FACTORYVILLE.

Special to the Scranton Tribune

Factoryville, Jan. 9.-A very quiet but pretty, wedding ceremony took place in Binghamton, N. Y., on Wednesday, Jan. 2, when it united in marriage Miss Mabel Reynolds, of this place, to Mr. C. H. Cox, of Scranton. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. W. Phillips, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Binghamton. They will reside in their own home in Scran-

The creamery and condensery of the Scranton Dairy company, located at La Plume, Pa. will close its doors on Jan. 15 and the machinery will be removed to some other part of the country. The farmers of this section became dissatisfied last April with the price they were receiving from the Scranton Dairy company and refused to deliver any more milk unless a cer-tain price was paid. Theprice was not pald and the dairymen formed an association known as the Lackawanna and Wyoming Dairymen's association and started a creamery and butter facfory at this place, which has been a decided success to the association, and the result of the same is the closing of the industry at La Plume, making this place the only market for the vast amount of milk that is produced in the surrounding territory. As a result, no doubt, condensery machinery will be added here to the butter fac tory and other facilities for the handling of the thousands of gallons of the lacteal fluid that will be delivered here. Not Necessary in Order to Cure Catarrh.

The popular idea that the only cure for chronic catarrh is a change of climate, is a mistake because catarrh is found in all climates in all sections of the country; and even if a change of climate should benefit for a time the catarrh will certainly return.

Catarrh may be readily cured in any Friday evening, Jan. 11, at the Opera climate, but the only way to do it is nouse, the young comedian as "Uncle to destroy or remove from the system Hez," a pantomime farce comedy, A the catarrhal germs which cause all company of clever players. MONEY IN FARMING. It Is There if You Know How to Get It Out.

P. Mowbray, in The World's Work, To work a small farm to a profit within easy reach of railroad communication is simply a matter of some capital, a decided preference for the work, average intelligence, persistent and patient industry and good health. There are thousands of small farms within a radius of one hundred miles from New York whose owners have abandoned other pursuits and taken to tilling the land, and who could not be induced to go back to their former occupations. The farms for the most part were bought by part payment, the balance remaining on bond and mortgage. Twenty per cent of these farms have been redeemed in five years, and as a rule the debt was paid by the thrift, self-sacrifice, and co-operative determination of the man and One typical example comes to mind. It is of a coach painter. He had worked ten years at his trade, for twelve dollare a week, and saved a hundred dollars a year. In the eleventh year there was a strike of his guild and he had to face the prospect of being out of work for some time, by no choice of his own. He went down into Jersey, bought ten acres of land at a hundred dollars an acre, paying five hundred cash and giving his bond for the remainder. With the balance he bought a horse and cow, a secondhand wagon, and settled himself to earn a new living. He and his wife, with a five-year-old child, lived for two years in a shanty. But this man had the tenacity of a buildog, the selfreliance of a drummer, and the patience, of a trained nurse.

When he had been on his place eight years I paid him a visit. His vife met me at the depot, three miles from her home, with a two-seated rig and a lively team. I found the couple living in a new cottage that had been built by day labor and which the owner had painted himself. It was a very tasteful structure and was already prettily shaded by the trees that he had set out. In reply to my questions, he said that he calculated to make about eight hundred dollars a year clear. He had bought the adjoining twenty acres on easy terms and had most of it into good growing shape.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup week, we find as actor and also as one of the proprieters. Eugene Powers, whose uncle, the Hon. Llewellyn Powers, is at the head of Maine's affairs of state.

And further than that, it isn't often that an actor and theatrical proprisor is at the same time a dramatist and appears in the lead in the play of his own writing. That is what will happen when the Morrison Comedy company presents.

THE MARKETS. Wall Street Review.

York, Jan. 9.-After a short preliminary contest today with the reactionary forces, the stock market resumed its recent bull characteristics. There was a prompt and striking response to any demonstration of strength, the bull leaders finding no difficulty in running prices up by rapid stages several points in any stock in which they began bidding for shares. The influence of these easy advances exercised so strong a sustaining influence on the rest of the market that the interests long of stocks had no difficulty in marketing enormous holdings without any very notable effects on prices. The bears, who sold the market under the conviction that the culmination of the rise had been reached and the reported illness of the president might prove the fected some declines at the opening, aided by the lower range of prices for Americans in London and by the acute weakness of a few stocks, espnounced projects for the building of great competing for work by the Carnegie interests. This caused an opening break of I points in National Tube common and of 116 in the preferred. The rubber stocks fell 2% for the common and 3 for the preferred and there was a drop of 3% in Lake Erie and Western. Excepting the rubber stocks there were good rallies in all of these in sympathy with the general strength developed. Missouri Pacific was easily the leader of the market and was lifted in the afternoon 51/2 points more than above last night's level. There were many rumors current of coming consolidations of the southern railroad systems, without any authority cited, and which were met in some cases by semi-official disclaimers, but, notwithstanding these disclaimers, the so-called Gould southwest-erns all advanced from 2 to $2\frac{\pi}{2}$. Manhattan and Western Union also gained 3 and $3\frac{\pi}{2}$ respectively. The various stocks which were successively brought forward in the advance would make long list. The most conspicuous were Lonisville and Nashville, with a rise of 35 k; Delaware and Hudson, 414; Illinois Central, 414; Great Northern preferred, 5%; the local tractions from 2% to 8. outside of Third Avenue, which rose an extreme 9½; Sugar and People's Gas, 2½ each; Union Pacific and New York Central as much and a number of less prominent stocks with even wider gains. The Grangers were rather less discoalers were affected by profit taking throughout. The dealings were again on a very large scale, but did not approach Menday's record. Total sales, 1,701,500 shares.

There was a very active demand for bonds of southwestern railroads and the whole list showed strength. The gains were not in all cases fully maintained. Total soles par value, 84,575,000. United States refunding 2s advanced by per cent

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the car. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitu-tional remedies. Deafness is caused by an in-flamed condition of the nuncous itings of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed flamed condition of the mucous itning of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rambling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the reasis, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous we will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars.
