THE LAST DAY.

Pupils Not Having Certificates of Vaccination Will Not Be Admitted to School.

Today is the last day on which pupils of the public schools of this city can be vaccinated in time to be admitted to school Monday morning. The time limit set by the board of health expires this evening. On Monday, each pupil must bring to school a certificate signed by a city physician that he or she has been successfully vaccinated or has had smallpox. Children not having such certificates will not be allowed to attend school and it will be the duty of the principals and teachers to see that the law is observed. If a child is absent from school on account of not being vaccinated, it is probable that the truancy officer will call upon the parents and quote the law upon the subject. There will probably not be many cases of children sent home, however, as nearly all the pupils of the schools in this city have been vaccinated during the past two weeks, and the doctors are having a much-needed rest.

He Changed His Mind.

The members of the board of revision of taxes and appeals are still chuckling over an incident that occurred on Wednesday evening and which aptly illustrates a predominant phase of human nature. An irate citizen from the Second ward came pushing his way before the board and vigorously stated in to state his case. He pulled his assessment papers out of his pocket and waving them in the air, commenced: "Now, look here, I don't propose to stand this any longer. You fellows have been piling up my taxes and this year I am assessed a couple of hundred more dollars than I was last year. I haven't made any improvement; haven't even built a fence, and my property has depreciated in value. Now, I ain't a-going to pay this assessment."

The board is used to this sort of thing. In a mechanical manner one of the members hunted up the man's assessment last year and then took this year's papers up and compared them. Then a surprised look gave way to an amused one, and he ventured: "Well, if we make this year's assessment the same as last, will it be all right?"

"Now, you're talking! Of course it will. I'm glad I came down here and made a kick," and the protesting citizen's face became wreathed in smiles. "Well, all right," said the sourcerer, "but the book here says that your assessment last year was $250 higher than it is this time."

"What's that?" A hurried glance revealed that truth was spoken. "And you are willing to pay the same as last year without a kick?" pursued the tax adjuster. "Well—I guess—not! Give me those papers. I'll pay this right away, I guess, before the assessor raises the ante." And the Second ward man wandered out in the corridor with his hat on the back of his head and his hand chasing through his hair. He wore a different look from what he did when he entered, and he spoke in a joyful key to a couple of friends he passed, who were coming in to have their assessments reduced.

The Republican Nominations.

The ticket named at the Republican convention on Tuesday evening is a strong one from every viewpoint. Representative business men are the candidates and in the cases of the school directors, in particular, the nominees are all men of sterling character, of integrity and soundness. With thoroughness the school board can be depended upon to give the citizens and taxpayers a business administration, as each and every one of them has the interests of the community at heart and they desire to serve the public well and honestly. The ticket is the best that could be named.

CHURCH WORKERS MEET.

The Ladies of the First M. E. Church Spend a Pleasant Afternoon.

The ladies of the First Methodist Episcopal church had a social afternoon yesterday at the residence of the Misses Butler on Canaan street. Among the afternoon's pastimes was a series of games in which guessing and skill each played a part. The games were arranged in this fashion: On a table stood several covered boxes, numbered, and each lady had a chance to inhale the odor and guess at the contents, having but three minutes to arrive at a conclusion, which was difficult, as each contained a different mixture. If successful there she passed to the next table, which had a lot of beans, and she was provided with two wooden toothpicks to fish out as many as she could in three minutes. If she got over the minimum number allowed she passed on to the next table where a number of needles and spoons of different sizes were placed. Each lady had to pick up a needle in three minutes. At the next stopping place she was given a piece of paper and a pencil and had a chance to draw a house, but with her eyes shut. The last table contained pins and she had to pick up a pin with her eyes shut. A large number of ladies were present and they had a very good time. Refreshments were served in a dainty manner.

A Noisy Trio.

Constable Stephen Gilby, with Lyman Baker and Winans Hull, made the neighborhood of Salem avenue the scene of considerable disturbance yesterday afternoon. The trio were "under the weather," so to speak, and the big constable was set upon by his two companions, and life was being made miserable for him when Chief of Police McAndrew arrived on the spot and arrested Gilby and Baker for drunkenness and fighting. Hull managed to get away. The chief escorted his two prisoners down to the city jail and locked them up to give them a chance to become sober.

Although Gilby was being set upon vigorously by Baker and Hull, he did not seem to want to fight and was doing his best to keep them off when arrested. The chief thought he was too intoxicated to be at large, however, so he put him in a safe place for the night.

A China Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elmer, of Church street, celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary on Thursday evening. A number of friends helped them to do so very pleasantly, presenting them with a beautiful china tea set, a real meerschaum pipe for Mr. Elmer, and even the baby was not forgotten. Games, dancing and music also added to the enjoyment, after which a delicious supper was served. Those present were Misses Lizzie Herd, Mary Collins, Marie Carney, Gertrude Tucker, Maud Roberts, Lazarus, Edith Williams, Mary Peggely, Dugan, Messrs. Williams, Hughes, Tucker, Hunter, Messrs. Williams, John Wildman, Charles Alexander, Frank Layman, James Courtney, Harry Keeler, James Steele, Buschlen, Fox, Shearer, Kimback, Boas and Pierce.

The Baptist Aid Society.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Berean Baptist church in this city held a meeting yesterday afternoon and elected officers for the next year. The following were chosen: Mrs. S. S. Shields, president; Mrs. John Booth, first vice-president; Mrs. James Smith, second vice-president; Mrs. Milo Gardner, secretary; and Mrs. A. P. Trautwein, treasurer. The income of the society for the past year amounted to $400, which is remarkable when it is considered that no special object has been in view as an incentive.

The annual supper of the church occurred last evening. A large number of persons were present and the supper was all that could be desired, in quality, quantity and in the manner in which it was served.

for the new structure. The new breakers will be small compared to Coalbrook, and nothing larger than egg coal will be prepared in them. The new structures will relieve the congestion and result in better time for both breaker hands and miners.

The People's Lecture Course.

When the trustees of the Berean Baptist church announced several months ago that they would present to the people of the city a high-grade lecture course, without charging admission fee, there was a little suspicion that either the talent employed would be very ordinary or money would be lost in the enterprise. Three lectures have already occurred, and it is acknowledged on all sides that the talent has been fully up to the standard in any of the high-priced courses of former years, and the offerings have thus far been equal to the expenses. For next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the trustees will introduce Rev. Mr. Getty, a widely known Lutheran clergyman, who will give an illustrated lecture on Martin Luther. This lecture is the most expensive entertainment of the course, yet the trustees will limit the audience to the numbers that can be comfortably seated in full view of the screen, believing that the limited audience will appreciate the comfort afforded them and make an offering that will protect the officers against loss. A few tickets are yet to be had at some of the business places, but to be sure of securing a seat, phone or send a card to the parsonage today.

Waited on Father Coffey.

A meeting of the silk mill employees and the United Mine Workers' committees was held last night and a statement of the employees' grievances and claims was prepared. This was taken by a sub-committee to Father Coffey, who was selected as arbitrator of the strike which was recently ended. Father Coffey has already given considerable attention to the case and is making a thorough investigation of the affairs in this and other nearby silk mills. He has so far given no indication as to what information he has received, and informed a Tribune representative that he does not expect to reach a decision before the latter part of next week, at the earliest. The employees are all back to work, but are naturally very eagerly awaiting the outcome of the arbitration. There is also considerable interest shown throughout the city generally.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Karka and sons, Charles and Brooks, expect to remove to Troy, N. Y., in a short time. Mr. Karka is a commercial traveler and his route being in that section, makes it inconvenient for him to remain in his residence here. The Karkas are among the most highly esteemed residents of this city and their departure for their removal will be deplored by all.

A Dispute Over Wages.

Attorney J. J. O'Neill was before Alderman R. J. Delevan last night, representing J. Carden, who was charged by Anthony Gligallon with having withheld pay for loading three tons of coal. The alderman reserved his decision until Monday evening.

A GEORGIA JUDGE WAS ALARMINGLY AFFLICTED WITH CATARRH OF THE LUNGS. CURED BY PERRINA

JUDGE W. G. DURHAM, OF GEORGIA.

Catarrh of the Lungs the First Stage of Consumption.

So All Medical Authorities Agree.

Judge Durham, a well-known local Judge of Greensboro, Ga., had an experience with Perrina well worth relating. A report had become current among the Judge's friends that he was threatened with consumption. It was feared for a time that Georgia was to lose one of its most prominent and influential citizens.

It was also reported that the Judge had failed to get any relief from any of the medical aid at his command, and despaired of the high prize which is given it by the general public.

Judge Durham has been Secretary and Treasurer for the city of Greensboro, Ga., for the past three years, and has been a local Judge for ten years.

There are three roads which lead from health to consumption. Over one of these roads pass all of that great multitude of people who die every year of consumption. Each route begins with health and happiness and ends with disease and death.

The public importance of the Judge together with the prominence of his many friends, as well as the startling and dramatic features of the unexpected cure caused one of our leading newspapers to make inquiry into the facts.

The following written statement from the Judge himself sets forth the facts.

"Greensboro, Ga., March 24, 1890.

"Some time ago I contracted a severe cold which settled on my lungs and in my head. I tried many remedies, all of which gave me no relief. I concluded that my case was catarrh of the head and lungs, and seeing Perrina so highly recommended I began using it, experiencing the very best results from the first bottle.

"I continued using Perrina for a short while, and have never felt the least symptoms of catarrh since. Perrina is certainly a good medicine, and deserves the high praise which is given it by the general public."
