THE TURNPIKE CONFERENCE.

Company to Submit a Formal Written Proposition to Committee. The conference regarding the settlement of the Abington turnpike dispute was held yesterday afternoon in the office of Attorney W. W. Watson, in the Traders' bank building, but nothing definite resulted. Present were Councilmen Caplin, Keller, Clements, Melvin and Costello, Attorney Watson, City Solicitor Vosburg and President H. E. Paine, of the turnpike company.

All the phases of the question were discussed and City Solicitor Vosburg gave the turnpike company to understand just what the city would demand in settlement—an absolute deed to all that portion of the turnpike lying within the city limits, subject to no considerations. It was then decided to have the company submit a formal proposition in writing, this proposition to be considered and acted upon at a meeting of the committee to be held later.

SECRETARY OF THE CHAUTAUQUA IN CITY

Mrs. Minnie D. Lewis Entertainingly Addressed Large Audience at Excelsior Club House Last Night.

Mrs. Minnie D. Lewis, of New York city, national field secretary of the Jewish Chautauqua association, last night delivered a stirring address before a large audience at the Excelsior Social club's house on Washington avenue, and succeeded in arousing a good deal of enthusiasm in local Chautauqua work.

Mrs. Lewis organized the Scranton branch of the association last year, since which time it has grown and thrived and done really excellent work. At last night's meeting there were present a number of persons not members and Mrs. Lewis devoted her energy to converting these into Chautauqua workers. As a result of her address several names were enrolled on the membership list and a number of substantial contributions to the association's treasury were made.

In her address Mrs. Lewis spoke entertainingly of Chautauqua work in general. She spoke entirely without notes and her friendly, confidential manner of address was both interesting and effective. She urged a more thorough study of the Bible, and declared that there was a deplorable ignorance of simple Biblical facts and elementary scriptural teachings.

Rev. A. S. Auspacher, pastor of the congregation of the Linden street synagogue, followed Mrs. Lewis and in an impromptu speech, brimful of enthusiasm heartily urged the furtherance of the Chautauqua course of study, with its religious, Biblical work. "The study of the Bible," he said, "should be of importance, equal with the classics, in the curricula of our larger universities. The lessons carried by the pure simple stories of Scripture have an influence on the formation of character which will not be found in any other of the lyrics of ancient Greek or Roman writers."

An open discussion then followed at which Mrs. Lewis answered several questions pertaining to Chautauqua work and the meeting then adjourned.

GOD'S BOOK.

Clergy and Presidents' Meeting. A meeting of the clergy, all denominations, and the presidents of the board of trade, all hospitals and charitable institutions in the city of Scranton will be asked to meet in the immediate future in the interest of charity. The date, time and place will be given in tomorrow's issue of this paper.

A clergyman from each church or denomination will be expected to attend the meeting because they all have under their care some of our charitable institutions at heart.

The presidents of the charitable institutions will be there because they not only want, but need, all the assistance that they can get. The president of the board of trade will naturally attend because he is ever ready to benefit our business public and the community in general.

At the meeting it will be shown that our business public are in a position to very materially assist our charitable institutions, some of which are very much in need, and not have it cost them one cent.

Why? Because, all they need do to bring the result about is to simply give their regular patronage to the directory that I will publish this year, the entire profits of which will be given to lessen the needs of our charitable institutions, which the public must necessarily support any way.

There can be no doubt but that by exerting its influence in extending patronage to the project, the public can astonish even itself, by the amount that can thus be made available for our charities.

Further, the cost being so much less this year, in order that every business person or firm can afford to advertise and subscribe, it will be a saving to those who must have a directory and who usually advertise in it. Subscriptions, without advertising, only $2.50. With your full business card, only $3.50. Advertising only about two-thirds usual rate, hence the saving from usual prices, and the greater volume of subscriptions and advertising warranted.

In giving your patronage, remember you are giving it to the community, to God, and humanity. This is to be no individual property. It is to be the people's directory, published by and for the people of Scranton, yearly; and no person's name will appear upon or in it as owner, or publisher. It is to be God's book; and every business man with a heart should, and I believe will, give it his patronage.

W. F. Smythe, Lackawanna Valley Hotel, Scranton, Pa.

TAKING THE ASSESSMENT.

The outside work has now been completed. The outside work of making the triennial assessment is now completed, and the books are coming into the assessor's office every day. The three assessors are going over them, comparing them with the books of three years ago and making such changes as they see fit.

City Assessor Rinsland stated yesterday to a Tribune man that the books would be ready for the board of revision and appeal in one month's time. He said the assessors were desirous of having this the most complete and accurate triennial assessment ever made in this city.

CHANGES IN COURT HOUSE

OFFICIALS ASSUMED THEIR DUTIES AT HIGH NOON.

Sheriff Schadt Makes Many New Appointments—W. T. Simpson Retained as Warden at Jail—Miss Hattie Taylor Assumes Her Old Position as Deputy Recorder—W. A. Phillips Becomes County Detective—County Commissioners Reorganize for the Year.

At high noon yesterday, the new county officials took the offices to which the people elected them last November, and the old officials, who were displaced, took their leave, accompanied in many instances by the majority of their assistants. Judge John P. Kelly was saved the embarrassment of trying to find something graceful and appropriate to say to a retiring predecessor, by reason of the fact that he succeeded himself, his ten years' elective term beginning at the end of the ten months' term to which he was appointed by Governor Stone, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Frederick W. Schadt; William B. Lewis succeeded Ould John Jones in the district attorney's office; Hon. Joseph A. Scranton succeeded M. J. Kelly as county treasurer; Emil Bonn succeeded Fred Warnke as recorder, and E. B. Sturges and D. J. Campbell displaced Charles A. Higgins and Frank Dougherty as jury commissioners.

In the sheriff's office, Clarence E. Pryor was succeeded by Charles H. Schadt; William B. Lewis succeeded Ould John Jones in the district attorney's office; Hon. Joseph A. Scranton succeeded M. J. Kelly as county treasurer; Emil Bonn succeeded Fred Warnke as recorder, and E. B. Sturges and D. J. Campbell displaced Charles A. Higgins and Frank Dougherty as jury commissioners.

Sheriff Schadt's appointees are as follows: Deputy, Frank E. Ryan (retained). Deputy, J. D. Ferber (retained). Warden, W. T. Simpson (retained). Deputy warden, Victor Brumeli (retained). Day matron, Coroner Robert, who examined them carefully. He was surprised to find a clean cut hole just the size of a bullet through the center of the largest piece, which he said appeared to be the right side of the skull.

He examined this carefully and expressed himself last night as being confident that the hole was made by a bullet. As soon as he made the discovery he hastened to O'Donnell's undertaking establishment in North Scranton, where the remains had been taken. He made a careful examination of the small quantity of brain matter which remained in the badly crushed skull, but on account of the nature of the matter, with which, and dirt, he could find no trace of a bullet.

Just how Lenahan came to be on the railroad track at the place where his body was found, if he was struck by a train, is not known. He lived with his family at 175 Brick avenue, North Scranton, and spent the greater part of Sunday in company with his wife, at the home of his sister-in-law, at the corner of Luzerne and Fifteenth streets. He left there about 4 o'clock in the afternoon on his way to the house of his nephew, Daniel Lenahan, who lives on West Jackson street, in the Keyser valley.

He stayed there until between 9 and 10 o'clock at night, when he left, saying he was going home. He was very fond of walking, and on previous occasions, when he would walk home from his nephew's house, he had always taken Keyser avenue direct to North Scranton. Neither his wife nor his nephew can offer any possible explanation as to how he could possibly have got as far out of his way as the Dodge mine.

Mrs. Lenahan stated last night that her husband never had any considerable sum of money about his person, and that on Sunday night he couldn't have had more than a dollar. His watch, she said, had been returned to her and there was no appearance of his clothes having been rifled.

She was asked if she could think of any motive which would have impelled anybody to murder her husband and she said in reply that she didn't think he had an enemy in the world. She was puzzled, nevertheless, at the place where the body was found. W. G. Darragh, who has lived in this city for the past thirty years. He is survived by a wife and six children: John, Thomas, Sarah, Margaret, Minnie, William, Bridget and Martha. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

If the hole in the skull discovered by Coroner Roberts is a bullet hole and if the man was murdered, it would appear that the remains were placed on the track to cover the crime. The coroner has decided to hold an inquest but has fixed no exact date.

ANNOUNCEMENT INCORRECT. Colonel Waters Says Nobody Knows Whether Thirteenth Will Attend. Colonel L. A. Waters, of the Thirteenth regiment, yesterday denied the announcement that definite arrangements had been completed for the regiment to attend the inauguration of President McKinley was incorrect.

Nothing definite was known, he said. The authorities at Harrisburg had been requested to do all in their power to secure railroad transportation, and they had announced that they would do so. The colonel appeared hopeful, however, that favorable news would be received in a few days.

AMENDMENTS DECIDED UPON

TO CHANGE THE SECOND CLASS CITY LAWS.

Joint Councilman Committee Decided Last Night to Direct the City Solicitor to Prepare Amendments Making the Heads of Departments Appointed by the Mayor, Abolishing Appointment of Viewers, Providing for a General Receiver of Taxes—Other Changes.

The special joint committee of councilmen appointed to draw up amendments to the present laws governing second class cities met last night and directed City Solicitor Vosburg, who was present, to prepare four specific amendments.

Those present at the meeting were Select Councilmen C. C. Chittenden, Joseph Oliver and John E. Roche, Common Councilman Luther Keller, Mayor Moir and City Solicitor Vosburg.

The whole question of second class legislation was discussed very thoroughly for nearly two hours and the amendments decided upon were the most important of the whole situation and to make a fight on it alone. It was considered, however, by the other members that it was better to decide upon several other amendments as well and secure the passage of all at the same time.

KEYNOTE TO SITUATION. Mr. Chittenden thought it advisable to first decide upon this one amendment, which, he said, was the keynote of the whole situation and to make a fight on it alone. It was considered, however, by the other members that it was better to decide upon several other amendments as well and secure the passage of all at the same time.

The second amendment decided upon was suggested by City Solicitor Vosburg. It provides for the abolition of appointed viewers to assess damages for any public improvement, and the constituting of a permanent board of viewers to consist of the city engineer and the street commissioner.

The advantage claimed for this amendment is the great economy which its passage will mean to this city. The reports of every city department must also be printed in full, making the printing item a pretty big one in Pittsburg and Allegheny. The printing bill in the latter city amounts to over $20,000 a year, while Scranton's is at present but little over $2,000.

Me amendments were discussed, but it was deemed advisable to decide upon these four only, and if necessary to drop all of these except the one giving the mayor power to appoint the heads of the three great departments.

TO PREPARE AMENDMENTS. Mr. Vosburg will prepare these amendments and submit them at a second meeting of the committee, which is to be held on Saturday night in City Clerk Lavelle's office. This meeting will be attended not only by the members of the committee but by Senator Vaughan and Representatives Philbin, Scheuer, James and Reynolds. The amendments will then be discussed again and ways and means adopted for securing their speedy passage through the legislature. Mr. Roche, perhaps, best expressed the proper plan to be adopted in securing their passage when he said:

Let us, as a committee, keep away from Pittsburg and Allegheny and concentrate our efforts on Harrisburg. The time is over for conference with other cities, and the time is here for setting every possible influence at work to secure the passage of these amendments through the legislature. The chances for their passage, to me, look extremely favorable.

Mr. Quay has elected the speaker of the house and the president of the senate. He will undoubtedly be elected United States senator and if he is, his side of the Republican party will control and shape the legislation to be passed at this session. He has been
