WHITNEY ON STATESMAN

KINDLY REFERENCE TO HON. GALUSHA A. GROW.

A Vandling Man Unearths a Big Skeleton—The Logical Republican Candidate for State Senator—The Nestor of Susquehanna's Bar—Sue Graham's Expectations — Paragraphs Picked Up.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Susquehanna, Dec. 7.—A Washington correspondent, writing in July, 1888, said: "A noted statesman who is occasionally seen in Washington, is Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania, who was speaker of the memorable war congress, which was called in special session on July 4, 1861. He is well preserved, and although politically on the shelf, has lost none of the amiability for which he was distinguished." Several years ago the Republicans of Pennsylvania took Mr. Grow off the shelf, and they have since been sending him to congress, to the tune of 200,000 to 300,000 majority. Describing the opening of congress on Monday last, Julian Hawthorne, the Philadelphia North American representative, says: "There was Galusha Grow, whom I could call venerable were he not so conspicuously youthful. If he were to dye the white hair that brushes on both sides of his tall head, and the beard that tufts his chin, he would not look forty."

REACHED THE GOAL.

In a headed article, the New Milford Advertiser notes with pleasure that "after a laborious grind of forty years of practice," a physician of the place has placed a bath and closet in his residence. It will be an incentive to medical students everywhere to work harder when they realize that after riding for forty years over the humped and huddling hills they can, in the evening of their life, rest from their labors and place a closet in their house.

"BOUNCE THE BLABBERS."

Under the headline, "Bounce the Blabbers," a nearby editor makes vigorous protests against the chatterers who disturb theatre and lecture audiences. It offers a reward of $5 for the first usher who will "go after such idiots in the proper manner," and refers to them as having a mouth that "would be a profitable enterprise if turned into a wind-mill."

PARAGRAPHIC PICKUPS.

In Lanesboro on Wednesday evening almost everything had arrived for a wedding—the bride, the clergyman, the fiddle and the beer—all except the bridegroom, and he never materialized.

A Vandling man has unearthed the skeleton of a woman eight feet high. Some poor cave digger had to trot around mighty lively between the woodpile and the pump, and don't you forget it!

A Great Bend editor states: "The aim of capital punishment should be to reform the criminal." Ah-um!"

The pet goat of Mrs. Cassidy, of Forest City, is dead. His death is due to the fact that he couldn't resist the temptation to butt his mistress as she was bending over the well drawing a bucket of water. As soon as she was fished out of the well she ordered his instant execution.

The editor of the Hallstead Herald was recently "held up" by some footpads. The highwaymen escaped with their pocket-books.

SOME NEWS MATTERS.

There is sleighing along the Jefferson branch.

The first of a series of Farmers' Institutes to be held in Susquehanna county is in session today at Auburn Centre.

It is expected that the Erie shopmen will be paid on Monday, December 24.

The Crescent Club will hold a masquerade ball at the Starrucca house December 28.

The Oakland Congregational church will erect a $20,000 church edifice.

Colonel Charles C. Pratt, of New Milford, appears to be the logical Republican candidate for state senator from this district. He would fill the position with credit and ability. He is a man of affairs—a gentleman and a scholar. All signs point to his nomination.

CAUGHT IN PASSING.

A Susquehanna lady was ill and, of course, a physician was called in. He wrote out a prescription. It was for some pills, to be taken every third day. He came again the next morning. "Well, did you take the pills?" "No, doctor; the three days are not up until Wednesday."

Those people who would abolish childhood's idea of Santa Claus would take the children home after the circus parade and tell them that's all there was to be seen.

The confidence game appears to be a faith cure.

On railroads the freight rather than the steam makes the cargo.

The campaign liar has given place to the hunting liar.

An egg trust is forming. Must the people of this country be forever under the yolk of monopoly?

The deluge is the longest reign in history.

A blind man can see and know as much about Paradise as any one.

A good deal of repentance nowadays is done in broadcloth and ashes of roses.

SEVERAL SHORT ONES.

Merchant Frank N. Smith is seriously ill.

It is thought that the Susquehanna county school teachers will have an excursion to Washington, D. C., in February.

On account of increased business, five additional train crews will in a few days be put on the Delaware division of the Erie.

Mrs. Richard Moss, formerly of Susquehanna, is seriously ill at her home at Newark, N. J.

Gulf Summit hopes to have a cannery.

In view of the great number of gunning accidents, it is suggested that hunters carry less whiskey and more ammunition.

Deposit thought she felt the earth quake the other day. It ought to be a warning to the wicked people on that side of the mountains.

Susie Graham expects $1,000 from Susquehanna county for furnishing information leading to the apprehension of the [illegible] of Farmer Pepper. Fie [illegible] waggling tongue the [illegible] that [illegible] and Shew [illegible] live [illegible] charity to-day.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Dec. 7.—The prospect of a decline in cash resources of the banks of upwards of $7,000,000 proved too much for the fortunes of speculators today and they sold stocks, reversing the movement of yesterday. They had the advantage of new points or strength in a number of individual stocks amongst the low priced railroads, but a demoralized tone in one or two of the industrials more than offset this advantage. The sub-treasury alone has taken up from the banks during the week, $6,100,000, including the deposits at the sub-treasury for telegraphic transfer to the interior. Liquidation was not urgent in the stock market, but was quite general. Even the Erie securities yielded temporarily on the denial of a story attempting to explain their movement by alleging that the company had purchased the Pennsylvania Coal company. Both the stocks and bonds, however, rallied subsequently to the higher prices. The strength was shown by the St. Louis and San Francisco stocks, led by the second preferred, with an advance of 2¾, and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis stocks, led by the second preferred with an advance of 1¾. On the other hand there was continued weakness in Tennessee Coal on persisting rumors that the dividend would be passed. The stock fell at one time 2½, and after fluctuating feverishly closed within ⅛ of the lowest. Coincident with the meeting of the directors of the United States Rubber company, the common stock broke 4 and the preferred stock 5¾ without meeting any effective support. Pacific Mail broke nearly 1 on the large decrease in net earnings reported for October. The unsatisfactory results of the meeting of western railroad presidents to enforce the observance of freight rates helped to depress the railroad list. There was weakness in People's Gas, Tobacco and the local tractions. The closing was moderately active and easy and many stocks were at the low point. Total sales, 601,700 shares.

Business in bonds continued large. There was profit taking in some of the speculative issues but there was a notable increase in the demand for high grade bonds, which made the market very broad. Total sales, par value, $1,135,000. U. S. 3s and 5s declined ¼ per cent. on the last call.
