CANDIDATES FOR COUNCIL

MANY CANDIDATES FOR SEATS IN COMMON.

Primaries Will Be Held Today or Monday to Nominate Candidates. Continuation of the Home Festival of St. Brendan's Council, Young Men's Institute—Regular Gospel Service Tonight in the Y. W. C. A. German Class Will Meet Next Tuesday Night—Other News Notes.

The transition of Scranton from a third to a second class city will mean the election of two more common councilmen in each of the Fourth and Fifth wards. In each of the wards candidates are appearing. In order to secure the nominees names upon the official ballot for the general election in February canvasses will be held in both wards at the respective polling places today or Monday.

The vigilants of the Fourth ward met in Alderman Johns' office, on North Main avenue, last evening at 7 o'clock, and decided to hold their caucus today between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock at the regular polling places. The following have registered as candidates: Wallace G. Moser, D. L. Morgan, D. R. Jones, Edward Seering, E. W. Evans and D. R. Thomas.

The appended notice has been issued by the vigilance committee of the Fifth ward:

To the Republican Voters of the Fifth Ward: In accordance with the proclamation of the mayor of the city of Scranton calling for the election of two members for the office of common council, on the general election to be held on Feb. 19, 1901, there will be a caucus of the Republican voters of the Fifth ward, at the regular polling places in said ward, on Saturday, Jan. 19, 1901, between the hours of 4 and 7 p. m., for the purpose of nominating two members for common council.

All persons desiring to be candidates for said nominations are hereby notified to register with Dr. P. F. Stimpson, 111 South Main avenue, before 10 o'clock a. m. today. By order of the Vigilance Committee.

The candidates who registered last evening were E. E. Robathan, John T. James and Alex. Kreberg.

The Republicans of the Fifteenth ward will also caucus between the hours of 4 and 7 o'clock, to place in nomination a candidate for common council. Two candidates are in the

The Home Festival.

The Home Festival of the St. Brendan's Young Men's Institute, was well attended last evening. An interesting programme was rendered. Many valuable articles were chanced off. The lucky ones were: Rug, Otto Robinson; lamp, Richard Lenehan; lamp, Gertrude Blawie; piece of Battenberg, Mrs. Patrick Grady; chair, Mrs. Healey; fancy rocker, Thomas McGrath; fancy apron, John Larkin.

Y. W. C. A. Notes.

Tonight the regular Gospel services will be held. The leader will be Mr. W. W. Adams from the Young Men's Christian Association. The subject chosen is "An Eternal Salvation." The services will last for one hour, so a large attendance is desired.

The Passion Play.

"The Passion Play" to be given at the Jackson Street Baptist church on Tuesday, Jan. 22, is a sacred panorama of the life of Christ in moving picture realism, as performed by the devout peasants of Oberammergau, Bavaria.

Jackson Street Baptist Church.

The week of prayer will still be continued during next week; the interest is good; many have found the Lord. Rev. W. H. Williams, the Drummer Evangelist, will be with us and begin next Tuesday evening. The following are his topics: Tuesday, Jan. 22, at 7:30, "The Last Call"; Wednesday, Jan. 23, "Few Virgins"; Thursday, Jan. 24, "No Room for Jesus"; Friday, Jan. 25, "The Prodigal"; Sunday evening, "Breaking Home Ties and Farewell."

In fervor and pathos and dramatic power, Evangelist Williams is the J. B. Gough of the American platform of today.—Daily News, Newburyport.

Mass. The public are cordially invited to attend all these services.

Leary; judge of election, John Shenz; inspector, Morgan Davies. Second district—Register, Samuel A. Williams and Andrew Dingman; judge, Fred Leber; inspector, William Gaul.

Mr. Burgess, a miner employed in the Briggs shaft and residing at 116 South Grant avenue, was injured while at his work yesterday by a fall of roof. He was removed to his home, where Dr. Brennan was summoned and dressed the injuries, which consisted of two large gashes on the head and many body bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hitchings, of Luzerne street, celebrated the fifth anniversary of their marriage Thursday. Their home was invaded by a large number of guests, who spent the evening in a pleasant manner. At a reasonable hour, a delicious repast was served.

NORTH SCRANTON NOTES.

Funeral of the Late S. M. Corson. Held Yesterday Afternoon.

The funeral of the late S. M. Corson was held yesterday afternoon. The body was removed from the home on North Main avenue to the Providence Methodist Episcopal church, where services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. A. Cure, assisted by Rev. Dr. Guild, of the Presbyterian church. The choir of the church sang several selections during the services, which were sad and impressive.

MISS CLARA ARNDT.

A GIRL'S BEST FRIEND IS HER MOTHER. WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., ROCHESTER, N. Y. Kenosha, Wis., Nov. 15, 1900. Gentlemen—I knew Warner's Safe Cure saved my life. Last spring I had a severe attack of jaundice with other complications, which had me up for several weeks. I lost my appetite, became nervous and irritable, lost flesh and courage and found no relief, but as the doctor's prescription did not help me, I was told to try Warner's Safe Cure. It brought me a bottle and as that seemed to help me, I tried another, and then another and inside of a month I was well and have enjoyed good health ever since. I gladly endorse your splendid medicine.

MISS CLARA ARNDT, Sec'y North Shore German Club.

MISS ROSALIE T. TIEDLER.

BACKACHE AND HEADACHE CURED. WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., ROCHESTER, N. Y. Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5, 1900. Gentlemen—Last spring I contracted a severe cold which I neglected, to my sorrow. It settled in my kidneys, producing inflammation with severe backache and continual headache. We had a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure in the house which my brother had been using and I tried it. To my surprise I began to mend very rapidly. I took a second bottle and a third and kept on improving until at the end of five weeks I was entirely well.

MISS ROSALIE T. TIEDLER, Sec'y Floral Club, 1143 Oakdale Ave.

MISS VIRGINIA TOWNSEND.

RESTORED TO COMPLETE HEALTH. WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., ROCHESTER, N. Y. Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 25, 1900. Gentlemen—Warner's Safe Cure is the only medicine that could ever cure me. I was afflicted with female trouble brought on by being thrown from a carriage in a runaway. I had no relief from doctors and medicines without relief, but Warner's Safe Cure restored me to health in two months. My general health is also improved and I would not be without it in my home for ten times its cost.

Accept kindly thanks from Yours gratefully, VIRGINIA TOWNSEND, Vice President Young People's Christian Temperance Union, 2118 Sherman St.

A Little Bit of Braid.

SHE TURNED her head very slightly, so that the man behind her caught the narrowing of her eyes with sudden anger, and the tilting of her rounded chin.

"Chummy," she said in a voice ringing with scorn. She caught up her skirt, just raising it from the ground, and hastened on. But she threw a few more or less acceptable home thrusts over her shoulder as she went on.

"I can't think that you have been doing with yourself lately. Not improving, anyway. And you won't get on in the direction you are taking, I can assure you. It makes me very doubtful as to the truth of all your yarns of conquest—they are just what I took them for—fairy tales every one. For no girl would be tame enough to be trampled on, if that is your habit. You could not be so blind as that."

She gave the offending skirt, with the loop of braid dangling uncomfortably, a further hitch. She had the date of the fair in her mind, and expressed her altogether—and the man following her made no objection.

It was, indeed, his continued silence she seized on next—to misinterpret. "At least," she said, with stately straightforwardness, "you might apologize."

They had reached the landing stage where the boat was moored. The girl proceeded to take her place in it with the calmness and ease which only come to her sex through practice and long suffering. She was seated with the ropes in her hands, before she took them up, the man who had followed her into the boat by this time.

"Now let me see the stroke which takes captive your best girls," she was saying, and then her eyes met his. Though it would have seemed more appropriate that she should be the one to blush, it was to her cheeks the color mounted. She actually hesitated before she spoke.

"So he was given the opportunity of speaking, and by this time he availed himself, willingly. "Do not apologize," he said, "very humbly. His manner and the laughter in his eyes did not, however, accord wholly with such an attitude. "Well—really," she began, but he interrupted her.

"I will go further—you will grant it is long since you moved," he said. "There seems room for it—" He was quite a genius at relaying his chances. He took her words as a concession and dipped his souls into the water at the same time.

"I shall be able to talk so much better," he said, "if you will allow me to announce myself as a candidate for common councilman in the First ward."

Mrs. George Hoff, of North Main avenue, is slightly indisposed.

continues, so to speak a strange young man, in such a case, must present himself in the light of an acquiescent. Her eyes were dancing. "Why don't you say such an exceedingly nice young man, while you are about it?" she asked, mockingly.

"I will go one better," said he, "with your permission. Such an exceptionally nice party." And he bowed.

"Oh, you are dreadful—dreadful!" But she did not say it as a fact to be deplored. She looked away from the soft summer landscape, down to the edge of the serge skirt with its trimming of braid and the fateful loop.

"They do say those so inaccurately," she said. "You haven't a pin to spare."

"It seems almost a pity," said he, while she busied herself over it; "but I suppose it will be just as well now."

"The afternoon was, as he had said, delightful, and his swift stroke left nothing to be desired. "Why don't you after all, and she never gave another thought to the cape until she saw it, when at last they got back, banging desolately on the bathroom door, where her brother had left it when he departed there to find her vanished."

The brother and sister were very alike in disposition, and took things lightly and as they came. So he never openly resented her desertion—perhaps, as her new friend pointed out, too, had his more than adequate compensation.

She recalled it, in her kindest moods, an anticipation, but he maintained that he gave the incident its most appropriate title when he named it a "forerunner." And this it was.

The weather favored them, and his visit lengthened from a week's end to a week and more. Ample time for a man of such ready methods to win for himself a girl not indisposed to be won. Thus his visit to the brother—an old tale, but often a very pleasant one.

It was later in the season, and boating interests had given way to the necessity of stock taking in fashionable wearing apparel, and discussions on the relative merits of new and antique furniture.

"I could, almost wish," she said sweetly, "that it was possible to trim a white satin wedding dress with braid in a sort of squiggly pattern of loops and turns."
