Muchlbronner act was sprung were then read. These amendments, briefly stated, are:

First-The mayor, with the advice of select council, shall appoint the heads of the departments now appointed by the joint councils. This the Pittsburgers readily agreed to.

Second-The act directing that cer-tain matters shall be printed in five daily papers shall be repealed, and the matter of printing left to be regulated by an ordinance of councils.

Matter of Assessment.

Third-The director of public works and the city assessors to make all views, instead of these views being made by boards of viewers appointed by court.

It was contended, after some discussion, that this would offend against the general act of 1891, and it was agreed that the evil would be best cured by amending the Act of 1891, if such was found possible.

Fourth-Liens should be filed six months after the completion of an im- Philadelphia court bill-119 to 63-In provement, instead of within six months after the filing of the report of the stalwarts have that body pretty viewers. This met with the same objection as the preceding clause, and was that when they come to put on the not insisted upon. The Pittsburg men screws to force through the Muehltold that they tried a similar scheme and the Supreme court declared it illegal.

Fifth-The city treasurer to collect all taxes paid in the city. This was as it stands, but there was a wellaccepted by the Pittsburg people, after | defined rumor this morning that four state and county taxes had been striken out.

Sixth-Council to be granted the power to levy and collect a license tax, the discretion of councils being the only limit to the amount. This was heartily agreed to. This matter is now regulated by special acts in Pittsburg and Allegheny.

Seventh-Cities of the third class which pass into the second class are to retain such third class laws as it may elect, providing such laws do not conflict with the second class charter. This was agreed to without a murmur. This amendment is highly desirable to Scranton, as it will permit of the retention of many excellent laws that are especially fitted to Scranton and which will nicely patch out a complete code of the government.

Representation in Council.

Eighth-Instead of having one councliman of each kind for each ward, and one additional common councilman for every additional one-fortieth or threeafter the passage of this act, it shall be unlaw-ful for the president, hoard of directors, super-intendent or other agents of any horse, cable and electric railway company to permit or suffer any conductor, motorman, driver or any other fifths fraction thereof of the resident taxables, the councils are to be composed of one member of each kind from each ward and one additional member for such additional number of ident taxables as councils may agree upon. This will permit a city to have service of such company: Provided, that necessary labor, over and above the time set by this section shall be considered overwork, for any number of common councilman it may itself deem desirable, providing only that it shall have at least one which the laborer shall receive additional com pensation. Sec. 2. Any president, director or other officer from each ward. This provoked lengthy discussion, but was finally of such company, who shall permit or suffer any conductor, motorman, driver or any other agreed to by Pittsburg. It was also agreed that these amendperson in the employ of such company to world

The final rehearsal for the Marie Weber Antoinette fete for the benefit of the Meister 150 Home for the Friendless, which opens at the Lyceum tonight, was conducted last night in the Scranton Bicycle club house and proved conclusively that the affair will be the most successful of its kind ever given in this city. Miss Eager, who has charge of the affair, was especially pleased, and ventured the assertion that the affair will eclipse any of the former affairs of a similar nature which she has conducted. She is particularly pleased with the way in which the participants enter in to the spirit of the thing and with the great enthusiasm displayed, tone solo was sung by Professor W.
