VICTORIA IS NOW AT REST

Final Ceremonies in the Disposition of Great Britain's Dead Sovereign.

IS BESIDE HER HUSBAND

Royalty Bows Its Head to a Service Which the Highest Cannot Escape. Immediately After the Last Sad Rites Have Been Completed King Edward Proclaims His Gratitude to His Subjects in Many Climes and Declares His Purpose to Heed the Inspiring Lessons of His Queen-Mother's Illustrious Example.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

London, Feb. 4.—The last honors have been paid to Queen Victoria. Her body now rests peacefully near that of her husband in the mausoleum at Frogmore. The final ceremonies were of a pathetic character than any of the obsequies which preceded them. Shortly before 3 o'clock, in the presence of the royal mourners, the Grenadier Guard of honor lifted the casket from its temporary resting place in the Albert Memorial chapel and placed it on a gun carriage. In the meanwhile the queen's company of grenadiers, drawn up in the quadrangle, presented arms and wheeled into line, their rifles the reverse, and with slow, measured steps marched towards the castle gate.

At the head of the procession was a band playing Chopin's funeral march.

Slowly the cortege passed under the massive archway on to the long walk, which was a mass of black, brilliantly lit with scarlet. Life guardsmen led the crowds back.

In place on the gun carriage was the same regalia which had attracted the eyes of millions since the march to the grave began at Osborne. Close behind walked the king, Edward VII., and Duke of Connaught, wearing dark military overcoats and plumed cock hats, and looking pale and careworn.

In similar full attire were the kings of Portugal and Belgium. All heads were bent. The blue and gray of the German princes redeemed the royal group from perfect sombreness of color. Behind these walked Queen Alexandra and the royal princesses. The queen carried an umbrella, but the others had their hands folded. As the last trio of these veiled women passed out from the castle there came two boys dressed in bright tartan kilts and velvet jackets. Between them was a young girl, her loose hair glittering with the coronet of her mourning.

Two of these were children of Prince Henry of Battenberg and the other was little Prince Edward of York.

The rear of the procession was brought up by the suites of the kings and princes. With their var-colored overcoats, formal hats, and with their relatives entered the burial place so dear to the late queen, ranging themselves on each side of the coffin. The Bishop of Winchester read the last part of the burial service. After further prayer by the choir, the benediction was given and the privacy of this family tomb, the last farewells were said, the funeral came to an end, the mourners drove to the castle, and the crowds dispersed.

EDWARD TO HIS PEOPLE.

Royal Message Gazetted to Colonists and to Other Subjects.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

London, Feb. 4.—The king has sent the following message to all the British colonies and dependencies:

To My People Beyond the Seas: The countless messages of loyal sympathy that I have received from every part of my dominions ever since I began at Osborne, give me the whole empire now mourns the loss of my beloved mother.

In the welfare and prosperity of her subjects throughout Great Britain I have ever retained a heartfelt interest. She saw with satisfaction the steady progress which she has made under the wise extension of self-government that had been made in her dominions. She warmly appreciated their untiring efforts to better their lives and to promote the welfare of their people, and she was proud to think of the empire which she had so nobly founded and which she has so bravely carried on.

I have already declared that it will be my constant endeavor to follow the great example which she has bequeathed to me. In these seasons I shall have constant trust in the devotion and sympathy of the people and of their several representative assemblies throughout my vast colonial dominion. With such loyal support I will, with the blessing of God, assiduously work for the promotion of the common welfare and the security of our great empire over which I have now been called to reign.

Edward.

King Edward has gazetted the following to his subjects throughout the empire:

To My People: Now that the last scene has closed in the noble and ever glorious life of my beloved mother, and I am anxious to endeavor to convey to the people the extent of the deep gratitude I feel for the heart stirring and affectionate tributes which have everywhere been borne to her memory.

After alluding to the "common sorrow" the king concludes by again pledging to "work in the footsteps of the late queen in the fulfillment of my great responsibilities."

The king-emperor has sent a special message to the people of India and a meeting to the ruling chiefs of the native states. He refers to the late queen's special interest in India by his own visit to that country to the deep impression he received there and to his purpose to follow the queen-empress in working for the well being of all ranks in India.

MARSHALL DAY IS WIDELY OBSERVED

Impressive Tributes of Respect in Washington, Philadelphia, Albany, Boston, Harrisburg and Other Places.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Washington, Feb. 4.—In memorial celebration of the installation of John Marshall as chief justice of the United States one hundred years ago today there assembled in the hall of the house of representatives at 10 o'clock this morning the president and his cabinet, the members of the Supreme court and members of the senate and house. The exercises were simple. When the hour of 10 had arrived, Congressman Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, called the assemblage to order and requested Representatives Grosvener, of Ohio and Richardson, of Tennessee, to escort Chief Justice Fuller, of the United States Supreme court, to the chair. The Rev. Dr. William Stricker Jones, of the Episcopal church, presiding on the memory of the great justice, and on the living dignitaries present. Chief Justice Fuller then made a brief opening address. Mr. Wayne MacVeagh, of Pennsylvania, was introduced by the chief justice to deliver the orator of the occasion.

Albany, Feb. 4.—John Marshall day was celebrated in the Assembly chamber this afternoon. Governor Odell, Lieutenant Governor Woodruff, the judges of the court of appeals, members of the judiciary, the State Bar association, state legislators, city officials and other distinguished citizens from various parts of the state attended. A delegation from the Association of the Bar of the city of New York came to attend. In a special train to attend, William B. Hornblower, of New York, president of the New York State Bar association, addressed the assembly and introduced Chief Justice Parker, of the court of appeals, who delivered an address in honor of the hundredth anniversary of the installation of John Marshall as chief justice of the Supreme court of the United States. The important feature of the occasion was an address in Musical Fund hall by Justice Mitchell of the state Supreme court and the reading in the court of an appeal of a minute prepared in honor of the memory of Chief Justice Marshall. The Hon. George M. Dallas, judge of the United States circuit court, presided at the latter ceremony. Previous to the meeting there was a street parade composed of the judiciary, the committee and their guests, members of the bar, members of the law academy of Philadelphia, the undergraduates of the law school of the University of Pennsylvania, undergraduates of the law school of Temple college and other law students.

Harrisburg, Feb. 4.—Exercises commemorative of the one hundredth anniversary of John Marshall taking the oath of office as chief justice were held today by the Dauphin county bar association, composed of the attorneys and many county officials. Judge Simon occupied the bench with Governor Stone and after the court had been called to order by E. E. Ritter, the oldest member of the bar, announced the motion and moved that the court adjourn as a mark of respect. The motion was seconded by Robert Snodgrass, who delivered a lengthy eulogy on Marshall and his services.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The Bar association of the District of Columbia gave a banquet tonight in celebration of John Marshall Day. President William Will Howe, of the American Bar association presided and toasts were responded to by Justice John M. Harlan, of the Supreme court, Representative Dalzell, John Wayne MacVeigh, Judge Martin A. Knapp, of the Interstate commerce commission; Hon. John S. Wise, of New York; R. S. Perry and Henry E. Davis, of this city.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 4.—The memory of the late Chief Justice John Marshall was honored today in appropriate exercises in the hall of the house of representatives. A note of protest against the celebration was forwarded by Hon. John W. Alden, former president of the Bar association, who gave an open letter, in which he says:

When the Georgia supreme court marches into the hall of representatives to lead its process to the glorification of this eminent national, Chief Justice Marshall, an old Kentucky Democrat, who spent his boyhood and field and hunted under the stars and banner, remember that according to John Marshall his neck should have graced the gallows. If Madison is right, then Lee should have been hanged; Jefferson Davis legally deserved the scaffold and every Confederate soldier from Manassas to Appomattox was in law a rebel deserving death.

FIRST BLOOD FOR SALOONS

Mrs. Nation Baffled in Her Latest Sortie with the Unlabeled Hatchet.

SALOON KEEPER WINS

Warned by Her Notice, He Has a Bouncer Posted Near the Front Door and When the Temperance Crusaders Appear There Is a Street Fight Lasting Half an Hour and the Leader of the Crusade Is Taken to Jail by Two Big Policemen—Not Discouraged, She Proposes to Repeat.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 4.—Mrs. Nation this afternoon met the first defeat in her saloon-smashing career. Later at the police station she lauded the fact that it was by no means her Waterloo and she would soon again be at her chosen work.

With six women, each armed with worn hatchets, she had started out to wreck a restaurant in East Sixth street that also dispensed liquors. The restaurant was reached a few minutes before 3 o'clock. Then the women, headed by Mrs. Nation, made a rush for the door. She had warned the proprietors she would raid the place if they did not stop selling liquors and they were prepared for her attack. The hatchet was jerked from her hand by a stout man and the women were forced back.

A fierce fight followed between the restaurant men and Mrs. Nation's defenders. For a quarter of an hour they struggled in the street while the mob yelled encouragingly to Mrs. Nation. Many personal encounters took place but the police seemed without power to stop it.

A fierce fight followed between the restaurant men and Mrs. Nation's defenders. For a quarter of an hour they struggled in the street while the mob yelled encouragingly to Mrs. Nation. Many personal encounters took place but the police seemed without power to stop it.

Finally in despair they arrested Mrs. Nation and took her to jail. The crowd followed her and the restaurant was left unharmed. Mrs. Nation was not injured. During all the fierce struggle that went on in the street, while women and boys were knocked down and trampled on and the crowd was shouting and yelling, Mrs. Nation never lost her presence of mind. The hatchet was jerked from her hands, but that did not disturb her. She appeared surprised, but smiled and called to the women: "Ladies, you are armed. If you can't get to the place through your hatchets through the windows."

But the women were too demoralized to obey her. They had not her presence of mind. Mrs. Nation was led away between two big police officers. She was not downcast at her lack of success and laughed when people spoke jestingly to her.

At the police station Mrs. Nation was formally charged with disturbing the peace, and her name was entered on the docket. The police judge was at the station. Mrs. Nation refused to go to his room to see him regarding her offense, but insisted that he come to her, which he did. Mrs. Nation was informed that she would have to report for trial at the police court tomorrow morning, and was then released on her own recognizance.

Not Discouraged.

She said she would be glad to do so, and then proceeded to hold an impromptu prayer meeting in the station. She prayed that the work that she had begun in Topeka might be abundantly prospered. While she was praying a drunken man was brought in by a policeman. Mrs. Nation immediately went to the prisoner and informed him that she was his friend at all times, even though the policemen were not. She then delivered a scathing address to members of the police force present. She said they would permit the joints to run in open violation of law all the while and would then arrest the men who were made drunk by the liquor sold there. Mrs. Nation taunted the police, calling them cowards, afraid to arrest anybody but women and drunken men.

Followed by the crowd, Mrs. Nation went to the federal building, where she acquired four trunks filled with liquor, cigars, household goods, etc. The owner of the building swore out warrants for the arrest of Albert, Andrew and William Cisso, three brothers, who have conducted the hotel for some time past, charging them with arson.

The men were taken before Magistrate Saunders, who committed them to jail in default of bail.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 4.—Governor Yates has set the seal of his disapproval upon prize fighting and has decreed that within the boundaries of the state of Illinois, while he presides at the head of the executive department, unless fights shall take place without his knowledge, his decision and his emphatic position on the subject were brought out today.

Judge Fuller, of the Circuit court of Boone county, telegraphed Governor Yates today that a prize fight was scheduled to be held at Belvidere tonight and requested him to do what he could to prevent it. The governor immediately opened telephonic communication with the sheriff of Boone county. He told the officer to prevent the fight, and that if he needed any assistance a company of militia would be sent to Belvidere subject to his orders.

The sheriff replied that he had sworn in one hundred special deputies, and believed he could handle the situation. The governor made it emphatic to the sheriff that the fight must not take place.

CHINESE MUDDLE TO COME UP TODAY

First Meeting of the Envoys and Chinese Plenipotentiaries—More Delay Is Considered Very Probable.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Pekin, Feb. 4.—Tomorrow will be held the first joint meeting between the envoys and the Chinese plenipotentiaries. Only Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching have plenipotentiary rights. The other Chinese have merely the status of advisers.

All the envoys have agreed to maintain absolute secrecy and will endeavor to impress on the Chinese with the importance of similar reserve; but, as a matter of fact, there are many Chinese who already know exactly the program of tomorrow's meeting.

All rumors and reports that large numbers have been recruited for purchase of arms without foundation, as only twelve provincial authorities have been requested to furnish commensurately with their needs. There is a private understanding that at least half of the arms will be executed or requested to commit suicide, while the others must be banished or imprisoned.

The real subject liable to cause delay is the punishment of the officials of Peking and the province of Chi Li, regarding which the envoys have not yet reached an agreement. There is little doubt that the Chinese plenipotentiaries will agree so far as the provincials are concerned, although there may possibly be a few days' delay while the plenipotentiaries are conferring with the court.

Without doubt Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching have been ordered to protest to the utmost against the execution of Prince Tuan or any prince of the blood royal. This is a source of disagreement among the envoys, many of whom feel that if Prince Tuan goes unpunished all others ought to go free. The Chinese plenipotentiaries claim to be unable to understand how Prince Tuan can be punished while his son is his apparent.

TO INCREASE PAY OF JUDGES

Purpose of a Bill That Has Been Introduced by Senator J. G. Vaughan.

IS AGAINST THE RIPPER

Senator Gives Reasons Why the People of Scranton Should Go Slow About Favoring the Clause Which Is Designed to Overthrow the Flinn Crowd in Pittsburg—Seeking to Secure Legislation Fixing the Number of Pounds of Powder a Keg Must Contain.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

Harrisburg, Feb. 4.—In the senate, tonight, Senator J. G. Vaughan introduced a bill regulating the salaries of the judges of the courts of common pleas of the judicial districts of the commonwealth, composed of single counties, whose population is over 150,000 and less than 500,000.

It provides that in such judicial districts the salary of each of the judges shall be $6,000 per annum, payable quarterly as now provided by law. It is, however, to apply to judges of the orphan's court.

The salary of the judges at present is $4,000 per annum. For a long time there has been a feeling that the judges in what might be called the second class counties, who are engaged every day in the year, ought to receive more pay than judges in thinly populated districts, who can dispose of their work in a few weeks or so, and spend the rest of the year assisting in busy districts at $10 per day and expenses. The districts that will be affected by the new bill are Lackawanna, Luzerne, Lancaster, Schuylkill, Berks and Westmoreland.

The following counties having one judge and more than 50,000 population are provided for by an act of assembly, making the salary of such judges $3,000: Erie, Northumberland, Lehigh and Delaware. In Dauphin county, the new salary is fixed at $3,000 by an act of assembly.

Salary in Philadelphia.

The salary of Philadelphia common pleas judges is $7,000, and the orphan's court judges receive $6,000. In Allegheny county the judges receive $6,000.

Of the six counties affected by the proposed act Lackawanna is a fair sample. The inequality in salary is so glaring as to make argument unnecessary. Here are some of the statistics:

TERMS OF COURT.

Common Pleas 15 weeks
Quarter sessions 10 weeks
Term of equity 5 weeks
Argument court 5 weeks
Erie county 1 week
Total 20 weeks

Common pleas and criminal courts have always two parts running at the same time and frequently three parts. This does not include special or extra terms.

The common pleas trial list for the year 1900 had on it 525 cases. The criminal list embraced 1,651 cases. There were about 750 cases heard in argument court and thirty-five in equity court.

Another bill introduced by Senator Vaughan proposes an amendment which will permit councils in cities of the second and third classes to make appropriations towards the maintenance of military companies.

The original act is entitled "An act to authorize the councils of the cities of the first class to appropriate annually a sum not exceeding $500 for the support and maintenance of each company of the National Guard, using and occupying an armory, building, rooms, or quarters within said cities, in addition to the annual appropriation by the legislature," approved May 24, 1887.

The Vaughan bill is intended to extend the provisions of this measure to all cities. The bill was drawn up by the Thirtieth regiment officers. Both bills were referred to committees of which Senator Vaughan is a member.

In anticipation of the possibility that the reduction in the price of powder might result in the lessening of the size of the kegs, the miners of the lower anthracite district caused to be introduced in the senate tonight, through Mr. Garner, of Schuylkill, a bill fixing the weight of a keg of black blasting powder at 25 pounds, a half keg at 12 1/2 pounds and a quarter keg at 6 1/4 pounds, and imposing a penalty of $4 a keg, or part of a keg, on any party manufacturing a package of less than the prescribed weight.

An act providing for the abolition of the distinctions between actions ex contractu and actions ex delicto, so far as relates to procedure, was another measure introduced by Mr. Vaughan.

Back from Washington.

Senator Vaughan returned this morning from Washington, where he spent the past two days in consultation with the first congressman from Scranton, Mr. Garner, of Schuylkill, a bill fixing the weight of a keg of black blasting powder at 25 pounds, a half keg at 12 1/2 pounds and a quarter keg at 6 1/4 pounds, and imposing a penalty of $4 a keg, or part of a keg, on any party manufacturing a package of less than the prescribed weight.

An act providing for the abolition of the distinctions between actions ex contractu and actions ex delicto, so far as relates to procedure, was another measure introduced by Mr. Vaughan.

DID MRS. BARKER MERELY IMAGINE?

Victim of Jealous Husband's Pistol Not Believed to Have Caused the Alleged Assault.

By Exclusive Wire from The Associated Press.

New York, Feb. 4.—Thomas G. Barker, who shot the Rev. John Keller at Arlington, N. J. Sunday morning, was arraigned in court at Kearney town hall today. It had been expected that Barker would make a statement in regard to the shooting, but he did not do so.

After the recorder had read the charge to Barker accusing him of attempting to kill Mr. Keller, the attorney, by advice of counsel, waived examination. He was thereupon committed without bail, to await the result of the minister's injuries. On the way Barker reiterated his statement that he was driven to desperation by his wife's charge against the minister, to the effect that the latter had assaulted her, and that he felt justified in shooting Keller.

Mr. Keller's condition is serious, and his doctors are divided on the question of the probability of his recovery.

Now that the first wave of excitement following the shooting has abated, the consensus of opinion in the Newark suburbs is that the charge against Mrs. Barker to her husband against the pastor was the result of hallucination. It is believed that in her sufferings from nervous prostration for the last few months, Mrs. Barker conceived the idea that the Rev. Mr. Keller had done her harm and brooded so much over it that in her broken condition of health it became fixed in her mind as a reality.

This theory is borne out by the unwavering protestations of his innocence made by the victim of the tragedy, whose character and reputation have always been without blemish. Mrs. Barker is still prostrated at her home from hysteria, and only her attending physicians are allowed to see her. Among those who believe Mr. Keller innocent of the charge brought against him, is Bishop Starkey, of Newark, who for some time has known him intimately.
