A common slab with the following inscription is ad that marks the resting place of the remains of this notable man.

SAMUEL MEREDITIL.

February 10, 1817, In the Soventy-sixth Year of His Age

Samuel Meredith served as treasure of the United States from 1789 until 1801. He held an interest in a number of large tracts of land in Pennsylvania, one of these containing a thousand acres. It was located in Wayne county, where he settled in 1803, and in 1812 erected a handsome residence, near which he was buried. The people of this county and commonwealth should not allow this sacred spot to remain neglected, when all over the country monuments are being erected in memory of the bonored dead.

The Jack Hoeffler company drew two lars audiences to the Academy of Music yesterday attennoon and evening. In the attennon "A Daughter of Cersica" was the attraction, and in the evening "The Banch King" was given. As the title suggests, it is a melodroma full of

"Eight Bells" Tonight.

The world famous Brothers Byrne will present their puntominic comedy, "Eight Bells," at the Lyceum this evening. The production this season ever been seen here become. It contains within itself a musical comedy, a farce comedy, a pantowhere, spectacular play, besides burleque, which help to make material constructed for longhing purposes only, and in all the Brothers Byrne and players fully succeed. The applause is incessant and curtain calls numerous. The first scene is a pretty one representing two gardens divided by high brick walls, with a cottage on each side ring this scope a number of ridiculous inc. dents take place after each other so quickly that one's breath is almost taken away. The second scene is a steamer deck and what takes place here is beyond description. The appldity of the action is above memorizing, the reader must see for himself. This scene by a ick change and really wonderful mechanism urns into a big ship at sen; two adjoining state sooms of an Atlantic steamer are shown and while the ship is rolling on the high waves a number peculiar aerobatic features are performed by a inimitable Brothers Byrne, some of which are stariling. The third act represents in island upon which ship has been wrecked and here occurs a number of first class specialties terminating with a funny fire scene, one of the most langhable ef-fects ever produced. The Brothers Byrne's production of "Eight Bells" is a sure cute for "A Free Lance." There is no character, probably, that appeals as forcibly to theater-goess of every class as that of the hero who is really a hero, the gallant knight of the old romantic days, handsome, val-cross and during, ever ready for a josst and wishing any danger for the sake of his lady love. This is a character that quickens the pulse of even the most blass and calls forth the aspiration of the gentler sex. All the world looks up to this sort of man, the finest type that history royeals. In the portnayal of such characters Robert B. Mantell stands foremost and alone. He has won his position by a succession of spicudid performances in which great dramatic addity have een combined with a fine physique and a magnetic personality. It is the opinion of Mr. Mantell and his mana-Hanley, that "A Free Lance," the new play that he is presenting this sensor, gives him the best role he has yet had. The play deals with Germany in medieval times and is both original and strong in story. It is m lavishly, the scenery and costumes being of re-markable magnificence. At the Lyccum Saturday matinee and night; matinees, 25 and 50 cont evening, 25 cents to $1
