THIRD DAY OF CONVENTION

INTERESTING SESSIONS OF RIBBONERS ARE CONTINUED.

Resolutions Are Adopted—A Protest Against Legislation Calculated to Protect the Sale of Liquor—Sympathy for Organized Labor Is Reaffirmed—Vice in the Philippines Is Denounced.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Washington, D. C. Dec. 6.—The morning yesterday was taken up mainly with an open question-box, the answers being very fruitful and instructive.

Mrs. Graham of New York, the national music director, sang most beautifully and effectively that touching hymn, "I'll go where you want me go, dear Lord."

Each department of the National W. C. T. U. was asked to give a brief testimony concerning their work, when each officer responded with a beautifully appropriate Scripture verse.

The parliamentary department, through Miss M. C. Brehm, responded, "Let all things be done, Sailors." Department responded, "Sow thy seed beside all waters." The railroad department had the promise, "The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth." The medal reciting contest gave the verse, "In the race many run, but one receiveth the prize."

Mrs. Stevens, the president of the convention, and Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, of the Reform bureau, attended congress during the morning and had a hearing of the Bowerstock or anti-canteen bill, which the women of the W. C. T. U. will never give up until it is passed.

Mrs. Helen L. Bullock, from New Jersey, answered many questions during the morning, asking about the work of the purity department. It was very encouraging to hear that over 78 per cent. of girls reclaimed from lives of vice become true, trustworthy women.

Mrs. Greenwood's daily evangelistic service near the noon hour is becoming one of the most helpful seasons of the day, so many participating, and such a devotional spirit being manifest.

Mrs. Margaret Platt, president of the Washington (state) W. C. T. U., led in prayer at the beginning of the afternoon session, and later was presented with an immense bouquet of roses and carnations from the temperance young ladies of the city of Washington, in grateful appreciation of the hospitality accorded them at the convention at Seattle last year.

Dangers to Boyhood.

Rev. Thomas, of Missouri, addressed the convention on "The Dangers to Boyhood," declaring himself to be in sympathy with their trials, and devoted to the purpose of helping them to be true and pure. He spoke of the sneers directed against any boy who tries to be morally upright, of the dangers of impure literature, and the help they had found in Missouri from a Purity league connected with the public school, with a pledge, white badge, and weekly talks on topics in this line.

Mrs. Caroline F. Grow, the business manager of the Union Signal and an officer of the Women's Temperance Publishing association, spoke at some length of the history and progress of that society, started in 1880, and in thirty years having increased its capital stock from $5,000 to $125,000.

Mrs. Graham, of New York, sung most touchingly a pathetic ballad, whose burden was:

Forth from the hearthstone the children go,
Fair as the sunlight, pure as the snow;
A licensed wrong on a crowded street,
Setting a snare for the guileless feet;
Say, will they ever come back as they go,
Fair as the morning, pure as the snow?

Mrs. Lovell, of Pennsylvania, talked with great force on "Mercy to Animals," speaking particularly of the wearing of birds, referring to the new statute of Governor Roosevelt fining wearers of birds on hats, which is being enforced.

Mrs. Sibley, of Georgia, arose to announce the dispensary law just defeated in favor of total prohibition. Mrs. Spencer, of Alabama, then stated the fact that Vermont had passed a strict anti-cigarette law. Delegate after delegate sprang up to announce similar triumphs in different states during the year, and the audience arose and sung the doxology to a most peculiar and lively "Southern tune," which appeared to be well known.

The tribute of one of the visiting ministers was recalled: "Temperance women, if given their way, would form laws that would make it as hard as possible to do wrong and as easy as possible to do right," and surely the Women's Christian Temperance union had much to do with the accomplishment of these enactments.

Resolutions Passed.

The following are the resolutions adopted by the convention:

We, the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, in twenty-seventh annual convention assembled, gratefully acknowledge the guiding hand of God in all our history; especially do we thank him for the blessings of the past year, for the continued health and wise leadership of our officers, for the victory in the interest of the home in the exclusion of Brigham H. Roberts, of Utah, from the house of representatives, for the doors which have been newly opened to us, for the expansion of our work, and for the largest increase in membership of the decade. We pledge renewed loyalty to the Woman's Christian Temperance union, and to its principles, as set forth in the following resolutions:

Because our complex social system brings high mental and physical pressure to the life of all, and is filled with subtle temptations to young and old, foremost among which is the drink habit; we urge, by every consideration of our common humanity, and the love and precepts of the Christ, that men and women, Christians and patriots everywhere, shall practice and encourage the habit of total abstinence from all alcoholic beverages. Most especially should this rule bind those of power and wide influence.

Inasmuch as total abstinence for the individual, and legal prohibition of the liquor traffic for the state and nation, are fundamental principles of our work, we aim to bring the voice of the church and the home to legislative bodies, whether local, state or national, to secure the enactment of prohibitory laws.

We believe all laws licensing the liquor traffic to be inherently unconstitutional according to the decision of the Supreme court of the United States, viz: "No legislature has the right to bargain away the public health or public morals."

We declare anew for the entire suppression of the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation and transportation of alcoholic liquors as a beverage by federal and state legislation, and to this end we are determined as individuals and as an organization, to labor incessantly for the revocation of all legal sanction of the liquor traffic, and for the absolute prohibition by law of the same, whether in municipalities, townships, counties or state, in the nation or its dependencies.

We wish here to express our grateful appreciation to all churches and organizations, to men and women of all classes, creeds and conditions, who have in any way helped to establish this righteous principle.

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP.

We reaffirm our oft-repeated conviction that civilization alone is Christian which is based upon the eternal laws of righteousness. We are opposed to whatever hinders the establishment of the kingdom of God upon earth, and we call upon all members of the church of Jesus Christ, both men and women, to prove their loyalty to Him, by standing for truth, justice and righteousness in the home, in the church, in the state and at the ballot box. We believe that a truer concept of all that is involved in Christian citizenship is the crying need of the church today.

THE BALLOT.

Believing that the disfranchisement of woman is contrary to the fundamental principle of our government, and out of harmony with the idea of Christian co-operation for the highest good of humanity, we shall continue to educate and agitate for equal suffrage until our nation carries out in practice what it promises in theory by conferring upon woman all her rights as a citizen.

LABOR.

We re-affirm our sympathy with organized labor in its just demands for a living wage, an eight hour day, and in all wise efforts for justice and freedom. At the same time we earnestly entreat the labor forces to stand with us in opposing intemperance, the direct foe of all classes, and the legalized liquor traffic, the most aggressive and tyrannical of monopolies. We believe that the solution of the liquor problem in righteousness will go far towards the solution of the labor problem in justice.

PURITY.

We stand for implicit obedience to the divine principle of purity, believing the command "Keep thyself pure" to be equally binding upon man and woman.

We appeal to all people who love righteousness to stand with us in the effort to secure better purity laws.

We endorse the action of our general officers in petitioning the president of the United States and the secretary of war against the protection of established, inspected, and maintained prostitution for the American soldier in the Philippines by the consent of military authority. Notwithstanding the reply of the war department that so far as it is advised no such conditions exist, still through many reliable sources information comes that unspeakable conditions of drink and licentiousness exist in these islands under the protection of the American flag. We therefore call upon all right-thinking people to unite with us in protesting with all possible emphasis against our government's regulating vice in any form, and more especially that which is calculated to foster that crime which degrades its citizens, destroys the purity of the family and deteriorates the race.

Elizabeth Preston (chairman), Ellen D. Morris (secretary), Katherine Lente Stevenson, Margaret Dye Ellis, Margaret B. Platt, Mary Hasslup, Frances J. Barnes, committee.

The day was one of wide discussion of national and legal affairs. The pure food bill was endorsed by the convention, and the general action of the press in condemning "Sapho," "The Degenerates" and "Zaza" was commended.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Tunkhannock, Dec. 6.—The jury commissioners and sheriff were in session here on Tuesday for the purpose of drawing the jury for the January term of court. The list as drawn by them is as follows: Grand jurors—H. W. Bacon, Meshoppen; Deemer Biddleman, Tunkhannock; James F. Bodle, Eaton; E. L. Bacon, Nicholson, Abram A. Carter, Meshoppen borough; Henry Deitz, North Branch; E. K. Easton, Windham; George W. Ferris, Tunkhannock township; John B. Fassett, Tunkhannock borough; Edward D. Fassett, Windham; George M. Gunder, Washington; Thomas Hose, North Branch; F. B. Jennings, Tunkhannock borough; George T. Miller, Montrose; Lester Prevost, Washington; L. B. Pratt, Nicholson; Benjamin Space, Tunkhannock; George Simpson, Tunkhannock; Jacob Stroud, Meshoppen borough; Wallace Traver, Monroe; B. H. Wilbur, Tunkhannock; R. Y. Whipple, Mehoopany; Harvey C. Wall, Exeter; Henry Young, Northmoreland. These jurors are ordered to report here on Monday, Jan. 18, at 2 o'clock.

The following were drawn as petit jurors for the sessions court: Braintrim township, C. M. Strong; Clinton township, Brayton Cobb, N. B. Reynolds; Eaton township, Walter Phillips, George Rogers; Exeter, Henry Saxe; Falls, John Ayers, Clarence Dickinson, Jesse Hubler, Charles Nesbit; Lemon, A. A. Hempstead, Charles Smith; Meshoppany, James D. Crompton, George Decker, John Russell, Case Vaughn; Meshoppen borough, Poe Allen; Meshoppen township, James Gardner, John Moway; Nicholson borough, B. THEATRICAL.

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE WEEK.

Lyceum.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday and Saturday matinee—"Way Down East."

Academy of Music.

All Week—The Ideals in repertoire.

Gaiety.

Last Three Days—"The Gay Butterfly."

"Way Down East."

At the Lyceum last evening "Way Down East" was presented to an audience which was only limited by the size of the theater. This simple and pastoral drama is not a problem play, and the characters are not degenerates, but it is a clean and wholesome story of New England farm life. Some slight changes in the cast have been made since its last performance here. Charles C. Blanchard repeated his amusing performance of the village constable, and George Mack caused many a laugh as Hi Holler, the chore boy.

Irma La Pierre, as the betrayed girl, was sweet and pathetic. Scott Cooper as the farmer, Marion Lester as his wife, Henry L. Keane as his son, John P. Brown as the professor, and C. A. Hutchinson as the city villain, all played their parts well. A word should also be said for the village church choir, which sang several old fashioned songs very harmoniously. The play will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night with a matinee tomorrow afternoon.

Extravaganza at Gaiety.

The most novel feature of the Gay Butterfly's Extravaganza company at the Gaiety this week is undoubtedly that furnished by the Metvett Duo, the Russian dancers, who appeared in an act that evoked the most enthusiastic applause yesterday, at both matinee and evening performances. Other meritorious numbers were presented by Miss Amy Nelsen, the comedienne; and Barth and Fleming, in their grotesque eccentrics. The two burlesques, 'Doing the Rounds on Cay Paree" and "The Divorce Court," afforded opportunities for much bright music and the usual amount of horse play without which the up-to-date burlesque would as a rule be deemed too slow.

The comedians in some of the turns were unfortunate in being obliged to recite jokes that have been pretty well worn by constant use since the season opened, but many of the flashes of humor were original and good and received proper recognition. The Tattercills will be at the Gaiety the balance of the week with matinees daily.

"Northern Lights."

The engagement of The Ideals at the Academy has been most satisfactory and delighted audiences witness each performance. This afternoon "The Lost Paradise" will be given with Miss Earle in the role of Cinders, the spark from the factory furnace.

Tonight, by popular demand, the company will again present the great American play, by Harkins & Barbour, entitled "Northern Lights." The play is founded on facts connected with the lamentable Custer massacre at the Little Big Horn in 1870 by Sitting Bull and his band of braves.

Whenever the Northern Lights appeared in the heavens that was the signal for the Ogallalas and Brule Sioux's to take the war path. The northern lights were in the heavens at the time of the above massacre, not a living thing escaped Miles Keogh's horse Commanche. All the above will be faithfully portrayed at the Academy tonight.

Rice and Barton's Company.

Messrs. Rice and Barton claim of their many companies that their big gaiety and "McDoodle's Flats" is the best. The present offering embraces upwards of some forty artists and the programme consists of comedy, high-class vaudeville and extravaganza. There is a number of clever people with the company, including Miss Idylla Wyner, the portean character artist; J. K. Mullen, the king of Irish comedians, assisted by Annie Dunn; Eckhoff and Gordon, eccentric musicians; Rut and Retto in the most original, high class eccentric burlesque comedy act before the public; Sisters Princeton, very pretty and accomplished; Gibbons and Barrett, travesty artists; Revere Sisters, in their lightning changes; the costumes being all bright, new and fetching. There is also a chorus of pretty and shapely girls, who appear in a conglomeration of mirth, music and melody. Rice and Batton's two big shows in one, with the two proprietors at every performance, will occupy the stage at the Gaiety first three days of next week, with matinees as usual.

Burke Vaudeville Company.

The forthcoming entertainment of Burke Vaudeville company at the Lyceum on Tuesday, matinee and night, will maintain its reputation for giving only that which delights and amuses. Among those who will win popular approval is Lillian Burkhart, an actress of rare culture and a woman whose genius is stamped upon everything she does. In her earlier career she was a great favorite as a superb elocutionist and for several seasons was in the hands of the Grand Army men of this state, many of whom will probably recall the fact that she is one of three women in the United States who have a right to wear a G. A. R. badge. She has a beautiful one of solid gold presented to her by the state encampment of Pennsylvania.

Manager Burke will present her to our theatergoers in a merry sketch written especially for her by that distinguished playwright, Herbert Hall Winslow, entitled "A Passing Fancy," in which Miss Burkhart's fine talents as a comedienne are shown to great advantage. With her comes Sidney Grant and Agnes Norton, two clever travesty artists, whose work is amazingly merry and unique. Next comes the marvelous dances, Elzeta, a wonderful toe dancer, whose grace is unsurpassed, and who plays her own accompaniment on the piano while she dances. Two rollicking Irish comedians are Casey and LeClair, above the ordinary, whose fun is lively, but always artistic. Lavender Richardson, six years old, a veritable encyclopedia of knowledge, who astounds in his ability to answer any questions put to him. The Rexford Brothers, English acrobats, who have only recently arrived in this country, but whose work is exceedingly clever. Unquestionably the best and sweetest singer on the vaudeville stage today is Sophie Burnham. She is more than pleasing and never fails to delight. With such an array of high class comedy the vaudeville company cannot help attracting the attention of all who enjoyed their merry performances.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Dec. 6.—A determined effort was made in the stock market today to attract a renewal of speculation for a time. In the early dealings there was a fair degree of openness attending the effort under the influence of striking gains in a few stocks. Strength persisted in a few stocks throughout the day but it was offset during the latter part of the day. A large part of the list fell back to about last night's level and wavered in an uncertain way until the closing, which was generally easy. There was a considerable short interest as a result of the weakness of the market earlier in the week, which proved vulnerable to the rather imposing show of strength this morning and covering movement helped the rise. Even amongst those stocks which were afterwards the weakest there were some considerable gains during the early strength, both sugar and Tennessee coal getting up about a point. Quite a number of important stocks achieve gains of near a point but a careful scrutiny of the market showed that the movement all day was distinctly one of special stocks. The low priced non-dividend paying railroad stocks were the favorites, especially the Erie and the Wabash issues, both stocks and bonds. Nothing authoritative could be learned to explain this movement which rumor attributed both to buying for Vanderbilt control and to joint plans for consolidation and through traffic arrangements of the two lines. The rise extended to over 2 points in the Erie first preferred, and to 2½ in the second preferred, and both closed at about the top, being practically the only stocks in the list to do so. Besides these stocks there were upwards of thirty stocks selling under 40, which were advanced from a half to 1½ per cent. Sugar was active and feverish all day and apparently the traders were seeking to retrieve their losses on the bull side by a bear campaign. They circulated a report of the serious illness of the president of the company, which was denied. The stock fell an extreme 3⅝, and closed only slightly better at a net loss of 2¼. Tennessee Coal was even more acutely affected and fell altogether 5⅞ to 61, closing at the lowest with a loss of 4¾ on the day. The report was confidently circulated that it had been determined to pass the next dividend on the stock. Total sales 762,300 shares.

The bond market was active and consistently strong, many low grade issues and contingent interests advancing strongly. Total sales, par value, $6,425,000. U. S. new 4s declined ⅜ per cent. on the last call.
