavichord was the harpsichord. On this instrument the key operated a piece of mechanism which caused the strings to vibrate. One would pluck the strings of a harp, producing a tone totally unlike the tone of the clavichord. Up to the beginning of the eighteenth century, he said, the hammer had not been used to produce the tone.

GARBER OFFER ACCEPTED.

Mayor Moir Yesterday Signed the Compromise Resolution. Mayor Moir yesterday attached his signature to the resolution providing for an adjustment of the damage claim of Philip Garber against the city, which has been hanging fire for nearly five years. Garber conducted a barber shop in the basement of the old Coyne house. A hydrant at the curb became leaky and the escaping water, finding its way into the barber shop, did all sorts of damage from giving him rheumatism to rusting his razors—according to Garber's story. He sued the city for $1,900 damages and arbitrators allowed him $895. Councils thought this figure too high and directed the city solicitor to take an appeal. Garber was tired fighting and offered to settle for $695. Councils approved a resolution accepting the offer and yesterday the mayor also approved it.

"Churches of the Second and Presbyterian church will have charge of the music. President Waring intends to call the roll of the societies connected with the City union and every society is expected to respond with a full delegation.

Anthony Ulrich was held in $500 bail by Alderman Miller yesterday on the charges of forcible entry and attempted burglary preferred by Mrs. George Winant, of Capouse avenue. Late Thursday night, when her husband was at work, so she alleges, Ulrich climbed to the porch of her residence, removed his shoes and was in the act of entering her room when she screamed and brought in the neighbors. Ulrich escaped, but he had been recognized and early yesterday morning a warrant was issued for his arrest. In default of bail he was committed to jail to await trial.

TO BEGIN WORK OF ASSESSING

ASSISTANTS ARE TO START ON THE TASK TODAY.

It is the Tri-ennial Assessment When Every Property, Occupation and Other Assessable Thing Gets a New Rating—Board of Assessors Send Out a Letter of Instructions in Which Among Other Things It Urges the Assistants to Be Strictly Impartial—Names of Assistants. Work on the triennial city assessment will be begun this morning. The blotters and maps were furnished to the assessors yesterday, and the latter turned them over at once to their twenty-one assistants, with instructions to start out at once. The outside work is to be completed before December 31, and the inside work before the first of March. The twenty-one assistant assessors who have been appointed to look after the twenty-one wards are: First ward, Dan R. Watkins; Second ward, Thomas Shotton; Third ward, H. J. O'Malley; Fourth ward, George Shuman; Fifth ward, David W. Owens; Sixth ward, John R. Jones; Seventh ward, William E. Kane; Eighth ward, William H. Thomas; Ninth ward, John E. O'Malley; Tenth ward, John R. Nicholson; Eleventh ward, Peter P. Neils; Twelfth ward, John McDonough; Thirteenth ward, Eugene Sykes; Fourteenth ward, W. R. Stevens; Fifteenth ward, Eben P. Davis; Sixteenth ward, Simon Seigel; Seventeenth ward, Robert P. Kochler; Eighteenth ward, Edward Manly; Nineteenth ward, Oscar Strach; Twentieth ward, John E. O'Malley; Twenty-first ward, John R. Nicholson. With the books and maps was delivered to each assistant a set of instructions reading as follows: Assistant assessors shall observe the following rules: The assessment shall not be commenced before the board of city assessors is on the ground to instruct the assistants. When making the assessment the assessors shall begin with the lowest numbered block in the ward and proceed numerically to the highest numbered block therein, and shall in like manner begin with the lowest number lot in the block and proceed to the highest numbered lot. The assessor shall complete the assessment in each block, numerically, before the succeeding block is taken up or commenced. The assessor shall also assess all the property and occupations on each lot before commencing the succeeding lot and shall always assess a special assessment or line for occupation, which should have been included in the property. In every case where a dog is assessed the assessor shall note whether it is male or female and shall note his color, or breed, under the heading "remarks." The assessor shall in all cases assess the value of every home assessed, and, if the number is not conspicuous, they shall ascertain them from the inmates of the house. All property in the ward, taxable or exempt, shall be placed on the blotter, but when copying to the assessment book the exempt property is to be placed on one page or more in the latter part of the book, under the heading "exempt property," and what is a separate footing from that of the taxable property. It is required that you report, in writing, to the board, once each week, stating what progress you are making, and whether you need any further instructions. After you have completed your assessment, do not total blotters until the same have been examined by the board of assessors, the same to be completed by Dec. 31. Our advice to you, while making your assessment, is that you have no friends or enemies in making the same. Assess just, and should be honest, also, to make this the most complete and banner assessment ever made in the city. Respectfully, GUYMON A. JONES, GUYMON A. JONES, City Assessors.
