DR. WHALEN SURPRISED.

United Mine Workers Present Him with Two Handsome Gifts.

A committee representing the United Mine Workers of America of Carbondale and vicinity waited on Rev. H. J. Whalen, D. D., last evening and in behalf of their colleagues presented the reverend gentleman with a handsome gold headed cane and a beautiful coal paper weight. Dr. Whalen during the recent strike upheld the stand of the men and on several occasions delivered eloquent addresses in their behalf. The members of the several local unions decided to give him some small tokens of the high esteem in which they regard him and delegates from each of the various unions composed the committee which waited on the reverend gentleman last evening. They gathered in a body at the municipal building and at 8.30 marched in a body to the Baptist parsonage, accompanied by Miss Lillian Collins, daughter of Henry Collins, the organizer, who made the presentation address.

Dr. Whalen received the miners with the greatest cordiality, although at a loss to know the object of their visit. After a few general remarks, Mr. Collins arose and expressed the committee's gratification at being so heartily welcomed. As a rule, he said, miners committees were used to being shown the door. He then introduced his daughter.

Miss Collins had a neatly worded address of presentation, which she delivered in a manner most creditable to herself, and in which she fully expressed the centiments of the committee. She stated that although the miner is generally considered as a rough, unrefined man, he is as quick to appreciate the sympathy and good will of his fellows as is any one. The dangers of his vocation force upon him a realization of his dependence on his fellow men. While this class of men stand ever ready to extend a helping hand to each other, they may not expect the same kindly feeling from those above them in social life.

The workman and his employer are not bound in the same kindred ties which they should be and the principles of the church and nation are little practiced in the dealings between them. The young lady spoke of the many inequalities existing and said that while many professional and business men admit of the justness of the cries of oppressed labor few had the courage to live up to their convictions. The speaker told of the objects of the miners' union and touched upon the circumstances leading up to the recent strike.

She told how few business and professional men essayed the cause of the strikers. Then she spoke of the noble and outspoken stand taken by Dr. Whalen and how much encouragement it gave the men, and of their heartfelt gratitude to him. Since that time, she said, united labor has recognized in Dr. Whalen a friend. She then produced the gift and asked him not to look upon their intrinsic value, but to look upon them merely as slight tokens of the feeling held by the mine workers for him.

Dr. Whalen was taken completely by surprise and could not respond for several minutes. He asked the committee to believe that his words could not express the sincere gratitude which he experienced from their kindness to him and assured them that his sympathy for united labor is as strong today as it was that memorable day on Sandy's field. He said that no man rejoiced more at the signal victory of the miners in their recent struggle than he did. He said that in taking the course he had pursued he had considered it only his plain duty and had not expected any such material reward as this. His opinions were beyond price, he said, and that he believed the ministers of the church should be the first to lend a helping hand toward the welfare and common good of the masses. He saw in the recent success a link in the chain of great achievements.

He said he feared his friends had over-estimated the value of his support but he assured them that he meant to give them his best. He complimented Miss Collins upon her address and thanked her for the many kind words she said for him and assured the committee that they would ever find a warm welcome to his home.

Following the presentation the committee enjoyed a delightful social hours, Mrs. Whalen adding greatly to the enjoyment by rendering several beautiful vocal selections. Miss Collins also recited a poem in a very effective manner. The committee departed, voicing their great feeling of gratitude to Dr. Whalen, to which he heartily responded.

BURKE-TOOLAN.

An Early Morning Wedding in St. Rose Church.

A very pretty wedding took place yesterday morning at St. Rose church, when Miss Mary F. Toolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Toolan, and Edward, son of Mrs. Thomas Burke, of Cottage street, were united. About 9.15 o'clock the two young persons, with their attendants, drove up to the church in a coach drawn by two white horses, the animals being adorned with rosettes of pink and white satin ribbon. The party entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding macrh, and were met at the altar rail by Very Rev. Father Coffey, V. G., who performed the ceremony. The bride was attired in a dark blue tailor-made gown of vicuna, and she carried a silver and pearl prayer book. The bridesmaid was Miss Rose Toolan, sister of the bride, who wore a costume of wine-colored broadcloth and carried a bouquet of Marechal Neil roses. The best man was Thomas Walker.

After the ceremony, Father Coffey congratulated the happy couple and they left the church to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin. Prof. Thomas was in charge of the music. A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home, only the immemdiate relatives of the young couple being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Burke left this city on the 11 o'clock train over the Ontario and Western railroad for New York and other points of interest. They will be absent about ten days. On their return, they will begin housekeeping at the home of the bride's parents.

A LUNCH WAGON ON FIRE.

Red, Green, Blue and Vari-Colored Flames Cause Excitement.

An alarm of fire from box No. 21 at 8.45 o'clock last night brought the hose companies and a large concourse of people to witness a brilliant but brief blaze in the lunch wagon owned by Isaac Burros and leased by Fred Wilson, on Salem avenue. The fire communicated from an oil stove, which became overheated. Mr. Wilson was inside and had a narrow escape from injury, as the flames spread with incredible rapidity. When the fire started the wagon was in close proximity to the Wall Street hotel, on Salem avenue, and but for the prompt action of a few men, who wheeled the burning "beanery" out into the street, it would have been set on fire. As it was, the walls of the hotel were scorched.

The flames were of a spectacular variety, about twenty large colored glass windows giving a kaleidoscopic illumination. When the firemen turned the water on the first gush of the dampener swept the fancy panes out of existence and in two minutes the fire was out. Damage, about $150. Insurance, light.

A SNEAK THIEF'S JOB.

Robbed the Clothesline of a Poor Woman of Patron's Washing.

Mrs. Jane Davis, widow of John Davis, who lives at 48 River street, and supports herself and her octogenarian mother-in-law by selling home-made pastry and doing washing for a few patrons, was the victim of a sneak thief on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Davis had commenced to take in a customer's laundry, which was drying on a line beside the rear of her home when a little girl came to buy some yeast. Mrs. Davis went into the house to get the yeast and left the remainder of the clothes on the line. When her juvenile customer had departed Mrs. Davis went out of the back door to finish her taking-in of the clothes. She was just in time to see a pair of boy's knickerbockers mysteriously suspended in the air and traveling toward a high fence back of her house. She screamed and the trousers, in company with a pole with a hook in the end, fell into her yard, while a woman's face which had been plainly in view, suddenly vanished and a sound of quick footsteps was heard.

Mrs. Davis took an instant only to see if the thief had gotten anything and discovered immediately that a dozen pairs of silk stockings belonging to one of her patrons at the Hotel American were missing. No clue was left of the thief nor does Mrs. Davis know who the woman was. She is a woman who can ill afford a loss, even a trifling one, and the theft of the valuable hosiery is a serious matter, indeed, to her.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Young Scholar Knocked Down by Trolley Car, but Is Unharmed.

Little Bryson Wickwire, about 8 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Wickwire, was the centre of considerable excitement yesterday afternoon at about 4 o'clock. The lad was on his way home from school and stopped in the middle of the roadway at Salem avenue and Church street to fondle a yellow and white dog. At this corner there is a sharp curve of the street car tracks, requiring plenty of room for the fender to swing.

The lad evidently paid no attention to a car coming up Salem avenue, or thought he was far enough from the tracks to avoid getting hurt. As the car swung into Church street a corner of the fender or the step hit him and knocked him off his feet, and he apparently went partly under the car.

The motorman stopped with a jerk, and jumping off rushed back, thinking he had run over Bryson. He found him still on his back, his foot only a few inches from the wheel, but unharmed. A crowd collected quickly, but the boy picked himself up and ran for home. Last night his parents knew nothing of their boy's fortunate escape until informed by a reporter.

National Bank Directors Meet.

The following directors of the First National bank were elected at a meeting on Tuesday: J. Edwin Watt, Edward Clarkson, Charles Hagan, James Stott, Edward W. Mills, R. A. Jadwin, of Carbondale, and Charles D. Winter, of Jermyn, all re-elected but Mr. Winter, who succeeds C. W. Wisher.

At the meeting the prosperous condition of affairs was revealed. A dividend of 8 per cent. was paid on the stock during 1900 and $40,000 was added to the surplus, making a total of $150,000 in that fund.

Yesterday the board of directors organized for the coming year by re-electing J. Edwin Watt, president; Edward Clarkson and James Stott, vice-presidents, and R. A. Jadwin, cashier.

Miss Kilpatrick Improving.

Miss Mary Kilpatrick, daughter of Mayor and Mrs. J. W. Kilpatrick, who was operated on recently for appendicitis, is recovering from the operation very satisfactorily.

VETERANS INSTALL.

The "Boys in Blue" of '61-'65 Have a Gala Night.

Last night the recently elected officers of Sergeant William H. Davies post, No. 187, Grand Army of the Republic, were installed amid much enthusiasm and in the presence of a large number of friends and well wishers. The function was a public one, and invitations had been issued to all the kindred and affiliated patriotic societies of the city and to out-of-town visitors, and the result was that the rooms of the post in Odd Fellows' hall, on Salem avenue, were crowded to the doors.

Past Commander Joseph M. Alexander was the installing officer, and he began the public part of the evening's programme with an eloquent and happy speech, referring briefly to the history of the past, and paying especial tribute to retiring Commander Gomer Davis and Adjutant William B. Chase for their excellent work and untiring fidelity the past year. He concluded his speech with a most glowing peroration on the nation, the national destiny and the flag of our country.

The presiding officer then publicly inducted the officers according to the impressive and beautiful forms of the Grand Army of the Republic. The officers installed were: Commander, John McComb; senior vice commander, Alamander Felton; junior vice commander, William Blake; adjutant, W. B. Chase; quartermaster, A. W. Daley; surgeon, Milo Felts; chaplain, John Jennings; officer of the day, Christopher Schultz; officer of the guard, George Heddon; sergeant major, John Brandow; quartermaster sergeant, James C. Decker; trustee, Alamander Felton; delegates to department encampment, Christopher Schultz; alternate, A. V. Daley; park commissioners, J. M. Alexander, Robert McComb; representative to county commissioners, John McComb.

Commander McComb, after being inaugurated, addressed the members of the post and their guests, as follows:

"Ladies, Gentlemen and Comrades—In assuming command of Sergeant William H. Davies' post, No. 187, department of Pennsylvania, Grand Army of the Republic, it is my desire to have each member understand fully that there is no lack of appreciation on my part as to the honor conveyed.

"A man who receives the unanimous vote of any organization for the highest office which their suffrage can give, ought to feel great satisfaction in contemplating the returns.

"A comrade of a live Grand Army post who is nominated and elected commander without solicitation or electioneering work of any kind on his part, ought to experience peculiarly intense gratification when he realizes that every vote cast bore his name.

"Such were the circumstances which existed when you, my comrades, selected me as your chief executive and representative.

"The honor is accepted by me in the same spirit which actuated you to bestow it, and to me it implies that you look to the wearer of the silver eagle during 1901 for good results.

"We are not strangers in the post room. But we are familiar with each other's capacity and qualifications for Grand Army work. Knowing each other as we do, and knit together as we are by the three great principles of our order, let us qualify ourselves to attain a high standard of excellence.

"Let us try to more fully comprehend the true spirit of the duties which the teachings of our organization are intended to inculcate, and let us strive more zealously to exemplify those beautiful precepts which are a part of our ritual.

"As fraternity is the broad foundation stone on which our order rests, let us not forget to take with us into our daily lives that fraternity of feeling which shall bind us together as comrades.

"As charity is the greatest of all virtues, let us not forget to take with us into our daily lives that charity which shall prompt us to the noblest sacrifices for the needy and destitute wards of our Grand Army.

"As loyalty is the crowning principle of our order, let us not forget to take with us into our daily lives that loyalty which shall bind us to a faithful performance of our duties as citizens.

"And let the remembrance of what it cost the soldiers and marines of this republic to perpetuate our national government and maintain our flag unsullied, be ever fresh in our minds, so that you may always feels that you are entitled to the respect of every person who enjoys the liberty and freedom of American institutions."

There were a number of other speeches made by members of the post and one by Comrade Hardy, of Glenwood, who was present when the post was incorporated in 1880, was particularly apt and brilliant, abounding in wit and happy sallies.

The Women's auxiliary to the post provided a very appetizing repast, which was served after a number of selections on the phonograph and several songs had been rendered.

Meetings Tonight.

New Officers.

The Merchants' association have elected the following officers for the ensuing term: President, A. D. Wylie; vice president, Edward Dougherty; secretary, Robert Kinback; assistant secretary, Harry Dolphin; auditing committee, N. F. Stephens, A. J. Seaman and Charles Cavanaugh.

Physicians Are Busy.

These are the days when the local doctors of medicine have their hands full. The prevailing epidemic of grip is enough to cause them considerable extra work. The board of health's order that all school children must be vaccinated before Jan. 21, combined with the epidemic, has taxed the M. D.s' hours to the limit One doctor, has vaccinated 140 children in four days, and at another office here pupils have had to wait four hours in line to be attended to.

DR. STRONG

PRACTICING THE EUROPEAN SYSTEM.

Dr. C. H. Strong, who conducted a large and successful practice in Scranton during 1887, 1888 and 1889, has opened an office at 400 Lackawanna avenue (over the Paris store), where he is prepared to give the public the advantages of an extensive experience extending over seven years in the leading hospitals of Europe (Dr. Strong having resided abroad since 1890 until recently).

In re-establishing his practice here he is more fully equiped than ever to treat the diseases to which he gives special attention. Practical experience is the greatest teacher; he who is most successful in the practice of medicine is he who has had the advantages of the greatest experience. Dr. Strong has certainly been afforded unusual opportunities for acquiring a thorough knowledge of the most successful methods of treating the afflicted.

Having all of the very latest improved American and European instruments and appliances for examining and treating the afflicted he is enabled to effect cures where other physicians, who do not possess the same means of ascertaining the exact condition of the patient, FAIL. All remedies prescribed by Dr. Strong are prepared especially for each case in the complete medical laboratory connected with his office, thus insuring the purest and most effective medicines.

Special attention is given to the successful treatment of chronic and so-called incurable diseases, diseases of the Nose, Throat, Bronchial Tubes and Lungs, Catarrh, diseases of the Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Heart, Bladder and Urinary Organs, Blood and Skin, diseases peculiar to women, diseases of the Nervous System, etc.

Consultation and examination free.

Offices, 400 Lackawanna avenue (over the Paris store). Hours, 9 to 12, 2 to 5, and 7 to 8 o'clock.

Sundays by appointment only.

Republican Nominations.

The Fell township Republicans held their primary elections on Tuesday night in the Simpson town hall. The counting of the vote delayed the rendering of the returns until a late hour. Joseph Scheck, Joseph Wilce and John Corby composed the board. The result was as follows:

Miss Josephine Bradley, of the Pioneer Steam laundry, is ill at her home on Brooklyn street.

William Lowry, of Belmont street, is confined to his home by an attack of pneumonia.

Miss Josephine Bradley is ill at her home on Woodlawn avenue.

His Jaw Broken.

George W. Simrell, of 21 Clark avenue, had his jaw broken yesterday afternoon while handling cars at No. 1 shaft. The pushing pole broke and hit him on the jaw, fracturing it. He was slightly injured otherwise, but was extremely fortunate to escape as he did. The attending physician is Dr. Malaun. Mr. Simrell was resting quite comfortably last evening.

May Vaccinate Silk Workers.

It is rumored that the managers of the Klots Throwing company are considering the advisability of having all their employes vaccinated in the near future, in view of the rumors of smallpox being close at hand. If this is done some of the recent strikers may regret before long that the strike ended as quickly as it did.

Two Coming Socials.

The Simpson Drum corps will conduct two socials this month and committees are already at work making elaborate preparations for the first of the events, which will be held in Walker's hall on Friday evening, Jan. 18. The second social will be held in the Germania hall, in the Keystone block, later.

Miss Stella Hunter is the latest addition to the Carbondale Telephone company's force at the local exchange.

John F. Abbott, of Wilkes-Barre, cashier in the Delaware and Hudson freight office there, was in this city yesterday.

Miss Ollie Moone of this city, is the guest of Miss Nan Brown, in Honesdale. Upon her return home Miss Moon will leave for Devonshire, Eng.

Joseph E. Brennan has returned to the Dickinson Law school at Carlisle to resume his studies.

JERMYN AND MAYFIELD.

The members of Corporal Oscar C. Smith camp, No. 294, Sons of Veterans, attended the public installation of the Carbondale Grand Army of the Republic last evening.

The Twentieth Century Sewing circle meets at the home of Mrs. Thomas Hunter, of Main street, the third Friday of the present week. Members are requested to look upon their hospital account.

The Delaware and Hudson mine employes will receive their pay for last month's work this afternoon.

Miss Jennie Battenberg was elected a member of the Hit or Miss Cooking club in place of Miss Lucy Wheeler, who has moved from town.

Miss Jessie Winter is visiting friends at West Pittston, Wilkes-Barre and Plymouth for a few days.

A little daughter was born last evening to Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, of H street.

Miss Madge Gannon, of Main street, has been confined to her home the past few days with a severe attack of neuralgia.

Ernest Bovard, of Dunmore, was calling on old-time friends in town yesterday.

Frank Winter, who has been confined to the house for several days with an attack of grippe, is out again.

The entertainment in Enterprise hall for the benefit of the reading room will be on Wednesday, not Tuesday, as previously stated.

Quite a number of people from both boroughs attended the performance of Sousa's band at Scranton last evening.

There was little, if any, change in the condition of Richard Evans last evening.

Mrs. Charles Davis, of Second street, was a Carbondale visitor yesterday.

Frank Barber, of South Main street, has severed his connection with the street car company after seven year's service.

Mrs. John Maynard and daughter, Ruth, were Carbondale visitors Monday.

Miss Kate Brady, of New York city, is visiting Mayfield friends.

PECKVILLE.

Blakely borough council convened in regular session on Monday evening, with all members present. Minutes of former meeting were read and approved as read. Street Commissioner Cole's time sheet for month of December ordered paid, as was also the following bills: J. J. Metters, cartage, $1.50; C. B. Scott, electrical supplies, $31.61; Wilson Fire company, cartage, $1.75; E. N. Jones, engineer, salary, $65; E. M. Barnes, engineer, salary, $60; Lloyd Parry, fireman, salary, $40; R. S. Terwilliger, police duty, $6; L. B. Thompson, police duty, $1.50; Theodore Dikeman, police duty, $1; Albert Pentecost, services as janitor, $5; W. S. Bloes, supplies, $1.10; F. P. Benjamin, secretary, postage, $3; Lackawanna Coal company, fuel, $100.69; Atlantic Refining company, oil, $11.18; Olyphant Water company, fire hydrants, $71.25; water supply at electric light plant, $37.50. President Hartman stated that he did not like the idea of placing his name on any more borough orders, knowing there were no funds to meet their payment. After an animated discussion, during which time several members became heated about the collar, the president was given to understand that it was compulsory on his part to sign all orders drawn by council. Third Ward Councilman Halford took the opportunity, at this moment, to denounce the author of several articles that had appeared in a local paper. Having relieved himself of his pent-up wrath, the order of business was again taken up. R. J. Reese, a member of the electric light committee, submitted a statement showing that the committee had by judicious methods saved the sum of $133.15 in the past four months in fuel over that paid for the some months in 1899.

The chief engineer was instructed to make a complete inspection of the commercial light system every three months and report to the council. A resolution was passed charging the school board for electric lights at the chapel. The pole tax matter came up for consideration and it was decided that $1 per pole, as per the reading of the ordinance, should be collected, and Borough Attorney Gilroy was authorized to proceed to collect the tax by law. Lloyd Parry was hired as fireman at the plant at a salary of $40 per month.

Several people who hold borough orders were refused their request to make the orders interest bearing orders. Adjourned.

Mr. N. H. Johnson, one of the Third ward's most representative citizens, has given his consent, through the solicitation of his many friends, to come before the voters of the Third ward as a candidate for the office of councilman.

Advertised letters at the Peckville postoffice: Miss A. Richards, Mr. Joe Snyder; Hungarian—Michael Robos, Josef Makarewicz, Andra Semonelk, Michael Sutyak; Italian—Andrea Cocetti, Giacoma Malinori (2), Luigi Rossi, Agnvfi Radenvue.

The young people of the Presbyterian church will hold a "sock social" at the new parsonage Wednesday evening, Jan. 23. Refreshments will be served and a good programme rendered. All are welcome. OLYPHANT.

William Smith, the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, of Susquehanna street, was instantly killed at the Temple Iron company shaft yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. The unfortunate young man was walking in front of a trip of moving cars when the mule suddenly jumped to one side, removing one of the props which was supporting the roof, causing the coal to fall, crushing the young man beneath it. Willing hands were soon at work, but it took nearly a half an hour to remove the coal covering his body. The remains, which were badly crushed, were removed to his home in the ambulance. Deceased was a member of the Lackawanna Accidental fund. He was a young man possessed of many admirable traits which made him friends wherever he went. Besides his parents, two brothers and one sister survive him. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Miss Catherine Owens, of Lackawanna street, and Robert Austin, also of this place, were married at Scranton on Tuesday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Austin will reside on Lackawanna street.

Willie Evans, of Lackawanna street, spent Tuesday at Jermyn.

Constant Dull Pain in My Back

Mr. Samuel Cleveland is a carpenter, and resides at 91 Cottage Row, Bradford, Pa. He has the following to say concerning his trouble and the wonderful cure accomplished by Morrow's Kid-ne-oids.

"For the past three years I have had Kidney troubles so as to not be able to do much work. I had a constant dull pain in my back and at times it was accompanied by a sharp shooting pain just over the kidneys. My nerves were affected so I could not sleep well or get proper rest. The secretions from the kidneys showed a deposit indicating a constant drain on my system. I tried a number of doctors and took nearly every kind of kidney medicine in existence, but nothing did me any good until I took Morrow's Kid-ne-oids. After taking them a few days I noticed a change in my condition. One 50 cent box has entirely removed the dull pain in my back and done me more good than all the doctors and other medicine I took in the past two years.
