TWO CENTS.

REPORT ON AGRICULTURE

Annual Statement Made by Secretary James Wilson.

REVIEW OF THE BRANCHES

The Secretary Declares That It Is His Aim to Bring Department Scientists to the Help of the Producers—He Says That Appropriations Should Be Regarded as an Investment—Money-Saving and Money-Making Agencies.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Secretary Wilson, in his annual report, declares his own aim to be to bring the department scientists to the help of the producers, to ascertain what we import that they can produce, with a view to encouraging its growth; to search the world for grains, fruits, grasses, and legumes that they may be discovered here and be an improvement on what we have; to secure new and improved varieties of plants by cross-fertilization; to co-operate with the experiment stations in all the states and territories in research of practical value to the people of all sections; and to seek out new markets for our surplus products.

Mr. Wilson emphasizes the manner in which this department differs from others. He says its appropriations should be regarded as an investment, for the reason that it makes direct returns thereby by adding to the wealth of the country, thus adding yearly largely to the profits of the farmers and others as well as to the investigations. He instances as money saving or money making agencies the weather bureau, the meat inspection, the pathological investigations of plants, the services of the department on behalf of the sugar and industries, of the orange industry, which owes its beginning and its preservation to this department, of the tobacco industry, and others.

Then taking up the work of the department in more detail, he reviews the operations of its several branches. Bureau of Animal Industry. The number of abattoirs and packing houses receiving the benefit of inspection was 148 in 42 localities, as against 128 in 41 localities the preceding year. The total ante-mortem inspections of cattle aggregated 55,087, 894; animals rejected, subject to post-mortem, at abattoirs, 5,958; and in stock yards, 153,501. The total post-mortem inspections aggregated 217,411, the total carcasses condemned, 61,966. In the microscopic inspection of pork, 399,554 carcasses were examined. Of these, but 19,448, or 1.95 per cent, were found to contain living trichinae. The total cost of inspection was but a few dollars over $700,000. Of vessels inspected by officers of the bureau, 562 received clearances. Of the cattle shipped across the Atlantic, the loss amounted to but 24 per cent, of sheep, 71 per cent, and of horses, 2.55 per cent. It is interesting to note the great increase in the number of horses exported. Of these, over 20,000 were landed from American ports at London, Liverpool and Glasgow.

During the quarantine season of 1899 over a million cattle were moved under the supervision of the bureau from the district infected with the Southern cattle tick. In Texas alone, over 357,000 cattle were inspected for shipment to other sections. The sheep industry has suffered greatly from sheep scab, and much time and attention have been given to securing its control and eradication. Results so far are encouraging, and the secretary believes that a few more years of earnest work will effectually eradicate the disease. Over 1,800,000 sheep were inspected, and nearly 627,000 dipped under the supervision of the inspectors.

Preparing Serum. The work of preparing serum for treating hog cholera and the plague and experiments in treatment therewith are continued, with results which, while they do not justify definite conclusions as yet, are such as to encourage us to justify continued experiments, including some on entirely new lines. Over one million doses of blackleg vaccine have been distributed during the year. Summarized reports of 2,000 cattle in the numerous restrictions imposed by individual states, and at the same time furnish adequate protection.

With regard to rabies the secretary declares that this disease is unfortunately on the increase in the United States, and that local authorities have in most cases not efficiently controlled its outbreaks. He refers especially to its existence and increase in the District of Columbia.

POPE'S CONDITION.

Rev. Father Lacombe Believes the End Is Very Near.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Buffalo, Nov. 29.—A special from Montreal says:

"The Rev. Father Lacombe, who returned from Rome, a short time ago, is in the city on his way to his mission field in the Canadian northwest. When told by a reporter that alarming news had been received from Rome regarding the pope's condition, Father Lacombe said:

"Yes; the end is very near. The holy father's health was very poor when I saw him a few weeks ago. He received me as usual and questioned me concerning my mission, in which he seemed to take a great interest. But I could not help observing that a great change had taken place since last I saw him.

"He appeared thin and emaciated and his voice had a hollow ring. He was very feeble, so feeble in fact, that he could not move about without assistance. The audience continued for upward of a quarter of an hour, and at its conclusion the holy father blessed me and those whom I might bless on my return. He left the audience chamber I felt that I had seen the pope for the last time."

THE TRAGEDIES OF A HOLIDAY

Shooting Mania Breaks Out Anew at Various Places in the Sunny South.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 29.—Policeman Henry Riley and Chandlee Brooks were shot dead at the corner of Davis and Forsyth streets this afternoon by John Baxter, a young negro. Two negroes were in a freight when the officer arrested one of them the other escaping. While waiting for the patrol wagon Baxter and a number of other negroes demanded the officer to release the prisoner. Words ensued and before Riley could draw his pistol Baxter shot him dead. Brooks, an inoffensive negro, rushed to Riley's assistance and was shot in the forehead by Baxter. Ex-captain Tucker also received a severe wound from the murderer. Baxter escaped but was captured at 10 o'clock to-night.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 29.—In a bar-room near the depot at Norfolk, the saloon of Church Lewis, in Norfolk county, just across the Norfolk city line, Lewis shot Thomas Fogarty in the temple and Fogarty put three bullets into Lewis' stomach. Fogarty died in a few minutes. Lewis was removed to the Protestant hospital, where he lies between life and death. There was a personal difficulty by the men over a hat.

The coroner's jury returned a verdict that Fogarty was killed in self-defense. San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 29.—William Lacey, a policeman, and O. D. Blanton, a union telephone lineman, were shot and killed by Sam Smith, a non-union man, on the street here. It is said, are the outcome of a fight between union and non-union electrical workers. Officer Lacey was attempting to make an arrest when he was shot by Smith.

COULD NOT COMPETE WITH ROAST TURKEY

Inappropriateness of the Date Caused the Good Government Convention to Result in a Fizzle.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Pittsburg, Nov. 29.—Through the inappropriateness of the date and the failure of expected speakers to attend, the fourth annual convention of the National Good Government league was brought to a close tonight.

Major George A. Hilton, president, at the meeting tonight, announced that Thanksgiving was too much of a counter attraction; that the league had been disappointed in the attendance, and in the responses of those men who had been invited to speak and that all scheduled meetings were therefore called off.

Three sessions were held today, but poorly attended. At tonight's meeting the speaker was General J. M. McPherson, who addressed the annual address and Hon. R. S. Thompson of Springfield, O., followed with his scheduled address.

CORNELL IS IN GRIEF

Defeated by the University of Pennsylvania by Score of 27 to 0.

GAME WAS ONE-SIDED

Probably the Largest Crowd That Ever Attended a Football Game in Philadelphia Witnessed the Triumph of the U. P. Over the White and Carleian—Contest Rather Slow—Other Games.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—Before what was probably the largest crowd that ever attended a Thanksgiving day football game in this city, the University of Pennsylvania football team today defeated the Cornell eleven by the one-sided score of 27 to 0. Only once during the entire contest was the Quaker goal line in danger of being crossed by an Ithaca player, and during most of the time the ball was in Cornell's territory. Pennsylvania won the battle by straight, hard hitting. The white and Carleian men played fiercely at times, but no matter how hard they tried, old Pennsylvania could not be halted on her march to victory. The Quakers' main play was their famous quarterback, forward, which they worked like a machine.

Soon after the game began, it became apparent that the players of both teams were not all in that prime condition which is generally expected in big games. Captain Starbuck, who had just recovered from injuries, was forced to leave the field soon after play started. Captain Hare also showed signs of lack of condition and although he did not leave his team, he frequently was laid out. True, he put up his usual hard, aggressive game, but he failed to shine as brilliantly as he has heretofore. It was his last game as a Pennsylvania player, and it was expected he would put up the greatest football of his brilliant career. McCracken, who has shined both as a star guard and full back for the past four years and who lined up for the last time today on the Quaker team also had to quit the game because of injuries he sustained to his knee. Nearly all the spectators in the four crowded stands rose and cheered him as he was dragged from the gridiron. With one or two exceptions, the players of the Cornell eleven did the same not much the worse for wear.

The contest during most of the time was rather slow and lacked spirit. However, there were a few plays that made a dash play only to fall back into the same languid style of advancing the ball or defending the goal, of the few brilliant plays that marked the game, Potter's run of 55 yards for a touchdown outshone all the others. The feet half back was given the ball exactly in the center of the field for a plunge through the middle of Cornell's line. Penn's big forwards opened a hole big enough for the quarterback and horse and cart to drive through the Ithaca line. Potter almost fell as he was pushed into the hole, but he kept his feet and made a wild dash for Cornell's goal line. After the Cornell men and recovered from their surprise, four of them started across chase after the little man with the ball. Just as Potter reached the five yard mark one of Cornell's big line men grasped him around the waist, but Potter managed to stumble over the line and he proved to be Penn's last touchdown. The great run was all over in almost a flash.

Next to Potter's run was Morrison's sprint for thirty yards around Penn's end. The Cornell eleven did not find up for a kick, but it proved to be a "fake" move, and the Quaker men were completely taken in by the manœuvre. This dash of Morrison's aroused much enthusiasm among the Cornell spectators. The Quaker men pushed the Quakers down the field for a distance of forty yards, when the New York state team lost the ball on an attempt to kick a field goal from the Quaker line.

Outside of the above mentioned instances, there was little brilliant individual playing. Purcell and Morrison played strong, consistent foot ball in the face of adversity. The other men on the Cornell eleven did not get much chance as the Quakers seldom had the leather long enough to give others than the backs an opportunity to advance the pig skin. For the Quakers, Hare and McCracken did the best work until they were hurt. Teas and Wallace were not far behind them, while the performances of the two Gardner and the half backs were worthy of mention. In the kicking line J. Gardner had a little the better of it after Starbuck quit the game, and neither side had anything on the other when it came to fumbling. There was very little "butterflying" playing, and what there was of it was not costly. The Quaker team had a tendency to charge before the ball was passed, and it was frequently penalized for this offense.

Penn's First Touchdown. Pennsylvania's first touchdown was made on pure line bucking and plunging. Pennsylvania secured the ball in mid-field and forced it down to Cornell's fifteen-yard line, where it was lost on a fumble. The Quakers soon regained possession of it on the Cornell fifty-yard line and this time, without losing the leather, carried it by the aid of the guards back to and over the Ithaca goal line.

The score was raised to ten points by the Quakers on a field goal by Hare, Penn, after carrying the leather to Cornell's five-yard line, was penalized.

AN INVENTOR KILLED.

Stepped Out of the Way of One Train and Was Run Down by Another.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Halcyon Skinner, the inventor, was killed by an express train on the New York Central railroad yesterday. Mr. Skinner was in the habit of walking along the railroad tracks to his back house. He went out as usual and was on the track when a southbound train approached. He stepped out of the way of that train and was struck by a northbound train. Mr. Skinner's reputation as the inventor of looms for the weaving of tapestry, axminster and evenille carpets was world-wide. He invented what is now known as the "drum" and the present handsome appearance of tapestry carpets is due to that invention.

The chamber of deputies, including country, axminster and evenille carpets was world-wide. He invented what is now known as the "drum" and the present handsome appearance of tapestry carpets is due to that invention. In 1886 he invented a loom for the weaving of body Brussels, etc.

CLERK'S ACCOUNTS SHORT $100,000

Starting Discovery Made by the Death of George R. Griffiths at Cincinnati.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Cincinnati, O., Nov. 29.—The accounts of George R. Griffiths, who was clerk of the board of education here for thirteen years previous to his death, Oct. 1, 1900, are short at least $100,000, and it is thought that he had most of the money backing his favorites. He was known to make wagers on tracks at Chicago and elsewhere. He was one of the leading spirits in the organization of the Oakley race track which closed down two years ago after the stockholders had lost thousands of dollars in improving the track. It is known also that he was fond of the card games, but it is thought that most of the money he lost went on the horses. His net worth was $5,000. He left a small estate but it is said this will not meet more than one-fifth of the shortage and his bondsmen will have to make up the remainder. A special meeting of the board has been called for tomorrow to take action in the matter. Shortly after his death, Mrs. Griffiths removed with her daughter to Evansville, Ind.

REPORT OF THE FACTORY INSPECTOR

The Most Prosperous Year in the History of the Department—Effect of Sanitary Laws.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Harrisburg, Nov. 29.—Factory Inspector Campbell has submitted to Governor Stone a report for the year ending October 31 last. He says this has been the most prosperous year in the history of the department, owing to the enlargement of plants and the starting of new enterprises in almost every section of the state. There are 73,443 persons employed in the industrial establishments of the state, of whom 35,449 are between 12 and 16 years of age. There were 2,557 accidents, mostly due to carelessness, of which 112 were fatal. The new law which has resulted in improved sanitary conditions. The law regulating the manufacturing of clothing has resulted in sanitary improvements and better regulations and in Pittsburg and Philadelphia large amounts of opothins found in houses where contagious disease existed, were destroyed.

Mr. Campbell recommends a general law placing the inspection of engines and boilers under the jurisdiction of the department, and that his deputies be empowered to enforce the fire escape law. This year 2,700 more factories and shops were inspected than last year and the small number of deputies prevents in most cases more than one inspection, which leads the inspector to ask for an increase of force.

SINKING OF YOSEMITE

The United States Auxillary Cruiser Parts Her Cable in a Gale in the Harbor of Guam.

STORY OF THE DISASTER

The Vessel Strikes a Reef in the Harbor of San Luis d'Apra, Guam, During the Typhoon of Nov. 13. Six Men Drowned—138 of the Crew and 26 Marines Are Transferred to the Justin—Other Damage from the Typhoon.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Manila, Nov. 29.—Rear Admiral Remey has as yet received no official report of the loss of the United States auxiliary cruiser Yosemite, which parted her cables and struck a reef off the harbor of San Luis d'Apra, Guam, during the typhoon of Nov. 13, and was subsequently driven to sea by the gale, where she sank Nov. 15. The United States cruiser Newark will sail for Guam tomorrow to investigate the circumstances of the disaster. According to advices received here from unofficial sources the wind was blowing from the southeast in the early morning of Nov. 13 at the rate of 100 miles an hour. The Yosemite had two anchors down, but both were dragged a mile across the harbor entrance. At 11 a. m. she struck the reef and stove in forward. She drifted for an hour and at noon struck the rocks, near Santa, carrying away her rudder and damaging her propeller. A launch had been sent to find shelter, but it capsized and the occupants were drowned. They were Coxswain Swanson, Seaman George Aibel, Engineer J. L. Mahoney and Fireman J. L. Davis and Joseph Anderson.

The storm abated somewhat at 1 p. m., but was then renewed with violence from the southwest. A dozen of the crew attempted to carry a launch ashore, but the boat capsized, although all the occupants managed to reach the land. Meanwhile the Yosemite was being blown seaward, her head down and the forward compartment filling. The boiler and engine rooms, however, were free of water and the pumps were kept going. The cruiser was kept afloat until the afternoon of Nov. 15, when the United States Collier Justin, which also had suffered damage to her anchors and narrowly escaped the reef was sighted.

Attempted to Tow the Yosemite. The Justin attempted to tow the Yosemite by two chains and two cables, but these parted. Finally, 138 of the Yosemite's crew, twenty-six marines and nine officers were transferred to the Justin, together with 368,000 Mexican money. The Yosemite soon plunged head foremost into the sea. The members of the crew were provided with temporary quarters at Agaña, which suffered badly from the hurricane. The typhoon was of unprecedented violence, many are reported to have been killed or injured. At Agaña three were killed and ten died of exposure.

The town of Marajan was destroyed, thirty of the townspeople being killed and many others injured. It is believed that there was considerable loss of life elsewhere in Guam, and all the crops are destroyed. Many dwellings in Agaña were demolished. Mrs. White, wife of Major White, of the marine corps, the only white woman on Agaña, took refuge with her husband and Commander Seaton Schroeder, naval governor of Guam, in the cellar of the governor's mansion, which was partly filled with water. The United States steamer Solace, commander Herbert Winslow, which left San Francisco, November 2, for Manila, was expected to arrive at Guam, November 24, with supplies for the families of Governor Schroeder and the other officers.

He Believes That Senators Foraker and Hanna Are Entitled to Honor.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Cleveland, Nov. 29.—It has been definitely settled that General Charles Dick, chairman of the Ohio Republican committee, will not be a candidate for election to the United States senate. In response to the recent endorsement of the American Loyal Republican league, General Dick has written a letter to John Houska, president of the organization, in which the statement is made that he will not be a candidate for the senate. The letter concludes as follows: "Ohio is now represented by Senators Foraker and Senator Hanna, both of whom have performed distinguished services to the country; and, unless called to higher duties and clothed with distinguished honors, both are entitled and deserve to be continued in the senate."

THANKSGIVING IN NEW YORK

Charitable People Celebrate the Day in Deeds of Kindness—Service on the Warships.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. New York, Nov. 29.—Thanksgiving day was celebrated in Greater New York and vicinity in old-fashioned style, though the day, as far as the weather was concerned, was anything but merry. Heavy clouds and a raw, damp atmosphere prevailed, and in the afternoon a hard driving rain came to annoy those people who, from pleasure or necessity, were out of doors. As usual, many people spent a portion of the day in churches, and there was the usual complement of Thanksgiving sermons and fine music. All the charitable and penal institutions save the inmates' beautiful dinners, and the numerous missions throughout the city fed the poor. A dinner for 1,000 newboys, in the newboys' lodging house, was provided from a fund left by Mrs. W. W. Astor. Mrs. William E. Dodge also furnished a dinner to the newboys in the east-ern side lodging houses. Miss Helen Gould entertained the little cripples in her children's home, Woody Crest. Inmates of the state prison at Sing Sing were excused from work during the day and had an extra bill of fare at breakfast and dinner, turkey being served at the latter meal. The men in the condemned cells enjoyed the same fare as the other prisoners.

Following the usual religious services of the day, the members of the Brooklyn navy yard partook of turkey and plum duff. About fifty civilians had special invitations to help the tars dispose of the provender, and following the dinner there were athletic sports. The battleship Massachusetts, in the biggest craft at the yard, and Captain Charles J. Train, who commands her, made a personal inspection of the preparations for his men's dinner. The "glam" report, however, was on the receiving ship Vermont, and it was there that the majority of the civilians were guests.

FALL OF ROOF KILLS SEVEN

Tragedy at San Francisco Yesterday Afternoon.

A LIST OF THE VICTIMS

The Roof of the San Francisco and Pacific Glass Works, Upon Which a Number of Boys Were Seated, Gives Way—Several Are Killed and Fifty Injured.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. San Francisco, Nov. 29.—By the collapse of the roof of the San Francisco and Pacific glass works at Fifteenth and Bryant streets this afternoon, seven persons were killed and about fifty people were more or less injured. The victims were watching a football game between the Stanford and University of California teams, when the roof beneath them gave way precipitating them to the floor of the factory. Some of them fell upon the furnaces and one man of unknown identity is said to have been burnt almost to a crisp.

The crash of the falling roof was heard a great distance away and thousands of people hurried to the scene. Messages were sent to the city receiving hospitals and the morgue and all the available ambulances were hurried to the spot. At the central receiving hospital at the time of the accident there was but one doctor on duty, and he was totally unable to attend the cases as they came in. A summons was sent out immediately calling nearby doctors in the neighborhood to come to render assistance. The crowd was gathered upon the roof of a building directly over the furnace of the glass works. When the roof collapsed the occupants were precipitated upon the heated top and rolled off.

Forty seriously injured. Fully forty were seriously injured. They were found lying in a row and most of them were badly mangled. There were more than 200 people on the roof when it collapsed, and of these at least sixty were down. Those who were fortunate enough to be on a solid section of the building hurried down and helped remove the injured. The heat around the furnace was so great, however, that to many no assistance could be rendered, and they slowly roasted to death. Not two hundred yards away were 20,000 people, watching the football game, and when the news became known there was intense excitement among them. The ushers went through the crowd calling for doctors, and many surgeons hurriedly left the game. The living victims of the disaster were taken to various hospitals. The Southern Pacific hospital, within two blocks of the scene, was soon overcrowded and ambulances were hurried to the spot. Those who were wounded had to be carried away. They were hurried to St. Luke's, the receiving hospital and nearby drug stores. So scattered were they among the various institutions that it was at first impossible to tell exactly how many were hurt or how seriously they were injured. The coroner did not have enough wagons to remove the dead and they were taken away in express wagons. Many private carriages were waiting outside the foot ball grounds and these were pressed into service to take away the wounded.

List of the Dead.

The following is a list of the dead, most of them being boys: George E. DeL. William Valenta, M. Van Lyra, J. A. Mulrooney, Thomas Rippon, John Oakes, Tully and Barnwell, Carroll Harold, Frank Newby. Four bodies have not been identified. Eighty-two persons, more or less injured, have been taken to the various hospitals or removed to their homes. Most of those killed or injured were boys between nine and sixteen years of age. So far as known this list comprises all the dead. It is reported that one man, Joseph Gumpfer, fell into the furnace and his body was incinerated. The manager of the glass works realized the danger before the accident occurred and had intended to close the factory to compel the crowd to leave. Just as a squad of officers arrived from the city had the roof went down.

RECEPTION TO ARCHBISHOP CORRIGAN

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. New York, Nov. 29.—A large number of the most prominent Catholics in the city together with prominent persons of other sects, tendered a reception to Archbishop Corrigan at the Cathedral this tonight. There was intended as a reception to Archbishop Corrigan on his return from his pilgrimage to Rome, and his visit to the pope. It was thought that something might be said on the possibility of Archbishop Corrigan being appointed one of the eleven cardinals to be seated at the apostolic see in Rome in January, but there was no hint or indication of this tonight.
