BOY'S SKULL IS FRACTURED

ALBERT QUICK THE VICTIM OF A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

While Driving a Trip of Cars in the Mt. Pleasant Mines Yesterday an Explosion Occurred and He Was Struck by a Door—Future of Y. W. C. A. Hangs in the Balance—Weekly School Deposits—Party on Hyde Park Avenue—Reception to Father Hubert—Other Notes and Personals

Albert Quick, aged 15 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Quick, of 219 South Tenth street, was the victim of an explosion in the Mt. Pleasant mine yesterday, which will deprive him of the use of his left eye, and possibly incapacitate him for work for many months to come.

He also sustained a depressed fracture of the skull on the left side, and his left ear was split in a frightful manner. The boy also sustained other injuries, and his escape from instant death was very miraculous.

Young Quick was employed as a driver, and just as he approached a door in the mine, and was about to open it, the force of the explosion blew the door open, striking him on the head, and knocking him against a loaded car.

Workmen ran to his rescue and removed him to his home. Dr. W. J. L. Davis was called and made an examination. An operation was decided upon, and with the assistance of Dr. D. W. Evans, Dr. Davis removed the crushed bones from the boy's head. He is in a serious condition, and his recovery is problematical.

A representative meeting of the members of the West Scranton branch of the Young Women's Christian association was held in the rooms, corner of Main avenue and Scranton street, last evening. The object was to discuss the future prospects of the association.

Mrs. George Howell presided and outlined the purpose of the meeting. After the matter was thoroughly discussed, the committee was given three weeks to decide what action will be taken relative to the continuance of the local association work.

Meantime a formal appeal for aid will be made to the public through the press and pulpit. If substantial aid is

Sewing Machines

We do not talk Sewing Machines very often, the fact being that our machines do their own talking, and sales are ever on the increase. However,

Spring Sewing Time

Is near, and as inquiries for these celebrated machines of ours are more numerous than they have been in a long time, we have come to the conclusion that the people ought to know something about them.

Our Sewing Machines

Are not of the regular Department Store pattern. We challenge the trade to produce a better machine, viewed from any standpoint you will, than we offer. Its cabinet work speaks for itself at a glance, but what is of more importance is

The Machine Itself

It is made by the largest and best known firm in the world, and is a duplicate of their best machine in everything except the name. Because it lacks this you get it here for about forty per cent. of what it will cost if you insist on having the name—otherwise there is no difference. If in the market for a machine, bring an expert and look ours over. Every machine sold is guaranteed by us and the makers in exactly the same way as the highest priced machine built.

FALCON ISLAND REAPPEARS. Little Pacific Island Which Disappeared Again Comes Into View.

From the New York Sun.

Falcon Island, which early last year was reported to have completely disappeared beneath the waves of the Pacific, is again showing its flat surface above the water. The life history of this speck of land has been unusual and interesting. A cable dispatch from Europe printed in April last year said that a small island in the Pacific, which had been reported to have disappeared, had reappeared. It was thought that no trace of it would ever be seen again. But Mr. Vossion, the consul general of France in the Tonga group, announces that Com-mandant Ravenhill, of the cruiser Porpoise, has returned to those islands from a recent expedition. The news of the re-emergence of Falcon Island, he says that the highest part of the island is now about sixteen feet above sea level.

The island was formed by a great volcanic eruption at the bottom of the sea in the distant past. One of the storms of the ocean fourteen years entirely to obliterate it. Mr. J. J. Lister, who visited the island a short time before it disappeared, said that it was rapidly being torn to pieces by the action of the waves. Unless a fresh volcanic outburst occurred he thought it would soon disappear. His prediction came true and a steamer that visited the place about the beginning of last year reported that not a trace of it was to be found above the water level.

The island was built up in the neighborhood of Tonga group about thirty-five miles from the island of Tofofa. A submarine volcano had reared from the bottom of the ocean a mighty mass of ejecta and on this foundation rested the outpourings which rose above the water. The island consisted of two distinct parts. One of them was a hill of gentle slope and wide base, whose height was 1534 feet. On one side the hill ended abruptly in a cliff, whose base was washed by the sea at high water. The other part of the island was a flat, extending away from the base of the hill in a northerly direction and only ten to twelve feet above the high tide level. The whole bit of land was just a bare, brown heap of ashes, around which the great rollers broke and swept up the black shores in sheets of foam. The island was entirely devoid of any vegetation, save for a half-dozen seedling plants that had found lodgment there.

It will not be strange if the island is torn to pieces and again disappears from view within a very few years. Its reappearance now is doubtless due to another volcanic eruption. Volcanic islands seldom endure many years unless they are so large or so well protected against the sea that there is time for them to become covered with dense masses of vegetation before ocean storms have an opportunity to tear them to pieces.

AN OLD ASIATIC OCEAN. Inland Seas That Are Drying Up Are Remnants of It.

A curious discovery made by Dr. Sven Hedin, the illustrious Swedish explorer, is reported in a telegram from St. Petersburg, which we publish this morning, says the London Daily News. During his adventurous journeys in eastern Turkestan, Tibet and Mongolia, he has discovered a vast sheet of water called Lob Nor. This he has found to differ materially from the maps and descriptions of previous observers, and he has now examined it a second time. It is situated rather more than 2,000 feet above the sea level. The water is fed by the River Tarim, but emptied only by evaporation, for no stream issues from it. Thus they should be salty, but Dr.
