SCRANTON, PA., MONDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 4, 1901.

TWO CENTS.

DISCUSSION OF SUBSIDY BILL

Will Be Continued in the Senate This Week with Probable Interruptions.

WANT NIGHT SESSIONS

The Appropriation Bill Will Also Furnish a Subject for Debate—Senator Bacon Has Given Notice That He Will Make Remarks in Favor of a Resolution Introduced by Himself—Exercises in Connection with the Celebration of the Centennial Anniversary of John Marshall's Appointment as Chief Justice of the United States Will Be Held by Both Branches of Legislature.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Washington, Feb. 3.—The senate will continue its discussion on the ship subsidy bill during the first half of the present week with probable interruptions during the morning hours of the day. There probably will be a movement to secure night sessions on the part of the friends of the shipping bill Monday or Tuesday and other strenuous efforts will be made to secure a vote upon the bill. It should appear probable that the end of the discussion is still not in sight. Senator Allison on Wednesday will ask the senate to take up the bill making appropriations for the District of Columbia for the next fiscal year. This appropriation bill will be debated for several days and when its consideration is concluded there will be other appropriation bills requiring attention. The early part of Monday will be given to the ceremonies in memory of Chief Justice Marshall and Senator Bacon has given notice that he will call attention to some remarks of his upon the resolution introduced by himself declaring the right of the senate to demand and receive all papers on file in the executive departments. He will speak at length upon that question and if he should conclude the day he will be followed by one of several extended speeches on the subsidy bill, which are held in reserve. Senator Turner is committed on for another speech and in case of a night session Monday night he will probably undertake to speak the session out. It is expected that Senator Caffrey will talk Tuesday.

The Democrats do not hesitate to say that in case night sessions are ordered they will demand that a quorum shall be maintained. On Saturday eulogies will be delivered in honor of the late Representative Harmer, of Pennsylvania.

IN THE HOUSE

The house will continue the consideration of appropriation bills this week. The postoffice appropriation bill is not yet completed. It will be followed by the consular and diplomatic and the sundry bills which last will be reported to the house tomorrow. The bill to promote the efficiency of the revenue cutter service and to establish national standardizing bureau and conference reports will consume whatever remains. Tomorrow the exercises in connection with the celebration of the centennial anniversary of John Marshall's appointment as chief justice of the United States will be held in the house of representatives from 10 to 1 o'clock.

PRESIDENT MITCHELL HOPEFUL

Believes Operators and Men Will Come Together at Columbus.

Columbus, O., Feb. 3.—A canvass among the miners' delegates to the joint conference reveals a disposition on their part to insist strongly upon the single run of mine standard and a fixed differential of seven cents between machines and pick mining.

There are two leading propositions in the miners' scale formulated at the Indianapolis conference. President Mitchell says the miners and operators are no further apart than they were at the beginning of the joint conference a year ago. He is hopeful of an agreement. Some of the operators, on the other hand, regard an agreement as a very remote probability. There is no prospect of a meeting of the joint conference for several days, as the scale committee will not convene until 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and no material progress has yet been made in its work.

CLYDE JAMISON BURIED

One of the Heroes of the Siege of Tein-Tsin Buried at Bloomsburg.

Bloomsburg, Pa., Feb. 3.—The body of Clyde Jamison, who was killed in the siege before Tein-Tsin, was buried today from the home of his sister, Mrs. Clara Whitelight, at Berwick, with military honors. The sermon was preached by Dr. R. H. Gilbert, of the Methodist church, and the services, which were held in that church, were attended by an immense throng. The funeral procession was headed by the Berwick bands and included the organizations of the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and the survivors from this county of the Spanish-American war. Young Jamison was sent from there to the Philippines, being sent there in a charge that he received his death wound.

The Plague at Cardiff

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. Cardiff, Feb. 3.—A fatal plague has been attacked by a disease which is diagnosed as the bubonic plague.

WHOLE FAMILY POISONED.

Result of Eating Pork Supposed to Have Been Doctored.

Pittsburg, Feb. 3.—As a result of eating pork, supposed to have been "doctored" with some sort of preservative, a whole family was poisoned last evening. One member is dead and five others are seriously ill.

Mrs. Ann Fox, widow of a former well-known coal operator, is dead and Mrs. Ellen Cuddy, a widowed daughter of Mrs. Fox; Ella McCartney, a granddaughter of Mrs. Fox; Thomas Cuddy, a grandson; James T. Fox, a son, and Harry M. Fox, a son of James Fox, are seriously ill.

The family, who live at No. 2 Lanark street, West End, all ate of spare ribs for supper last night and within a short time afterward all were withdrawn in agony. Fortunately, a neighbor, Mrs. Fox, in the yard vomited, upon investigation she found all members of the family scattered all through the house, each suffering and helpless. She summoned the family physician, Dr. Ryan, and his prompt treatment saved all except Mrs. Fox, who died during the night. The others, though still in a critical condition, may recover. The physician says there is no doubt that boracic or salicylic acid in the preservative was the cause of the trouble.

THE SPECTATORS WERE ALSO BAPTISED

Ice Gives Way During Service at the Conestoga Creek—Scene Not on the Programme.

Lancaster, Feb. 3.—Fifteen hundred people this afternoon gathered in West End park to witness the baptismal rites of the German Baptist Brethren, including immersion in the icy waters of the Little Conestoga, administered to sixteen converts. The exercises were performed by Rev. T. F. Imler, pastor of the local church, and Rev. Jesse Ziegler, of Royersford, Pa., who has been holding a protracted revival service here. The creek was frozen over and a large space had been cut out to permit the ceremony. Most of the converts were children, some of them not more than ten years old, several of whom cried lustily during the ordeal.

Each was led into the stream and directed to kneel where the water came up to their necks. Then after being briefly catechized, the candidate was thrice plunged wholly under the water by the clergyman, the service lasting about five minutes for each. The ministers were in the water fully three-quarters of an hour. None showed any ill effects, and the day was cold and shortly after the ceremony a heavy snow storm began. Some excitement was caused by the breaking of the ice under a number of spectators, immersing several of them who were not on the programme.

"CRAZY SNAKE" TO BE TRIED FOR TREASON

The Leader of the Creeks and Seventeen Followers Are in Jail at Muskogee.

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 3.—Chittl Harjo, or Crazy Snake, the leader of the warlike Creek Indians, and seventeen of the minor leaders of that tribe have been landed in the federal jail here, where they will be held pending trial for treason. The Indians were brought here from Henrietta under escort of Troop A, Eighth cavalry, and United States Marshal Bennett and his posse.

It is stated that certain attorneys whom it is alleged were misled by the Indians, are being prosecuted.

Marshal Bennett states that while most of the Indians are in hiding, some are still trying to hold meetings. A posse will be sent tomorrow to arrest Chief Latah Mekko, the real chief of the Creeks. When placed in prison here Harjo and his followers were searched, fumigated, their shackles removed and all were placed in one large cell. A newspaper correspondent, with the assistance of an interpreter, had an interview with Crazy Snake, who said that he said he was arrested and felt confident that when the Indians were given a trial before the great white father's court they would be released. He said they were acting in good faith and had papers from Washington that gave them the right to establish their old government.

As to all the talk about killing whites, he said it was never their intention and they expected only to treat and act with their own people and in so doing expected finally to get all the whites out. He also said that the "great spirit" would see that they got justice, even though their white father in Washington and the old syndicates were happy hunting grounds.

Swindling for Fifteen Years

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

New York, Feb. 3.—The police of West New York, N. J., today arrested Adolph Hahn, who for fifteen years it is alleged, has been swindling the widows of civil war veterans by posing as a government pension agent. The pension bureau recently furnished the police with all the larger cities with photographs of the man.

INTERMENT OF THE QUEEN

Will Take Place at Frogmore This Afternoon at 3 O'clock.

CEREMONY TO BE PRIVATE

Only the Immediate Members of the Royal Family Will Attend—Archbishop of York, the Bishop of Westminster and the Dean of Windsor Will Officiate.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press. London, Feb. 3.—The body of the late Queen Victoria has been protected by guardsmen in the Albert Memorial chapel, at Windsor, since it was deposited there yesterday. The officials of the royal household at Windsor castle visited the chapel today, as well as a number of friends, and admired the great display of wreaths.

The interment at Frogmore tomorrow will be at 3 o'clock p. m. The coffin will be conveyed on a gun carriage drawn by artillery horses. By the king's special command, the ceremony will be public, instead of private as formerly intended.

The guard of honor will be the late queen's company, the Grenadier Guards, the regimental band accompanying the escort to the mausoleum.

The ceremony there will be private, the immediate members of the royal family attending. The Archbishop of York, the Bishop of Winchester and the Dean of Windsor will officiate. The choir of St. George's chapel royal, Sir Walter Parrall directing, will render the music. The choir will meet the procession at the stairs of the chapel and, with the clergy, will proceed the coffin, the royal personages, with servants and the late queen's pipers, following.

A Memorial Service.

A memorial service was held this morning in St. George's chapel, attended by King Edward, Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Cornwall and York, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm, other members of the late queen's household, and the late queen's household. The royal personages wore civilian clothing, the ladies wearing mourning veils, the whole scene being in contrast with yesterday's brilliant display for the body of the late queen. Sir Walter Parrall played a prelude by Chaminade, and Canon, the Marquis of Normandy and the Dean of Windsor read the special lessons. The prayers were the special prayers prescribed, relating to the reign of Victoria, the accession of Edward. The choir sang Dvorak's anthem, "Blessed Jesus, Fount of Mercy," rendering it with beautiful effect. The Rev. William Stubbs, bishop of Oxford, delivered the funeral discourse.

After the service King Edward and Emperor William walked in the grounds and in the evening they attended a strictly private service, at which Mrs. Albany sang.

Emperor William will leave Windsor Tuesday, accompanied by King Edward. He will talk luncheon at Marlborough house, after which he will drive to Charing Cross station, where he will take the train for Port Victoria. He will follow the same route by which Lord Roberts entered London on returning from South Africa, and a great ovation is expected.

PROMOTION THAT IS WELL EARNED

George E. Steele, of Altoona, Is Made a Second Lieutenant in the Army at Manila.

Philadelphia, Feb. 3.—A correspondent of the Associated Press writes from Manila in an interesting way regarding a Pennsylvania soldier, who has recently earned promotion in that far-off country. He says:

"Former Sergeant Major George E. Steele, of Altoona, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the army. This promotion is due to merit alone, Lieutenant Steele having won an excellent record with the Forty-third Volunteer Infantry during the last year on the islands of Samar and Leyte, in the Philippines, where he served as sergeant major to Major Henry T. Allen's battalion of that regiment.

"Lieutenant Steele is from Pennsylvania, Westmoreland county, and is twenty-five years of age. He was educated at Irwin and Scottsdale, graduating from the public school at the latter place as valedictorian of his class. In 1888 his family moved to Altoona, where he was employed in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad. His military law in the office of the Hon. Augustus S. Landis, judge of the courts of Blair county, Pa. He got the war fever and enlisted in the Eighteenth Pennsylvania Typographical company, being assigned to Cuba and brought him to the Presbyterian hospital in Philadelphia, where he was confined for three months, until the early part of 1895. As soon as he was well again, he re-enlisted in the Forty-third volunteers at Fort Ethan Allen, in Vermont, since which time he has been campaigning in Samar and Leyte. Steele has been mentioned three times in orders and several times in subaltern reports of minor engagements. He has done excellent work as sergeant major, as well as in the lower grades of his regiment, and his promotion to a commission was unreservedly recommended by all of the staff officers of his regiment, as was also his transfer to another regiment, which has already gone forward."

ANTHRACITE COAL TRADE.

State of Trade According to the Ledger Article.

Philadelphia, Feb. 3.—The Ledger in its coal and anthracite review will say: "The anthracite coal trade has been somewhat interfered with during the past week by the inclement weather, which has restricted both the output and shipment of coal. Heretofore the winter has been singularly favorable to this important industry, but heavy snows, as may have been expected at length came, and the working at the mines and movement of trains were obstructed. Car shortages also has restricted shipments.

Otherwise, however, the industry is in excellent condition. Hundreds of labor are cheerful and the January production has been the largest ever known in that mid-winter month. The aggregate anthracite output for 1900 is now stated to have been 41,899,800 tons, compared with 47,665,000 tons in 1899 and 43,167,400 in 1898.

SENATOR FLINN NOW APPROVES

He is Willing to Accept Amendments to the Muehlbronner Bill.

SUGGESTED BY SCRANTON

The Electric City Must Swallow the "Ripper" Clause, However, if It Wants Anything in the Way of Amendments—Anti-Ripper Men Declare They Will Defeat the Bill if the Clause Is Not Eliminated. The Skirmishing Will Begin Today.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Harrisburg, Feb. 3.—Senator Flinn has declared his approval of the amendments to the Muehlbronner bill which the Scranton countermine committee propose to offer, when they come to be heard next Wednesday.

He, of course, expects that Scrantonians will be the more ready to listen to his line of reasoning against the "ripper" clause, if as an ally of their's than if there were no ties between them, and on this account, possibly, can his approval of the Scranton idea be best explained. The Quayites say that if Scranton wants anything in the way of amendments to the Muehlbronner bill it will have to swallow the "ripper" clause. The anti-"ripper" people say they will defeat the bill if the "ripper" clause is not eliminated. The Quayites say they have enough votes to pass the bill just as it stands, if they want to.

The preliminary skirmishing will open up tomorrow afternoon. Tuesday morning it is expected a conference will be held between the Flinnites and some of the Scrantonians. The hearing before the committee will occur on Wednesday. It would seem from the sentiment there, that unless Scranton's representatives are fully agreed upon some definite plan of action, they might as well stay at home.

MOB MADE A RUSH FOR REV. DILLONS

Missionary's Attempt to Deliver a Lecture at Pittston Was Followed by a Very Exciting Scene.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Wilkes-Barre, Feb. 3.—Rev. Vincent Dillon, an Evangelical missionary, attempted to deliver a lecture in Booth's hall, Pittston, this evening, and a riot followed.

Dillon is a Lithuanian and claims to have been at one time an ordained clergyman of the Roman Catholic church. He has made several attempts to deliver lectures in the town, but each time Mayor Corcoran, fearing trouble, prevented him. Last week Dillon secured an injunction from the court to prevent the mayor from interfering with him. As a result, when the minister went to the hall tonight, accompanied by Rev. J. H. Fletcher, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and a few more protection, he was without police protection.

About 500 foreigners, mostly Lithuanians, were gathered in the place. As soon as Dillon made his appearance it was the signal for a violent outburst. The audience were soon on their feet and a rush was made for the lecturer, reading near Boyersburg, Columbia county, was shot by an unknown assassin, and death ensued six hours later. Mr. McHenry was aroused from his sleep by a noise in his barn, and he arose, dressed and went to the barn to investigate. As he neared the place a shot rang out and McHenry fell. The bullet struck him just above the heart and passed out of his back. Mrs. McHenry at once summoned aid and the victim was taken into his home. He was conscious for several hours, but was unable to name the murderer. He lapsed into an unconscious state, in which condition he remained until his death at 7 o'clock. It is the general belief that it was a case of cold-blooded murder, although every precaution had been taken to make it appear as a case of frustrated robbery. Several sacks of flour had been taken from the barn and placed so that it would appear that they left because of the hurried departure after the shooting.

The assassin was tracked for some distance and it was evident that he had no conveyance and therefore could not have taken away the sacks of flour with which he sought to cover up the murder.

No arrests have been made by the authorities, nor is any reason given for the murder. It is reported that sensational developments may follow. Mr. McHenry was 35 years of age, and leaves a wife and six children.

Bloomsburg, Pa., Feb. 3.—At 1 o'clock this morning, Thomas McHenry, a well-to-do lumber merchant and farmer, residing near Boyersburg, Columbia county, was shot by an unknown assassin, and death ensued six hours later. ## AN APPEAL FOR NAVAL HEROES

Secretary Long Makes Another Effort to Have the Santiago Sailors Recognized.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Secretary Long has addressed the following letter to Senator Morgan:

Dear Senator: I have your letter with regard to Lieutenant Hobson, Captain Clarke and others, and in the failure of the government to recognize their services. I need not say to you that no one feels more keenly than myself, or has done more to endeavor to secure justice for the men who conducted and consummated the Santiago naval campaign, than I do. I do not say this to in any way shift the responsibility, but in the hope that the cooperation of congress may yet be secured in this respect. With the interest which you and other members of the legislature feel in the case, I do not despair.

It is more than two years now since the president sent in nominations for promotion, and these nominations have never been acted upon by the senate. At each session of congress I have prepared and submitted to the president separate bills for each of these officers; no action has been taken upon them. In each of my annual reports I have urged the matter with all the force possible, but it attracts no attention. The president has asked for the creation of the grade of vice admiral, which would perhaps lead to a solution of the matter.

I feel keenly the lack of any recognition to Hobson, whose feat is famous the world over. I have repeatedly talked about him with the president, who, as you know, feels the most cordial interest in the case. I have also written him several times, but he has not yet acted. It would be an unjust discrimination against Captain Clarke, to whom you refer, and who is two numbers worse now than if there had been no action. It would be an injustice to the commander in chief, who planned and consummated the whole campaign and who has a greater responsibility upon him for a longer time than any other officer on the Atlantic; it would discriminate against the enlisted men, who have had neither thanks nor medal, nor any recognition, and are humiliated on the deck of every war ship which they serve. During the afternoon of the Atlantic expedition display their medals and the Santiago men have none. I feel almost like invoking the help of myself and every other citizen who is sympathetic to what seems to be the simplest justice.

Washington, Feb. 3.—A letter to Senator Hale, chairman of the naval committee of the senate, a copy of which I enclose herewith, is being sent to the president by the naval committee or sub-committee of it. It takes up the matter and considers the report upon the deaths of these officers.

Yesterday I wrote another letter to the president, a copy of which I enclose herewith, in which I urged the matter and considered the report upon the deaths of these officers.

I think you will cordially acknowledge that the president by his speedy nominations has left no stone unturned to do justice in this matter, and that it is not for reasons of which you are so distinguished a member, to set, trusting that we may all cooperate and at last secure to these officers and men an expression of the country's appreciation of their services. I am, very truly yours,
